COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 265, PRINTER'S No. 100,
RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

May 31, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 265, Printer's No. 100, entitled "An Act amending the act of June 1, 1956 (Appropriation Acts page 110 Act No. 146-A) entitled 'An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Department of Welfare for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five' making certain appropriations for research and training applicable only to State-owned institutions."

This bill represents a flank attack upon the research and training program of the Department of Welfare which has been in effect for almost two years under proper statutory authority. At this last gasp of the biennium this attempt is made to stifle that program by amending the general appropriation of the Department of Welfare for the 1955-1957 biennium so as to restrict the training program to State-owned institutions. The bill would be wholly ineffective to accomplish its purpose since there are so few days left in the 1955-1957 biennium. It seems totally unnecessary, and I find no reason for approving it.

For this reason, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

MEMBERS OF 4-H DAIRY CLUBS OF PERRY AND

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to announce that many Senators have 4-H Club members as their constituents in the rural counties of Pennsylvania. We are privileged in paying honor today, at the opening of National Dairy Month, by recognizing these Junior merchandisers who have set themselves up in business in the rotunda of the Capitol.

It is my pleasure to introduce to you some of the Presidents and Members of the 4-H Dairy Clubs of Perry and Dauphin Counties. I present to you Larry Campbell, of Millerstown, Perry County, who is a President; Mike Williams, Highspire, Dauphin County, who is a President; Charles Campbell, Polly Weldon and Lois Weldon, all of Perry County, who are, I believe, the salesmen and salesladies who have set themselves up in business in the rotunda of the Capitol. They are standing to our right.

I might add that some of this group had to be absent today, due to the fact that they were either taking their high school examinations or participating in graduation exercises.

MISS REATHA SNYDER, DISTINGUISHED 4-H CLUB MEMBER, PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to present to the Senate, at this time, Miss Reatha Snyder, of Aliquippa, Pennsylvania, in the absence of her Senator.

Miss Snyder is an eighteen-year-old girl and has been a 4-H Member since 1949. She won a trip to the National Club Congress in the Dairy Division of 4-H Club work. While there, she made notes of all the things she saw and heard. When she came home, she wrote a book on it and it won her first place in her county. Then, the book was entered in State competition at Penn State, and she won a trip to Congress and later she was sent to Chicago. Last year, she won the "Efficient Production Award" for the State. Her sponsor was the National Dairy Products Corporation.

Miss Snyder was the "Holstein Girl" for the State in 1955. She now has the only cow which is rated excellent in the entire county, and it is a registered Holstein.

Miss Snyder attends Garfield Business Institute in Beaver Falls. She is accompanied here today by Miss Clara Smith, formerly of Westmoreland County and now of Beaver County.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate is honored today to have these distinguished visitors with us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. YOSKO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, some years ago I used to set aside every Friday night to go to see a boxing bout in one of the three third class cities, either Allentown, Bethlehem or Easton, in the Lehigh Valley area. I have not seen a fight for so long in any one of those three cities that I think we should do something about it.

This bill would give city council the right to regulate boxing and wrestling exhibitions. I hope we will be able to pass it at this Session in order to revive boxing on a local, home rule basis throughout Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, with the co-sponsorship of Senator Van Sant, I am presenting this bill.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 107 REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE AND LAID ON TABLE

Mr. WHALLEY, from the Committee on Education, to which was referred on May 22, 1957, the following resolution from the House of Representatives, reported the same without amendments as follows, viz:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE PROBLEM OF HIGHER EDUCATION

In the House of Representatives, May 13, 1957.

Whereas, The problem of equal opportunity of all for higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has become a matter of widespread concern, particularly the question of state subsidization of qualified secondary school graduates without adequate financial means to continue their schooling at the college level; and

Whereas, A number of plans have been advanced seeking a solution to this problem and containing in many instances meritorious features; and

Whereas, The participation of the State in this field involves broad questions of financial feasibility, revenue sources, adequate administration and overall effectiveness and has led to widespread controversy; and

Whereas, The General Assembly requires additional specific and detailed information in order to determine intelligently the form and extent of any such program or programs; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), that the Joint State Government Comm. conduct a thorough study of the problems of higher education by considering the following factors:

1. Advisability of establishing free or loan scholarship funds for worthy students who have displayed a capacity for higher learning to be based upon a study of various existing scholarship programs.

2. Authorizing use of existing high school facilities as Junior colleges on a community level.

3. Extension of college centers similar to those throughout the Commonwealth to be operated by and through existing institutions of higher learning.

4. Whether the Commonwealth should expand its present system of State Teachers Colleges with a view to their eventually becoming State Universities.

5. Determine the capacities of existing institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania and the point at which they will have reached their maximum capacity.

6. Make a detailed analysis of the cost of such programs for higher education including, in addition to outright grants, the cost of overall administration.

7. Compile any other data or information that will be needed by the General Assembly to appraise the problem of higher education in the Commonwealth, while considering the task of doing a good job with respect to primary and secondary education; therefore be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission submit a report to the General Assembly on its findings and recommendations as soon as completed but not later than January 1, 1959.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, apparently the people in Philadelphia became envious of Pittsburgh and Cleveland, which are having a new movement in the way of operas. Therefore, we in Philadelphia now have the so-called Co-opera which, in way of innovation and pursuant to the highest democratic principles, is not only staging operas, but is also opening the doors to many talented young men and women who otherwise would not have a chance to demonstrate their ability.

I feel that after nine years of productive work, they should be commended by the Senate of Pennsylvania. Furthermore, this opera movement should be brought to the attention of the entire State for purposes of emulation.

For these reasons, Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Walker and myself, I am presenting this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

COMMENDATION OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO S. BERYL LUSH, ESQUIRE, FOR HIS CIVIC LEADERSHIP AND EFFORTS ON BEHALF OF THE CO-OPERA

Messrs. STIEFEL and WALKER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, June 3, 1957.

On the star-studded firmament of Philadelphia's hegemony in fields of art and science, a new bright star is adding lustre to Pennsylvania's mainstream of culture—Philadelphia's Co-opera—an imaginative and highly successful experiment in opera workshop.

Creative, vigorous, vibrant—the Co-opera has managed to focus the sparkle of its facets in one radiant gleam of light, succeeding in recording during the nine precocious years of its cradle era, an intense, vivid and incomparable saga of compelling and sweeping exuberance and preceptive vision.

From time immemorial the detection of talent has been merely a capricious nod of dame-fortune, whose benevolence, like an exotic flower blooms only at long intervals when showering its bounties on only a few, while untold number of prodigies and would-be dazzling talents remain untapped, undetected and unnoticed.

Philadelphia's Co-opera embodies the quintessence of democracy, one of the cardinal rules whereof is equality of opportunity for all. Its ready welcoming arm is stretched out to all those who knock at its doors, pleading for a chance to be evaluated and upon qualifying to be admitted, allowed a demonstration of talent.

Philadelphia's Co-opera has a very definite place in the musical life of the city. It promotes young, local talent, and it presents its performances in a modern, somewhat simplified, but always artistic fashion.

Contemporary American operas; commedia dell'arte chamber operas, that have suffered from long neglect; seldom performed operas of popular composers (Puccini's "Il Tabarro" and "Suor Angelica" are excellent examples) have constituted the fare that Co-opera has been mainly interested in presenting to a public of seekers after operatic freshness.

Recently the Co-opera won the commendations of the leading music critics for offering in Philadelphia at Plays and Players Auditorium of Mozart's "Abduction from the Seraglio." Performances of Mozart's delightful singspiel, which served as a springboard for the later and greater "Magic Flute," are rarely staged. Because of this rarity of performance and the worth and charm of Mozart's music, Co-opera won the plaudits of Philadelphia and its Suburbia.

It was the vision and generosity of a Philadelphia Maecenas, S. Beryl Lush, Esquire, who as the President of the Co-opera, made possible its emergence, rapid growth and crowning successes that followed its brilliant performances.

Now Therefore, Be It Resolved that the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania is viewing with delight and profound appreciation the meteoric rise of the Co-opera and expresses its fond hope that the Co-opera will be invited in the nearest future by leading municipalities throughout Pennsylvania to stage its performances therein, thereby offering outlets for many local promising young men and women whose talents remain unnoticed and to whom opportunities for artistic development are denied.

And Be It Further Resolved that the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania voice its commendations to S. Beryl Lush, Esquire, for his civic leadership, fertile perceptions that resulted in his conceptions of the Co-opera and his authorship of a scintillating chapter in the cultural progress of our Commonwealth, and

Be It Further Resolved that the Secretary of the Senate be directed upon the passage of the instant Resolution to forward a certified copy thereof to S. Beryl Lush, Esquire, President of Philadelphia's Co-opera.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make a short statement at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not have any objection to a short statement being made by the Senator. However, I do not want to get into another debate now about the budget or some other problem before we reach the order of business of Petitions and Remonstrances.

I am anxious to get to the Calendar. If the Senator will assure me that he will not leap into some discussion which is going to take up the time of the Senate for the next twenty-five minutes, to argue some bill which is not before us, I will have no objection. It must be with that understanding.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I can assure the Majority Leader that I am not going to discuss any bill which is before us.

If he will agree, I would like to read into the record some written words which I believe apropos to the occasion. That is all I want to do.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before I begin to read, I would like to say that it seems unusual that every time we take the floor to make a statement, there is always a question as to just what we are going to say. We do not question the other side when they get up to make their statements. We listen to them as we should.

What I have before me today is an editorial which appeared in the Harrisburg Evening News, under date line of June 3, which is today. The reason I want to read this editorial into the record is because, in my opinion, it is so apropos to the predicament in which we find ourselves today in regard to House Bill No. 1700. It goes something like this:

"Sales Tax and Lobbying—A Tale of Two States

"The Hue and cry of Democratic opposition in the Legislature, when Pennsylvania's amendment-riddled, 3 per cent selective sales tax was being written into law, went something like this:

"It's time that the people of the State know that the lobbies throughout the State are not running this body."

"It was a cry in the legislative wilderness, so far as its having any effect was concerned. We joined in the opposition, raising this newspaper's voice in demand that Pennsylvania get an adequate general sales tax, like that imposed by every other single State in the Union which has such a levy.

"The Republican Majority Leader in the Senate, Rowland B. Mahany, foreseeing the 'not enough money' appropriation mess in which the GOP now finds itself, publicly made the suggestion that his party seriously consider the general sales tax. Mr. Mahany's suggestion went over like an iron kite. He frankly told this newspaper that as soon as The Evening News which carried his general sales tax suggestion was on the street, his phone started ringing. The callers, he admitted candidly, were all lobbying representatives of various interests—all of them intent on keeping their special interest sales tax-free if at all possible. We doubt if the lobbyists stopped with contacting Senator Mahany alone; they probably went out and button-holed all of the influential Republicans in the Legislature.

"In any event, that was the last heard of Senator Mahany's proposal. He never publicly suggested it again, explaining quietly: 'There's too much opposition.'

"This kind of a sales tax and lobbyist situation is not confined to Pennsylvania alone. The same kinds of pressure are exerted in every Legislature in the 48 states.

"But not always with the same end results.

"We commend to Pennsylvanians generally and Republican legislators specifically, these lead paragraphs on news stories in two leading Florida newspapers:

"From the front page of The Miami Herald:

"TALLAHASSEE—The Florida Senate Monday repelled a move to tax groceries and in an unprecedented action scored a historic first victory over the combined lobbies of big business. The Senate voted more than one hundred million dollars in new taxes to pay the record 694 million dollars in appropriations voted by this Legislature—but they put a sizeable chunk of it on industry instead of all on the average taxpayer."

"From the front page of The St. Petersburg Times:

"TALLAHASSEE—The usually lobby-ridden Florida Senate yesterday reared up and clobbered the automobile and industrial interests and passed a broadened sales tax retaining the exemption on groceries. The vote was 35-5 for the bill. To the chagrin of a score of well-pressed lobbyists anxiously lining the brass gallery rail, the Senate tacked on an amendment to the bill expected to hit big industrial corporations with an additional $15-$20 million tax bill during the next two years."

"We are not suggesting that Pennsylvania's Legislature unfairly clobber 'big business' or anyone else. We have been arguing for a long time that the corporation tax load in this State is out of line, and should be reduced."

"But we are suggesting that special interests should be told to go fly a kite where a sales tax is concerned."

"We are recommending, as we have from the beginning, that an adequate general sales tax go on the books in place of the sorry selective excuse of a 'broad-base tax' we now have. If the heavy special taxes now on industry are to be reduced, revenue from broad-base levies must take their place."

"We would also suggest that the Pennsylvania business and industrial leaders, who are on such firm ground when they assail the present State tax structure, be equally outspoken about the broad-base taxes which this Commonwealth should have. They were all so very silent when the sales tax furor was going on here in Harrisburg."

"If Pennsylvania's industries lose all or part of the scheduled manufacturers' exemption from the capital stock tax, now scheduled to take place next Jan. 1, they will have only themselves to blame."

"There is no such thing as 'something for nothing.'"

"The prominent Pennsylvania business leaders can't fight for the industrial tax relief to which they certainly are entitled, then look the other way in silence when the broad-base tax which must make up this revenue is shot to pieces in legislative pulling and hauling."

"We also would suggest that the parallel between Pennsylvania and Florida on sales taxes and lobbyists points up as nothing else could do, why the Republican legislators won't touch with a ten-foot pole the proposal by Governor Leader for a law to register and regulate all Pennsylvania lobbying."

Senator Mahany, I did not talk about any bill that is before us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to point out to Senator Lane that he did touch upon House Bill No. 1700 in our efforts to finance all the needs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I also want to point out to this very fine friend of mine, the gentleman who mentioned my name in his editorial, that one of the very first lobbyists whom I remember approaching me, when we were discussing the selective sales tax at the last Session of the Legislature, was quite a powerful lobbyist and, perhaps, he should be registered. We all know who he is. He was the lobbyist for the newspaper people. He told me they would like to have all of the machinery, ink and the other supplies which the newspapers use, exempted from the sales tax. Therefore, I would suggest to this editor that he get in touch with his representative and tell him, at least, that he should be the first one to stay away from us when we are discussing exemptions from the sales tax.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DONOLOW asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, this bill gives to Philadelphia another step in true home rule. It provides for the giving of power to the city council of Philadelphia to legislate in controlling Sunday activities, which are mainly sports events, liquor and other diversions for Sunday activities.

Since Philadelphia is one of the big cities in this Country, we, in Philadelphia, feel that we are one of the few big metropolitan cities which does not have these activities on the leisure day of Sunday for the little people in our city.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to give consideration to this bill in order for us to pass it at this Session, thus giving true home rule to Philadelphia.

I am presenting this bill on behalf of myself, Senator Dent, Senator Mahany, Senator Mullin, Senator Weiner and Senator Stiefel.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 412 (Pink); and Senate Bill No. 467 (Pink).

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 493, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code" authorizing cities boroughs incorporated towns and townships to collect certain fines from offenders.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 493 is really a step backward in our regulation of highways and the operation of motor vehicles in Pennsylvania. As most of you will recall, the present motor vehicle law was the outgrowth of certain abuses which took place in local communities prior to the law which is now known as the Motor Vehicle Code. At that time, every borough and township had its own ordinances, which dealt with all types of motor violations whereby people could be picked up at random; tickets were issued and people were fined. There were all types of abuses. If some fire department or some local policemen needed new uniforms, they would put on a campaign. We are now going back again to that old system by allowing these municipalities to enact their own ordinances, dealing with subjects which are already provided for under The Vehicle Code.

Under this bill we are going to permit them to issue tags and if they are not paid in seventy-two hours, then they can proceed with summary convictions. This is not according to the code. The code provides that they must send out certain notices by registered mail, and these notices must be brought before the nearest available magistrate. This is taking that provision entirely out of the code. The only place where this bill refers to the code is where it provides that it shall be a summary conviction.

Mr. President, I say that we are absolutely taking a backward step if we enact legislation such as is contained in Senate Bill No. 493.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson. He probably knows the answer to what I want to ask.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clinton, Mr. Stevenson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEVENSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Senator Stevenson, as I understand it, in third class cities, such as the city in which I live, fines for violation of local ordinances may now be collected by the traffic court which is held at our city hall. Offenders, at that time, are permitted to pay their fines directly to the court, or to the police department at some other time than when the court is meeting. Is that correct?

Mr. STEVENSON. That is correct.

Mr. SEYLER. Would this bill have any affect upon that practice? The reason for my asking the question is that the question has been raised in our community as to whether this is a legal practice. It is argued by the aldermen and justices of the peace that under the present law, all proceedings must go through the aldermen or the justices of the peace, even for local ordinance violations.

Mr. STEVENSON. At the present time, they all proceed through the aldermen.

Mr. SEYLER. Would this validate our city practice of having collections without incurrence by the payer of the fine of the additional expenses caused by the proceedings through the aldermen or the justices of the peace?

Mr. STEVENSON. I do not think so. I think this simply makes a summary conviction here and tightens up the present law. In fact, this bill was not in my committee. This bill must have come from the Committee on Highways.

Mr. SEYLER. The reason for my asking you, Senator Stevenson, is because there is this local government angle as to whether the fine could be collected by the traffic court of a third class district rather than through the aldermen.

Mr. STEVENSON. I do not think that makes any material difference.

Mr. SEYLER. You think it would not have any affect?

Mr. STEVENSON. No.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman for his answers.

The PRESIDENT. At the direction of the President pro tempore, the Chair nows invites the gentleman from Carbon, Mr. Scott, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William Z. Scott) in the Chair.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, since Senator Mahany is involved in this, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think the gentleman heard my interrogation of Senator Stevenson.

My question is whether this bill, if enacted, would validate the practice in third class cities of collecting these fines without the necessity of proceeding through the justices of the peace or aldermen and, therefore, causing the motorists to incur the additional costs which, under our present system, they do not have to pay.

Mr. MAHANY. To answer your question, I think that is the purpose of this bill. It appears to me as though the cities and the other incorporated towns and other municipal subdivisions would give the violators seventy-two hours notice to pay the amounts of the fines. They would probably do that by letter. If a violator did not come across with the fine, then, in that event, they would proceed by summary conviction before the justice of the peace. This is designed to save the motorists some money.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, there is only one angle I am disturbed about with this particular piece of legislation and that is, under the Motor Code, if an offender is convicted, he automatically has the right to appeal by generally posting a bond for double the amount of the fine and the costs. In most cases, I believe under borough ordinances where there is a conviction, the defendant must petition the court for the right of appeal from this conviction.

Therefore, Mr. President, when you permit local communities to pass ordinances and then collect fines under the provisions of those ordinances, I believe in many cases injustices might prevail. It would be quite difficult for the defendants to file appeals. They would have to go to the expense of hiring a counselor and petition the court for the right of appeal; whereas, under the Motor Code, all they have to do, as I said before, is to place a bond for double the amount of the fine and the accumulated costs and then they could have an appeal in the courts of our Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I do not believe any of us want to be discriminatory against persons who operate motor vehicles. However, I believe this is a bad piece of legislation because it does not protect the rights of defendants. Therefore, I am going to vote "no" on the bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not follow Senator Lane's argument. I think this is a break for the motorist who is guilty of violating one of the ordinances. For instance, suppose he parked his car near a fire hydrant which is in violation of the city ordinance. If he knew he was guilty, this bill allows him to pay the fine without having to pay, in addition to the fine, the costs of some justice of the peace. If he is not guilty of the violation, then he just does not pay. When the city goes against him, by way of summary proceedings, and if the justice of the peace finds him guilty anyway, he then would have his opportunity of appealing and appearing in court. This does not in any way interfere with his ability to take an appeal, if he so desires.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, since Senator Mahany is a counselor-at-law, I would like to ask him this question. I believe, number one, in the event a defendant is arrested under the provisions of the Motor Code, he has the right to appeal the decision of the local magistrate by posting sufficient bond. Is that not correct?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, that is correct. He also has to get special allowance of the court to take an appeal.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, under The Motor Code, he has the right to post a bond to appeal, but he must secure a special allowance when he has an appeal from a borough ordinance. Is that not true? That is the point I am trying to make.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I believe he would have the right to take an appeal from a summary conviction upon allowance. He always has that right.

Mr. LANE. By a petition of the court or is it automatic?

Mr. MAHANY. By a petition of the court.

Mr. LANE. If it is by petition of the court under a borough ordinance, he would then have to obtain a counselor-at-law and then petition the court for the right of appeal.

Mr. MAHANY. He would not necessarily have to do that. Sometimes people act as their own lawyers. It might be a lawyer who is involved. Therefore, he would not have to get another lawyer to help him out. He could do this himself.

Mr. LANE. Generally speaking, that is the case. You must agree with me that this is correct. Under The Motor Code, they can appeal automatically. Under a borough ordinance or a city ordinance, they must petition the court for a special right of appeal. That is the reason I am going to oppose this bill.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, prior to the code, when you had the situation we have discussed today, and a motorist was accused or charged with a violation of a local ordinance, the charge could be made in any borough or township within the county. Not having the code at that time, he could be taken anywhere. However, under the code, the charge must be brought before the nearest available magistrate.

This bill does not provide for a summary proceeding; it provides for a proceeding as a summary conviction. However, under the code where there is provision for a summary proceeding, when a man feels he has been aggrieved, either that he is not guilty or that the proper signs had not been posted or that the proper warnings had not been given, he does not have to go into a hearing. He can go to the magistrate and waive the hearing. The responsibility is then upon the local authorities, the person who makes the charge, to see to it that the charge is sent into court.

Under a summary conviction, the responsibility is placed upon the defendant to go to court, by special petition, and petition the court for leave to take an appeal. That is where the difference is. Even though you may have cases such as the case which is argued here, where a man feels he is guilty, he can avoid expense by just paying the fine or the ticket. In many cases where the people feel they are aggrieved and they are not so much concerned about the fine or the costs, they can waive a hearing under summary proceedings and then it is the responsibility of the prosecutor to see to it that the case is sent into court.

Gentlemen, you are taking a backward step in Pennsylvania by enacting this legislation. You are going back to the confusion which existed prior to enactment of The Motor Vehicle Code.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, there is always quite a lot of discussion here regarding home rule. This is a home rule bill. People back home have been bothering me about this for years. They ask whether we here in Harrisburg cannot find anything more to annoy them with back home or to make it tougher for them.

This bill applied to trivial cases. People complain because they are dragged to an alderman or justice of the peace for some trivial, little offense. A man might have to lose a day at the mill or on the farm to go to an alderman's office or a justice of the peace for some trivial, little thing.

I cannot see what is wrong on these trivial offenses. I cannot see why the home rule people cannot handle them without dragging the defendant to a justice of the peace or an alderman. In most cases, the defendant has to hire a lawyer, too. Under this bill, the defendant does not have to hire anybody. If he feels he has committed some little offense and is willing to pay the policeman right there, he may do so and have it over with and go back to work. I think it is all right.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, for the information of Senator McGinnis, this will not prevent the situation which he is talking about.

We do give tags, but if the motorist feels he is guilty of a violation, there is nothing to prevent him from paying that tag. In the case where the tag is not paid, either because of the fact that the motorist feels he did not commit a violation or that he was not given sufficient warning, then the city or the municipality must, under the code, within fifteen days of the occurrence of the charge, file an information. I say that we should stick to that law.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 518, entitled:

An Act regulating arrests for misdemeanors prescribing duties of arresting officers and imposing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, lines 7 to 10, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting in lieu thereof: "upon summary conviction before a magistrate be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than ten dollars ($10) or undergo imprisonment of not more than ten days, or both."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 564, Printer's No. 192, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. PECAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 569, on third reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" changing the name of the State Council of Education creating the State Council of Higher Education as a departmental administrative board in the Department of Public Instruction defining its powers and duties and defining and coordinating functions of the two councils and repealing certain laws inconsistent therewith be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this move is a surprise to me. I would like to interrogate the gentleman who moved to recommit the bill, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman, trusting that I can get an answer which will not be just routine, what is the purpose of recommitting the bill? Is there some urgent reason for this? I had assumed that the bill was going to receive consideration here on the floor. I am surprised and I wondered, Senator, what is the urgent reason for recommitting it?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, the reason for the urgency is that there are too many objections to the bill. There was not enough support for it. Therefore, the bill is being recommitted.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, this is rather an unusual reason for recommitting a bill. The usual procedure, if it does not have enough votes, is that it would fail. Perhaps it is out of kindness to the bill that the gentleman wishes to forestall it.

Mr. President, I think this is a good piece of legislation. I do not want to debate the merits of the bill because I realize that is not in order. However, I think we have had a lot of time to consider it. I was under the impression that there were a considerable number of votes for the bill. Of course, I sit in a different Caucus than the gentleman from Armstrong. Since he has such tender feelings for the bill and wishes to save it, perhaps if we got together that could be accomplished. What makes me feel this way is that maybe the few on his side and the many on our side might amount to a considerable number of votes.

I wonder if the gentleman will allow the bill to go over in order today until we have had a chance to get together and talk about its destiny.

Mr. PECHAN. I am willing to acquiesce. My wheels over here say, "Let the bill go over."

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think that is wonderful. Thank you.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now withdraw my motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 569 to the Committee on Education.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 569, Printer's No. 249, on third reading, now go over in its order.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 780, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 9, 1955 (P. L. 323) entitled "The County Code" consolidating and clarifying existing law.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this is another of those bills which I am periodically forced to protest because it has two entirely unrelated issues in it; one of which I could cheerfully vote for and the other of which I must oppose. These proposals should not be in the same bill because it forces a person to vote against one he likes as well as one he does not like.

The first proposal—just to show you they are disassociated—has to do with appropriations by county commissioners to county Fairs and sets the figure of $5,000. My experience is that when you set a figure, pressures then are brought on the commissioners so that very seldom is an amount granted which is lower than the amount requested. We have had a number of such provisions put in which practically pressure your local representatives, your commissioners, to pay out county money to private associations.

The other part of the bill, which deals with enabling appropriations for handling, storage and distribution of surplus foods. I believe, is a good provision and we probably need it. However, because of my objection to the first part, Mr. President, I am going to vote "no" on this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. W. H. MILLER and MAHAN.

In the House of Representatives, May 29, 1957.

Legislative Route 10046, known as the Lewis Avenue-Whitestown Road, between Lyndora and a point where it intersects with Route 68, in Butler Township, Butler County, is a highway which is much too narrow for the upwards of five thousand motor vehicles that use it daily.

This fourteen feet wide cartway approximately three and one-half miles long hampers the regular flow of traffic, greatly inconveniences the traveling public and is the scene of many serious accidents.

It is imperative that immediate action be taken by the Department of Highways to promote public safety, relieve congestion and facilitate vehicular traffic; therefore be it

Resolved (The Senate concurring) That the Department of Highways be directed to widen and improve Legislative Route 10046 from a point at or near Lyndora to a point where it intersects with Route 68 in Butler Township, Butler County, a distance of almost three and one-half miles.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1195, Printer's No. 406 and

House Bill No. 1212, Printer's No. 378

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1219, entitled as follows:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) authorizing the operation or movement of vehicles used as snow plows cinder trucks and school buses with a red light displayed to the front thereof.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1219 is a bill which is designed to permit snowplows, cinder trucks and school buses to use the red light, the revolving light on the top of the vehicle.

Some years back this House and the Senate passed a bill which became law providing that only ambulances, police and fire apparatus would be permitted to use the revolving red light.

At the last session, a bill was passed authorizing the Department of Highways, or rather directing them, to install revolving lights on snowplows and cinder trucks—highway trucks generally. This law did not state whether they were to use red, green, or what color they might use, but the Secretary of Highways directed that the red light be used. That, of course, was in conflict with the previous law stating that only ambulances, fire trucks, and police cars should use the red light.

The various fire departments of the Commonwealth had for years advocated that the revolving red light be used exclusively by police, fire and ambulance apparatus, so that the public would associate this revolving light with a speeding vehicle and thereby yield the right-of-way. They have been advocating the law for a long time and finally had it passed, limiting the revolving red light to that type of vehicle.

Just last week, or the week before, we in the House again passed a bill which would take in the school buses. We passed a law requiring the school buses to have these red lights front and back. This bill again refers to school buses, something which we have already passed upon.

For the information of the House, I might also point out that Senate Bill No. 200, which has already passed the Senate, I believe 50-0, and is now in our House Committee, provides that the Highway Department lights shall be amber color and not red, so the Senate has taken action in contradiction to House Bill 1219.

I personally believe that the position of the various fire companies is well taken, that the revolving red light should be such that it would require the yielding of right-of-way. The law does not say that you must, but if you see a revolving red light coming the thing you should do is to pull aside and let that particular vehicle go through, because eventually you will know that it is either an ambulance, a fire truck, or a poice wagon. I think it is good practice to associate the revolving light with those particular outfits.

Since the Senators have already passed a bill indicating that they would rather have the amber light on the cinder trucks, I believe that it would be a mistake for us to vote a bill such as 1219 into effect. It is my belief that Senate Bill 200 should be reported from Committee and passed.

There might be an argument to the effect that it will cost a great deal of money to reconvert. I do not think that will hold true because in these revolving lights all that it would be necessary for them to change would be the outside glass itself. The installation has already been made, there would be no fixture required. All it would mean would be the changing of the red light and inserting therein an amber light.

I think that this bill should be defeated for that reason, and Senate Bill No. 200 should be reported to the floor and passed.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the Chair will withdraw its decision as to the bill having been agreed to on third reading. The Chair hears none.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 2, lines 12 and 13 of Title, by striking out "vehicles used as snow plows cinder trucks and"

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 809), page 3, lines 2 and 3, by striking out "vehicles used as snow plows cinder trucks"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1241, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of September 29, 1951 (P. L. 1628) entitled "An act providing for an expense allowance for members of the board of inspectors of the Berks County Prison" increasing the expense allowance for members of the board of inspectors of the Berks County Prison.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I cannot vote for House Bill 1241. I feel I owe the Members, as well as my constituents back in Berks County, an explanation why I am casting a negative vote on this bill, which would increase the remuneration for Berks County prison inspectors from $2,000 to $3,000 for a four-year term.

I have received numerous letters and verbal comments in opposition to this bill. Unless I am misinformed, Berks County is one of the last, if not the last, to even have such a board.

I found out over the weekend and was told by a former Prison Board member that there are only three such compensated boards in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania out of the 67 counties.

If this prison inspector position is not now adequately compensated, I cannot understand why there is such a scramble among both the Democrats and Republicans to get on the ticket in the Spring primaries.

Our Prison Board provides for a minority representation so there are members of both parties on it at all times. As one of the earliest exponents of the Republican policy of hold the line on taxes and spending, I still subscribe to that policy. Until there is shown to me a genuine scarcity of candidates for the Berks County prison board inspectors, I cannot vote to place a $9,000 increase in the tax load over a four-year period upon the taxpayers of Berks County.

One may contend that $9,000 over a four-year period is relatively small for one county. But there is a combination of items of this nature which spell increased tax millage at the county level. There are nine members and only one regular monthly meeting for this board. I understand they have some committee meetings, but there is one regular monthly meeting. This is not to criticize the prison inspectors. We have some fine people on this board. I do not know all of them but I do know some of them.

Certainly my Republican colleagues cannot have forgotten in less than a week how fiercely we defended and how staunchly we supported our hold-the-line policy on taxes and spending. Are the taxpayers of Berks County deserving of any less consideration than all of the taxpayers of Pennsylvania?

Let's be consistent and prevent this grab from the pocketbooks of the taxpayers of Berks County. I call upon the Democrats to help us remain consistent in case there are any Republicans who may have so soon forgotten or discarded the hold-the-line policy.

If we have extra money in the treasury down there, let's give it to the sick and the poor where it is more needed.

I plead with all of you, on both sides of the aisle, to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I will not take up much of the time of the House on this bill inasmuch as it is a local bill pertaining only to Berks County.

I would like to say that I do admire the gentleman's desire to hold the line and economize and so forth, but I think there are times when economy is a little out of line.

This Prison Board has been in existence, I guess since 1874 when the Legislature first passed the Prison Board bill. In 1911 these prison inspectors were given $250 a year to cover their expenses of going to the prison, attending meetings, and carrying out their duties.

In 1951 the law was amended to give them $500 a year. This bill now seeks to give them $750 a year. I say, if $250 a year was a fair amount to give these people, to reimburse them for expenses, not as compensation but just to take care of their out-of-pocket expenses, certainly, $750 today is not out of line. The total cost per year to Berks County will be $2,250, and I know that it will not make much of a dent in the Berks County budget.

One other thought I would like to leave with you before you vote on this, and that is this: If this work which is being done by the elected prison inspectors were to be done by appointed officials, appointed by the county commissioners, as the prisons are run in other counties, I think the cost would be a great deal more than even this $750 times nine. The Berks County Prison is being run well; it is being run economically, and we are only doing the fair thing to increase the payments to these people who run for the office. The fact that so many of them run, in my opinion, has no bearing on the matter. School directors get no compensation, but in every district in Pennsylvania, you usually find three or four times the number of people running as there are offices to be filled. People like to participate in government as they see it, and the fact that we have maybe 10 or 12 candidates for two or three places does not mean that they are only running to get the money. As a matter of fact, when the people ran in Berks County the other month, they did not even know whether this bill would pass or not. Perhaps some of them did not even know the bill was pending.

I think it is the fair thing to do. It is not costing the County of Berks much money and it certainly is not offending the economy idea.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the gentleman from Berks, the Minority Leader, is acting in good faith in what he says on this bill but I still believe that the job is adequately compensated for.

I received a call over the weekend from a lady who was a member of this board for six years, and she told me how it operates. She told me that it was very adequately compensated at the present time and she congratulated me for taking a stand such as this.

I still call upon the Members on our side of the aisle to remain consistent and give the taxpayers in Berks County a break.

Mr. WEIDNER. Mr. Speaker, I simply want to coincide with the words of the Minority Leader in regard to this bill.

It will cost the County of Berks a trifle over $2,000 per year and they have not raised any objections whatsoever to the increase in the expense account of these prison inspectors.

I will say that in going into the matter and finding out just what are the duties pertaining to this office, I find that it is not only the monthly meetings that they hold, but they are put on various committees and they are assigned many duties to perform between their monthly meetings. Therefore, I am very much in favor of the bill. Otherwise, I would have never sponsored it.

I ask every Member on both sides of this House to support us in the matter.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to agree with Mr. Weidner and also Mr. Readinger.

I have not heard any protests against this bill. I believe that Prison Inspectors should get their expenses for time spent traveling back and forth all over the county and to the prisons. It is one of the most efficient prisons operated in the state today.

Therefore, I urge all the Members of this House to vote for this bill.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, it is rather difficult to believe that the people in Berks County who are objecting to this bill single me out to send me letters opposing the bill. I did not get one letter for it or one verbal comment for it. It is very difficult to think that I was the only representative of Berks County that received mail opposing this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 236, Printer's No. 204,

Senate Bill No. 237, Printer's No. 205,

Senate Bill No. 238, Printer's No. 206, and

Senate Bill No. 239, Printer's No. 207,

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 257, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 3, 1909 (P. L. 408) entitled as amended "An act authorizing the merger or consolidation of certain corporations" providing for the merger of a domestic corporation into a foreign corporation and for the merger into a holding company of a subsidiary corporation incorporated under or subject to the Business Corporation Law and eliminating any requirement of stockholder approval and any right of objecting stockholders to payment for their stock if the holding company is the owner of all the outstanding stock of the subsidiary corporation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, there are supposed to be some amendments to this bill.

Mr. JOHNSON. No, I believe, Mr. Speaker, that by agreement between the Floor Leaders the bill is going to be voted on without amendment.

Mr. GELFAND. It was my impression that the administration had some amendments to this bill, but since it does not, I would like to debate the bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate someone pertaining to this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman explain what corporations are covered by this bill?

Mr. BOWMAN. This bill covers both public utility corporations and directly and indirectly also affects business corporations.

Mr. GELFAND. Is there a Business Corporation Law in Pennsylvania?

Mr. BOWMAN. There is a Business Corporation Law of 1933.

Mr. GELFAND. Now pertaining to the legislation in question, will the gentleman kindly advise the House what this bill does?

Mr. BOWMAN. The purpose of this bill is two-fold. The first portion of the bill merely permits public utility corporations, domestic public utility corporations, to merge into and become part of foreign public utility corporations. This is the same right as is presently afforded business corporations under the Business Corporation Law.

The second portion of the bill, and perhaps the more difficult to understand, would permit for the first time the merger of certain business corporations into certain public utility corporations under the limited methods and terms as set forth in the bill. Only those business corporations which are subsidiaries of public utility corporations could not be merged into public utility corporations.

The overall riding purpose of this legislation is to permit something that cannot be presently done under existing law. Many public utility corporations that wholly own or have a controlling interest in business corporations in order to simplify the overall corporate structure of these public utility corporations, they seek this legislation to simplify their overall corporate structure, and in no case can a business corporation be merged into a public utility corporation unless the public utility corporation wholly owns the business corporation or unless it is a subsidiary as defined in the bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, what change would this make with regard to the requirement of stockholders' consent to any merger?

Mr. BOWMAN. None, except where the public utility corporation owns all of the stock of the business corporation. In that case the consent of the minority stockholder provision as found in existing law has been eliminated for the very obvious reason that if the utility corporation wholly owns the stock of the subsidiary corporation there is absolutely no use to have a minority representation since there is none.

Mr. GELFAND. Is a public utility corporation a corporation which has stockholders?

Mr. BOWMAN. Will the gentleman please repeat the question?

Mr. GELFAND. Does a public utility corporation have stockholders?

Mr. BOWMAN. It certainly does.

Mr. GELFAND. And those stockholders have rights?

Mr. BOWMAN. They certainly do.

Mr. GELFAND. In a business corporation would a stockholder, a minority stockholder, have the right to object to any merger with a wholly owned subsidiary?

Mr. BOWMAN. Yes.

Mr. GELFAND. Then what you would do under this bill is take away the rights that a shareholder in a public utility corporation would have as contrasted to the rights that such a shareholder would have in a business corporation?

Mr. BOWMAN. Absolutely not. You misinterpret the bill. The only time that the provision for the rights of minority stockholders is eliminated is in the business corporation where there are no minority stockholders because the public utility corporation wholly owns the stock of the business corporation.

Mr. GELFAND. Is it possible that a business corporation may own all the stock of a subsidiary?

Mr. BOWMAN. Is it possible?

Mr. GELFAND. Yes.

Mr. BOWMAN. Yes, it is possible.

Mr. GELFAND. Now in such a business corporation, if the business corporation desires to merge or consolidate with the wholly owned subsidiary, would that business corporation which owned all the stock of the wholly owned subsidiary have to get the permission of its shareholders to merge?

Mr. BOWMAN. Yes, it would, and so would the public utility corporation under this bill. By this bill it is only the stockholders of the corporation being merged that the consent of the minority is not necessary for the simple reason that there is no minority.

Mr. GELFAND. Will the gentleman kindly read the portion of the bill which provides that?

Mr. BOWMAN. It is found on page 7 of the bill.

Mr. GELFAND. And what does page 7 of the bill provide?

Mr. BOWMAN: "Provided further that if the holding company owns all the outstanding capital stock of the other corporation or corporations parties to the merger it shall not be necessary to submit the joint agreement of merger to the stockholders of any domestic corporations parties thereto and in such case the secretary of each party to the merger shall certify the fact of such stock ownership and that . . ."

Mr. GELFAND. I believe the gentleman has covered the point. Will he re-read the portion which says the stockholders—the portion on line 16 of page 7?

Mr. BOWMAN. ". . . of merger to the stockholders of any domestic corporation."

Mr. GELFAND. Will the gentleman now tell me how it does not apply to the shareholders of the public utility corporations inasmuch as it says "any corporation?"

Mr. BOWMAN. How do I explain it, does the gentleman say? I explain it just like I have already explained it.

Mr. GELFAND. Yes, but does not the language clearly say that the consent will be not necessary from the stockholders of any domestic corporation. Therefore, it would be entirely possible under this language, I believe, to have a merger where not even the minority stockholders in a public utility corporation are required to approve these mergers.

Mr. BOWMAN. I will merely have to disagree with the gentleman from Philadelphia. I do not so interpret the bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Does not the language clearly say "any"?

Mr. BOWMAN. I have already read the language and I have said I do not agree with the gentleman. I cannot say anything more.

Mr. GELFAND. That will be all. Thank you.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to call to the attention of the House that this particular legislation amends a bill, amends a statute rather, under which certain defined corporations are incorporated. This statute was earlier amended twice, once in the beginning of the 20th century, I believe, in which they gave permission to the corporations incorporated thereunder to merge with other corporations which do not do exactly the same type of business provided the merging corporations have similar shareholders.

In 1951 this legislation was again amended in order to provide for further mergers of this type of corporation and in order to bring the legislation in keeping with the Business Corporation Law of Pennsylvania, which was made in 1933. However, this amendment to the corporate statute, under which certain public utility and railroad corporations are incorporated, would go way beyond the Business Corporation Law of Pennsylvania in that it would take away the rights of minority shareholders to be heard in the event there is a merger between two corporations.

Now I will admit that this statute provides for the mergers with holding companies between holding companies which hold all the stock of the subsidiary corporation, but what it does further is this, it not only amends this particular Act, that is, the Act dealing with public utility corporations, but by its very language it also amends the Business Corporation Law of 1933.

It says on page 3, lines 8, and thereafter, that any subsidiary corporation domestic or foreign incorporated under or subject to the Business Corporation Law may be merged into a holding company as herein defined which is not subject to the Business Corporation Law."

This would mean that if a corporation which has a holding subsidiary and which is incorporated under the Business Corporation Law would desire to merge with a corporation which is incorporated under this law, that the corporation incorporated under the Business Corporation Law of 1933 would not have to comply with the requirements of the Business Corporation Law of 1933 but may comply with the requirements in this act, in this particular bill.

Now, exactly what does that mean? This bill would take away the requirement which is clearly set forth for the protection of minority shareholders, that in any merger the board of directors must give a copy of the merger agreement to the shareholders so that they may decide for themselves whether or not they are in favor of such merger, and in addition this particular statute at the present time would give those minority shareholders the right to dissent to any merger if they felt that it was not beneficial for the corporation.

What this proposed act would do is take away the rights of the minority shareholders to be heard and permit boards of directors on their own action, despite the feelings of minority shareholders, to merge or consolidate.

Now I suggest that this is a very, very great step forward in corporate legislation and also a very, very dangerous one, because you are taking away the rights of minority shareholders.

I would suggest for that reason that this bill be voted down.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to reiterate that I think the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Gelfand, is misinterpreting this bill with respect to protecting the rights of minority stockholders. There is no sinister purpose behind this bill. It is merely a bill to accomplish a better organization of public utility companies.

I do feel that these rates of minority stockholders are completely protected. The only case where the rates of minority stockholders are dealt with at all is in those cases where the wholly owned subsidiary is being merged into the parent corporation and in that case, of course, there are no minority stockholders.

I, therefore, urge the membership to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman one further question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman recommend this type of legislation for all business corporations?

Mr. BOWMAN. This type of legislation? If you mean the right to merger between business corporations, as presently enjoyed by business corporations—

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, that is not the question. Would the gentleman suggest this type of legislation in so far as not requiring the consent of the minority shareholders?

Mr. BOWMAN. I certainly would, in those cases where one corporation wholly owns the other corporation. I see no need for this going through the steps of sending out notices and so forth to minority shareholders when there are none. They mean in corporations wholly owned by the parent companies.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman kindly advise whether or not it is perfectly possible for one corporation to own all these shares in another corporation but still have shareholders in its own corporation who may not agree to any merger?

Mr. BOWMAN. I agree that that is possible and I also state that their rights are still protected. They have the right to vote for or against such a merger, under this bill and under present Business Corporation Law.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I hate to belabor the point but I imagine it is a question of interpretation of the language of this particular legislation. I disagree with the gentleman's interpretation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the remaining bills on today's calendar will be passed over. The Chair hears none.

FORMER CHIEF CLERK WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House the former Chief Clerk of the House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Long, and hopes that he plans attending our picnic today.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been asked to announce that thirty-five Members have failed to pick up their tickets for the picnic up to the present moment. The Chair would suggest that they be picked up in the Chief Clerk's office immediately, as you will need a ticket in order to get your buffet dinner at the picnic.

The Chair would also like to remind the Members following adjournment today, it would be advisable to get your lunch before going to the Country Club. Lunch will not be served there.

The Chair would also like to announce there will be a dinner served at the Country Club at 5:30. There will be no lunch earlier in the day. For those who do not know where the West Shore Country Club is, the Chair would state that it is approximately one mile beyond the west end of the M. Harvey Taylor bridge. State policemen will be stationed at the point where you turn to enter the Club grounds.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say that the golf match of the generation is going to take place today over at the country club. Gibson and myself have challenged Wescott and Guthrie to a golf match and we think some records will be broken and the results of the match will be heard around the world.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman guarantee that he will be able to "hold the line?"

Mr. JOHNSON. I am afraid I have had my finger in the dyke and I am about to remove it, I am sorry to say. Or rather, Mr. Readinger has removed his finger from the dyke.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROVANSEK. Would it be permissible, Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as I am a coal miner, that I bring some pick handles out and challenge the winners of this famous golf match?

The SPEAKER. How does the gentleman desire to use the pick handles?

Mr. ROVANSEK. By swinging them at the ball—not at the head.

Mr. JOHNSON. We will accept the challenge.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED TO MEMBER

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to state that the one sad note in our festivities today is the fact that we have a number of Members who are ill.

The Chair has just been informed that the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Erb, is very seriously ill in the hospital in Roaring Springs, Pennsylvania.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 202, PRINTER'S No. 175, RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

June 3, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Ie return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 202, Printer's No. 175, entitled "An Act authorizing and directing the Department of Highways to accept a bridge across Redbank Creek and the approaches thereto connecting the State highway system in Armstrong County with the State highway system in Clarion County."

This bill would require the Department of Highways to take over and maintain as part of the State highway system a one-lane bridge, across the Redbank Creek between Mahoning Township, Armstrong County, and Porter Township, Clarion County.

Approval of this bill would plainly not be in the best interests of the people of this Commonwealth. The bridge which is sought to be made a part of the State highway system is of substandard design and construction. It supplies only one traffic lane, which is inadequate to handle present-day traffic.

The placing of this structure on the State highway system would require immediate reconstruction of the bridge at this location at an expenditure of approximately one-half million dollars. Traffic counts conducted at the bridge indicate that the location does not warrant an expenditure of this size.

This bridge is a local road problem, and it is the responsibility of the Board of County Commissioners of the two counties involved to see that the needs of the motor-ing public are adequately met. Our administration has constantly supported a program of increased aid for local road projects in order to help the municipalities solve their problems. Last year such reimbursement was raised from eighteen million to thirty million dollars a year.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, there exists a situation in Pennsylvania that the Governor recognized some time ago, and concerning which he convened a nonpartisan committee of educators and other interested persons to investigate. From that investigation, we find there are thirty per cent of the youngsters of educatable age for higher education, between eighteen and twenty-one years, attending colleges today.

Mr. President, I will be very happy to wait until the noise subsides before I continue. I think this matter is of some importance.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from York Mr. Seyler.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am unable to follow the words of the speaker and I am very much interested in hearing the content of what he is saying.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair apologizes to the gentleman. He had a little conversation here and did not realize there was disorder. The Senate will be in order.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the reason I waited is because I think this matter is of some importance. Due to the lateness of the Session, I feel that unless some action is taken within the next day or so, this matter will completely get away from us. Therefore, I wanted to make sure that all the Members of the Senate would have an opportunity to think about some of the things I am going to bring to their attention. If, in any way, I am in error or out of order, I would like the Members to bring it to my attention. I think, at the next Session of the Legislature, they are going to have to ask themselves whether they did the right thing today. I think this is the time when they should pay a little attention to these problems.

Mr. President, there are approximately thirty per cent of the Nation's young people, between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one years, attending institutions of higher learning today. About twenty per cent of this group are attending schools in Pennsylvania. In the Philadelphia area, there are about twenty-eight per cent of the persons who could attend schools of higher learning taking advantage of this situation.

The Governor's commission, which he organized for the purpose of counseling on higher learning and for studying this problem, came up with precisely the same answer which President Eisenhower's committee came up with in studying the very same problem. They found that if our population remains at the present level, in other words, if we have no increase and it remains constant—by 1970 we will have double the amount of applications for education in our schools of higher learning.

We are doing little or nothing to prepare for this type of activity. As a matter of fact, today, in the Commonwealth, there are 117,000 youngsters attending colleges or doing graduate work in some of the institutions. Especially, in view of the fact that we are now living in the Atomic Age where not only more and more education is necessary, but diversity of education and skills are also necessary, we are not doing very much to keep pace with other countries that are competing with us, to see that we meet the ever-growing challenge which we are facing.

The Governor's committee suggested that a program of scholarships, loans and junior colleges be set up. He also asked that a permanent council on higher education be installed to oversee this entire program. Bills to carry out this program, were introduced, both in the Senate and House. In the House, they reported them out of committee and assigned them to the Joint State Government Commission. That resolution has never been acted upon by the Senate. The bills introduced in the Senate have never come out of committee and no committee action has been taken on them. From the way I see things here, I do not think any action is going to be taken on any of these bills or on any of these problems.

Mr. President, if we pass the House Resolution, referring this matter to the Joint State Government Commission, the net result will be, according to the resolution, that they will report back to the Legislature in 1959. Therefore, we will have lost two very valuable years in which we could have taken some sort of positive action to prevent I think the disastrous program we are setting out on by doing nothing.

Also, along with these bills introduced in the Senate were Senate Bill No. 736 and House Bill No. 421, both of which repose in committee, which would do away with discriminatory practices. This also militates against worthy young people getting an education because of their race, creed or color.

These are the two problems which are being presented to us. These are the problems which no one has taken the trouble to discuss, think about or even take any further action upon.

The Governor's committee, which was completely non-partisan, asked that along with these recommendations, regional councils be set up in these different areas to follow up these problems and to work out solutions. If we hope for our democratic institutions to continue, and for the democratic processes we know in this Country to go on, we will have to have in our complex society more and more people who are able, by their training, to handle these types of problems.

This matter has been made political and, believe me, it will be a very important plank in both Party platforms. It has been in the past, and they have just touched on it and talked about it in generalities. However, I think we will have to get some concrete solution, and the solution is before us now.

The desire to hold the line and cut the spending I think is an admirable thing in some areas. However, I think we also must recognize that we are living in a time of abundance, when we can afford to pay for certain items which are no longer luxuries but are absolute necessities and basic needs of our society. Unless this is done and unless some action is taken, I think we will have no one but ourselves to blame.

Therefore, I would like to spread upon the minutes of the Journal, and to bring to the attention of the Members of this Body, that this is the problem; that the solution is here at hand; and that further public studies and further hearings will gain us nothing and will get us no closer to the solution of the problem than we are now. I say if you do not want to enact the bills as they exist now or follow up on the House Resolution, I think the step which should be taken is to enact machinery of our own which will, at least, begin to recognize the problem and present a means of coping with it.

I am, therefore, Mr. President, offering this resolution, on behalf of myself and my colleagues.

SENATE RESOLUTION

LAIID ON THE TABLE

REQUESTING THAT THE SENATE TAKE ACTION ON ALL HIGHER EDUCATION BILLS

Messrs. WEINER, DONOLOW, SEYLER, SILVERT, SCHMIDT, YOSKO and HAYS offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, June 4, 1957.

Whereas, the present situation on higher education calls for some immediate action and planning, and

Whereas, approximately only 30% of the Nation's young people between the ages of 18 and 21 years attend college of which only 20% of this group attend college in Pennsylvania and approximately 28% attend some institution of higher learning in the Philadelphia area. In recent studies made throughout the county, the results showed that by 1975 the demand for higher education will be doubled, if the population remains at its present level which statistics show it will not, and

Whereas, the atomic age in which we now live not only requires more education but diversity of education as well as diversity and greater technical skill. The Governor's Committee on Higher Education which was comprised of a completely nonpartisan group, found as a result of their studies that by 1970 the present enrollment which is now 117,000 in the State will double bearing out the National studies made in this field. The proposal of the Governor's Committee on Higher Education based on all the evidence they accumulated was that a program of scholarships, loans, junior colleges be instituted and a permanent Council on Higher Education be established to oversee this program, and

Whereas, the legislation necessary to accomplish the above proposals were introduced in the House and the Senate were promptly referred in the House to the Joint State Government Commission instead of public hearings being held or some action of a positive nature being taken and in the Senate no action has been taken on the bills or even on the House Resolution. No action appears at this moment to be contemplated which would make the studies and recommendations of the nonpartisan study group operable or cause this program to come to fruition and

Whereas, the result of this non action will be that deserving and needy students who are best able to receive higher education will go without causing great harm to come to Pennsylvania and the entire Nation and bringing about tragic consequences especially in view of what other countries who are competing with us are doing in these areas. The error in this proposal and negative attitude of the House to send these bills to the Joint State Government Commission for study is that the report that this body is to make will not be received by the legislature until 1959, when the public will really begin to feel the pinch of this disastrous policy. It is for this reason that the public concern should be established and recorded so that no one can say who is a member of this body that he had no knowledge of this problem nor was it brought to his attention for action when something could have been done, and

Whereas, along with the above proposals, Senate Bill 736 and House Bill 421 which forbids discrimination in higher education should also be considered and made a part of this entire program as many students of high calibre are being denied an opportunity for admissions to schools of higher learning on the graduate level due to certain discriminatory practices of our colleges and universities, and

Whereas, the Governor's Committee further recommends that this entire problem of operating the program as set out above should be done by the Pennsylvania Association of Universities and Colleges and that regional councils should be created in certain areas of the State and financial support should be given to the Equal Rights Council to implement these programs, and

Whereas, the above proposals are the very same that President Eisenhower's Committee on Higher Education recommended, after a study of the entire problem presented here and we cannot any longer plead poverty as we are living in a time of abundance nor can we afford to classify these items as luxuries, as our very survival and our continuation as a democracy depends upon it, and

Whereas, Pennsylvania according to all the studies made stands at the bottom of the list of the states in the amount spent on a per capita basis for higher education, be it therefore

Resolved, that positive action be taken on the above bills and resolution passed in the House as well as the bills in the Senate and that this matter be removed from the area of politics by the request for further studies which have already been completed and the necessary recommendations already made.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have not had sufficient time to study this entire resolution which has to do with education. Evidently, the other bills which have to do with this subject are in committee.

I object, therefore, to the immediate consideration of this resolution and suggest that it be referred to the Education Committee. If the committee finds the resolution has merit, I suggest they report it out within the next day or two.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Mahany, would you kindly tell me how long it would take you to familiarize yourself with this bill and the problem connected therewith?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say, Senator, if I could sit down with you and go over this subject, perhaps it would take twenty minutes to one-half hour.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you, Senator Mahany.

RESOLUTION LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now move that this resolution be laid on the table, rather than having it go to committee, until such time as Senator Mahany and I have conferred upon it.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to, and the resolution was laid on the table.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF "THE VEHICLE CODE"

Messrs. SCOTT, WADE, KOPRIVER, JR., VAN SANT and FLACK offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, June 4, 1957.

The laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to the use of our highways and the regulation and operation of motor vehicles are in many instances obsolete and badly in need of revision.

Due to the rapid advances which have been made throughout the years in the design and construction of both highways and means of transportation, the same cannot be adequately governed by an act adopted twenty-eight years ago. Therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), known as "The Vehicle Code," and the amendments thereto for the purpose of recommending an extensive revision and modernization thereof, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

INTERROGATION

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, prior to introducing this resolution, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry, the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger, if he is present. If he is on other business out of this Chamber, I would like to interrogate the Vice-Chairman of that Committee, the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senate give unanimous consent to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, to make a statement and to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to suggest to Senator Weiner that he delay this until tomorrow. We have a large number of bills on our Calendar today. We also are going to have our closing day ceremonies. If he could delay his presentation until tomorrow, it would be helpful to all of us.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this will take no longer than ten minutes.

Mr. MAHANY. That is too long, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. I was going to say it would take five minutes, but that would have been too long also.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would suggest to Senator Weiner that he make his presentation tomorrow and let us get on with our order of business of the day, because we do have some important bills which must be acted upon. I am fearful that we are going to run short on time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would be only too happy to accede to the request made by the Majority Floor Leader, but due to the lateness of the Session and the fact that time is running on, I have two discharge resolutions which I would like to introduce today. In this way, the Members could act upon them, if they care to, prior to the budget coming over here at the end of the week. I promise not to take any more than ten minutes.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry, the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. With pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. As Chairman of the Labor and Industry Committee, have you taken up Senate Bill No. 178 which deals with safety devices on cars and trains?

Mr. BERGER. What kind of cars, Senator Weiner?

Mr. WEINER. The car which carries the equipment that pulls the rest of the train. In other words, the cars the operators use.

Mr. BERGER. I understand, Mr. President, that Senator Weiner desires to interrogate me concerning a bill which requires certain safety devices upon small motor cars on the rails, if I am not mistaken. Is that correct, Senator Weiner?

Mr. WEINER. No, sir; I believe the bill refers to all motor cars.

Mr. BERGER. Motor cars?

Mr. WEINER. Yes.

Mr. BERGER. That is the type of car referred to in the bill. Do you want to know whether it has been taken up?

Mr. WEINER. Has it been considered before the committee?

Mr. BERGER. Early in the Session, those bills were discussed before the committee and action was deferred at that time. At a later meeting of the committee, at the special request of the sponsor, I told him that we would take them up as an order of business at the next meeting. This was done, but I cannot recall on what date. The bills were discussed before the committee and a majority of the committee voted to table them indefinitely.

Mr. WEINER. Was there any reason given as to why they tabled these bills indefinitely?

Mr. BERGER. I would not know what reasons might have been in the minds of the members of the committee. Each of them had copies of the bills before them. They scrutinized them carefully and acted after due deliberation.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you very much.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WEINER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like at this time to introduce a discharge resolution on Senate Bill No. 178 and Senate Bill No. 197. Both of these bills deal with safety devices which almost every automobile in the State of Pennsylvania has. The only thing we would do is we would put these same safety devices on trains and cars, because people must operate these vehicles in all types of weather conditions which exist in this area.

I also would like to point out to the members of the Committee on Labor and Industry, should they decide to further consider this bill, that thirty-one States already have these safety devices. They are very simple things and I think all of us know about them. We probably often thought the trains already contained them, such as windshield wipers and a special type of glass which discards rain and dampness during bad weather. Also, the caboose car usually carries today, as we see mostly on cartoons, an old oil lamp at the end. We are merely asking that an electric light be installed in order for people not to get eye strain in seeing these things, and also that other persons will not be hurt, maimed or killed as a result of not seeing these proper lights at the rear of these cars.

Mr. President, I would like the Chairman of the Committee to consider these bills before they decide that they no longer wish to act on them or take any part in moving this very necessary legislation for reasons best known to themselves.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON LAW AND ORDER FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 178

Messrs. WEINER and SCHMIDT offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, June 4, 1957.

Resolved, That Senate Bill No. 178, entitled "An Act requiring every railway car used for transportation of employees to have certain equipment and providing penalties" having been referred to the Committee on Labor and Industry on February 12, 1957, and the committee not having reported the same to the Senate for a period of over ten days, the committee is discharged from further consideration thereof.

On the question,

Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

MOTION TO ADOPT DISCHARGE RESOLUTION

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate adopt the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

SENATE RESOLUTION

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

REQUESTING THE PENNSYLVANIA LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD TO INCREASE THE DISCOUNT ALLOWED TO LICENSEES TO TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT OF THE RETAIL PRICE OF THE MERCHANDISE PURCHASED

Messrs. McMENAMIN, DENT, MURRAY and SARRAF offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Law and Order.

In the Senate, June 4, 1957.

The present discount allowed to licensees by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board is inadequate and not in keeping with good business practices in selling large quantities of merchandise; therefore be it

Resolved, that the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board to increase the discount allowed to licensees to twenty-five per cent of the retail price of the merchandise purchased.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to inform the Membership of the Senate that the two bills which I am about to report from the Committee on Law and Order deal with the problem of movie censorship in Pennsylvania.

One bill relating to this subject is on the Calendar today, on third reading, and it is the thought of the Chairman of the Committee that the other two bills should be reported, placed on the Calendar and that each and every Member of the Senate should study this legislation, and maybe we might be able to come up with one bill which would comply with the Supreme Court's decision whereby we will have some constitutional legislation in Pennsylvania on movie censorship.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

He also, from the Committee on Law and Order, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 488, entitled:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 467, entitled:

An Act creating the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority defining its powers and duties conferring powers and imposing duties on the Governor President Pro Tempore of the Senate Speaker of the House of Representatives Superintendent of Public Instruction President of Pennsylvania State University and the Department of Banking.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 467, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, this bill would provide a fund from which students, who are in need, could borrow. It would not cost the State a single penny. It provides for the organization of a nonprofit corporation to which individuals of means, or corporations, would contribute money as donations and create a revolving fund from which students in need could borrow up to $500 a year at a low rate of interest. This is a bill patterned after one in Massachusetts where it is working with great success. It is one way of helping higher education without the State contributing a single penny.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Mahany, will you state why this bill is being recommitted and for what purpose?

Mr. MAHANY. I did not make the motion; Senator Pechan made it. However, to be really honest with you, and we should be honest with each other one day out of the year, I think this bill is being recommitted for the purpose of burial.

Mr. SILVERT. Will you give me a reason why?

Mr. MAHANY. The reason why a majority of the Republican Senators were opposed to this bill is because they did not feel they wanted this Department of Higher Education set up. It seems if we get into this Higher Education Authority, they will have powers which we do not want them to have. They would have some control, for instance, over the State Teachers' Colleges and would interfere with them.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this is really none of my business, but I think the gentleman is discussing the wrong bill. In order to save time, I would suggest that he turn his attention to the correct bill, which is Senate Bill No. 467.

Mr. MAHANY. I am trying to find it, Mr. President, but I do not seem to have it in my list. Would Senator Seyler please send me over a copy of Senate Bill No. 467?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, just one more comment. This is one of those bills appearing in the pink. If we had been putting them in a folder and placing them on each Member's desk, the gentleman from Crawford would now have a copy on his desk.

Mr. MAHANY. We are going to start doing that after the first of July.

Mr. President, to be honest again, I am not too familiar with the contents of this bill. When this legislation was considered in this morning's Caucus, I was in conference with His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth. Therefore, I did not have the benefit of whatever discussion took place in the Caucus.

I would suggest that Senator Pechan, who was present at the Caucus, answer Senator Silvert's question. I, personally, do not know what discussion took place relative to this bill in our Caucus.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I then desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The President. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President. However, I, too, was not in Caucus when this matter was discussed this morning. It was not because I was with His Excellency, the Governor, however. I was doing other chores and was absent from the Caucus Room when this bill was discussed.

Mr. SILVERT. Was there anyone present in the Caucus when this bill was discussed?

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Watkins was present.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Watkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATKINS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Watkins, will you state to the Members of the Senate what the motivating reasons were for recommitting this bill? I am referring to Senate Bill No. 467.

Mr. WATKINS. Personally, I thought it was a bad bill, and a majority of the Caucus thought it was a bad bill, and we thought we should give it a decent burial by sending it back to committee. This is bad legislation and we did not think it was good.

Mr. SILVERT. You stated a conclusion by saying that it was a bad bill. Why is it a bad bill?

Mr. WATKINS. We do not feel it is necessary, under the laws of Pennsylvania, to set up outside corporations for borrowing money to send boys and girls to school. You can borrow money from the banks; you can borrow it from Senator Dent and yourself.

Mr. SILVERT. Do you not realize that there are a great many students now in our universities who are unable to continue with their education because they have no means to pay for their education? This bill would give them a place where they could borrow at least $500 per year to assist them in going through college. When they graduate, and by reason of their education, they are able to earn a livelihood which is greater than the average earning. They would then be in a position to repay, with a low rate of interest.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, this is just setting up another scheme to borrow money and use the schools as an idea. If they borrow money, they must pay interest. Therefore, it is just another business and let them borrow the money from the banks. Somebody would have to endorse the note if they borrowed it from this crowd that Senator Silvert wants to set up in business. Therefore, Mr. President, we think it is bad legislation.

Mr. SILVERT. No one would have to endorse the note of a student. This corporation would take its chances, whereas when you go to a bank, you would need endorsement and they may not be able to obtain the endorsement.

Mr. President, I feel that the reasoning of the Majority is bad. I am, therefore, asking the Members of the Senate, on the Democratic side, to vote "no" on this motion, to recommit the bill.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I do not believe that the sponsors of this bill realize there is discrimination practiced in their bill, discrimination on account of age. I read from page 3, of the bill, beginning with line 11:

"No person shall serve as a director longer than until and including the last day of December in the year in which he shall be seventy years of age"

Mr. President, that is a serious flaw in this bill. Here are Senator McCreesh and Senator McGinnis, who I think will soon be seventy years of age, and our esteemed President pro tempore, who will be seventy-one today. That would exclude him. Otherwise, the bill might be all right.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am willing to accept Senator Mallery's amendment, and raise the age. Shall we make it eighty-two and include Senator Taylor?

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SILVERT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SCHMIDT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SILVERT and Mr. SCHMIDT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—29

Berger,	Harney,	McMenamin,	Wade,
Blass,	Kessler,	Pechan,	Wagner,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not see any use in putting this bill on the Postponed Calendar. I want to act on it tomorrow, and the bill can go over in order today and be on the Final-Passage Calendar tomorrow.

We feel that we want to vote on this bill tomorrow, Senator. We would be willing to vote on it today, only the time is growing late and that is the reason we are consenting to have the bill go over in its order. We feel that this is a much needed piece of legislation for Philadelphia and I want to vote in favor of the bill tomorrow. Therefore, I object to it being placed on the Postponed Calendar today.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am one of those who has the highest respect for the erudition of Senator Mahany, but to be all-inclusive and know what is good for Philadelphia, that is rather doubtful.

Furthermore, we are now busy with more important matters. To use the words of "Alice in Wonderland," we are dealing in cabbages and kings. This is cabbages, and as cabbages it may wait until a more propitious moment.

For this reason, the world will not come to an end if the bill is placed on the Postponed Calendar, given more study, more circumspection, and then acted upon within the next week.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, if it is the desire of the Majority Floor Leader to debate this matter now and dispose of the bill, I will withdraw my request that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. PECHAN. Could we not do it tomorrow, Senator Weiner, just as well as today.

Mr. WEINER. It appears that this matter is of great importance and cannot wait another week. Therefore, we might as well do it today and dispose of it, unless I misunderstand the Majority Floor Leader.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would be glad to do that except that I see so many nicely wrapped packages here, and I can hardly wait to get to that order of business. Therefore, I just want to put this bill over. I do not know why you are objecting to it going over. You are the one who suggested it. I went along with that, and now you are arguing on the silly point of whether or not we put the bill on the Postponed Calendar.

Just because we have an audience here, I do not see why we should be arguing about things like this. I would say we should let the bill go over in its order, Senator and let us argue it tomorrow. We might not have as big an audience, but we will have more time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not want the audience to get the wrong impression. We even argue when there is not an audience.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order on final passage.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF CONSIDERATION OF THE CALENDAR SUSPENDED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to suspend this order of business temporarily and act upon the election of the President pro tempore for the interim.

Our plan is that after our observance of the closing day ceremonies, Senator Dent and perhaps some more of us can come back and act on the Second Reading Calendar after the party is over. We plan to take a recess after our observance here.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, asks unanimous consent to suspend the order of business and take up at this time the matter of electing a President pro tempore of the Senate to serve during the interim and also to include the closing day ceremonies.

Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I believe we are now under the order of business of nominating and electing a President pro tempore of the Senate to act during the interim.

I think the perennial Senator who has that job is Senator Chapman, and he is now getting to his feet.

NOMINATION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE FOR THE INTERIM

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it is my great privilege at this time to place in nomination for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania the name of a man who has filled that office with dignity and ability since the Session of 1945. This gentleman enjoys the confidence and respect of all his colleagues, and it is especially appropriate today to make this nomination by reason of the fact that today happens to be his birthday.

It gives me great pleasure, Mr. President, to again place in nomination the name of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor, of Dauphin County, for the office of President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania for the interim and until the Legislative Session of 1959.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am pleased to be afforded the honor of seconding the nomination of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor as President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania during the interim.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish to rise to second the nomination of the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor as President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania for the interim.

Most of us served a great number of years in the halls of this Senate and have learned to know Senator Taylor. We have learned to know that he always finds time for the many problems which come up during a Legislative Session. He has been a fair chief officer of this Senate on the occasions when he takes the rostrum.

Mr. President, it gives me pleasure, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus, to second the nomination at this time of Senator M. Harvey Taylor as President pro tempore of the Senate of Pennsylvania during the interim.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any further nominations?

NOMINATIONS CLOSED

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I move that the nominations for President pro tempore of the Senate during the interim be closed.

Mr. FLEMING. I second the motion, Mr. President.
 Mr. BLASS. Mr. President I second the motion.
 Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.
 Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.
 The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. On the election of the President pro tempore for the interim, the Clerk will call the roll. The candidate is the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor of Dauphin County.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ESCORT PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE FOR THE INTERIM TO THE ROSTRUM

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now appoints the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Chapman, the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, and the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, as the Committee to Escort the President pro tempore to the Rostrum.

PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE FOR THE INTERIM PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDENT. The Chair thanks the committee, and presents the newly elected President pro tempore for the interim, the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE FOR THE INTERIM

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it certainly is warm up here.

If anybody would have told me, about sixty-five or sixty-six years ago, when I was a page boy in this Senate, that I would be honored by standing up here as President pro tempore of the Senate, I could not have realized it nor could I have appreciated it. However, the only trouble with me is that I am always in reverse after six o'clock. The figures eighty-one and eighteen prove that, being in reverse. I am eighty-one up until six o'clock and after six o'clock, Mrs. Taylor says that I try to be eighteen.

Mr. President, I appreciate this honor and I think I should be complimented because at eighty-one years of age, when I get as many Democratic votes as I received today, I am gaining in strength.

I also want to say that if I had not lived too many two years in one, I would be a century plant up here today. Anybody who is in politics has lived more than 365 days in a year. I am not complaining however; I love it. I live by it and I would not quit for the world. The finest years

I have had in my life have been spent here with you fine gentlemen.

Thank you so much for your confidence.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair invites the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Fleming to the rostrum to preside during the Sine Die Ceremonies.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

SINE DIE CEREMONIES

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time has come for our biannual celebration, at which we have the sine die ceremonies and at which we hope our sine die date will be carried out. This is a time when we put aside our Party differences and pay tribute to our leaders on both sides of the Senate.

We are a little late in getting started today. We are going to make it as short as we can because the Members of the Senate and their friends want to get down to "E" Floor.

MRS. M. HARVEY TAYLOR PRESENTED TO THE SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Before proceeding further, I would at this time like to present, just for the purpose of having her rise and having the Members of the Senate give her the hand which she deserves, the person who I think is probably most responsible for putting Senator Taylor where he is today, his wife, Mrs. Taylor.

Without further ado, the Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade.

PRESENTATION TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN, PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I rise at this time to make a committee report; that is, a committee report of the entire Senate which now wishes to pay its respects to some of our distinguished leaders and to those who have helped us through this Session.

I was encouraged, Mr. President, to hear you say a few moments ago that we were about finished with this Session of the Legislature. I thought of a little story about a friend of mine who was coming in from Chicago recently by plane. He noticed some unrest on the part of the pilot, and he went forward and asked the pilot how he was getting along. The pilot said, "We are lost, but we are making good time."

As Senator Taylor so ably said a little while ago, there are some of us who have been privileged to be Members of this Senate for a long time. We all get very much concerned about the trends in government. We become concerned because of the fact that our budget constantly increases regardless of whether one party or the other is in power. The same thing is taking place in Washington. However, Mr. President, today we lay aside the fact that we are now spending one-third of the national income in the budgets of the National, State and local governments.

It is now my pleasant assignment to pay particular respect to our Lieutenant-Governor, the President of the Senate. A little while ago, when I was quite unprepared, as I am yet, I went over and asked Mrs. Furman if she could tell me some things about the Lieutenant-Governor which would be interesting to the Members of the Senate. She started out right away by saying that he has a very bad disposition. I think all of us who have been privileged to sit in this Senate, and all those visitors present who have been here during the Sessions, would agree that he has a particularly bad disposition. That, of course, is intended to be facetious. I do not carry that as well as my friend and colleague, Senator Mahany. However, I would say this about Governor Furman. When I am talking to most any of my fellow Republicans, in discussing the Lieutenant-Governor, they all say he would make a darn good Republican. With that I agree.

According to the records that I have been able to find, Governor Furman is the only man who has ever presided officially over the House and the Senate of Pennsylvania. He was elected Speaker of the House back in the 1930's and later was elected Lieutenant-Governor. He has a very lovely wife. I asked one of the Senator's Democratic friends whether he could let me in on some information and tell me the approximate age of the Lieutenant-Governor. The answer was that he was approximately sixteen years older than Senator Taylor.

We Members of the Senate are most fortunate in having a presiding officer such as the present Lieutenant-Governor. He has brought us through many tangling situations, he has always been more than fair and he has been partial to no one. He has conducted the Sessions of this Senate with proper decorum and has always kept us on an even keel. I am sure that I am speaking not only for my colleagues, but I know I am speaking for my Democratic colleagues as well, when I say that we are privileged and it has been a great pleasure and a fine experience to serve under Governor Furman's leadership. He enjoys the esteem and the admiration I think of everyone in the Senate and of many, many persons outside the Senate and throughout Pennsylvania.

As a little token of this esteem and admiration, Governor Furman, and in appreciation of the fine way in which you have performed your duties as President of the Senate, we are privileged now to present to Mrs. Furman a portable television set, a Polaroid camera and a transistor radio. We hope that Mrs. Furman will let you look at these occasionally.

THE PRESIDENT (LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN) IN THE CHAIR

The PRESIDENT. Thank you very much, Mr. Wade, and all the Members of the Senate. When you said you had gone to speak to my wife, I recall seeing you on the wrong side of the aisle. When you said that, my heart almost stopped because I was afraid she would tell you the truth. Well, she told you part of it, the part which she tells me from time to time, but not all of it.

I hardly know what to say, except to say thank you. Both of us appreciate these gifts very, very much. I can say that it has been a privilege and an honor for me to preside over this Senate. In executing the duties which I have to perform here, each and every one of you have made it easy for me. Many times people have asked me whether it is a tough job to preside, but I have not found it as such. I have enjoyed every minute of it. It has been a real pleasure for me.

The only regret which I have is that we are coming to the close of the second Session and possibly it is the end of the Sessions over which I will have the privilege to preside. That is my only regret. I will always remember the friendships I have made on both sides of the aisle, and I will think of them as long as I live.

Again, I say thanks to each and every one of you.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER (ROBERT D. FLEMING) IN THE CHAIR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Thank you, Lieutenant-Governor Furman.

The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS AND PRESENTATION TO SENATOR M. HARVEY TAYLOR, PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE OF SENATE

Mr. WADE. Thank you, Mr. President.

It is now my pleasant duty to make another presentation. You have all heard today that this is Senator Taylor's forty-first birthday. I congratulate Senator Taylor on his birthday, and I congratulate him publicly on being elected President pro tempore of this Senate. As a matter of fact, prior to this new term he has served us, and served us very well, longer than any other Senator in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Senator Taylor has served us ably. He has said publicly, a number of times, and expressed his liking and admiration for the other Members of the Senate. I may say to him that we are richer for our association with him and for his leadership. We are privileged to have them both.

I am glad to say that Senator Taylor was endorsed by the Members on the other side of the aisle. During my experience, I have never before experienced that.

I would like to read a little poem, which I think applies to Senator Taylor's philosophy.

"THE POINT OF VIEW

"The world is here for what it is:
A thing of pain, a thing of bliss;
A thing of dullness or of wit
According as we look on it.

"If in my heart I dwell on woe,
And on the weeds that in it grow,
'Twill prove a sorry sort of place
Devoid of beauty and of grace.

"But if I spend my working hours
In thinking on its lovely flowers,
And all the blessings I have got
'Twill be for me a garden-spot.

"Wherefore, whatever woes may press
I'll think upon earth's loveliness
And thereby win the gracious good
Of its unbounded plentitude."

Senator Taylor, on behalf of all your colleagues, it is my distinct pleasure and privilege to present to you, from all of your colleagues, a portable television set, a Polaroid camera and a transistor radio. We hope these gifts will mean many hours of pleasure for you and for your family. I present them to you with our very best wishes for many, many years ahead.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, will there be anything left for the rest?

All I can do is thank you. I am glad I was second, because I am pitying the last fellow. Thank you so much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR ROWLAND B.
MAHANY, MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I certainly have the distinct honor and privilege today of making a congratulatory speech to the Majority and Minority Leaders of the Senate.

I might say to the Membership of the Senate, and to the people of Pennsylvania, that I have known Senator Mahany since way back in 1943. As a matter of fact, he and I served in the House of Representatives together. Senator Mahany has distinguished himself not only in the House of Representatives, but he has also distinguished himself here in the Senate by being an able Majority Leader.

I will say to you, Senator Mahany, speaking for the Democratic Members, that sometimes we wish you were on our side, because you are an individual who is endowed with an enormous amount of patience, a marvelous personality and a spirit of understanding. I do not believe you have one enemy in this Senate.

I think, too, Senator Mahany, in speaking for the Members of this Senate, that you have endeavored to do a job for the people of Pennsylvania. We know you are sincere in your endeavors and honest in your thinking.

On behalf of the entire Membership of this Senate, it is my pleasure to present to you, with our best wishes and compliments, a set of golf irons, a Polaroid camera and a transistor radio. We hope that you will be successful in your endeavors, and we also hope that you do not move to Florida.

Mr. MAHANY. I want to thank you very much, Senator, for the fine, honest words which you have just uttered. I feel highly complimented. I will try to fulfill all of the things which you said about me, at least for the balance of the term.

I also regret, as the Lieutenant-Governor stated, that this Session is drawing to a close and that it will be his last time to preside over the Senate. It will probably be my last time to be over here and be one of you, too. That is not a formal announcement yet of my ambitions, but it has been pretty largely understood that this will probably be my last Session.

If I do go to Florida, Senator, I am going to carry those golf clubs down there with me and every time I swing at a ball, I will think of you for the clubs and Governor Leader for the ball, and I am sure I will have a good game.

Thank you very much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR JOHN H. DENT, MINORITY LEADER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, when Senator Fleming placed the responsibility upon me to make the presentations to the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader, I talked with quite a number of the Members of our Caucus and I asked them whether they thought we should tell the truth. Some of the members said we could tell the truth about his good nature as well as his bad points.

I might say, and I believe all of you will agree, that our Minority Leader, Senator Dent, who has been for more than two decades here on this rostrum leading the fight for we Democrats, is an excellent person. He is a man with a marvelous temperament. I sometimes wonder that he does not have a heart attack because of his intensity in his work. Senator Dent and Senator Mahany are really the work horses on this Hill.

I want to say to you, Senator Dent, and I think I am speaking for the entire Membership of this Senate, that we admire you, we respect you. We know that you are sincere in your endeavors. We, on the Democratic side, feel that you are the greatest Minority Leader that ever hit the State of Pennsylvania. If you go to the United States Senate, I think you will be the Minority Leader there or, better still, the Majority Leader.

On behalf of the Membership, I have the privilege of presenting you with a set of golf irons, a Polaroid camera and a transistor radio.

Before I leave this microphone, the thought has come to my mind that I should recite a portion of a poem which I believe both Senator Mahany and Senator Dent have read. I think it is by Edgar Guest and it goes something like this:

"SUCCESS

"It is found in the soul of you,
And not in the realm of luck.
The world will furnish the work to do,
But you must furnish the pluck.
You can do anything you think you can,
It all depends on how you do it.
And now that you have convinced yourselves,
Just go ahead and do it."

Congratulations, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, first, I want to thank you, Bill, personally, for the kind words which you have said about me. They were particularly interesting and important, because they were also true. Seriously, I can say to all of you that I have threatened to quit so many times that if I were to say it now, you would not believe me any more than you have in the past.

I do want to say, though, that I would regret very much if Senator Mahany were to make good his threat and leave State Government. State Government offers a challenge and an opportunity to be of service. There are not many of us who have the privilege to serve. Although at times it appears that our efforts are thankless and the criticism is great and heavy, yet we always recognize in men like Senator Mahany that services rendered to the people can never be forgotten.

Senator Mahany, I want to say to you that I hope you do come back and serve either in this capacity or in any capacity which your party may choose for you. I was just reminded that if you do come back, it would be a good lesson for you, and round out your education, if you would serve at least one term as Minority Leader.

I want to say that if we must have a Republican in office, and I understand from the way people are voting nowadays that we have to have Republicans, I am glad it is a man like Senator Mahany, who has been my counterpart on the other side.

As far as Harve Taylor is concerned, gentlemen, there is nothing I can say. He appears to have the character of being indestructible.

I have often thought if I could write my own code, my own future, and pick what I wanted for myself, I would pick the vitality of Harve Taylor, I would pick the even temperament of Senator Mahany and I would pick the money of Senator Diehm.

Now that I have assured myself of a ripe old age, a tranquil existence and a prosperous future, I thank you all.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Elliott.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR ALBERT R. PECHAN, MAJORITY WHIP

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, having been sitting here since January 1, 1957, we have heard many, many words. We have heard many times the more distinguished Senators, and those who have served here longer, say what a real, rare and wonderful privilege it is to be a Member of this Body. I would like to say, and I will not say it as one of the younger Senators but I will say it as one of the newer Senators, that nothing has been said that is truer than this. I would like to second that statement on behalf of all the newer Senators.

I would also like to say, Mr. President, as a freshman Senator, I never expected to be accorded this high honor of participating in these very important, very warm and friendly ceremonies.

Not too long ago we had read to us—and I understand written by himself—quite an eulogy about the Majority Whip. I did not think I could add anything to those glorious words. So, I went to the dictionary and looked up the definition of “whip.” There are many definitions, none of them applicable to the Majority Whip. Not that he does not qualify; on the contrary, they are not adequate enough.

I want to say to Senator Pechan, in recognizing his ability, his energy and his leadership, that those of us who are his four boys appreciate very much his friendship and his helpfulness, in addition to what he has done for this Body. That is something just a little personal.

On behalf of the entire Senate, Senator Pechan, it is my very pleasant privilege to present to you, with our highest esteem and affection, a Polaroid camera, and accessories, and a transistor radio. I hope you will enjoy them for a long time to come.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, that is something coming from one of my freshmen. I want to say I cannot recall, in my Senate history, when we have had a finer group of new Senators on both sides of the aisle than those who came into the 1957 Session. You are easy to whip into line. I do not mean that, Doug. You fellows have made my job very much easier.

I do want to say thanks to you, Lieutenant-Governor Furman. As I have said to you many times, if you were a Republican, I could vote for you.

“Pop-Pop,” I want to congratulate you on your birthday and also congratulate May, who is Mrs. Taylor. I call her May because she is like a mother to me. I want to congratulate you also on being elected again as President pro tempore.

I have a number of people in this Hall to thank, on both sides of the aisle. I want to say this, while I am on my feet, about Senator Dent. Even though he does throw a few barbs, I think he is happy that he has Al Pechan over here. I know that Bill Lane is happy. Bill Lane's existence would not be a very happy one if he did not have Al Pechan. This applies to Senator Seyler, too. I do not know what you two fellows would do if you did not have Al Pechan to pick on. I have enjoyed it; you have been fair. I want every one of you, on both sides of the aisle, to know that I have appreciated it. There is nothing that I have done in my life where I have made finer friends. Something I will never forget as long as I live is the association I have had with you other forty-nine gentlemen.

Thank you all very much.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR ROWLAND B.
MAHANY, MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am going to do something which probably sets a precedent. I am impelled by a sense of gratitude and respect to speak briefly about my boss, the Majority Leader, Rowland Mahany.

When I came to the Senate in 1949, it was my privilege to sit behind Rowland and he took me in hand. I believe it was the second day I was here when I saw posted on the bulletin board a notice of the Caususes. Incidentally, there was never a dumber Senator to come to this Body than Al Pechan. I started off for the meeting and Senator Mahany asked me where I was going. I replied that I was going to the Democratic Caucus. He said, “Where?” “I am going to the Democratic Caucus,” I replied. “You do not belong over there,” he said. I said, “Well, I was elected on both tickets; I can go find out what is going on.”

In all seriousness, Senator Mahany has done a magnificent job. For the past two Sessions, we have worked very closely. I have been his assistant. It has been an enjoyable experience and I want to—as I say, maybe it is breaking a precedent—give him a personal gift. Ray, will you please bring it forward?

I have some woods for you, Rowland, which I hope will work better than the ones you crab about so much and will go with your new irons.

Good luck to you.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to thank the Senator for his very complimentary remarks. As far as our friendship is concerned, it is certainly mutual. It was a pleasure for me to aid the Senator. I hope, in my small way, that I have improved him just a little bit over what he was when he came into the Senate.

If any other Senator wants to break any precedents in my behalf, I will be happy to let him do it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Franklin, Mr. Elliott.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR FRANK W. RUTH, MINORITY WHIP

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, it did not take me very long to realize what I am sure all of you have known for many, many years regarding the man about whom I am going to speak. He has given service to his State, to his community and to this Body. That man is the Minority Whip and in a very quiet, yet a very effective, way he has demonstrated many of the traits which we call leadership.

I know the Majority Whip was elected the outstanding man in his profession in the State. I do not know if, in the Minority Whip's case, an outstanding man in his profession is elected in the State. However, I am sure if one were elected, he would not only qualify but he would win hands down.

I am speaking a little personally now because I know he has contributed many things which all of you know, and because of my newness to this Body, I am not aware of. However, the thing to me that he contributes probably most of all occurs at the time we are without a regular Chaplain and he is called upon to open these Sessions with prayer. I have, and I think I am speaking for all of my colleagues, received a great deal of inspiration from this unusual and unique kind of leadership; leadership in prayer invoked by the Minority Whip.

I would like to be able to run down your history Senator Ruth, but I think it is probably well known to everyone. Therefore, I, again, will just be a little personal and say that, to me, you have all the qualifications, and many more necessary, for your very important job. I am sure that you do the same for your flock of new Senators as well as for your older ones, as Senator Pechan does for his.

On behalf of your colleagues, I would like to present to you, with esteem, with respect and with affection, this token of our appreciation for your many services, a Polaroid camera and a transistor radio.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, Senator Elliott, and fellow colleagues, on this coming Sunday, June 9, 1957, it will be thirty-nine years since I was ordained and installed in my parish. At that time, we had 700 members; we now have 1,600. I have made very, very close connections there.

I know a young man who is now preaching in Dallas-town, York County. I married his parents; I baptized him when he was a baby; I confirmed him; I helped him to get money to go through school; and, in 1950, I ordained him into the ministry. Those are connections that are always present in the ministry. There are many, many others which I could mention.

Twenty-six and one-half of those years I have served up here on the Hill. I served in the House of Representatives as Majority Whip for six years. I am now in my twenty-second year in the Senate. I have also made many connections and made many friends who are invaluable.

I appreciate these gifts but, most of all, I appreciate your friendship. Thank you very much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr.

REMARKS BY SENATOR JOSEPH M. BARR

Mr. BARR. Governor Furman, the Presiding Officer, Senator Fleming, and our new President pro tempore, I want to give Senator Taylor one little bit of instruction.

I think perhaps you had better stay out tonight, because I was reading your horoscope today on your birthday and it said, "Avoid arguments at home in the p.m."

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR ISRAEL STIEFEL, MINORITY CAUCUS CHAIRMAN

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, it is my pleasant task to present the gifts to the Caucus Chairmen.

I do not know whether the Democratic Caucus Chairman should get both gifts because he was absent from the Senate here for a short time. However, when he has been here, he has done a terrific job. I think it is a little more difficult to keep a minority group in line in a Caucus than it is a majority group. Senator Stiefel has told me that when he gets the settlemen from his accident, he is going to clean up these historical things around here and pay for them himself, because you fellows have been so mean in sending back to committee all his historical bills.

I think when the General State Authority bill came out, authorizing the building of a memorial to William Penn in Harrisburg, the Session was then a complete success to the dear Doctor from Philadelphia.

On behalf of all your colleagues on both sides, I would like to present to you a Polaroid camera and a transistor radio, Doctor Stiefel.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am deeply touched and tonight I am going to celebrate in a peculiar manner. On the whole, I am abstemious, but tonight I shall imbibe two glasses of wine.

There is an ancient story told that when Noah left the ark, he planted a vineyard. The next day, the devil came to Noah and said, "Let us strike a partnership." They did and the devil got the key to the vineyard. The first night, he came in stealth and he brought a lamb, slaughtered the lamb and sprinkled the blood of the lamb on the grapes. The next night, he brought a lion and performed the same operation. On the third night, he slaughtered a parrot and again sprinkled the blood over the grapes. Finally, on the last night, he performed it with a monkey. Ever since, when a man drinks one glass of whiskey, he is mild as a lamb; with two drinks, he becomes as strong as a lion; with the third drink, he becomes a parrot, and with the fourth one, he starts monkey business.

To pay tribute to my colleagues and to these fine gentlemen, I am going to imbibe two glasses in order for me to be as strong as a lion and pay praises to them.

Thank you.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR JAMES S. BERGER, MAJORITY CAUCUS CHAIRMAN

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have a friend of long standing on the other side. I have had many, many good, sound arguments with him. He is a tough, rugged Republican. I want to say that his word is as good as his bond. It is hard to get it from him, but once he gives you his word, brother, he will stick to it if he has to battle the entire Republican Caucus and that is not an easy outfit to handle. I hope that the next few days will be rough for him in trying to handle his Caucus on this budget. I know the problems which are besetting each and every one of you on the Republican side.

Jimmy Berger has been the Caucus Chairman now for quite a number of years. I have had one or two occasions to go to the Republican Caucus and I have seen how he keeps his colleagues in order. It is just a little bit easier now to keep them in order because they have separate tables for all. You know, we just have a tea table up in our Caucus Room. When everyone is there, you would think it was a singing class because they are all trying to talk at once. However, in the Republican Caucus, they are kept in good order. I am not wishing Senator Berger too much luck in the next several days.

On behalf of all the Members of the Senate, I would like to present to Senator Berger a Polaroid camera and a transistor radio, and wish him the health which he has enjoyed for the last few years.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President and Lieutenant-Governor Furman, I wish to thank Senator Barr for those kind words. I certainly appreciate these fine gifts. It is sort of like Christmas on June 4th. The expression is that it is usually like Christmas on July 4th, but today, being Senator Taylor's birthday, June 4th is a great, big day for all of us.

I want to say to all of the Members of the Senate that while I have presided over the Republican Caucus for several years, I have found it a most pleasant duty. I do not think there is a finer group of gentlemen in the world than the Members of our Caucus. If I happened to be on the other side of the aisle and were in a similar position I know that I could say the same thing from what I know of those gentlemen.

Mr. President, it is really a great pleasure and a privilege to be able to say these few words in appreciation of all your kindnesses. Thank you very much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Whalley.

PRESENTATION TO SECRETARY OF SENATE, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF SENATE, CHIEF CLERK OF SENATE AND SENATE LIBRARIAN

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, Lieutenant-Governor Furman, Members of the Senate and ladies and gentlemen, much good comes from an affair of this kind. I gives us the opportunity of recognizing and acknowledging the splendid services of the following men who have worked with us in the Senate. They are Senator Letzler, Secretary of the Senate, Senator Diehm, Chief Clerk of the Senate; Charles Lathero, Senate Librarian; and Mark Gruell, Assistant Secretary.

During World War II, we had a young soldier from our town who served in the Pacific. He wrote home one day, saying, "I cannot tell you where I am, but I shot a polar bear today." Sometime later, he wrote home again saying "I cannot tell you where I am, but I danced with a hula girl today." A very short time later, he wrote home again saying, "I cannot tell you where I am, but I would have been better off if I would have danced with the polar bear and shot the hula girl." The moral of the story was that the young soldier did not know what it was all about.

Mr. President, the four names that I mentioned do know what it is all about and know it well. Senator Letzler and Senator Diehm are two of the stand-bys who have made the Senate click this Session. Their former service as Members of the Senate has given them the experience and understanding, which they have made available to us at all times. We deeply appreciate their assistance.

Charles Lathero, as Librarian, has given the Members of the Senate splendid cooperation and service in the handling of all of our requests, large or small. We owe him our sincere thanks.

Mark Gruell knows the answers so far as parliamentary procedure is concerned and, at all times, has given us the benefit of his knowledge. As a parliamentarian, we consider Mark to be one of the best. Please accept our thanks, Mark, for doing an outstanding job.

It is our privilege and pleasure at this time, on behalf of the Members of the Senate, to present these gifts as tokens of our respect and appreciation to Senator Letzler, Senator Diehm, Mr. Lathero and Mr. Gruell.

PRESENTATION TO SENATE PERSONNEL

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, to Mrs. Kunkle, the Library Clerk, to Bob Hoke, the Reading Clerk, to Donald Lehr and Joe Weichel, Journal Clerks, for outstanding service to this group, on behalf of the Senate, we wish to give you these small gifts to show our appreciation to you.

To Miss Patricia Sayer and her associates, to Mr. Shelley, of the Legislative Reference Bureau, we present you with gifts also and thank you for your cooperation this Session.

The Members of the Senate also wish to thank Ralph Earley and his associates for the very fine services they have given us since January 1. We appreciate them very much. Now, on behalf of the Senate, we hand Mr. Earley, through Joe Bennett, the Chief Page, these envelopes and ask him to distribute them to his colleagues.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Thank you, Senator Whalley.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany.

PRESENTATION, ON BEHALF OF MAJORITY AND MINORITY LEADERS, TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR ROY E. FURMAN, PRESIDENT OF SENATE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, now comes the pleasurable time for me, and that is the time when I may give some gifts. I am not going to gild the lily as much as it has been gilded, because I know you folks want to get down on "E" Floor and partake of some delicious food which I understand is there and has been provided by you and the committee.

On behalf of Senator Dent and myself, we want to present some more gifts to the "Lieut." Governor. I can understand how he gets the name of "Lieut" Governor. He really struck the jackpot a little while ago. Now, Senator Dent and I are going to give him a bag so that when he runs around the State next year, on his campaign, he may carry a couple of suits along with him.

I do not want to say too many nice things about him because he might dig up the record and trot it out and use it against me next year. However, I do want to say that Lieutenant-Governor Furman has been very kind and considerate to me and to all of the Members on this side of the aisle. We have nothing to kick about relative to his decisions. We have been treated very fairly.

A little while ago, when Senator Wade was giving Governor Furman so many compliments, I thought probably that either Senator Wade would have to change his politics or Governor Furman would have to change his. I was wondering which way it was going to be. However it was soon cleared up in my mind when Governor Furman referred to the Democratic side of the aisle as the wrong side of the aisle at the time Senator Wade was over there. Now it must be that Governor Furman is figuring on changing and becoming a Republican.

PRESENTATION BY MAJORITY LEADER TO SENATOR JOHN H. DENT, MINORITY LEADER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. PRESIDENT, I have some more gifts here. I have something here for Senator Dent. He said so many nice things about me and I want to say a few nice things about him. He has been a fine fellow to work with. His word is also good. Whenever he has given me his word, he has struck by it. I have never yet experienced the time when Senator Dent broke his agreement with me. He has been a fine fellow to work with in the Senate and, when we go out at night, he is a fine fellow with whom to associate in the evening. This is especially true when he is home with his fine wife. I am telling you that I have enjoyed many hours of relaxation and pleasure with Senator Dent and his family. When he sits in that chair, under the palm tree or apple tree, or wherever he is going to sit, I want to have him think of me and the other Members of the Senate. I have also provided a water jug for him. I think, however, it can hold other things besides water. He can set that alongside the chair and while I am out playing golf, he can be sitting down.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to thank Senator Mahany very kindly for this lovely chair. I notice it is one of those longitudinal affairs, upon which to stretch out. I am just wondering whether he has not been reading the newspapers lately and has come to the wrong conclusion. Do not believe everything you read in the newspapers, Senator. I am not ready to sit down under the apple tree yet.

I do thank you very kindly for the spirit and the gift. I understand the spirits will come later.

PRESENTATION BY MAJORITY LEADER TO SENATOR ALBERT R. PECHAN,
MAJORITY WHIP

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Pechan has been a fine help to me. I often thought, for the first year or so, that he was like a night-blooming cereus, because he just came out in the evening. However, this Session has been a little bit better. I will say that I have really treasured the great amount of help which Senator Pechan has given me in running this desk.

I do not know whether there was a fire sale on transistor radios or not. However, there seems to be a great abundance of them, and here is one for Senator Pechan. I would like him to have it as a present from me.

PRESENTATION BY MAJORITY LEADER TO SENATOR JAMES S. BERGER, MAJORITY CAUCUS CHAIRMAN

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, Senator Berger is a grand fellow and one who has helped us all in our Caucus. I will go along with all the many nice things that have been said about him. I do not know what the gift is, but it is expensive.

PRESENTATION BY MAJORITY LEADER TO
SENATOR FRANK W. RUTH, MINORITY WHIP,
AND SENATOR ISRAEL STIEFEL, MINORITY
CAUCUS CHAIRMAN

Mr. MAHANY. Here are a couple of sets of knives from me to Senator Ruth and Senator Stiefel. They both are grand guys and I treasure their friendship.

REMARKS BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. MAHANY. I wish Senator Taylor would come back because I have a present for him. I congratulated him on his birthday. He has been a grand leader and it has been a great privilege and pleasure for me to know him over the years. I think I have learned a lot at the feet of Senator Taylor, and I have enjoyed his leadership. I also appreciate the friendship which we have had over the period of years I haven known him, and I hope it continues for many years in the future.

Whether or not I am out of the Senate, I hope to come back every once in awhile and renew our acquaintances. It has been a great pleasure for me to know all of you and to have gotten along so well with you. I certainly have appreciated the opportunity. For the remainder of my life, I will look back upon this time and think about my experiences and contacts with all of you Senators. I do not care whether you are Democrats or Republicans. After we leave the floor of the Senate, we forget our party differences and we are just a good group of men who like to get together and have fun. I appreciate, from the bottom of my heart, the many fine hours of pleasure that I have had with all of you and your families.

Thank you very much.

HUMOROUS PRESENTATION TO GOVERNOR
GEORGE M. LEADER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, here is one of the most important gifts of all. I almost forgot about it.

Last Fall, I happened to tune in on television and I heard Governor Leader say that he did not know why Governor Duff bought all that expensive chinaware and table service for use down at the Executive Mansion. He said that he and Mary Jane would have been satisfied with some Sears Roebuck dishes. However, I have noticed, when I have been there, that they have not replaced the plates, bought by Governor Duff, with the Sears Roebuck dishes. Therefore, I thought I would give them a little start by buying a dish from the Sears Roebuck Company. The dish has a rooster on it and it is crowing. I give this to Governor Leader so that he may start a collection of Sears Roebuck dishes for the Executive Mansion.

I will entrust the job of presenting it to the Governor to Senator Barr.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

PRESENTATION BY MINORITY LEADER TO SENATOR ROWLAND B. MAHANY,
MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to present Senator Mahany with a little token of the regard that the boys on this side have for him. Since he is going to have to carry his golf clubs, we thought perhaps we would make life easier for him and give him the wheels with which to travel. Therefore, we present you with this golf cart.

PRESENTATION BY MINORITY LEADER TO
SENATOR ALBERT R. PECHAN, MAJORITY WHIP,
AND SENATOR JAMES S. BERGER, MAJORITY
CAUCUS CHAIRMAN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at the same time, our group thought it would be nice to remember a couple of men with whom we have worked over the years. I would like to send a small token of our regard to Senator Pechan and Senator Berger.

BIRTHDAY PRESENTATION BY MINORITY LEADER
TO SENATOR M. HARVEY TAYLOR,
PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Mr. DENT. Senator Taylor, on behalf of the Democratic Caucus, we would like to present you with a small birthday gift and wish you many, many more years of continued vitality, good health and good cheer.

Mr. TAYLOR. Thank you, Senator Dent.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR JOSEPH M. BARR, ON HIS EIGHTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, little known to all of you, today is also another birthday, in a sense. It happens to be Senator Barr's eighth wedding anniversary.

The boys on this side decided to give Senator Barr a little something by which to remember this day. On behalf of your colleagues, Joe, we would like to present you with this little gift.

Mr. BARR. Thank you very much, John, and the rest of the boys on this side.

I will not have the audacity to open this gift. I will give it to Mrs. Barr.

PRESENTATION BY MAJORITY CAUCUS CHAIRMAN
TO SENATOR JOHN H. DENT, MINORITY LEADER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this may be a little extra-curricular, but sometime ago I was talking in the back room with Senator Dent and he mentioned that he would like to go up to Georgian Bay and do a little fishing. I have been up there several times and he was kind enough to ask my advice.

At this time, I would like to help Senator Dent catch a lot of those big fish up there in Georgian Bay, just as soon after the 15th of June as it is possible for him to get there. Therefore, I present him with this gift.

PRESENTATION BY MAJORITY CAUCUS CHAIRMAN
TO SENATOR ROWLAND B. MAHANY,
MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I notice that Senator Mahany has woods and irons to play with and a cart to haul them around. I have played golf with him and that is not what he needs at all. He needs this instrument here, which he is about to get from me.

PRESENTATION BY MAJORITY CAUCUS CHAIRMAN
TO SENATOR ALBERT R. PECHAN,
MAJORITY WHIP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, Senator Pechan is about to take up the game of golf again, and I thought I would help in a small way to get him started by presenting him with this gift.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Gentlemen of the Senate, this about concludes our sine die ceremonies. We are sorry we got started late. We are now ready to proceed to "E" floor.

If you will just be patient for about two more moments, Governor Furman will again take the Chair to recess the Senate.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. First, I want to thank the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, and the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent. I was wondering when they sent this bag up here whether the Senator from Crawford meant, in a subtle way, that I should pack my clothes and get out of the State.

Senator Mahany also made a statement which reminded me of a time very shortly after I was elected to this office. I was going down the street at home and someone spoke to me and said, "How are you, 'Lieut' Governor?" I wondered whether that was a prophecy, an insult or whether he just did not quite understand the meaning of abbreviations. After today, in carrying this out here, I think it was a fact that he did mean "Lieut" Governor.

I might say that I talked to a Republican who held this office and he said that he had been called many things, but the only thing he disliked was that term, which had been used in one instance with him by one of his best friends.

EXTENDING THANKS TO SENATOR ROBERT D.
FLEMING FOR HIS EFFORTS IN CONNECTION WITH SINE DIE CEREMONIES

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I think we would be very remiss this afternoon if we did not take this opportunity, especially myself, to thank Senator Fleming for a job well done.

Bob, of course, is from my county. We are all very proud of the wonderful job he did this afternoon in arranging this Senate party.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want to welcome all the Senators, their families and their guests down to "E" floor immediately after we recess the Senate.

We expect to come back at 7:00 o'clock, p. m., Daylight Saving Time, to run through the Second Reading Calendar. I think Senator Dent, a few others and I, will be able to take care of that important task so that we will have the bills, which are on second reading today, moved up and ready for third reading and final action tomorrow.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 6:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE PROBLEM OF HIGHER EDUCATION

In the House of Representatives, May 13, 1957.

Whereas, The problem of equal opportunity of all for higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has become a matter of widespread concern, particularly the question of state subsidization of qualified secondary school graduates without adequate financial means to continue their schooling at the college level; and

Whereas, A number of plans have been advanced seeking a solution to this problem and containing in many instances meritorious features; and

Whereas, The participation of the State in this field involves broad questions of financial feasibility, revenue sources, adequate administration and overall effectiveness and has led to widespread controversy; and

Resolved (The Senate concurring), that the Joint State Government Comm. conduct a thorough study of the problems of higher education by considering the following factors:

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, this has been a happy day for me on this Senate floor. We all feel like brothers, and I am almost old enough to be a brother to Harvey Taylor. When I heard the speeches here today by our two great leaders, they sounded like brothers.

I am going to tell you a story; the most beautiful story I have ever heard about two brothers. Many years ago there lived, in the far Judean hills, two brothers who tilled a common farm together. The older brother had a wife and many children. The younger brother was a single man.

One night the older brother said to his wife, "My brother is a lonely man. I will go out tonight and put some of the sheaves from my side of the field over onto his so that when he wakes in the morning, he will rejoice at his great abundance."

That same night, the younger brother said to his workman, "My brother has a wife and many children; he has many mouths to fill. I will go tonight and move some of the sheaves from my side of the field over onto his so that when he wakes in the morning, he will rejoice at his great store."

They did it that night and the next, in the sheltering dark. On the third night, the moon came up and the two brothers met face to face, each with their arms filled with sheaves. On that spot, so this legend runs, was built the Temple of Jerusalem because it was esteemed that there, earth came nearest heaven.

Here today, on this floor, when I heard the nice things said from each side, I felt that this Senate was as close to heaven as it would ever get.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before we close this day of festivities, I feel quite confident that each and every Member of the Senate would like to hear that distinguished Senator from Erie County, Senator Blass. We would like to have a speech from him.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I agree with Senator McGinnis that this has been one of the most pleasant days I have spent in the Senate.

Today, Senator Arthur Blass quoted to a number of us a poem he wrote about mother. While we regard each other most highly, I think we all have the greatest admiration for our mother. I would like to have Senator Blass quote this poem which he wrote. It is the most beautiful tribute to mother which I have ever heard. Why he has not had it published, I do not know.

I think if we ask him to recite his poem, so it will be in the record of the Senate of Pennsylvania, he will recite it to us.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, I did not expect to be called upon, at this time, to recite a poem which I composed when I was an undergraduate at the University of Michigan, way back in the year of 1910.

We were talking about retentive qualities and memory, and I happened to hear about the great poem which was presented here to commemorate Pennsylvania. So, I happened to recall the time I wrote this little poem on "Mother" and I recited it to Senator Mallery and some of the others. Hence, if I am called upon, I presume I have to give it. This was written on a bleak Sunday morning. I think it was April 10, 1910, and it has never been published.

It goes as follows:

"Mother, that name so sweet, so dear,
Stands classed alone without a peer;
A name that we can well revere,
Far more than any other.
What name means more to all us men?
What inspiration it has been;
The mighty power of tongue or pen can't treat the name of Mother.

"Mother, thy goodness and thy grace beam forth upon your kindly face,
Like stars to guide us on our race through life with one another.
We seem to hear your voice so clear,

While absent and when danger's near;
The strength to overcome our fear lies in our thought of Mother.

"Mother, I feel you've done your share,
Bestowed on us your loving care and scattered kindness everywhere, alone one path or other.
The worst of us will never forget the trials that you have often met,
No one can ever pay the debt that is due to you,
dear Mother.

"Mother, success to you we owe,
From childhood, you have watched us grow to manhood,
And the seeds we sow were planted by no other.
Though overburdened with the strain of years,
Our hearts will e'er contain,
Something that time can never stain,
The memory of our Mother."

PRAYER

Reverend David A. Gray, Pastor of the Church of Christ, Ridgway, Elk County, guest Chaplain and guest of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick, offered the following prayer:

Our Lord and Our God, again we wait in the shadow of Thy Holy Presence, in which all alarms have been hushed. We entreat Thee to teach us the best way to see, the best way to reason and the way to act in serving the citizenry and the Commonwealth.

Grant, we pray thee, this Assembly a great measure of moral courage as its meets all the pressing needs on its agenda for this day; grant that its achievements may bear the mark of patriotic and convincing faith, may the decisions be for the betterment of the Commonwealth and the good of her citizens; may the achievements give exemplary view of unity of concern beyond party opinions.

In the Master's Name and for His sake—Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, June 3, 1957 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KAMYK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, today's calendar is a study in contrasts and is strengthened by the action of the majority party in last week's action on the appropriations bill.

It has been concluded by the newspapers generally and most political observers that the main theme of the Republican candidates in the 1958 state elections will deal with their ability and determination to hold the line against increased taxes. I must admit that "politically" it is a good theme.

No doubt the candidates will point with pride to the action of the Republican House Members on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week and describe Wednesday, May 29th, if I may quote the words of one of my colleagues from the other side of the House, as "A day of rejoicement—as the day on which the Republican Party had a chance to prove they were the party of responsibility—a day on which they had a chance to prove they were looking out for the poor Pennsylvania taxpayer."

But the question arises in my mind. Are they really concerned about all of the taxpayers? Are they really concerned about holding the line against increased taxes? For I notice that despite the fact that the majority party to a man voted to support the cuts in the appropriation bill, reputedly to hold the line against taxes, some Members of that same party are sponsors of legislation that will definitely increase taxation in various municipalities, especially in the city of Pittsburgh, but also in several other municipalities, specifically House Bill 1126, page 6, and House Bill 183, as amended page 4, will increase the cost of government in the city of Pittsburgh and will necessitate an increase in taxation on the citizens of that community. But then perhaps the citizens of that community are not considered as taxpayers of Pennsylvania. Only the action of the individual Members on the other side of the House will reflect the answer to this question.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am very glad to see a Member of the minority party concerned about the burdens of taxation.

As I read the Pittsburgh Press on Sunday, I saw that another man had changed his mind on this subject. There is no man in the American government today who is more anxious to spend money for his pet projects than the darling of the Democratic party, Senator Joseph S. Clark of the state of Pennsylvania.

Now Senator Clark was very anxious to increase the federal reimbursement in connection with housing projects. He and a very notable Senator, Senator Frank Lausche of the State of Ohio, engaged in an interrogation and repartee from one to the other and here is what was stated on the floor of the Senate during the course of that debate.

I am quoting now from Senator Frank Lausche, "Am I to understand that the resources of the state of Pennsylvania have been exhausted?"

Here is what Senator Clark said, and we should be concerned with his remarks because if there is one man who believes in spending money without regard to the interest of the business world and the welfare of the people as a whole that man I believe is Senator Clark. Here is what Senator Clark said, "Let me put it this way, the capacity of the tax levying bodies at both the local and state levels in Pennsylvania has been exhausted for the time being."

Mark those words "The capacity of the tax levying bodies at both the local and state levels in Pennsylvania has been exhausted for the time being."

Now if we were to follow Senator Clark's conclusion, all we would have to do is go to Washington, D. C. to get the money in order to run the city governments and the state governments.

Therefore, I am glad to see my colleagues from Allegheny county become concerned about the burdens of taxation.

I want to repeat again what I said last week. That within the scope of proper taxation we of the Republican party have a body with a heart. We are just as considerate of the peoples' welfare as those on the minority side.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. SHERMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SHERMAN. The gentleman made a remark, unless I am mistaken, that our able Senator Clark is engaged with reference to spending money without regard to the welfare of the people. Did the gentleman get those remarks and attach them to the statement of Senator Clark?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I said that Senator Clark is very anxious to spend the money of the people without regard, in many instances, to the capacity of the people to share that burden. And now that Senator Clark is a Senator in the United States Senate, he knows well that the city of Philadelphia—

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, that is not my question. Will the gentleman kindly answer the question, as one lawyer to another? Did the gentleman make a remark accusing Senator Clark as spending money without regard to the welfare of the people? Yes or no.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not think I said it that way, but in order to make it certain, I will say that Senator Clark is a great spender and in many instances does not care where the taxation comes from, whether it is a burden upon business or upon the people generally.

Mr. SHERMAN. Will the gentleman submit any evidence in support of any statement he has made that Senator Clark does not consider the welfare of the people in asking for any taxation or in any bills or statement he makes?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. All I can say is that I refer to his records in Philadelphia and where he now states that Philadelphia is practically broke and wants the United States Government to bail out cities, and realizing that and being familiar with the situation there, he made—

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I asked a simple question and would like to have a simple answer. If the gentleman is able to get and can produce evidence in the future I would like him to try to produce it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I am not trying to give the gentleman a simple statement; I am trying to give him a factual answer.

Mr. SHERMAN. Would the gentleman state notwithstanding that our Senator Clark ran ahead of the ticket by over a half million votes, that our people of Pennsylvania considered he was not for their welfare?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, I will say that after six years I believe they will regret that action.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, a concluding remark.

I think you will find out that the people know and realized what they were doing and they know what they did the right thing, and when the people vote again they will go ahead and continue supporting the candidates and the party that is for them, regardless of any atrocious or other remarks that may be attributed to the other side.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the Members of the House will probably remember that in 1953 there was no greater supporter for Senator Joe Clark than Herman Toll.

At any rate, I see here that the Bulletin, through a former reporter in the House, Johnny McCullough, who is now in Washington, and you will all remember what a fair reporter he was, wrote in yesterday's Bulletin concerning last week's activities in Congress and said:

"Clark Wins on Housing"

"Senator Clark, Democrat of Pennsylvania, rated now as the Chamber's expert on Housing, persuaded the Senate Banking and Currency Committee to report out a liberal housing measure providing for $2.8 billion in Federal spending. The Senate in a long series of votes on Wednesday cut this down to about $1.6 billion.

"Clark led the unsuccessful fight to get more people more money for slum clearance and more public housing units. Senator Byrd, Democrat from Virginia, made the point that the additional outlay called for the liberal housing bill would cost about four times as much as Congress has saved so far in all of its budget cutting."

Now this is interesting to our friend from Pittsburgh. In Clark's fight for more public housing and a more liberal building program generally, Clark was supported by Senator Case, Republican of New Jersey, and Senator Martin, Republican of Pennsylvania. So you have the Republican Senator Martin voting with Senator Joe Clark, a Democrat, for the same purpose of obtaining more liberal housing for Pennsylvania.

So how can you complain about a situation like that?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, sometimes these statements in the paper are akin to the figures that we get from the Governor's office and perhaps on our own side. We get figures and perhaps do not get the facts.

But I have a Pittsburgh paper clipping in my hands and naturally I think the Pittsburgh papers, including the Pittsburgh Press, are factually superior at times to the Philadelphia papers. I do not run in Philadelphia.

I will tell you what the Pittsburgh papers say—that Senator Clark lost his battle. This is the Sunday paper.

Now let us get together and maybe you and I will take a trip to the Bulletin and find out where the facts come from. Senator lost his battle and did not win the battle.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Unfortunately, I came in late. What's all the shooting for?

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman, various Members of the House have been recognized under unanimous consent.

Mr. ANDREWS. I cast half a vote, yes.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman still seems to be having trouble with the figures between the Republicans and the Democrats. I want to ask you, do you think the elephant has a better figure than the donkey?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, I do not like to look at figures of animals. I like to look at the figures of human beings, and that is the way I want to view everything in the House.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. MIKULA asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Cities—Third Class to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. O'DELL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I find myself in a rather embarrassing position. It has always been conceded that I am rather a poor writer, and now I find when House Bill 786 was reported out that it carries the name of Blair, Polaski, Dalrymple and Bell.

Inasmuch as this is a school bill for Erie County, I am afraid if the name of Bell is published on that bill I would not dare to go back to Erie County. Therefore, I should like unanimous consent to strike out the name Bell and add the name O'Dell.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as I am also a bad writer, I concur in the request of my colleague, the gentleman from Erie, Mr. O'Dell.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the name of Bell on House Bill 786 will be stricken out and the name of O'Dell inserted in lieu thereof. The Chair hears no objection.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BREON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the legislative picnic yesterday was probably old stuff to the majority of the Members here, but speaking specifically for the newer Members and all of the Members on this side, I would like to thank the Speaker, Chief Clerk, Secretary and all of those who had anything to do with the picnic, for a very wonderful day.

As I look around the Hall of the House, I notice several of the wives still in attendance. Perhaps they enjoyed it as my wife did. She intended to go home this morning but she is looking forward to the next one. I believe she is going to stay all week.

We had a wonderful time, Mr. Speaker, thank you.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DEVLIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as a delegate to the picnic from this side of the House, as one who arrived early and stayed very late I, too, would like to express our gratitude to you, to the good offices of our Chief Clerk and our Secretary and their personnel which contributed greatly to my enjoyment of this, my freshman term in the House.

I am anxiously looking forward to coming back here, and I hope your good offices will continue this practice of having a House picnic and having all the personnel there who seemed to enjoy it so greatly yesterday. I assure you I will be even earlier, and I cannot stay any later because I helped close the West Shore Country Club. Thank you for us.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Devlin. The Chair, I am sure, expresses the feeling of the co-hosts of their pleasure in entertaining the Members, their wives and the employees and our guests.

The Chair would also like to express his appreciation to the co-chairmen of the event, the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Murray, and the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann.

Will the two gentlemen please rise in their places?

Of course, as you know, all of those events require a great amount of leg-work and arranging, and I am sure one fellow that took a great part in doing that particular job, and did it so ably, is the Assistant Chief Clerk, Mr. Earl Price.

Will the gentleman please rise?

May the Chair say again, it was a real pleasure and we thoroughly enjoyed entertaining you.

Mrs. BEATRICE Z. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to add two names at the request of the women, that Dottie Ionni and Ina Simon be thanked because they did such marvelous work.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a statement on the same subject matter.

I would like the House to know that when we went out there yesterday and teed-off, one of the members of our foursome was the Parliamentarian, Mr. Moore. We told him specifically that the Roberts' Rules would not be used on the course. I want this House to know that without the rules we defeated Mr. Moore.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GROSS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I seemed to have caused some confusion about a week ago, in fact tonight one week ago, when I was called back home on a very important meeting with my constituents. It was also related to my legislative duties here in Harrisburg. I was one-half hour late getting back here, I was not on the golf course, and I wish to have that spread upon the record.

The SPEAKER. The Chair had not finished his remarks concerning the legislative picnic. The Chair would also like express sincere appreciation to the two ladies who were mentioned because they certainly devoted the entire day and most of last night to helping serve the buffet dinner and accomplishing the arrangements, getting the tickets out and all of the other details, Mrs. Ina Simon and Mrs. Dottie Ionni.

I think this House should give them a hand for the splendid part they played in arranging this.

The Chair also has the privilege of announcing the golf winners and is sorry that the Parliamentarian's name does not appear, but is now aware of why he is in such a bad humor this morning.

Low gross winners, Gordon Dietterick, with a score of 81. He received as a prize, a trophy.

The gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, with a low gross of 85, received as a prize an umbrella.

Our very able Reading Clerk who looked so marvelous yesterday in his Bermuda shorts, Mr. Howard Hosmer, with a low gross of 87. He received a set of head covers for his golf clubs. The note says head covers. I was not sure whether it was for the clubs or the Reading Clerk.

The low net winners: Mr. Fetterolf, with a score of 72, received a trophy. The gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Down, with a score of 72, received an umbrella. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, with a score of 73, received golf rubbers. The gentleman from Perry, Mr. Barton, with a score of 73, received as a prize a golf shirt.

Congratulations to the winners.

GIRL SCOUTS OF EPHRATA WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a delegation of Girl Scouts from Ephrata, Pennsylvania, Lancaster County, Girl Scout Troop No. 136, and Girl Scout Troop No. 256, under the supervision of their Scoutmasters Mrs. Fred Long, Mrs. Paul Nestleroth, Mrs. Richard Ammon, and Mrs. James Newswanger.

They are the guests of the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Royer.

PRESIDENTS OF 4-H CLUBS WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. In my home County of Armstrong, dairying is an honorable and profitable enterprise. We not only produce good milk, but we also have dairy farmers whose children make up the backbone of a healthy and productive agriculture of the future.

It is my pleasure today to have with us, and for me to present to the Members of this House, Presidents of the 4-H Dairy Clubs of Cumberland, York, Dauphin and Perry Counties.

These young men and women are not only learning to produce agricultural products at home, they are learning to sell their products in the nation's most glorified merchandising mart, the rotunda of our State Capitol.

I commend them to you and make a request that you patronize these boys and girls as well as the dairy farmers of Pennsylvania.

May I present them to you, Mr. Robert Brofee of Millerstown, Mr. James Brofee of Millerstown, Mr. Kenneth Benner of Millerstown, and Miss Linda Dunn of Green Park.

The Chair has been informed the young lady is not present.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, before I make the announcement, I cannot help but wish that I were one of those three young men standing there in front of the Hall of the House—born fifty years too soon I guess.

We are planning on recessing very soon. We will have lunch first for one half hour and then the Members of both parties will be requested to go to their caucus rooms for the purpose of a caucus.

The total time we will be out of here for the recess will be about two hours. So we will ask that as soon as the recess is called each Member arrange to have his lunch in that half hour period, and then go immediately to his caucus room.

The plan again prevails with respect to bills on second reading. When they are moved to third reading they will be held to give you ample time to offer amendments on third reading.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. From the time this House organized, the Chair has observed when the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien walks down the aisle to his seat, he does so with his chest out and a "Look who's coming" attitude.

When the session adjourns, he's the No. 1 man out of the House, making double-time for Philadelphia.

There have been other occasions, which the Chair will not enumerate, when the gentleman has displayed a rather high degree of cockiness.

Frankly, the Speaker has been puzzled about his most unusual behavior until this past week, when he learned the reason for the gentleman's conduct. This is it:

Believe it or not, a few months ago, after waiting eighteen years Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien were blessed with their first child, a darling baby girl.

The proud father, although not taking full credit for the new baby, does take full credit for naming her "Colleen O'Brien." Says he, "I want to make certain that everyone knows she is Irish through and through."

Now you know why the gentleman from Philadelphia has been throwing his weight around. He just can't hold himself. What would you do if you waited eighteen years????

This is not the Philadelphia story, it's the O'Brien story.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. O'Brien.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, this is one time that I subscribe to that old sage story, 'Words that are spoken are always regretted, those that are not you do not have to worry about.'

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. BREON and BREISCH.

RESOLUTION No. 123.

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1957.

Penn State's baseball team, unbeaten in nineteen games, will represent the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and NCAA, District Two, in the National Collegiate championships opening at Omaha, Nebraska, June 8th.

Joe Bedenk's fine team will be one of eight vying for national honors in what has come to be known as the World Series of college baseball.

This will be Penn State's second appearance in this blue ribbon event. In 1951, the Nittany Lions beat favored Texas and Duke before bowing first, to Missouri, and then to Holy Cross in the double elimination series.

There are thousands in Centre County and Pennsylvania who think that this 1957 team is capable of going the whole way at Omaha. Few baseball teams ever post unbeaten seasons. That in itself is a wonderful achievement. Now, these Pennsylvania boys (there is not an out-of-State boy on the roster) go to Omaha determined to prove that the Keystone State is a leader in athletics as well as other endeavors.

The House of Representatives joins with the people of Pennsylvania in exhorting this truly Pennsylvania product to go all out to bring the Commonwealth additional prestige in the national competition at Omaha; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its sincere congratulations to President Eric A. Walker, Coach Joe Bednek, the student body of Penn State, and the baseball team for its outstanding record during the 1957 baseball season; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to President Walker and Coach Bednek of Pennsylvania State University.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. VARNER, WILT, MAHAN and AGNEW.

RESOLUTION No. 124.

In the House of Representatives, June 4, 1957.

Shippensburg, Clarion County, on Memorial Day, was the scene of a tragic accident during stock car races held on a half-mile track.

Two children were killed and three other spectators were injured, much to the dismay of all persons present at the racing exhibition.

This tragedy vividly portrays the need for adequate protection of spectators at stock car races, and shows the need for supervision of the operators of stock car races who have not assumed the duty of taking adequate safety precautions to protect the spectators of or participants in the races; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Governor's Highway Safety Conference is hereby requested to investigate the subject of stock car racing safeguards, and protection of the spectators at and participants in such races; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor's Highway Safety Conference is requested to report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

L. 905), known as "The Vehicle Code," and the amendments thereto for the purpose of recommending an extensive, revision and modernization thereof, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WATKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, yesterday, the white dove was flying all through the Senate. Little notes and packages were being exchanged and everyone was saying, "I love you and you love me." We were just in a complete state of harmony. I hope the pigeon, today, has not been painted red over night. I hope the same spirit of fellowship and harmony exists this afternoon.

Mr. President, something happened yesterday which really hurt me to a certain extent. All of you know that I have not been too friendly, socially, with Senator Watson this year, for personal reasons. Yet, in conducting the business of the Senate, we have tried to do it in a businesslike and statesmanlike manner. I felt that it was time when, perhaps, we should become better friends because both of us were terribly hurt.

We have always received a remembrance when the Senate gifts were presented. The gift was modest, rather crude and morally bad, but most useful. We felt as though we had been overlooked. We felt that we should be friendly, and let the Members of the Senate know that we had been deeply hurt. Instead of sitting here like a pair of chipmunks and applauding, we should have been booing. Had we known what the final result was going to be, I assure you we would have booed instead of applauding.

I am already receiving small gifts here, so I consider this a successful speech.

There is not much time left in this Session, perhaps one, two, three or four weeks. I thought if the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader, the Chairman of the Democratic Party, our President pro tempore and the Whips, would just think it over, maybe they could relieve our feelings. We are really not as bad enemies as you might think. We have made up our differences and we feel that, even though we had a personal grievance, you should not have cut those presents off.

We hope the dove will fly again and we hope it will be white. We hope that we will receive the same old pot which we received in other years.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I did, privately, apologize to the gentleman from Delaware. However, I think the entire Senate should know that due to the great advances which have been made in the plumbing industry, the receptacles were not obtainable this year and we, therefore, could not make the usual presentation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, yesterday, I was approached by the plaintive gentleman from Delaware about this matter. I found that the real reason why we were not able to present the gift was because the Senate has not yet definitely made up its mind when the last day is going to be. Therefore, we cannot give Senator Watkins his gift until we have passed through the last night, because we are still using it.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 20, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code," imposing alternative penalties for illegally passing school buses.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, one of the miracles which takes place each school day in Pennsylvania is the reasonably safe transportation of hundreds of thousands of children, amounting to thousands of miles in traveling to and from school. I am sure the motives of the sponsors of this legislation are high. However, it is my belief that any weakening of the enforcement or the penalties for violation of passing school buses should not take place.

For this reason, Mr. President, I will vote "no" on this measure.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I would like to direct the gentleman's attention to the fact that this bill is not a weakening of the school bus-passing law. It is actually tightening it up.

Under the present law, there is provision for a fine, but no provision for a jail sentence in the event the fine is not paid. Therefore, what this bill actually does is reduce the amount of the fine and puts teeth in the law in the event the fine is not paid. We have had several instances in Montgomery County where a motorist was apprehended for passing a school bus, and he refused to pay the fine and the police were without the proper law to enforce the payment of the fine.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, of course I have no objection to the jail sentence. However, as I understand the bill, the jail sentence only applies if the fine is not paid.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I too, intend to vote "no" on the bill as it now stands. I would point out to the gentleman from Montgomery that where, heretofore, a person faced the prospect of paying a fine of twenty-five dollars if he violated this part of the code, he would now face the prospect of paying a fine of only ten dollars. If that is not a weakening of the penalty, then I do not understand the use of the word.

Mr. PROPERT. It is true, Mr. President, that the amount of the fine has been reduced. However, we feel the enforcement of the law will be made possible by the imposition of a jail sentence in case the fine is not paid. As I stated before, the fine can be any amount. If the motorist who violates the law does not have to serve a jail sentence in lieu of the fine, then certainly the law is not very effective.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, as most of the Members of the Senate know, I was one of the early movers of a school bus stop law in Pennsylvania. For many years, such a law was attempted to be passed in this State, but without success. I had to battle the automobile associations, the State Police and just about everybody else in order to get such a law on the books. I was given the impression that this bill would strengthen the law. However, inasmuch as there is now some doubt as to whether it would or would not, I would like to have another opportunity to look it over, in light of what has been said.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Therefore, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 20, Printer's No. 429, on final passage, go over in its order until tomorrow.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 569, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President. I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, this is the bill which we had some discussion on the other day. There are at least two members absent at the moment who I think were under the impression that the bill was going to go over in order today.

Unless there is something very urgent about recommending this bill, I would ask the indulgence of the gentlemen to have the bill go over.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not see what we would gain by it. I do not know where you gained the impression that we were going to have the bill go over in order again today. I believe I made the motion yesterday to recommit the bill and after objection, we did accede to letting it go over until today. I think we should get this bill off the Calendar and let it rise or fall on its merits.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the way to let it rise or fall on its merits, it seems to me, would be to let it come to a vote.

Mr. PECHAN. I am talking about my motion.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, to which committee did the gentleman ask to have this bill referred?

The PRESIDENT. To the Committee on Education.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, unless the Chairman of the Committee on Education has a great and avid desire to have this bill in a hurry, I would suggest, on behalf of a couple of the Senators who are not here, but who are interested and who would like to speak upon this bill, that the gentleman hold it over.

If the Chairman of the Education Committee is in a hurry to get this bill, then I would concede there would be some rush. If the Chairman of the Committee on Education is not in a hurry, I would hope we could hold it over.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, it would appear that the Chairman of the Committee on Education is not in any great hurry to get this bill today. Under the circumstances, we will agree to let the bill go over until tomorrow.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I appreciate greatly the courtesy of the Majority Leader and also that of the distinguished Chairman of the Education Committee.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL WITHDRAWN

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Butler, Mr. Pechan, withdraw his motion?

Mr. PECHAN. I will. I hope the gentleman will be just as appreciative tomorrow as he is today.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, just to show that the dove is still flying high, I even appreciate the gesture of the gentleman from Butler.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 569, Printer's No. 249, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 759, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 5, 1936 (1937 P. L. 2897) entitled "Unemployment Compensation Law" making persons discharged for failing to give testimony with respect to membership or affiliation with subversive organizations or movements ineligible for compensation.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, on February 6, 1957, the Attorney General of this Commonwealth, Thomas D. McBride, for reasons best known to himself, through a written advice to John J. Flannery, Assistant Director, Pennsylvania State Employment Service, made eligible for unemployment compensation in Pennsylvania any person who loses "employment because of refusal to testify, claiming the protection of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

Mr. McBride said in a directive, repeated by Mr. Flannery, to all district managers and all local office managers of the State Employment Service:

"There is no foundation in law or equity for denying a person, who has been granted a privilege granted him by the United States Constitution, the benefits of unemployment Compensation, if he is otherwise qualified."

Now, Mr. President, my bill makes ineligible for unemployment compensation any person who "because he refused to testify before a lawfully constituted body or court when asked any question regarding his membership in or affiliation with the Communist Party or any organization or movement committed to the overthrow of the government of the United States or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by force and violence. The organizations or movements considered subversive are those cited by the Attorney General of the United States."

Soon after the Attorney General's "advice" became known to the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Philadelphia, this organization's Philadelphia District Commander, Charles G. Nicholas, protested the "advice" since it would in effect force Pennsylvania employers to "subsidize" communists and other disloyal persons who are fired from their jobs for hiding behind the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

There is not a Member in this Senate or in this Commonwealth's House of Representatives who would advocate impairing a citizen's right to take the Fifth Amendment.

But, we are dealing with the Attorney General's "advice" that would make communists and subversives eligible to unemployment compensation checks. In fact, they would be eligible to collect as much as $1050, the maximum payment in our Commonwealth.

It seems ridiculous to me that taxpayers of this Commonwealth should be compelled by an "advice" from the Attorney General to contribute to the welfare and assistance of those who are security risks.

Attorney General McBride is fundamentally a "do-gooder," it seems. I cannot conceive of him wilfully promulgating an "advice," which now is in effect, that automatically makes security risks in our defense and other industries eligible to unemployment compensation to be paid for by the very employers whom the Communist Party and various "communist front" organizations are dedicated to destroy.

Before Attorney General McBride's "advice," security risks were not eligible for unemployment compensation since they would be considered to have "wilfully" or "provoked" their discharge.

Why did the Attorney General issue his "advice?" Why did the Attorney General upset law that has been in effect in Pennsylvania for twenty years?

The purpose of the unemployment compensation fund is to aid those who, through no fault of their own, find themselves unemployed. Everyone wants to help the jobless. But, I do not see why we should help security risks who are dangerous to our Country and un-American in their thinking and activities.

Business and industry that pays part of the unemployment fund should not be required to subsidize those whose purpose is to disrupt and to communize American business and industry. Their acts jeopardize the welfare and security of all of us.

Moreover, Mr. President, the Federal Government itself pays the administrative costs of the Bureau of Employment Security under provisions of the Social Security Act.

Mr. President, it is ridiculous for the Federal Government to pay the salaries of persons who are now employed to administer funds and to pay those funds to persons who avowedly intend to overthrow our governments, both State and Nation, by force and violence.

Here is another far-reaching implication of Attorney General McBride's "advice":

If a defense plant is struck by communist activity, Pennsylvania now is compelled to pay unemployment compensation to the communist ringleaders of the strike.

This is far beyond what employers and employees originally believed to be the purpose of the unemployment fund.

It is also a matter of importance, Mr. President, for Members of the Senate to remember that when we were holding hearings on the Commonwealth's Loyalty Act, which I sponsored in this Chamber, I received a letter from the Executive Board of the Citizen's Council on Democratic Rights, Philadelphia, dated March 24, 1951, informing me that it unanimously disapproved the Loyalty Bill. The letter was signed by Willard C. Hetzel, Executive Director of the organization I just mentioned.

The Executive Board, in unanimously disapproving the Loyalty Bill, stated their opinion to be that:

"the strength of America is not negativism, but rather a real faith in free men that they have in the express for each other. Totalitarian communism will be overcome by that faith, but it will not be overcome anywhere by compelling either the innocent or the guilty to swear they are free of such totalitarian influences."

I cite this statement in direct relationship with the consideration of the merits of Senate Bill No. 759, which we now have under consideration.

I bring this to the attention of the Senate because here we are considering loyalty and disloyalty, communism and Americanism and because the thinking expressed by the Executive Board of the Citizens' Council on Democratic Rights is precisely the thinking behind the "advice" of last February 6th, when the Attorney General, Thomas D. McBride, for reasons best known to himself, made Communists and subversives eligible to unemployment compensation in this Commonwealth.

I bring this to the attention of the Senate since the action disapproving the Loyalty Bill was unanimous by the Executive Board of the Citizens' Council on Democratic Rights, and a member of the Executive Board that unanimously disapproved the Loyalty Bill was the present Attorney General, Thomas D. McBride.

The Attorney General is now in position to carry out his thinking recorded on March 24, 1951, by issuing his "advice" of February 6, 1957, making the same people whom he was protecting six years ago eligible for unemployment compensation despite their refusal to answer whether or not they are communists.

Mr. President, to be consistent, if my bill to deny unemployment compensation to anyone because he refused to testify before a lawfully constituted body or court when asked any question regarding his membership in or affiliation with the Communist Party, or any organization or movement committed to the overthrow of the government of the United States, or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by force and violence, Attorney General McBride must advise the Governor that my bill is unconstitutional.

Mr. President, my bill, Senate Bill No. 759, is before you in lieu of House Bill No. 600, which came over here a few days ago.

Recently, before I was absent from the Senate because of illness, I intended to bring out my bill because House Bill No. 600, while trying to accomplish the same purpose, falls short of doing what it intends since it does not spell out the reason why unemployment compensation should be denied. It simply states if you take the Fifth Amendment, you are ineligible.

My bill specifically states the circumstances under which resting on the Fifth Amendment is not applicable, and states that the organizations or movements considered subversive are those cited by the Attorney General of the United States, a long list compiled by the Department of Justice and other agencies in whom we place the utmost trust for our security from communists and other subversives who are now by law entitled to unemployment compensation in Pennsylvania, simply because the present Attorney General believes that:

"totalitarian communism will be overcome by faith . . . that it will not be overcome anywhere by compelling either the innocent or the guilty to swear they are free of such totalitarian influences."

I do not believe we are yet ready for coexistence with communism. Coexistence is one of the great issues of our times and it is for this reason, Mr. President, that we should adopt my bill to protect ourselves from the conspiracy masquerading as a political party, and also to protect ourselves from those members of organizations cited by the Attorney General of the United States, which follow, down the line, the line of the Communist Party, headed by Nikita-Khrushchev, who last Sunday came into our living room and predicted our "grandchildren will live under socialism."

I do not subscribe to this and to help make certain his predictions will not be fulfilled, I ask that Members of the Senate vote in the affirmative for my bill, which will be an immediate vote to help prove that Khrushchev and his crew—who cannot wash the blood of West Germany, of Poznan or Budapest from their hands—are not soothsayers, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I hope the Members will disregard or take with a grain of salt the rather inflammatory nature of the gentleman's remarks and consider this bill in a more reasonable fashion.

I think this bill, which is proposed here by the Senator, would place the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in a rather ludicrous, ridiculous position because in Article I, Section 9, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, we tell our citizens that no citizen shall be compelled to testify against himself. Having guaranteed that right to every one of our citizens by the Constitution, the Senator would now have us tell those same citizens that if they do claim this right, they will be punished, and they will be punished by not being allowed to receive unemployment compensation.

This seems to me an attempt, in effect, by the Senator to repeal, by an act of the Legislature, a Constitutional provision. Obviously, it seems to me that no reasonable person can say that a citizen has a right not to testify against himself and then, on the other hand, the same Commonwealth which extends the right says to the citizen that he will be punished if he claims this right.

For that reason, Mr. President, it seems to me that this is a clear violation of Article I, Section 9, and that this bill is clearly unconstitutional.

This was about all I wanted to say. However, I have to be a little longer because the gentleman made some remarks in the course of his speech which I think need comment.

First of all, he referred to a decision by the Attorney General of the Commonwealth. The Senator gave us his opinion that by the Attorney General giving us this opinion, he had—I think I am quoting correctly—"upset the law as it stood before."

Mr. President, I would say this is quite an incorrect statement of the facts. The article of the Constitution of Pennsylvania in question has endured for a considerable time before Attorney General Tom McBride came upon the scene and I hope, in spite of the Senator's efforts, it will continue for a long time after the Attorney General has left the scene.

I think if the Senator wants to be honest in his efforts here, if he feels that this privilege which has been a part of Anglo-Saxon constitutional law since Queen Elizabeth's time, this long right which the citizens of England have enjoyed, which, since the formation of our Constitution and the Bill of Rights the citizens of America have enjoyed, and which, since the establishment of the Constitution of Pennsylvania the citizens of Pennsylvania have enjoyed, as rights of Americans, should be repealed, then I would suggest to him that the honest way to do it is to take the method open to any person who wishes to repeal a provision of the Constitution and that is by offering a constitutional amendment. Thus, this question may be discussed out in the open as to whether this right given to Americans and to Pennsylvanians, as citizens, should be repealed.

Another remark which the gentleman made to which I would like to take exception, was his statement that unless we take the action recommended by him, we would be subsidizing communists. This is a conclusion of the Senator which will hardly stand up, because his conclusion is that any person who avails himself of the right until Article I, Section 9, of our Constitution not to testify on the question, "Are you a Communist," is, therefore, a communist.

I think if the gentleman will reflect a bit, he will see that this does not follow at all. It is not at all true that any person who refuses to answer a question asked him by a court or any other body under the right given by Article I, Section 9, is, therefore, guilty. If we could draw that inference then, of course, the privilege given under that section of the Constitution would mean nothing. As a matter of fact, the Supreme Court recently held, with regard to this same right under the Fifth Amendment, that we cannot draw such conclusions from the facts.

Therefore, I object to Senator Pechan saying that we would subsidize communists and leading us to the conclusion that anyone who uses the right under the Fifth Amendment is, therefore, guilty.

Senator Pechan spoke of strikes lead by communist leaders, inferring that in the event his bill did not pass, we would be, in effect, subsidizing the communist leaders of a strike. I would ask the gentleman what labor organizations and what strikes is he referring to. The way he made his remarks, it appears to me he is making an indictment of the labor movement, which is entirely unjustified. If the gentleman will make an elementary research on this question, he will find that the labor unions of America have been outstanding in their efforts to rid their membership of communist leaders or members. I would stack up the record of the labor unions, in this respect, against any other organizations in America. I particularly resent the implication of the gentleman that the labor movement is riddled with communists, and strikes in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are being led by communists leaders.

Mr. President, I do not want to allow myself to get on the same emotional plane as the gentleman. I would like to keep this within the bounds of reasonable discussion. Therefore, I would urge each Member to give serious consideration to the argument I have advanced, because my whole argument is that we cannot take away, by law, a right which is given to the citizens in the Constitution of Pennsylvania and in the Constitution of the United States.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate. I think, if the remarks made by Senator Seyler were taken out of the record when we had the loyalty bill before us in 1951 when he was a Member of the House, and if my stand, contained in the remarks

I made about the bill in 1951 when I was a Member of the Senate, was taken from the record, they would just about clarify our positions.

My bill does not say "anybody who hides behind the Fifth Amendment." I am saying there are a lot of people who use the Fifth Amendment. We have the Dave Beck case before us now, and he even refused to name names. This bill does not say that. It merely provides for the case where they use the Fifth Amendment to refuse to say whether or not they have membership in the Communist Party "or any organization or movement committed to the overthrow of the government of the United States or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by force and violence." That is enough for me. Why should a person be subsidized? Why should the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania subsidize somebody who knowingly will not say whether or not he is a communist?

Senator Seyler was trying to make some tear-jerking statements regarding labor. I am just as much for labor as he is. I want him to know that I do not believe that labor wants people to hide behind the Fifth Amendment by refusing to say whether or not they are communists in order to receive unemployment compensation. Senator Seyler said something about my wanting to take something away from labor. I do not remember the exact wording that he used. However, I did not say what he said I did. I did say:

"If a defense plant is struck by communist activity, Pennsylvania now is compelled to pay unemployment compensation to the communist ringleaders of the strike."

That is what I said. I am not talking about any other strikes. I am talking about communist activities. Under the present ruling, we would be compelled to pay unemployment compensation to those people.

Senator Seyler said that this right has always been given to us under the Constitution. I agree with him. However, up until Tom McBride became the Attorney General and issued this directive, unemployment compensation was not paid to those people prior to February 6, 1957.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, first of all, I think the gentleman just said that prior to the opinion of the Attorney General, no compensation had been paid to persons pleading the Fifth Amendment. May I ask him how many applications for compensation had been turned down on this score prior to Attorney General McBride's ruling?

Mr. PECHAN. I cannot answer that question.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I suggest that the reason the gentleman cannot answer it is because there were none.

I would like to ask the gentleman another question. How many people have received unemployment compensation on this basis since the Attorney General's recommendation?

Mr. PECHAN. That, again, I cannot answer.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman. Again, I would suggest that the reason he cannot answer me is because there have been no persons paid.

The bill, in my opinion, is totally unnecessary. It is another attempt to make the sort of gesture for which Senator Pechan is well known.

Mr. President, I would like to clear up one thing. Senator Pechan has referred several times to the glory of the days when he was the author of the Pechan Bill. I remember those days very well, too. I would not detract from his glory, but I would suggest to the gentleman that the Pechan Bill and this bill have very little relationship. The remarks he made on the Pechan Bill and the remarks I made—unfortunately, we were not in the same Houses in those days—have very little bearing on this. This is an entirely different problem.

I would like to consider another remark which the gentleman made here. It implied something to me which I certainly did not say and do not intend to say. He said that he wants me to know that labor does not want people to hide behind the Fifth Amendment. I certainly agree with that; nobody does. No innocent individual wants to hide behind the Fifth Amendment unless he feels impelled to, upon the advice of his lawyer. I also say that labor does want fair play, and labor does want the rights of citizens preserved. Labor is interested in Senator Pechan's bill and labor opposes Senator Pechan's bill. This is not because they are attempting to encourage people to take the privilege of the Fifth Amendment, but because they want the rights, which citizens have as Americans, preserved. They are opposed to un-American action, such as this bill contemplates, in taking away from citizens certain rights which they have enjoyed.

Mr. President, I think that covers the remarks made by Senator Pechan. I would just like to say that I hope, again, this matter will be decided on the basis of our reasoning and that we will give thought to the basic constitutional problem here.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate further, but I just want to say one more thing. I did not know labor was opposed to this bill. However, I cannot understand how the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. can suspend any of their members and be against this bill. They did that to Dave Beck, as you know, just about a month ago because he hid behind the Fifth Amendment. They were not accusing him of being a communist; he just used the Fifth Amendment. How could labor be opposed to this when it refers to just one thing, and that is un-Americanism? Again, I want to say that I do not know why anybody should be afraid to say whether or not he is a communist if he is not. I know I am proud to say that I am an American. I am not here waving the flag, but I do believe that every American citizen should be proud to say he is one and he is not a communist who advocates the overthrow of our government by force or violence.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, if I had been here when the Pechan Loyalty Oath Bill came up, I probably would have voted for it. We take the loyalty oath almost daily in almost everything we do. I do not think it has that much significance to me that I would even take issue against it.

Mr. President, this bill takes food out of people's mouths. If they are denied unemployment compensation, their wives are without food; their sons, daughters and babies are without food. There is no comparison between this bill and the loyalty oath bill.

For that reason, alone, Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill, even though there are other reasons for which I could oppose the bill.

These people pay into this unemployment compensation fund. They pay into the fund with their taxes and they pay it out of their pay envelopes. In my opinion, it would be unconstitutional to deprive them of the benefits of the insurance, into which fund they pay. Even more than that, I think it is inhumane to even think of passing a bill which would deny people their fundamental right to exist.

We throw money into Europe and even into the Iron Curtain countries. We are now sending millions of dollars over into Poland. We are sending our money all over the world and, yet, we are depriving people of their rights there in our own Country. It is not a question of whether a man is a communist or not but, rather, it is a question of whether or not he wants to answer a question under oath. If he says, "I am a communist," he is okay and he receives unemployment compensation. If he does not want to admit it, he is denied his unemployment compensation. Such frivolous use of a law certainly is contrary to human reasoning. Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill.

There is just one other thing, Mr. President. If we deny a man's family unemployment compensation, we will not save any money. Under our system of direct public assistance, we would certainly feed them and pay the money out in some other way. What difference does it make whether we pass this bill or not?

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "Liquor Code" prohibiting the cashing of unemployment compensation or any other types of relief checks

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have on my desk a communication from the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, in which they set forth certain bills which they favor and other bills which they oppose. Among the list of the bills which they oppose is House Bill No. 1052. I was somewhat surprised to see this inasmuch as I did not think the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor would lend its efforts to prevent us from passing this type of legislation.

Certainly this is much needed legislation. This legislation is designed to see to it that when a person gets his unemployment compensation check or some other relief check, he does not spend it in a saloon. If he goes into a saloon to get the check cashed, I have no doubt that he would be tempted to reciprocate for the bartender's kindness in cashing the check by at least buying one drink; one drink would lead to another drink and, after the second drink, he would probably set up the whole bar. After that, he would go home without anything and his poor wife would not have money to buy their children clothes or shoes or pay the grocery bill.

If that is the type of legislation which the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor is opposing, I am very much surprised. I would say to them that they had better stick to labor legislation or else they are going to lose a lot of the strength which they now have.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I am sure the Majority Leader knows a great deal more about the liquor law than I do. This is not an insidious remark. I say that because he is a lawyer and deals with cases under the act.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. My question, Senator, is, supposing you have a situation where a single man, let us say—and there are single men, Mr. President—who collects unemployment compensation, lives at a hotel and the hotel, as a part of its establishment, has a bar. Is the hotel manager, the owner or is the management the licensee?

Mr. MAHANY. Sometimes they are, and sometimes they rent out the concession.

Mr. SEYLER. Let us say in this case the owner of the hotel owns the bar.

Mr. MAHANY. I would say he would then be a licensee.

Mr. SEYLER. Then if a man lives at the hotel and cashes his relief check,—I mean his unemployment compensation check, which is not relief, by the way—as I understand it, he could not use that check to pay his hotel bill. He would have to go outside to the cigar store, the corner grocery store or the bank in order to cash the check to pay his hotel bill, is that right?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, there are not very many people who are on relief living in hotels. However, we will assume there are a few. I would say there would not be any great disadvantage for the man to go to the store or to a bank where you cash checks such as this, and have the check cashed. I think perhaps there might be some great handicap to those people to whom you are referring, but the overall advantage is to the great number who are receiving relief checks and who will not, after this bill is passed, be able to cash them at a saloon, a bar or a licensed place, if you want to be really polite.

I think it is good legislation and the thing which I chiefly objected to was the Federation of Labor getting into a field which I did not think they had any business getting into. I think they would be much stronger if they would keep to labor legislation and keep out of the other fields. It has been said that they, the Grange and some other organizations are getting like the Capitol pigeons; they want to deposit something on every subject.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the gentleman is still misunderstanding the bill, my question or something. I was asking him about the part of the bill which deals with unemployment compensation. It is my opinion that there is a difference between unemployment compensation and relief checks.

I do not know anyone in the Commonwealth who should be more interested in unemployment compensation than the labor unions. I find nothing remarkable whatever in the interest of a labor union in what happens to unemployment compensation.

Unemployment compensation people might very well be living in hotels. These people are not indigents, Senator. If you are under the impression that only indigents receive unemployment compensation, you are wrong. It is very possible that people making quite respectable salaries, perhaps not in the salary bracket of the Senator, but who are certainly making by the standards of we common people good salaries, can be on unemployment compensation. It is not at all remarkable that they might be living at a hotel, which, incidentally, might have a bar. I do not think, in that light, that unemployment compensation checks should have been included in this bill.

If the sponsors' intent was to see that relief checks were not cashed in bars, that, to me, has a certain degree of logic. However, when they included unemployment compensation, they are talking about an entirely different subject. The person who receives an unemployment compensation check has no apologies to any one. He is not an indigent; he is not a failure; he is not necessarily a poor man in the most extreme sense of the word. It is something which society has given the people, not because of their indigence. It is not a handout. I feel, therefore, that Senator Mahany has misunderstood the bill or perhaps has placed the emphasis on relief checks without regarding the fact that this also includes unemployment compensation checks.

I congratulate the American Federation of Labor and any other labor organization which interests itself in unemployment compensation, because the members of their organizations want to belong to an organization which will be interested in questions like this.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if the Senator will read the provision in the bill which is under the present law, he will see that if the man received a regular payroll check, he could not cash it on the licensed premises. Certainly when a man is regularly employed, I have no doubt he receives a lot more money than he does under unemployment compensation, but he cannot cash his big, regular pay check at the bar when he would probably have enough money to buy one round. I do not understand why the Senator would be in favor of him cashing his unemployment compensation check in the same bar when he would not have as much money to go around. I have no doubt that allowing him to cash his check in a bar would certainly deprive his family of money which they would be able to use for food, clothing, shelter and other purposes.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I have one final comment. I am not attempting to argue the equity of the provisions of the law which are not contained as an amendment to this bill. If the gentleman cares to argue that, we should perhaps do it at a time when it is in order.

I would like to say that it does not necessarily say in this bill that only at bars will he be turned down. The bill refers to licenses or their employees. That can be, as I pointed out, persons employed in a hotel. A person might go to the desk in a hotel to get his check cashed, which would not at all imply that he went there for a drink, you see, and he still would be turned down.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, this is one of those rare occasions where, in a debate between Senator Mahany and Senator Seyler, I am siding with Senator Mahany.

It is true that an employee is entitled to unemployment compensation as a matter of right. There may be some people of means who receive unemployment compensation. However, we know that ninety-five out of one hundred who receive unemployment compensation are people of limited means. Since they are people of limited means, and some of them do have families and children, I think the barroom is not the first place to cash their checks because, in a great many instances, a part of the check will remain right there before the person leaves the barroom.

I am, therefore, going to vote for this bill.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I think the recipient of an unemployment check, a payroll check or any other kind of check should have the right to cash that check with as much freedom as the Majority Leader or anybody else has in cashing their checks.

I think the intent of this bill is merely to cast aspersions upon those who receive such checks. I do not think these checks, as a general rule, are cashed in these places. I have never heard it brought out as a problem, where these unemployment checks, payroll checks or any other checks are a problem in our everyday life.

I think the issue of freedom is involved. I think the recipients of these checks should be free to cash them in any place, regardless.

Ordered, That the clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1097, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 28 1937 (P L 1019) entitled "Statutory Construction Act" changing the definition of "physician"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President. However, my star pupil has been taking over all afternoon. Would you not like to interrogate him?

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I would like to know the purpose of this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would say the doctors and others mentioned in this bill feel that the language used in present acts of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania states that a physician may do certain things which they and the other ones who are mentioned in this bill should have the right to do. "A person who is licensed under the laws of the Commonwealth to engage in the practice of medicine and surgery in all of its branches within the scope of the Act of 1911" would be the ones which are referred to. This would also include those licensed to practice osteopathy or osteopathic surgery, within the scope of the Act of 1909. Therefore, when the word "physician" is used in any of the statutes of Pennsylvania, those are the two types of licensees which will be referred to. For instance, a chiropractor or a person engaged in any of the other nineteen healing arts, who are licensed, would not be included in the definition of "physician." Therefore, they could not do the things which physicians are permitted to do under the statutes.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, as I understand it, chiropractors are not included in the practice of medicine and surgery. I was trying to find out who is excluded by this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Sarraf seems to be champing at the bit. Would you like to interrogate him. He is an expert in this field.

Mr. PECHAN. Will it be all right for the gentleman to be interrogated from this side of the Senate? Do you recognize him as the same gentleman?

Mr. MULLIN. That is entirely up to Senator Sarraf. I would feel out of place over there.

Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Sarraf.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Sarraf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARRAF. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MULLIN. I just would like to know who is excluded under this bill.

Mr. SARRAF. All the practitioners in the healing arts, with the exception of the medical men and the osteopathic group. All others are excluded.

Mr. MULLIN. Can you name some of them?

Mr. SARRAF. Dentists, chiropractors, physiotherapists and numerous others.

Mr. MULLIN. Are those men engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery?

Mr. SARRAF. No, but they are in the healing arts professions. However, they are not physicians.

Mr. MULLIN. That is the extent of my questing. However, I still cannot see the purpose of the bill. None of the nineteen other groups which Senator Sarraf mentioned, that I know of, are engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I intend to vote against this bill. I would like to give my reasons for doing so, because I have nothing against the medical profession nor the osteopaths.

Mr. President, I hesitate to vote for this bill which, I believe, will deprive the people of their free choice of a licensed practitioner of the healing arts. It is my understanding that this bill will deprive certain of these practitioners of privileges they now enjoy.

I would like to cite just two of them. First, they would not be permitted to sign excuses for schoolchildren who might be under their care. Secondly, they would not be permitted to sign the various types of insurance forms, which call for the signature of a duly licensed physician, for any patients they might have under their care.

This would mean that the individual who desires to use a practitioner of the healing arts, other than a medical or surgical doctor or an osteopathic physician, in order to get a legitimate excuse or file a legitimate insurance claim, would have to go to see one of these special, privileged physicians in order to have his papers certified.

It seems to me there are many other factors which may be involved here, as I understand it. Many of these licensed practitioners cannot practice surgery or use drugs. Therefore, they would not be permitted, under their own licensing bill, to perform autopsies, which seems to be one of the fears expressed by the medical and the osteopathic people.

I hope I have made myself clear. I feel that the people should be privileged to select their own practitioner of the healing arts or whatever cult they believe in, and that those whom the Commonwealth has undertaken to license should be permitted to sign such things as school excuses and insurance forms.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I do not like to disagree with my distinguished colleague. Senator Kessler, who is a very close friend. However, I think he has read something into this bill that is not written there.

There is no intent in this bill to have people use a person in the healing arts who is not of their choice. They can go to whomever they please. In fact, we have believers in Christian Science. There are many people who do not believe in any physician, osteopath or chiropractor. This merely defines the word "physician." The bill provides that they are to be engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery. Certainly, the chiropractor is not trained in the practice of medicine and surgery. A chiropractor cannot prescribe medicines nor perform surgery.

For instance, I happen to be a dentist and I cannot apply the word "physician" to my profession. Under the term "physician," they are allowed to sign death certificates. I may have a patient unfortunate enough to die in my dental chair, and yet I cannot sign a death certificate. This bill is merely to clarify the definition of the term "physician."

Senator Kessler mentioned something about school excuses. If I recall correctly, I introduced a bill about a month ago and it passed the Senate. I do not know what luck it has had over in the House, but we included the word "chiropractor" in the bill. If a child had an appointment with a chiropractor, and the chiropractor would give him an excuse from school, that child would be excused the same as though he had received an excuse from a physician.

Therefore, Mr. President, my very good friend, Senator Kessler, is under some spell or misapprehension. If he does not want to go to a doctor, then he just does not have to go.

Mr. KESSLER. Unfortunately, Mr. President, House Bill No. 1097 does not amend a simple law. It amends the Statutory Construction Act, which means, to me, that the definition of the term "physician," as outlined in this act, will apply to any other law of the Commonwealth where the term "physician" is used. Therefore, it has very far-reaching effects and is not just a simple change in an unimportant law.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I understand the definition of the word "physician." It has been on the books since 1909. I have not heard any arguments here this afternoon to indicate any good reason to change that definition.

Therefore, Mr. President, I think we should vote this bill down.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President and Members of the Senate I just want to read a very short paragraph from a letter I received. I reads as follows:

"The old definition of 'physician' under this Act stated that a physician was an M.D. or an Osteopath who was licensed to practice 'in any or all' branches. The Osteopaths and the Medical Society have introduced this Bill to eliminate from the definition the words 'in any or.' The reason for this is that some of the limited licensees, i. e., the Chiropractors, have tried to construe the word 'any' as meaning 'one.' We are also interested in having the definition consistent with 'doctor of medicine' which appears in the same Act."

That, Mr. President, sums up what we really mean to do in this particular bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SCHMIDT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, it was necessary for me, late yesterday afternoon, to return home to Pittsburgh for personal reasons. When I arrived in Pittsburgh, I was very much surprised to find the amount of mail and the number of telephone calls which were awaiting me on the matter of the appropriation bill. People are very much upset and quite concerned about the proposed cut in the appropriations. On several of the telephone calls, the persons wanted to know the reason for the cut and what could be done to restore that cut. I informed those people that the information, which had been made public, was that there was not sufficient income from taxation to warrant the budget being passed in the manner in which it was submitted by the Governor.

Therefore, Mr. President, in order to remove that excuse, I am about to introduce a bill which would be an amendment to the present sales tax. It would amend it in a fashion which would make it a sales tax and exempt only from its terms food, clothing, medical supplies and those articles such as liquor, gasoline, cigarettes and tobacco that are now taxed under other acts.

Mr. President, this bill has only my sponsorship. However, I will be glad to add the name of any other Senator in this Body who feels that sufficient funds should be raised in order to carry out the mental health and welfare programs.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McMENAMIN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 921, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 17, 1951 (P. L. 1254) entitled "An act fixing the minimum pensions of policemen and firemen in certain cities," authorizing cities to increase allowances out of the police pension fund or foremen's pension fund after the termination of the services of the contributors.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. WALKER, MALLERY and HAYS read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 923, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 15, 1955 (P. L. 865) entitled "An act requiring rents and royalties from oil and gas leases of Commonwealth land to be placed in a special fund to be used for conservation, recreation, dams and flood control; . . ." earmarking a certain portion of the fund for the development and construction of Glendale State Park in Cambria County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

INTERROGATION

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Mahany, I just want to clear something which is in my mind and, I think, in the minds of many other people.

In your appropriation to the Department of Welfare involving the institutions, as I understand it, originally you had appropriated a lump sum of money. Then you added the anticipated collections to the lump sum to make up the total which was to be appropriated to the particular institution. As I understand it, that is the way the appropriation passed the House. I am now informed, and I want to know whether it is correct or not, that you made a change in that policy. I understand that instead of lumping together the lump sum, plus the anticipated collections, you are now appropriating a lump sum and that lump sum is based on the Governor's recommendation for the particular hospital. However, the lump sum, as I understand it, is not composed of two figures, the collections plus another figure, but it is just one figure. Is that correct?

Mr. MAHANY. First, Senator Yosko, I want to assure you that we have not, as yet, done anything relative to this bill, officially. We are merely discussing the bill in Caucus and are trying to make up our minds as to what we are going to recommend to the Appropriations Committee of the Senate. As far as the bill itself is concerned, it has not been touched. It is still in the discussion stage.

I believe the Republican Senators are going to recommend to the Appropriations Committee that instead of having these sums set up for the various hospitals, as passed in the House, that is a certain minimum sum, plus, in addition to that, an amount which is to be collected from the paying patients—we will include what the Department of Revenue has estimated will come in from the paying patients in each of these institutions. Therefore, we add to the amount, as set forth in House Bill No. 1700, as it passed the House, the amount which is estimated by the Department of Revenue to be collected. We also have adjusted a bit where we thought perhaps the hospital was getting too much under that particular setup, and have added to others which we thought were not going to receive sufficient amounts.

It is not true, as stated in the newspapers, that the Republicans are just taking care of their own hospitals and taking money away from the Democratic hospitals. We are trying to do this on an equitable basis, without any reference to whether the hospital happens to be in a Democratic Senatorial District or in a Republican Senatorial District.

We have also decided to recommend to the committee that in addition to the amount of anticipated revenue to be received from the patients, if the cash receipts exceed a specified amount, then, in addition to the amount we set up, they will receive the extra cash that is collected by virtue of a good system of collection, in order that the hospital may have an incentive to collect all which is possible under the law. Does that answer your question, Senator Yosko?

Mr. YOSKO. Yes, however, the appropriation to the hospital now is going to be in a lump sum and will not be dependent upon the collections to make up that sum. Is that correct?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right. In addition, they may receive an extra amount if the collections actually exceed the amount which is anticipated to be received from that source.

Mr. YOSKO. Thank you.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President. It is the same price regardless of whether I answer one or whether I answer several.

Mr. LANE. Thank you for the bargain.

Senator Mahany, I would like to know whether you can give me the figure of what the Majority Party feels the total revenues received for this biennium will be? Do you have the figure?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not, Senator Lane. It would be in the neighborhood of $1,500,000,000.

Mr. LANE. Thank you, sir.

Mr. MAHANY. That is the figure I have heard on several occasions. I think that is the one we are using.

Mr. President, I want Senator Lane to understand that is not a definite figure. That was a figure which was used here three or four weeks ago. It may be subject to change as time goes on. We will try to arrive at a more correct or certain figure within the next few days.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, since the gentleman from Crawford has elaborated, I desire to interrogate him further.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will be glad to, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, could you give us, on the Democratic side, the anticipated revenues for this biennium, on the basis of the cuts in the budget. As a matter of fact, you cut the budget by $94,000,000, I believe.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we, in the Senate, have not cut the budget at all. We have not even acted on the bill in committee as yet.

Mr. LANE. I will amend my remarks and say the Republican Party has cut the budget by approximately $94,000,000.

Mr. MAHANY. There are many people in the Republican Party who do not know anything about this budget.

Mr. LANE. All right, I will amend my remarks by saying the Republican leadership in the House and Senate have cut the budget.

Mr. MAHANY. Will you just narrow that down to the Republican leadership in the House? They have acted upon the budget.

Mr. LANE. Can you give me the thinking of the Members of the House in regard to their figure, when they cut the budget by $94,000,000 as far as revenues are concerned? I do not think this is foolishness; this is very serious.

Mr. MAHANY. I am not treating it as foolishness. I just do not know what went through their minds when they acted upon this. I wish we could wait until we act upon House Bill No. 1700 in committee before we discuss it further on the floor. I believe, Senator Lane, you will be satisfied with the way we are going to act upon this bill. We expect to have both Democrats and Republicans present and everybody will be given a chance to be heard. I hope you will allow us sufficient time. We are planning to Caucus as soon as we finish the Second Reading Calendar. We will then try to figure out when we will hold the Appropriations Committee meeting.

Mr. LANE. I hope your statement that I will be satisfied is true. As a matter of fact, I am sincerely hopeful. However, I still would like to have the figure which you people used when you cut the budget by $94,000,000 as far as revenues are concerned. By having that figure, I could do a little mathematics, myself. I do not know what your figure was. You said it was $1,500,000,000 and then you hedged a little on that. Therefore, I cannot use that figure.

Mr. MAHANY. We are trying to figure out how much we can put into this budget of needed services, which the people seem to want, and still keep within our tax structure. We have committed ourselves pretty well to no additional new taxes in the State of Pennsylvania.

We are trying to work out the problem in order for us to give as much as possible to the people, under House Bill No. 1700, and still keep our commitment of no new taxes. In the meantime, I cannot tell you exactly how much will come in, because it is anybody's guess. I could pick a figure out of the air and say it will be $2,000,000,000. However, you and I know, that figure probably would not be correct.

I wish you would afford us a further opportunity of getting more figures together on the anticipated revenues. Even two or three days from now, we will probably get as many figures as there are people trying to figure it out. The Economy League will probably have one figure, the Governor will have another figure, you will have one, Senator Dent will have another one and we will have one over here. They all will probably be several millions of dollars apart.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mahany, I like to hear you make speeches, but occasionally it is very difficult to get a definite statement or answer from you. Of course, the Republican House Members must have had a figure when they cut the budget by about $94,000,000, as far as revenues are concerned. Therefore, I would like to have an approximate figure. Do you say that $1,500,000,000 is the approximate?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say that.

Mr. LANE. Thank you, sir.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I did want to say to Senator Dent that yesterday when I got the Polaroid camera, I thought there was supposed to be another gift to go along with it; at least, that was the gift which was usually given with Polaroid cameras some years ago in Washington. I refer to a deep freeze, which I am getting today.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am going to be as kind to Senator Mahany today as I was yesterday.

Mr. MAHANY. Oh, good!

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman if I heard him right and if he will tell me whether this is what he said. Senator Mahany, did I hear you say you were dedicated to a program of no new taxes?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right, Senator.

Mr. DENT. Would you then say that your are not against the old taxes?

Mr. MAHANY. That is a trick question, and I can anticipate, if I answer that, what you are going to come up with next.

We also, I believe, have gone along with Governor Leader in his efforts to try to put in the manufacturers' exemption on January 1, 1958.

Mr. DENT. I was not going to mention that, but since you brought it up, I would like to say you were kinder to Governor Leader than you were to four Republican Governors, because you refused to go along with them on the same bill. You have been very nice going along with Governor Leader or, perhaps, I should say he was pretty nice going along with you. However, that is an old tax, is it not?

Mr. MAHANY. It has been on the books for some years; yes, Senator.

Mr. DENT. I just wondered, at this time when the question might be asked of us, as Members of the Legislature, why we are giving a tax rebate of $43,000,000 to companies who are all showing greater profits than at any time in their history and, at the same time, threatening to cut off the services to the mentally ill and others. I wonder if maybe we had not better review our position a little bit on that score. I would suggest that you discuss that at your Caucus, the same as I am going to at my Caucus.

Mr. MAHANY. I hope that you also discuss it with Governor Leader, because he is quite forceful in his efforts to get rid of this tax. He even made a speech on it. Either you or some other Member of your Caucus could discuss that with the Governor and let us know.

Mr. DENT. The funny thing about that is that the Governor was adamant in that position of relieving industry, of course, but he was adamant also in the position that he did not want a sales tax. You fellows gave him a fifty-fifty break; one horse and one rabbit.

Mr. MAHANY. I will not answer that if someone will promise that they will never again tell that horse and rabbit story on the floor of the Senate.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we have many great newspapers in this State. One of those great newspapers is published in Philadelphia, the Philadelphia Inquirer. It has a remarkable writer who, for twenty years, has written a column in the Philadelphia Inquirer. His name, as you all know, is John M. Cummings. I have figured out myself that in twenty years, he has written 7,000 columns.

Last Sunday, he wrote a column in the Inquirer which I have here. It is headed:

"Senators Like Racing But Not in This State"

It carries a beautiful picture of our President pro tempore, M. Harvey Taylor, and it goes on to say that Harvey Taylor loves to go to Louisville to see the Kentucky Derby.

It says that a week ago Saturday, the hotels gave a wonderful dinner in Philadelphia. According to this article, Senator Taylor and a half dozen Republican Senators, who voted against the horse race referendum on this floor, were at the dinner and some of them took the time to go over to New Jersey to see a real horse race.

Mr. Cummings goes on to excuse them of what they are doing. He said those Senators say that back in their Districts, they think their people are against a referendum on the horse race bill. That is not a bad excuse. I know there are times when I go home that people jump on me about the way I voted. I tell them I agree with them, but I think my people agree with the way I voted.

I read also, in one of the Sunday papers, that during the Civil War, the Union Army had 650,000 horses and 450,000 mules which helped save this Nation. Inasmuch as the horse race referendum bill has passed the Senate and is now over in the House of Representatives, I think it is the proper time to keep this issue alive. Therefore, I am asking leave to have this column of John M. Cummings, from the Philadelphia Inquirer, printed in the record.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator's remarks and the article from the Philadelphia Inquirer will be made a part of the record.

John M. Cummings

SENATORS LIKE RACING BUT NOT IN THIS STATE

A large delegation of State legislators recently spent a week end in this town as guests of the Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia Hotel Associations. They were served a fine dinner and they saw a better than average show in the Bellevue-Stratford. Lawmakers from a distance, who remained in the city overnight, were provided with hotel accommodations. Everything was on the cuff.

With relatively few exceptions the visiting Senators and Representatives left Philadelphia and, in fact, the Commonwealth, on Saturday afternoon. They crossed the Delaware to New Jersey where, at Garden State Track they enjoyed a few hours of racing.

In this party of racing fans were State Senators who two weeks or so earlier, had voted to deny the people of Pennsylvania the privilege of determining by their votes whether they desired horse racing with legalized pari-mutuel betting within the confines of the jurisdiction for which they help make the laws.

The proposal, approved by the Senate by the hairline margin of one vote, calls for a referendum on the question to be held in connection with the November election. It is not, it should be understood, a proposal which, if adopted, would legalize horse betting in the State. The one and only purpose of the referendum would be to determine how you and your neighbor feel on this subject. No member of the Legislature would be committed to anything. But he would know how the people feel, particularly his immediate constituents and, perhaps, would be guided accordingly.

Only eight Republican Senators voted for the proposal. Nineteen were recorded against it. On the Democratic side 18 were for and three against. There were no Republican absentees. On the Democratic side two were missing because of illness—McCreesh and Stiefel. Both would have voted for the measure had they been present.

When you consider this lineup in the quiet of your study, preferably in the dead of night, you are likely to come to a realization of why so many folks regard the Democratic Party as the party of the PEOPLE. As a party it at least favors giving the rank and file of citizens a chance to vote on questions on the public mind. It was so with prohibition; it was and continues to be so in the matter of liberalizing the Sunday blue laws and it is so with the horserace betting issue.

On the other hand, when you examine the Republican vote on the referendum you are likely to come to an understanding of a wholly unrelated subject. You will realize, if it never occurred to you before, why so much of Pennsylvania's once virgin timberlands have been almost denuded. The wood has been used over the years to provide heads for many of our Republican leaders and lawmakers.

Sen. M. Harvey Taylor is the Republican leader of Dauphin county. He is president pro tem. of the Senate. It is the proud boast of the Senator that he is a devotee of racing. As is his custom, he attended the Kentucky Derby this year. He was among those present at the Camden track when the legislators came here a week ago as guests of the hotel men. Senator Taylor voted AGAINST the bill to accord you the privilege of voting on this important and lively question.

Fortunately for the Senator, he can afford to indulge his liking for the nags when they run in Kentucky, New Jersey or any other State. So to him it makes no difference how Pennsylvania feels on the subject. He voted against the measure for strictly political reasons. He is well fortified in Harrisburg, but he figured a "NO" vote would appeal to what he believes to be an anti-racing sentiment in the rural areas of Dauphin.

Senator Henry Propert, of populous Montgomery county, voted against it because his mail indicated it lacked support in his bailiwick. This, by the way, is the county that provided much of the money and a considerable part of the leadership in the fight for repeal of prohibition.

The Democrats, of course, have their anti-referendum spokesman in Governor Leader. Quite early in the session he said he favored giving the people the right to vote on the question. A few weeks ago he said that if it comes to his desk he will exercise the veto. Leader's attitude is important only because of the position he occupies.

There is scant hope that the House will pass the measure. But if the Republicans should suddenly become gifted with ordinary wisdom they would send it along to the Governor. Let him then decide whether he wants personally to take the responsibility for depriving the people of an opportunity to say yes or no on a simple question.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would suggest to Mr. Cummings that before he writes another article, he find out where the bill is. If he wants to publish names and pictures of people who were at the track, I would suggest he publish the names of the leadership of the House. It is the House that is holding the bill, not us; we passed it long ago.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I want Senator Dent and all of the other Senators to particularly note that we are holding an Appropriations Committee Meeting at ten o'clock tomorrow morning. We expect, at that time, to discuss the provisions of House Bill No. 1700 in full. By doing this, we hope we will not be charged at some future time with having steam-rolled something here through the Senate.

As far as I am concerned, I do not want to be charged with having steam-rolled House Bill No. 1700 through the Senate. We want the Senators to have plenty of notice and plenty of opportunity to be heard at the Committee Meeting.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am happy to have heard the announcement, and I assure you that we are very glad there has been a change in policy.

Mr. MAHANY. There is no change in policy as far as I am concerned, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am also happy to know that we are going to hold this meeting and that it is going to be bipartisan. I want to inform the Majority Leader that we, on the Democratic side, will have a series of amendments which we hope the Republican Majority will accept.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, hope springs eternal in the human breast.

RECESS

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I request a recess of the Senate until 5:15 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, for the purpose of holding a Republican Caucus and a Democratic Caucus.

The PRESIDENT. Are there objections? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 5:15 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1957

The House met at 9:00 a. m., EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair announces with profound sorrow the death of the gentleman from the County of Blair, the Honorable David H. Erb, on Tuesday, June 4th, 1957 at 6:00 p. m. at the Nason Hospital, Roaring Spring, Blair County, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Erb has been a Member of this House of Representatives since 1943. As a mark of respect to our deceased Member, following the prayer, we shall stand in silence until the gavel falls.

PRAYER

Reverend David A. Gray, Pastor of the Church of Christ, Ridgway, Elk County, guest Chaplain and guest of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick, offered the following prayer:

Most merciful Father of all mankind, Lord of all governments, lift us nearer the stature of Jesus, that His inspiration may fall upon the pathways of each one present this day.

Grant that sincerity may inspire our motives serving the people of the Commonwealth without flattery and bowing to their emotions, make us conscious of the sacredness of our public service, may we approach our duties with clear minds and courageous hearts.

Forbid that prejudice, ambition or jealousy should keep us apart, let us make friends one of another, and bid that these remembrances remain fast.

It is with heaviness of heart and mixed emotions that we receive the news of the departure of our able Member of this House, Daniel H. Erb. His loss will be felt by those who know him and we pray that comfort will be upon those who mourn his departure.

Bring us, we pray, the spirit of Christ to our hearts that we may work in unity for the good of this great Commonwealth. In the precious name of Jesus, we humbly pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 57, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code" approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) prohibiting sales by publishers or distributors of magazines newspapers periodicals or other publications which require purchase of other such publications.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, I refer the gentleman to Section 699.9, Subsection (A), Definitions, specifically the definition of the word "obscene."

I would like to ask him whether or not line 12, which includes in the definition that obscenity shall mean that which is "offensive to extreme propriety" I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not he would interpret that to mean someone, the most sensitive, the most delicate flower in the community might not very well fall under that definition?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would like to answer that by asking the gentleman, what does he mean by the most sensitive flower in the community?

Mr. GAILEY. I was thinking of my old maid aunt, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to ask the gentleman, is it not true that by this definition, we set up as the judge of that which is obscene perhaps the most sensitive person, the most likely to be offended, in the entire community?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That might be a matter of interpretation that some people could place on it, no doubt.

Mr. GAILEY. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to preface my remarks by saying, first, I am entirely in accord with the purpose of this bill. We have the problem in our county just as I think most of you have in yours with the sort of material that this bill attempts to ban. I certainly feel that some action should be taken by this Legislature to curb the distribution of the sort of periodicals that one can see these days on newsstands, particularly when they fall into the hands of our young people.

However, as you may have gathered from my interrogation, I am very much disturbed by the one definition that is included in this bill. It is my understanding that these definitions were arrived at by a panel of district attorneys. Be that as it may, I would suggest that this first definition of the word "obscene" is something that we would do well to think twice about before we voted for this bill. It does set up, as the sponsor of the bill has indicated, it very well may be that person in the community who is most sensitive to this sort of thing.

The area of censorship is a very delicate one. It is something concerning which we should hesitate a long while before legislating in that field. This perhaps is the first act that we will have on our books in which we attempt to define in definitive terms words such as obscenity, lewdness, filthy, indecent. This Act will be looked to by the courts not only in this particular area but in many areas where definitions of these words are necessary. The courts will look to these definitions not only in deciding this Act but this will, in a sense, tend to set the tone for future legislation in this whole area. It seems to me that when we set up, as we do here, a person of extreme propriety as the judge as to whether or not something offends them, I think we are legislating unwisely.

I have no objections to the purpose of the act nor to the manner in which the act is written, but I do have very serious objections to this specific definition. I think it is going to have repercussions far beyond the purpose for which the sponsor originally intended the bill.

Finally, while I would like to vote for this bill, I do honestly feel that in view of what I think to be a very unwise definition, one which will have far-reaching impact, I feel that I cannot in good conscience vote for the bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, unlike my colleague from York, I am 100 percent in favor of this bill. The necessity for legislation to curb these tie-in sales was brought home forcefully to me yesterday afternoon. I sat in this House and I observed the youth of this Commonwealth, the representatives of the youth of this Commonwealth, I believe they were from 4-H Clubs at the Speaker's rostrum. I went downstairs to the lunchroom and I stopped at the newsstand down in the basement of this Capitol of our Commonwealth and I observed two of the most filthy, the most indecent, the most lascivious magazines that probably are printed throughout the United States.

I do not know who runs that stand downstairs, but I certainly think that somebody ought to put that house in order because the filth that is being displayed there is a disgrace. That filth is available to all of the youth that walks into this Capitol. There is no discrimination in the sales of these magazines, they are available to anyone.

Now, if there is any question in anybody's mind as to the definition of obscenity, or that which is filthy and disgusting and that which excites libertinus thoughts, then I refer you to one of these two magazines that I glanced through. I have one of them with me. If I may briefly refer to it, I do not like to give it publicity because it is too disgusting but I purchased one of these books for the sole reason of bringing it to the attention of the Members of this House. If the Members of this House want to read trash like this, I do not care. But when the trash is made available to the visitors in the Capitol, especially to our youth, then I think it is time we did something about it. If they purchase these magazines because of tie-in sales then I think this is the type of legislation we need.

This magazine that I am referring to is entitled: "Play-boy" and it sells for fifty cents. The sole purpose is to excite lewd thoughts in the minds of the people that read it. There is a double spread here of a naked woman veiled in transparent clothing. Is there anybody here that will question the obscenity of that picture?

There is another picture here, a series of pictures that refer to a lady's back. She is posing in one of the pictures in a bathing suit from the back and you can see right down to the sacrum. That might sound funny but it is a very delicate subject matter and I do not like to bring it up, but it is such a filthy and disgusting thing that I have to.

The series of pictures in here do nothing but tend to excite those who are weak in thoughts of lewdness—for the weakminded. One of the chief reasons why we have so many sex murders and sex crimes today is because these magazines are available to the public. I say to you, we might talk about the flower of the community and whether or not the definition of obscenity would apply to them, but I say to you that nobody in the House will say that these are not filthy and obscene pictures.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have no doubt that the gentleman from Philadelphia at his age doubtless has a different reaction to various things printed than I have at my age. I have great faith in his character and power of resistance.

Now like the previous speaker, the gentleman from York, I am in agreement with the purposes served, but you cannot serve those purposes with a bill that is non-inclusive.

Take the definition of "disgusting" shall mean that which causes an aversion or repugnance to that which offends the sensibilities. Now this concerns any kind of filth. It just will not pass the test. It is too universal. Disgusting to the sensibilities of whom? Disgusting to the sensibilities in what realm of human thought? Of human emotion? There are several definitions in this bill that will not wash when you bring them to judicial test.

I would suggest that instead of going through the motions for the purpose of having people commend our intentions, that instead of enacting a non-enforceable bill, we go at this thing from a more judicial point of view and write a bill that can be enforced.

As I say, the definition to which the gentleman from York referred, the definition of "disgusting" does not get us anywhere. They certainly gave us a bill that no court can enforce and which leads to an intent of enforcement from angles that have nothing to do with the purpose of this bill as I understand it. I would suggest that either the definition of "disgusting" be eliminated or that it be given some reference to the purposes the bill is designed to serve.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, this bill has had rather a stormy road since it was introduced early in the session.

The definitions contained in this bill came about as a result of a conference which the Attorney General of this state called of the District Attorneys of this state in connection with this type of literature upon our news-stands in this state. As a result of that Attorney General's conference with the District Attorneys of this state a committee was appointed to draft certain definitions.

These definitions included in this bill are entirely the language of the committee of District Attorneys in collaboration with the Attorney General's office for the purposes of trying, for the first time, to define these matters and get a better clarification for the guidance of our courts. We believe them to be an approach in the right direction for the correction of this evil.

I am not here to question the judgment of the District Attorneys and the Attorney General, so far as they tried to define this thing. Maybe personally I might have defined them in a little different manner, but those who are charged with our law enforcement have decided that the definitions herein contained are definitions which are workable and something upon which they can go before the court and do something about the situation. It was for that reason that this bill was sent back to Committee awaiting the report of this conference in order to incorporate these definitions into this bill.

We believe it to be good legislation. I do not believe there is anyone here that argues that we do not need correction of this evil. It is a question as how you best define the approach by which it shall be done. There are those on this Floor who have disagreed with the definitions. I hope there are 106 who do agree with the definitions in order that we can start something in this state to control this evil.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, it is very easy and it is very nice for the gentleman from Cambria to take "pot shots" at a definition that he knows probably will be attacked by the Supreme Court of the United States, if it ever goes there. Attack successfully, because they have gone completely overboard. But the gentleman from Cambria knows and recognizes that there is an evil here, and yet when this bill was on second reading why did he not come up with a definition that would take the place of this definition of "disgusting"?

It is easy to attack it on third reading and say, I don't like that definition. Since there is a serious problem involved here you should have the courage to come out and put a definition in there that you think is good and will stand up.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the reason that I do not have a definition for "disgusting" is because I do not believe there is any place in the bill for a definition of "disgusting." It does not tie in with lewdness, it does not tie in with obscenity, it does not tie in with any other part of the bill. It is extraneous and it would vastly improve the bill if that particular definition were taken out of the bill because it serves no purpose there, except to question the integrity of the enactment. So I give the gentleman from Philadelphia my reply that I would not define "disgusting," because in this kind of a bill there is no place for a definition of "disgusting."

To strike out would not delay the progress of this bill, if you put something into it you would delay the progress of the bill, if you strike out an objectionable phrase that does endanger the bill, you do not delay its progress through this House and you get a stronger bill.

If we wanted something to "play act" with, if we want something to go out and tell how righteous we were we go ahead. If we serve a serious purpose, we certainly take out of the bill a definition that serves no purpose.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 142, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 5, 1932 (P. L. 45) entitled "An act empowering cities of the first and second classes to levy assess and collect or to provide for the levying assessment and collection of certain additional taxes for general revenue purposes * * *" limiting the rate of wage income or occupation taxes reducing such taxes heretofore imposed and providing for certain credits and deductions for nonresident taxpayers.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this is not a bill to exempt non-residents from the Philadelphia wage tax for a change. This is an amendment to the Sterling Act of 1932 limiting the amount of wage tax that can be assessed in Philadelphia to one percent.

Under the present Philadelphia Sterling law there is no limit whatsoever on the amount of wage tax that can be imposed. Presently the wage tax is one and a half percent, which happens to be less than the recommendation of the Mayor of Philadelphia. There is no reason why it could not be raised to five percent. Also, under the present Sterling Act there is no reciprocity clause for non-resident communities adopting a wage tax of their own.

This bill in effect puts Philadelphia under Act 481 by imposing the same restrictions that 481 has. It limits the rate to one percent beginning after the end of this current year which is the same rate, of course, as is in every other community in the State.

Secondly, it provides for reciprocity if a home community also levies a wage tax. As I said, it does not exempt non-residents except to the extent that their communities may also levy a wage tax.

We feel it is a fair bill. We think there should be some limit on the amount of wage tax that can be imposed in Philadelphia. We do not believe that Philadelphia should have a better position than any other municipality in the State.

I would ask all the Members to vote for the bill.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I do not suppose Mr. Lippincott was a Member of this House in 1947 when the "tax anything" law was passed, or if he were, he would remember what I have discovered by questioning various people who were in the House in 1947. At that time the only way the Assembly could pass the "tax anything" law was to have the Philadelphia delegation go along, and the only way that the Philadelphia delegation was willing to go along was to preserve their priority rights under the Sterling Act which was passed in 1932, fifteen years earlier. Now look what happened!

The gentleman from Delaware says that this arrangement which was made to obtain your votes in 1947 will be abrogated. We have obtained our advantage. We can now impose wage taxes in all the communities of Pennsylvania. We want Philadelphia to be on an equal basis with us.

This is a complete reversal of form and is the kind of thing that should not be permitted where arrangements are made to gain advantages for the other communities and these advantages should not be obtained at the expense of Philadelphia, where Philadelphia was willing to go along and permit the other communities to raise revenue.

What kind of a law is this? The gentleman from Delaware starts out by saying that this is not a bill to exempt non-residents. A bill to exempt non-residents had some virtue because here was an opportunity to exclude them from the tax imposed by Philadelphia.

This particular bill is strictly a punitive bill, to punish Philadelphia, because if you force us to reduce our one and a half percent income tax to one percent it will cost Philadelphia $12 million.

Let me show you what the Philadelphia Inquirer thinks of this, when it says that the bill passed by the Legislature, which was recently vetoed by Governor Leader exempting non-residents, at least would have been helpful to the non-residents affected. But the latest bill on the wage tax subject is wholly punitive. The vetoed bill would have meant a loss to the city of $12 million a year. The new bill would mean a reduction of at least a similar amount. Either bill, if enacted, would require the imposition of other taxes by our city or an increase in the existing ones. There is no good reason for this second measure which would handcuff council in formulating a new program for Philadelphia.

The Governor would doubtless veto this bill also, but the Inquirer says, "The sensible-minded among the Legislators ought to save him that trouble." This bill is a nuisance. Vote against it.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOLL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman state what the wage tax rate was in Philadelphia in 1947?

Mr. TOLL. It has been fluctuating from one and a half to one. In 1947 it might have been one percent.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, that is precisely the point I am trying to make. The gentleman states that this would be unfair to non-residents and merely punitive. That is not true, as the gentleman knows, and I do not believe at this moment there are any communities in the surrounding counties that have a wage tax.

The cost of our schools is increasing so tremendously that it seems to me that it is just a matter of time until we will be forced to impose a wage tax. I think the reciprocity aspect of this would make it very fair to the non-residents if the wage taxes are imposed in their home communities, so that they could pay for their own schools rather than pay for the Philadelphia government.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, rather than prolong the debate, I would like to have included in the record a letter written by one of my constituents, Mr. Fred Devine, to the Editor of the Chester Times.

26 N. Llanwellyn Ave.
Glenolden, Penna.

June 3, 1957

Dear Mr Steigleman,

There is nothing wrong with Philadelphia that a change of thinking could not cure. Perhaps your fine editorial, "That Unfair Wage Tax" of Saturday, June 1 may be a step in pointing out that fact to the City. As an employee of the Philadelphia Naval Base for fourteen of the past sixteen years I have been maced into paying that "Right to Work" money for services and protection which I do not receive.

This entire situation is the result of disturbed thinking on the part of Philadelphia and can be best illustrated by the remarks of Mr. Dilworth on the morning I asked for mercy for a Naval Base worker who was discharged because he would not submit to arrest and confinement for non-payment of a tax for which in his heart he could not accept as just. He was but representative of thousands with the same belief. He was a New Jersey resident. The Mayor's words, "You people wanna work in our city, you gotta pay" will never be forgotten. Nor shall we ever forget the embryo days when the present administration stood on the street corners and promised to remove the tax if the people would put them in power. The people believed and put them in. They did not remove the tax. They have called the originators of the tax "The Corrupt and Content" and called themselves "The Peaceful Revolutionaries." However they seem to be unable to get along without that which was conceived and spawned by the gentleman they damned. The present chief executive asked the people to make him the Mayor. He said he saw no reason to raise the wage tax. The people believed. He was in office less than one year and the wage tax was raised. The present Governor in plank four of his campaign platform promised to "End the Philadelphia Wage Tax payments by residents of Delaware County." Broken promises seem to be the rule rather than the exception of those gentlemen.

Now, let us look on the other side of the picture. During the summer of 1956 our Representatives, Mr. Joseph Isaacs and Mr. Clarence Bell met with a group of Naval Base workers. The Naval Base workers presented facts. The gentlemen promised to do something about it. They did not forget. They fought the good fight and they kept the faith. They were not, as has been charged, acting to embarrass a party of an opposing political faith. They were discharging their duty to their constituents.

The wage tax has hurt the Philadelphia Naval Base. It has embarrassed our Country. We might liken it to a home in a city block where the police are constantly appearing. An indication that something is wrong inside the home is self evident.

On April 10, 1957, Mr. David Berger, city solicitor of Philadelphia smiled when he said the city had one wage tax delinquent in jail for thirty-five days. Taking thirty-five days from a man's life in a Country still professing to live by the Declaration of Independence which contains the line "For imposing taxes on us without our Consent" is a serious thing. It is a dangerous procedure.

There is something about wage tax the people just cannot stomach.

On the very same day your editorial appeared, the Evening Bulletin also had an editorial revealing the city is asking the court to empower them to levy a license fee on New Jersey buses for use of city's streets. It is a well known fact that the emotionally disturbed are always looking for a windfall. It was a shrewd master stroke that placed the toll gates for the new Walt Whitman bridge on the Penna. side of the river.

You have very nicely pointed out the fact the City of Brotherly Love has won no friends among non-residents by the way it collects the tax. The wage tax is bad tax. Inasmuch as it hurts those least able to pay, so too does it hurt the community which levies such tax. May we keep it out of Delaware Co. It is a last resort tax.

Mr. Editor, keep up the fine work. More editorials such as "That Unfair Wage Tax" may reach somebody in Philadelphia who may be in a position to initiate a change of thinking. There is nothing wrong with Philadelphia that a change of thinking could not cure. Perhaps an end to the nineteen year old temporary tax may be nearer than we know.

Sincerely yours,

Fred Devine

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 537, entitled:

An Act imposing liability upon parents for the tortious acts of children under eighteen years of age setting forth limitations and providing procedure for recovery.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, line 1 of Title, by striking out "Imposing liability upon" and inserting in lieu thereof "Authorizing the recovery of damages from"

Amend Title, page 1, last 2 lines of Title, by striking out "setting forth limitations and providing procedure for recovery" and inserting in lieu thereof "destroying property"

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 1 to 3, page 2 lines 1 to 3, by striking out "as used in this act" in line 1, page 1, all of lines 2 and 3, page 1, and all of lines 1 to 3, page 2, and inserting in lieu thereof "The Commonwealth, its political subdivisions and any person whose property is wilfully or maliciously destroyed by a child under the age of eighteen years may recover from his parents actual damages to the property in an amount not to exceed two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) in an action in assumpsit if he is living with his parents at the time the property is destroyed."

Amend Bill, page 2, lines 4 to 20, page 3, lines 1 to 19, page 4, lines 1 to 20, page 5, lines 1 and 2, by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof Section 2. Whenever any action under this act is brought before a magistrate, alderman or justice of the peace, the decision thereon may be appealed to the court of common pleas of the proper county or the County Court of Allegheny County or the Municipal Court of Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, this bill, as you know, is the parental responsibility bill that will impose liability on the parent for certain acts of a minor.

The bill that is before the House is considered by many, including myself, as going a little bit too far. The amendments that I have offered would sort of trim down the responsibility and limit it to those situations where the minor who is residing with the parent, under the age of 18 years, has destroyed property wilfully or maliciously. The limit of the liability is $250.

As you know, the Senate passed Senate Bill 5, and that is exactly the amendment that I have offered today. If this amendment were adopted the bill would be identical to Senator Pechan's bill that was passed in the Senate.

I think we have probably covered this pretty well in our own caucuses and we know the merits and demerits of such legislation, but I wanted to point out to you that the city of Philadelphia was the one that had originally asked me to sponsor a bill similar to the amendment that I have now introduced. The reason we have done that was the tremendous loss and destruction of property by juveniles who can be classified as "delinquents."

It is felt by many people who are aware of social problems that if some responsibility was placed on the parents there would be better supervision of the children and consequently more regard for the property rights of others.

The Secretary of the Board of Education in Philadelphia, Ad Anderson, has written me a letter saying that he was heartily in favor of such a bill, and as you know, Ad Anderson is one who has dealt with children for the better part of his life.

I think that with this tremendous rise in juvenile delinquency today and with the inability of the courts and the social agencies to adequately deal with the problem, we might possibly have an answer in an amendment such as this and impose some responsibility on the parent.

I ask those who believe that House Bill 537 goes a little too far to support these amendments and at least get some legislation on the books that would, possibly, deter some of the tremendous acts of vandalism that my county, and I am sure the other 66, have had.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, . . .

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman yield for the purpose of letting me ask the gentleman from Philadelphia one question before he debates the bill?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman yields to the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Did I understand the gentleman to say that his amendment would impose liability only if the child wilfully or maliciously did this act?

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. READINGER. It would not include a negligent act of the child?

Mr. McCORMACK. No. I am glad you brought that out. It definitely would not include the negligent act of a child such as a child playing baseball who hits a ball through a window. Under the original bill, House Bill 537, I believe the sponsors will agree with me the parents would be liable. Under my amendment they would not be.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose these amendments and I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, if I understood the gentleman correctly, he said that he had introduced a bill on the order of the amendments which he is trying to insert in House Bill 537 and also that Senator Pechan had sent over a bill in like form. Is that correct?

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. The gentleman said that these amendments would change House Bill 537 to provide that only "malicious and wilful" civil wrongs, which are called torts, would be the subjects of parental responsibility. Is that correct, wilful and malicious torts?

Mr. McCORMACK. Wilful or malicious.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Yes. What does the gentleman mean by a "wilful or malicious tort"?

Mr. McCORMACK. I would define it by distinguishing it between an act that is wilful and an act that is negligent. An act that is wilful is done intentionally, whereas a negligent act is done through carelessness without any intention on the part of the actor to accomplish the object.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Would the gentleman say then that an intentional tort is what you have in mind as opposed to a negligent tort. Is that correct?

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, Mr. Speaker, that is correct.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. To lead off I might tell you a story of something that happened in my own home town last summer.

There was an elderly woman walking down the street one summer evening, and a young hoodlum came up and attacked her. She was a woman, I believe, of about 70. He threw her to the ground and she broke her hip. He stole her pocketbook which was worth about five dollars. As a result of this incident the woman spent about four or five months in a hospital and incurred, I suppose, about $500 and up of hospital bills. Now, under the amendments to the bill as you seek to make it, how much would that woman recover from the parents?

Mr. McCORMACK. That is a loaded question.

Mr. Speaker, the answer is under my amendments such a situation would not be covered. My amendments apply only to the wilful or malicious destruction of property. It has nothing to do with personal injury, and my amendments are not designed for the purpose of compensating anyone for the wrong because that is a separate concept, or a different concept. This is designed to place a little more parental responsibility.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, may I suggest to the gentleman that the woman in the situation in my home town that I outlined, which is a true case, could have recovered from the damage to her pocketbook but not from the damages to her person.

Similarly, I read in this morning's Philadelphia Inquirer of some juvenile who burned up three people in a building. Under the gentleman's version, would I be correct in stating that there would be no liability for the deaths of those people—the wrongful deaths—but simply for any property destroyed? Is that correct?

Mr. McCORMACK. This is a nice way of interrogating, Mr. Speaker. He is really making me look like a heel.

In answer to the gentleman, that is correct. My amendments would not cover that situation and it is question of whether you want to go that far or not. That is correct.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. The gentleman says that in his bill responsibility is limited to $250.

We had another case in my county—I hate to keep drawing all the cases from my county, but they are the ones I am most familiar with—where a child took a bomb into a movie theatre. Fortunately, the bomb turned out to be a sort of dud, but suppose the bomb had gone off and injured 50 people, what would have been the liability under your bill?

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, of course the liability . . .

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Well, of course, there would not have been any to the persons, it is a bad example. Let us say through some bomb accident in a clothing store where clothes had been earmarked for certain customers, that the suits for 50 people were destroyed.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, if I may answer this question with a little more latitude than usual, I would appreciate it.

This situation that the gentleman is referring to is intentional action on the part of the juvenile and, of course, that is what both bills would cover, but in addition, the interrogator's bill would cover negligent acts, none of which have been mentioned. All of the queries put by the gentleman refer solely to intentional acts on the part of the juvenile.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman said that under his amendments the bill would be put in such shape that it would only apply to intentional acts. I would suggest to the gentleman that if a bomb were put in such a position that it damaged the clothes of more than one person, his bill under the amendments which he proposes, I say his bill because it would then be his bill, would be in such shape that it would probably be construed to give a claim of $250 to everybody who suffered from injury. Hence, when he says that the limit is $250, I would construe his amendments to mean that it would be $250 to each party who was injured. Hence, the limit of liability is a meaningless thing and it is almost skyhigh. Is that not correct?

Mr. McCORMACK. I think that is a correct interpretation of the amendment, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Is it also true that multiple liability might arise from another situation, where a youngster, or several youngsters, might go out one evening and do some damage to one man's property and then go next door and do some more damage, and then go next door and do some more damage. Under your bill the limit of liability would be $250, plus $250, plus $250. Is that correct?

Mr. McCORMACK. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I think that is correct. That is the way I read the bill.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Also, under your amendments, it seems to me there is still another problem. Your bill simply states that the parents are liable to the extent of $250.

In Atlanta, Georgia, I read of a group of wealthy young juveniles who went around and did all kinds of damage to peoples' property, including violent racial crimes, and I do not know what else. Suppose the parents of those children, or of a similar set in Pennsylvania, had been required to pay $250—what about the children? Would they have to pay $250 also?

Mr. McCORMACK. As you know, Mr. Speaker, under the present law, a juvenile or any person, whether he is sane or insane, young or old, is responsible for his torts. When I say torts I mean acts of destruction to property or personal injury to individuals. A juvenile is responsible. Where you are dealing with wealthy people, certainly the person injured or the person whose property is injured or damaged has the right of action against the juvenile. It would be a question of enforcing a judgment against the juvenile, but certainly it is not too remote in time when the juvenile from wealthy parents would have an estate sufficient to satisfy any judgment recovered.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would agree with the gentleman that juveniles are liable for their own torts, but this bill also makes the parents liable. Who is primarily liable, as the law says, and is there any right of contribution? Can the parents sue the child?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, Mr. Speaker, there is no right of contribution because under the law today a child does not have a right of contribution, or vice versa, as against the parent. Since this law does not cover it, there would be no right of contribution against the child.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I do not want to proceed into this particular matter to far, but could the person who suffered injury therefore receive a double recovery perhaps? He could sue the parents and then he could sue the children too?

Mr. McCORMACK. No, Mr. Speaker. Once the property damage has been adjusted, or once the person has been compensated for the destruction to his property it would not lie for him to bring another action against the juvenile.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. But there is nothing, Mr. Speaker, in the bill concerning that phase or aspect of the problem?

Mr. McCORMACK. No. I think the general principles of the common law would prevail in that situation and they would not have two rights. They have two remedies but not two distinct rights. In either/or but not both.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. It may be, Mr. Speaker. I think that is all. I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. Speaker, I oppose the amendments for the reasons that have been brought forth in the interrogation and also for one additional reason which I would like to talk about briefly.

First of all, the interrogation has brought out the fact that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia would, in my judgment, render the bill totally inadequate from a procedural standpoint.

Secondly, and perhaps relatedly, they would confine recovery in the bill to injuries to property alone. It has never seemed to me that this makes any sense. Injuries to the person can be just as grievous a form of suffering as injuries to the property, and while it is true that most juvenile delinquents today are going around damaging property, there is certainly a very high percentage who are injuring the persons of individuals.

Secondly, and, of course along the lines of procedure, there is no provision whatsoever made for multiple torts on people who are injured as the result of one continuous inter-related series of tortious acts. It seems to me, under these circumstances, the limits of liability are absolutely meaningless.

There is nothing said about the right of contribution between parents and children. I am by no means sure that there could not be a double recovery under the provisions of the bill if Mr. McCormack's amendments were accepted.

I might say that the substance of what Mr. McCormack proposes was studied by the Judiciary Special Committee of this House and was rejected generally for the reasons I have stated.

Thirdly, and this, I think, is important and I might just as well say it now as in connection with a debate on the bill, is the fact that Mr. McCormack seeks to recover, or rather restrict parental liability for the torts of their children to malicious and wilful acts.

I do not know how many of you are familiar in general with the subject of these parental responsibility laws but many of them have been written, as people have attempted to write them, from the standpoint of restricting them to malicious and wilful acts. The idea is that the parents in a sense are at fault if their child commits a malicious and wilful act, and hence in a way you are punishing them by imposing liability upon them for the wilful and malicious act.

I think I can say without reservation that most of the social workers and child welfare and other experts are very much opposed to what they call parental punishment laws, and while I do not necessarily hold with all of the tenets and beliefs of the social workers' profession, I am inclined to think that I understand their position if the liability is confined to a wilful and malicious act.

What in effect you are doing then to a parent is, you are saying to him, you have five children: This one child has committed a wilful and malicious act. He is a bad child. There is a different set of liabilities attaching to this particular child from your other children. Hence the gulf that might have sprung up between parent and child before that is accentuated by the fact that we legislatively are imposing a special set of liabilities on that child.

Hence I oppose Mr. McCormack's amendments. Also for that reason I ask the House to vote them down.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am in a position where I have to oppose the amendment of Mr. McCormack and also the bill, unless the bill is further amended in some other way.

I had not realized in reading the Pechan bill previously, which would be put into effect by Mr. McCormack's amendments, that the liability would be restricted to cases where the child did something wilfully or maliciously. It is my conception of this problem that since it is such a big departure from the existing law in imposing liability on parents without fault, that the liability should be imposed even though the child is simply negligent, not wilful or malicious in destroying property or injuring persons.

I also had not realized that the Pechan bill did not include injuries to persons. I think they should be included also. But I cannot agree with the $300 amount that is included in House Bill No. 537 nor the $1,000 limitation. I think if a child indulges in a series of acts injuring several persons the liability should be imposed on the parents to the extent of $250 for each person injured or whose property is destroyed.

Therefore, I must oppose these amendments and I will have to oppose this bill in its present form.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would advise the Members of the House to listen carefully to what the gentleman from Berks has to say. If this act is passed it will be tested in the courts first in Berks County.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question, recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I likewise feel constrained to take a position against this bill. I do not think as yet in the discussions that we have had heretofore on the amendments, we have touched on the more serious aspect of this bill, an aspect that tells me to vote against this bill.

This bill will make the parent of any child an absolute insurer for the benefit of anyone who might be injured or otherwise adversely affected by some act of the child. It gives no weight to the problem of whether or not the parent in any way contributed to the resultant act. It gives no weight to any of the circumstances which might give rise to the act of which he is complaining.

For instance, it is conceivable to me that many acts of truancy, many acts of delinquency, are the result not of parental neglect or not the result of the parents in any way contributing by any overt act to what the child has done but rather the result of perhaps a broken home, rather the result of some social maladjustment on the part of the child, rather the result of some mental ailment on the part of the child. Under these circumstances, what justification is there for visiting upon the parents the onus of having to pick up the tab for something that the child did over which they had absolutely no control whatsoever?

Mr. Jones put his finger on the problem when he said that the people in child's guidance work are in accord, in absolute agreement, in being opposed to measures such as this which seeks to impose upon parents responsibility for an act of their child without inquiring into the circumstances giving rise to that act.

Certainly, I can see that if a parent in any way contributes to the delinquency of his child, if he participates in any way in what the child has done, if he consents to the child's act, then in that circumstance certainly the parent should be held responsible, but in these situations where a parent has absolutely no control whatsoever over what the child does or in those situations where the child acts not as a result of what the parent has neglected or failed to do for that child.

I wonder if I may seek leave to interrogate Mr. Jones, for a moment.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Jones, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Is it the purpose of this bill merely to reimburse innocent victims of a child's act or is it the purpose of this bill to help curb juvenile delinquency?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Both, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Do you have in your possession any document or any information which leads you to the conclusion that this is an effective way of helping to curb juvenile delinquency?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I can only answer that by saying that I read a good bit on this subject. There is quite a lot of controversy on it.

I read where out in Michigan they have a law, incidentally, like that just proposed by Mr. McCormack. I understand they credit it with great things in curbing juvenile delinquency.

Mr. FINEMAN. I want to get down to specific cases with you. You cited to this House the illustration of an event that took place in your county where an elderly lady was hurt by some child who viciously attacked her. Was that the first such situation in which that child was involved?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. As far as I know, it was, Mr. Speaker. I am not sure.

Mr. FINEMAN. Do you know the circumstances of the home from which the child came? Was this a home where the mother and father had been separated?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I honestly cannot recall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FINEMAN. Do you know whether or not the child was a socially maladjusted child or was in any way suffering from a mental ailment?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I am sure he was not suffering from a mental ailment. It is commonly accepted and I read in the paper this morning again about the boy who burned up his people, the psychiatrist said he was emotionally immature. I can believe that perhaps this boy who knocked down the lady had something wrong with him, but I do not think anything special.

Mr. FINEMAN. Do you know whether or not the parents of this child strove to give the child every type of guidance that a parent is capable of giving the child?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. No, I do not.

Mr. FINEMAN. I want to ask you specifically: If in this situation that you outlined for the Members of the House, the mother and father were separated, the mother was forced to work to survive, to buy the bare necessities of life, she strove to do everything within her power as a parent to give that child proper guidance, she was barely making ends meet, barely able to buy the food and clothing for herself and her child; under those circumstances would you have a right of action against that mother?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Under this bill you would, yes.

Mr. FINEMAN. Do you believe that is the right approach?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I do, Mr. Speaker, because there is hardship in the application of any law. It would not matter if the woman herself was committed to court. If she were that destitute it would be very tough on her to have to pay no matter from what her responsibilities derived.

Mr. FINEMAN. Now it is true that as to what you say about the application of any law, you might very well point out a situation here and there, an exception here and there, where strict application might result in a hardship, but this is a situation is it not, where you will be confronted not with an exception here and there but with a great many cases where the application of this law will result in a hardship?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I might suggest to the gentleman that he is an attorney. If you have simply a destitute mother and this is a bill imposing liability, why would anybody get into trouble, assuming she had no money and she had seven children and was out of work and all that sort of thing?

Mr. FINEMAN. I would likewise ask you, what is the necessity of the bill if that is the circumstance?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Because in a nut shell, Mr. Fineman, I feel that between the innocent one who was knocked down and had her hip broken, who was walking along the street and minding her own business, and the parents of a child who goes out into the world with the sort of mind for injury or destruction, I think the loss should fall on the parent.

Mr. FINEMAN. By what justification ought that loss fall on the parents?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Because they brought the child into the world. It is as simple as that in my view.

Mr. FINEMAN. Let me ask you, you are an attorney. Suppose a pedestrian is injured on the street as a result of an accident that cannot be directly attributed to the negligence of a person who was driving a vehicle, in other words, you have two innocent people involved, the injured pedestrian and innocent motorist, but because of some circumstance the motorist lost control of the car, now you know as a lawyer that that defendant cannot have a judgment rendered against him if there is no finding of negligence. Isn't that so?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. True.

Mr. FINEMAN. Under your theory, therefore, since we are dealing with one of two innocent persons, and since he was the means by which the injury occurred, even though he was not at fault, even though he was not negligent, he should under your theory nevertheless be held liable, shouldn't he?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I think he should. I do not think the cases are analogous. In the first place, you say assume an innocent motorist runs over a pedestrian. How does he become innocent? What happens to him?

Mr. FINEMAN. Suppose you are driving on the street and the wheels of your car go into the trolley tracks causing the wheel to be thrown out of your hand. It is thrown out of your hand not by reason of the fact that you did not have proper control of your wheel but because of circumstances that made that situation possible without negligence on your part.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I would say that if I got my wheels in that kind of a trolley track, I would be inclined to think I was negligent. But I might suggest to the gentleman I might be driving along and be struck by lightning as a result of which I run over somebody. That would be possible.

But it seems to me that the whole accident, speaking from the standpoint of causation, is caused by the act of God or the sudden fortuitous circumstances that cannot be foreseen. When you bring a child into the world it seems to me a whole chain of events will ensue that are quite different from the type of situation the gentleman has in mind.

Mr. FINEMAN. Well you would seek to punish parents for what is a natural right, that is, having children?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I am all for their having children, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. Getting down to the bill itself—do you have a copy of the bill in front of you?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Yes, I do, Mr. Fineman.

Mr. FINEMAN. On page 4, of the bill, line 10, the bill reads: "The liability imposed upon parents by this act shall not limit the common law liability of parents for damages caused by a child and shall be separate and apart from any liability which may be imposed upon the child."

Now, will you first of all tell the Members of this House, what is the common law liability of a parent for the acts of his child?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. To the best of my knowledge, the common law liability of a parent for the civil wrongs or the torts of his children, is practically nil.

I suppose that the parent knows that if he has a child who has a propensity for doing wrong, the parent is under a duty to restrain that child or so confine him or discipline him that he will not foreseeably go out and injure others. I would say that is about the extent of it, to the best of my knowledge.

Mr. FINEMAN. Let us assume a situation where there is common law liability. How is that common law liability translated into final action? There is a judgment rendered against the parent, is there not?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Yes, that is right.

Mr. FINEMAN. Do you mean to state by this bill that there can be a judgment rendered against the parents under the common-law aspects of the law, and then that the injured person can likewise sue for $300 under this bill?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I do not. The last sentence of the bill, at the top of page 5, states: "That in no case shall there be double recovery for one injury."

Mr. FINEMAN. What is the effect then? What do you mean then by Sections 4 and 5, beginning with line 10? What does that mean?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. I do not want to disturb the common law. This is an addition to the common law. That was my basic thought. Under the common law, if a child who is, let's say, a known firebug, a little arsonist, goes and burns down somebody's $10,000 house, I do not necessarily think that his parents should have their liability limited to $300. That is what I mean, one of the things anyway.

Mr. FINEMAN. I see. On line 13, of page 4, you talk about no liability being imposed upon a parent by this act if at the time of commission of the tortious act neither parent has custody of the child nor is entitled to custody. Do you mean by this language to state that both parents shall not have custody? What if one of the parents has custody?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Then I would impose liability upon that parent.

Mr. FINEMAN. In other words, if a mother and father are separated and the child is in the custody of the mother, the mother would have liability?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. No, then both parents would be liable.

What I mean here is, I think that these things must be governed by a certain sense, it seems to me, of natural justice, you might say. I think that if, let us say, a child is sent to White Hill or some other institution, so that neither parent has the right of custody at that time, then it does not seem to me that if this juvenile breaks out of White Hill and does damage on his way out that the parent should be liable because he had been turned over to the custody of an institution.

As far as the father and mother are concerned, if the husband had deserted his wife and has left her with a juvenile, or rather a child who becomes a delinquent, I think it is contrary to public policy to excuse the father from paying his share of liability on a tortious act. This clause is confined to a situation where neither parent has custody. Does the gentleman follow me?

Mr. FINEMAN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to vehemently voice my protest against this type of legislation. The gentleman spoke about justice. By no stretch of imagination can anyone extract justice from this kind of bill.

I agree, and I am reiterating what I said previously, if a parent contributes to delinquency of his child by some overt act, certainly he should be made responsible, but for the life of me I cannot see why a parent who is in no way responsible should be visited with the onus of paying for the damage that his child inflicted upon somebody else where that parent has no responsibility whatsoever.

As a matter of fact this bill is not only confusing and misleading, but it is going to give rise to a lot of inane and useless litigation because in almost all situations where you have these acts of truancy or delinquency, you will find that it occurs in low income family groups. If these judgments are rendered against these parents they are meaningless, they are just so much paper. They cannot be enforced. Instead of helping the juvenile delinquency situation it is only going to hinder it. It is going to add a bonfire to the situation. It is going to add stress and strain to the already tenuous relationship of a parent or child where there is juvenile delinquency.

I ask the Members of this House to exercise their good basic common sense and vote down this legislation.

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in support of the bill.

Much has been said about the procedural and technical features of the bill. Much has been said about a specific minority of situations, but I would like to call attention to the great number of situations that are what we might term to be the average and also to focus the attention of the House on the parental responsibility by virtue of the fact that we are parents.

This bill was designed through its technical features to sensitize the parents to the fact that just being parents carries with it a responsibility to the society in which we live, and certainly the specifics of the bill do not punish the parent in any way. Injurious and destructive acts are being committed, whether they be malicious or whether they be negligent, in mounting situations and in mounting costs as far as destruction and cost of repair are concerned.

This is happening not in what we might call the underprivileged section of our Commonwealth only, frequently not in the specifics that have been stated in minority cases by the former speakers, but it is happening in the middle and higher income brackets. It is happening because of the tortious acts of children from what we call the average situations. It is happening in the middle and upper income brackets, where the families of these children are well able to pay for the destruction that is being committed and to assume their financial obligations.

Under the present permissive legislation which we have, with its present permissive encouragement, who must pay for this injury to person or property that is being committed whether maliciously or negligently? The answer is certainly specific. The victims of these acts are paying for them, be they private or be they public.

Now those of us who are parents know that children must be constantly guided and disciplined to achieve the self control and the mutual respect demanded and due our orderly society in which we live. I think there are few of us here who would argue the fact that enough parents are assuming this responsibility, that they are assuming the important role of being parents in the manner we were meant to be parents.

Certainly the parents of the eight or nine year olds who spend an entire Sunday afternoon vandalizing a public building, while the parents do not know where they are, are not assuming their parental responsibility; certainly, not the parents who know that their son is making a home-made bomb and do not venture to inquire what he is going to use it for, and only to discover too late that this child planned to use it in an explosion in a local motion picture theater. Certainly the parent is not assuming his responsibility who does not develop in his child the consciousness of respect for other people's property when that child trails to school every day stepping on the bushes and trampling down plants of the neighbors. Certainly a parent is not assuming his responsibility when he is not making his child conscious of the fact that one does not play baseball where it is possible for a ball to go through a window and when it does so just to say it is too bad, without respect for other people's property and without assuming the responsibility of having to pay for it.

Chancing the verdict of mere speculation, it certainly can be ventured with more than average certainty that much of our public responsibility is having to be assumed because parents have ceased to function as parents.

I submit to you as a concrete example the tremendous rise in the cost of education to a large degree because parents are now demanding of the schools what home effort used to supply. Shall we continue to incubate such regression in family responsibility by permitting laissez-faire attitude in regard to having a child grow up unaware of the respect for the persons and property of his fellow-men?

As in one of the letters received in support of this legislation, the parent said: "Parents are no longer responding to the normal responsibilities of parenthood. Advice and counseling and pleading are not reaching them. Somehow they must be made to realize that this is part of their responsibility as parents. If they are made to feel responsibility through their pocketbooks, more parents will be measuring up to the fact that they must function as parents."

Naturally this is not the answer to solve the entire problem but certainly it will go a long way toward alleviating much of the destruction that is being borne by innocent victims.

This legislation is necessary and it is necessary now.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this bill.

To listen to the debate that we have had this morning you would think that our youth is a gang of vicious monsters. That is actually not the case. We do have a lot of very, very good children in our Commonwealth and we have an excellent group of parents in our Commonwealth.

I think this bill as debated so far misses the important thing that we are attempting to do. We are attempting to place the parents in a position of awareness as to what their children should do, and to that extent would agree that a bill which would punish parents who neglect their children certainly would be in order, but I cannot agree that we should change our basic principle, our basic theory of law wherein good parents, those who seek to do their duty to raise their children in the proper manner, should be penalized simply because their child in its wisdom, or lack of wisdom, has created some damage.

If we analyze this thing, we will find that most cases of vandalism come about by groups of children, not by an individual child. We have had some cases this morning referred to where an individual child went out and struck somebody. Well that, in my opinion, is a criminal action which should be handled by the Commonwealth through its criminal laws. If that child is of vicious nature, he should be penalized some other way and not through the parents. If those parents were proper in every way, had done everything they could to raise the child properly, then I think the state should step in and take care the child and not necessarily disturb the parents.

As I have pointed out most of the cases of vandalism are created by groups of boys, not individuals, but by groups. It is my understanding of the law of torts that where you have the joint torts feasons, or a group of people all engaged in the same wrong, that they become jointly and severally liable, which means that one parent could be liable for all the damages caused by all the children. If you have one parent who is responsible financially, you would find that parent constantly paying the bills of the gang of boys the remainder of whom came from homes where there was no financial responsibility. That would not help any because if those parents who did not have anything did not pay, they would still continue to be neglectful parents, but you would be penalizing the parents who had some financial responsibility. I do not believe we should now place an additional burden on parenthood. It is plenty hard enough now to raise a family and to pay the normal expenses of that family.

I believe that neglectful parents should be penalized and, therefore, I believe that any bill of this kind should first provide that a finding be made by the court that the parent has been in neglect. I believe that once the court has found that a parent has neglected the child, or that a parent has not performed his duty as a parent, then the court should make a finding that this parent has been wilfully neglectful of his parental duties and he then, should be subject to a penalty. But I do not think that other parents who are not guilty of neglect should be placed in this position.

I want to cite to you a few examples that I can think of in my own home. I happen to be the father of five children, none of whom have been vicious monsters, none of whom have caused me any trouble up to this moment. But I have a young lad fourteen years old who likes to play golf. He is a little bit different from his father. He goes out every Sunday morning and before he leaves the house he attends his church, does his duty.

We know he is a good boy. We have no problems, and if that boy were to go out on the golf course and on the way over there commit some act which could be construed as negligent, I, the parent, would be responsible for it. This boy also happens to play baseball. I certainly cannot stop him from going out to play baseball with his friends, but while he is on that field if he commits some negligent act and injures somebody or breaks some window or windshield of somebody's car, I, as a parent, would have to pay for it. I am just wondering how close a watch we would have to have on our children.

There are many cases, many hundreds of cases, where these children are engaged in legitimate activity which the parent would approve of and of which each of you in this House would also approve, but in the performance of that activity would commit bad judgment and result in damage, I think that would be an unfair penalty to place upon a parent who has done all of his parental duties and who has tried his best to raise the children in the proper manner.

I think, personally, that we are approaching the problem in the wrong way. Those parents who are most neglectful of their children as a rule have no property, have no substance and would care nothing about a judgment. Those who have property in many instances would have to bear the burden of the entire gang.

So I believe this is bad legislation. It is the departure from our fundamental law and I believe it is bad to place any additional burdens upon parenthood unless those burdens are warranted by wilful neglect on the part of the parents.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I will be very brief, Mr. Speaker.

As a lawyer I ought to be in favor of this bill because I think it will create more litigation than any type of legislation which was passed during the past session.

I want to, first of all, state that I am in favor of any bill which holds the parents responsible for wilful and malicious acts, but to hold him or her responsible for negligent acts is going too far. However, my principal complaint against the bill is that I believe it is unconstitutional and particularly regarding the first paragraph in Section 3 which reads as follows:

In any proceeding of a criminal nature against a child under the age of eighteen years and in any proceeding against a child in a juvenile court the court shall ascertain the amount sufficient to fully reimburse any person who has suffered injury to the person or theft destruction or loss of property because of the act of the child and direct the parent to make payment in the amount not to exceed the limitations.

It then says:

If the parents fail to comply with the direction of the court suit, the amount may be recovered in an action of assumpsit against the parents or either of them.

Now, if you sue in assumpsit upon this thing, you will be suing upon a judgement of a juvenile court where the parent has no right of trial by jury.

For these reasons I oppose this bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak in favor of the bill.

The query presented by House Bill No. 537 is whether we should civilly punish parents of delinquent children under 18 years of age.

As amended a week ago this past Thursday by amendments introduced by myself, the bill does not impose liability on a parent if the child is in an institution or is emancipated or if neither parent has custody of the child.

I do not agree with the argument that poor parents may suffer. Will they? If he has nothing he cannot suffer as a judgment for $300 or a $1,000 is worthless and cannot be collected.

I do not agree also with the argument as to who is more to blame. That is not the solution.

Bear in mind that the bill does not prevent liability imposed upon the child, himself. Parents able to pay should not thumb their noses and say, try and sue me.

I feel that this bill imposes not so much a legal responsibility as it does a greater moral responsibility, together with the necessary legal implications.

Under this bill a parent can be subpoenaed into court, made to realize he does have a responsibility, together with his angel child, whom he now realizes requires supervision by him or her as a parent.

In my opinion, whether this bill passes or fails is not what upsets me, it is where do we go from here? You agree that something should be done. Most of us are parents and we dislike any imposition of criminal or civil responsibility. Most parents work hard and conscientiously at bringing up their children. Some parents will have their child not properly supervised. There are times when surgery is needed even though it is tough on us.

Approximately ten such bills have been introduced in the General Assembly. There must be a reason for this action. It does not smack of foolishness or lack of common sense.

Is it excusable for a parent to say, I cannot do a thing with my child. Is it excusable for a parent to say, My child is an angel, I cannot believe it. Is it excusable for a parent to say, I am sorry. Is it excusable for you to say, let's not get tough, let the parent go. Let my child beat up my neighbor's child. Let's permit my children or yours to cause damages, to inflict malicious mischief, or to commit burglary or robbery. Is it permissible for you to say, he is my child; let him rob or steal; let him kill, or further to say, I have no responsibility to you, to the innocent, to the community or to myself?

Some of us should be ashamed that by our callous indifference to human needs we have neglected our appropriations to our children. We are causing someone to assume greater responsibility for their welfare. We as parents are now legally and morally obligated to assume our rightful place for our more complete child's welfare. Let us show the people that we as parents can do so.

I feel that if by my slight argument, by our introduction of a bill of this kind, our notice to you that Pennsylvanians should give greater attention to our beloved children, to our neighbors' child, to their needs, to our responsibilities, this bill has served its purpose.

I feel that with the clamor for attention, this bill should do some good and lessen evil.

For these reasons I say, vote "aye."

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, just a few brief last words to answer some of the questions that have been raised that I have jotted down.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, raised an objection about constitutionality. I can see where that clause bothered him and yet if construed as I would like it to be construed it should not cause any trouble.

Most of these youngsters who commit some sort of malicious destruction of property will wind up very likely in juvenile court or its equivalent in a large town. I recognize as does he that the juvenile court has no jurisdiction to determine damages in any case. For as against a child they cannot determine damages. The law books say the juvenile court is simply a court of rehabilitation.

However, the amount of money involved here is only $300, and Mr. Readinger objects to that high figure. So that it seems a waste of money and time to make these parents go into common pleas court or some other place and bring suit if the child is already in the juvenile court. So the procedure created by the bill is to have the juvenile court judge, if the damages are readily ascertainable, direct the parents to pay a certain amount. If they pay that amount they are discharged under the bill. But the direction was not such a direction as is binding upon the parents and they cannot be held in contempt if they fail to pay. Hence, if they fail to pay, then a suit in assumpsit can be brought. That is the theory of that provision. I see nothing unconstitutional if it is construed in that fashion.

The gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, has stated that this is an additional burden on parenthood, to impose civil liability for the torts of children up to $300. He and I, I think, have no meeting ground on that. We just simply disagree. I know that if my child were to bat a baseball through his window, I would probably go over and offer to make payment for that but he feels to require that as a matter of law is unconscionable. I do not. It seems to me plainly a moral obligation and that it is something a parent should do anyway.

That is the worst that can be said for this bill, in my judgment. You are making some people do something they should do anyway.

Beyond that, this bill is designed also, as I stated at the very beginning of my reply to interrogation by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, to sensitize parents in a world where juvenile delinquency is going to be an increasing problem. I think we all know that our crime rate constantly goes upwards, and we all know, if we have read our papers this year, that in Philadelphia, and I believe I am correct in this, and in the nation as a whole about one half of the crimes were committed by juveniles. Hence it seems to be entirely in order to make parents pay a little more attention to the rearing of their children and this bill will do it without discrimination on the basis of wilfulness which is very hard to prove and in that way we will perhaps help to eradicate juvenile delinquency.

One last thing which I have neglected to say, a point that has been raised, and I think it is of general interest to us, one other criticism that has been leveled at this bill is that it is a great departure from our law, from the common law. I admit that it is a departure from the law, but I would like to point out to those of you who are attorneys particularly, that it is a departure from the law particularly of this State and not from any other jurisdictions.

If a father today gives his 16-year-old son the family car, and let us say, has no insurance because insurance is in a sense beyond the problem, but if he gives his 16-year-old son the family car and the son goes out and runs over you, you cannot sue the father unless, of course, the son was on the father's business, but if the son runs over you when he is out on his date for that evening, you cannot sue the father. I think many people think that you can. It is true that insurance usually covers that risk but there were plenty of cases in Pennsylvania where the person who was injured or had his car destroyed and who sued the father or the parents for damages, simply cannot get them because the parents are not responsible for the torts of their children.

Many states have a family car doctrine, statutes of law which make the father responsible, and some have so-called bail order statutes where if you lend your car to somebody you are responsible.

Lastly, the common law as you know evolved from precedent, and hence it was very slow in evolving. One of the last rights of action so-called, which the common law recognized was that in which an employer or a master was liable for the torts of his employee or servant. Our justices of the peace in Pennsylvania today still do not have jurisdiction in a case of that kind. All of the elements perhaps were implicit in the common law to make parents liable for the torts of their children but they just never got to it.

I suggest if you vote for this bill, you will be voting at least in the tradition of the common law and also you will be doing something to sensitize parents on the subject of taking care of their children.

Mr. FINEMAN. Mr. Speaker, as one closing remark, I respectfully disagree with Mr. Jones' dissertation on the law of a parent's responsibility in event of an accident, that if he should give the automobile to his son who is 16 years of age he is not responsible.

We have in this state what we call the family purpose doctrine. If an automobile owned by the head of the household is at all times made available to any member of that household for his or her use, be that person a daughter or a son of the head of the household, the head of the household can be held responsible for the child's negligence while driving the car.

The other point that I want to make is this: I assume that magistrates will have jurisdiction in cases such as these. In Philadelphia, if a claim is less than $100, you will be able to go in front of a magistrate. In other jurisdictions where the amount in controversy may be more or where the jurisdiction of the magistrate is greater, they will be able to go in there. Can you just visualize the number of suits that will be daily processed in these lower courts where men who are not learned in the law are going to be asked to make decisions about reimbursing people who have been injured by the acts of a child? There will be a multiplicity of suits, suit after suit. Can't you see situations where two kids on a street, children at play innocently get involved in an argument, ten-year-old children may have a fight and in the heat of the moment the parent of one of the children starts a suit in front of a magistrate for the acts of the other child. This is going to be a sad situation and it is not good legislation.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been very thoroughly and conscientiously debated and I think the debate has been very interesting, but I still feel very strongly that we are going much too far in fixing the figure at $300 and $1,000 for a series of tortious acts committed continuously by the same child and injuring a number of people.

Believing that others here might believe as I do, that since this is a big departure from our present law and there should be a strict limit of $250 on the liability of a parent regardless of the number of people hurt or the number of items of property damaged, I am now going to make a motion that we place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar for the purpose of giving myself and any others who want it the opportunity to prepare an amendment to place that into the bill.

MOTION TO POSTPONE

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the thought of the gentleman from Berks, and in some ways I have answers for the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Fineman, but I have watched this thing on the calendar for so long now I would like to get it out of the way, one way or another, and I would like to oppose the gentleman's motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

On a rising vote, fifty-seven Members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred ten in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to support House Bill 537 in agreement with the expressions made on the Floor of this House by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sherman.

We have found in our experience in Westmoreland County and in the operation of the Juvenile Courts that such a measure is necessary in order to curb juvenile delinquency. The experience of that office has let us know that what we are doing at the present time is right, and that the present Acts do not sufficiently cover these tortious acts and such a measure as this is necessary.

Experience has also shown that the State of Michigan, which has adopted a similar act, has curbed its juvenile delinquency by a great percentage.

Speaking in behalf of this bill, I am asking the Members of both sides to vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes and wishes to introduce a former Member of this House, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edwin F. Thompson.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, having enrolled in the phalanx of the angels by voting for a non-enforceable assault upon obscenity, I desire to complete the process of sanctification by aligning myself with a former spokesman on this Floor.

I wish to repeat for the edification of the House and perhaps its instruction, some of the statements embalmed in the liquid amber of the remarks made by the predecessor of the gentleman from McKean, when he was occupying that particular pulpit.

The former Minority Leader said, along about January 31st, 1955,

"Why are you in such a rush and let me honestly ask you, what you are up to? Because we don't know. What are you up to? Who are you trying to fool? What are you trying to conceal?"

Again let me ask you, what are you up to? Is this a slick hoax to fool the people of Pennsylvania? * * * Tell the people of Pennsylvania what you are up to. Don't come in here and throw these things at us.

We should know how much money the administration is going to need in the next biennium to carry out its program. We should know how much these taxes, and our permanent taxes, and all other sources of revenue are going to provide, and how much additional revenue will be needed over and above that figure.

We should be given facts and figures on what will be needed in additional revenue * * *

So, stop trying to fool the people of Pennsylvania. The reasons so far given for this haste do not make sense. You know it, and I know it. There should be several reasons given for what you are doing. They have not produced a single reason.

And so, concludes a part of a very good statement made on January 31st, in the Hall of House, by the former Majority Leader.

I have one further remark to make. I am getting sick and tired of the phrase "learned in the law." If there are so many people "learned in the law," why in thunder is there so much disagreement among the lawyers?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I take it that that speech was made on January 30th, 1955, that was when the session was just 'adawning. I think what the answer of the Majority Leader should have been, What are we up to? We are about to give you a classified income tax, and if that fails we are going to put on a manufacturers' excise tax, and what is more, we are going to have a 17-month session.

I think Charlie Smith had a kind of intuition as to about what would happen, and he just wanted to get you on the records.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 292 contains the revisions to the Building and Loan Code.

These revisions were very carefully worked out by a committee of the Pennsylvania Savings and Loan League. I understand they were cleared with the Banking Department and subsequently after their introduction in the Senate they were considered by the Senate Committee and also by the House Committee, and in both instances certain amendments were made to the bill.

The amendment which I offer today would reinstate in Senate Bill 292, Section 513 which was removed by amendment here in the House. For the information of the Members of the House who wish to follow the comments made in the debate, in their Senate binder, under Printer's No. 184, they will find this Senate bill and that version of the bill does contain Section 513.

I rise for the purpose of asking the House to restore this section to this bill.

Briefly stated the problem is this. It is a question solely as to whether or not a list of the shareholders of a Building and Loan Association or Savings and Loan Association should be kept confidential, or whether the complete list of the shareholders should be available to any depositor or shareholder in the association.

The danger in allowing these lists to be more or less public property and available to every member of the association is in the fact that there have been instances in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania where people have joined these associations and obtained a list of the shareholders and gone around and circularized them. In many instances they have done positive damage to the association itself. The sole question is whether or not this list of shareholders should be confidential.

I rise to support the restoration of Section 513 to this bill which would make this list of shareholders confidential. In support of my amendments I would like to point out that the Savings and Loan Association or Building and Loan Association is not an ordinary business corporation. In a business corporation the shareholders have a right to get a list of all the shareholders and I think that is perfectly proper, but in a savings institution, such as a bank or a savings fund, that list of depositors is confidential. I feel, Mr. Speaker, that the building and loan associations and the savings and loan associations are more nearly like savings funds or banks, and should be treated in that fashion.

These amendments and Section 513 would make this list of shareholders confidential and it then set up a procedure whereby any shareholder in the association who desires to communicate with all of the other shareholders, can submit his communication in writing and if it is approved by the Department of Banking, the savings and loan and the building and loan associations must mail this notice out to all of the shareholders of the association. So in adopting this Section 513, we are still preserving the right of any shareholder to communicate with all of the other shareholders in the association.

Accordingly, I ask for the adoption of these amendments.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was on the floor of the House. I proposed the amendments which were adopted by this House deleting Section 513 from the bill.

We have here a very fundamental issue, and I would like to speak on general fundamentals before getting into details.

Let us start out with what the law is today. Today, shareholder of any corporation, whether it be a business corporation, a banking corporation, a building and loan association, or any other type of corporation, has the right at proper times for proper purposes, to obtain the list of shareholders of that corporation. If the corporation fails to supply that list to the stockholder who seeks it, he has a remedy in court which we call "mandamus."

What Section 513, which has been deleted from the bill and which my good friend and colleague from Philadelphia is attempting to restore to the bill proposes to do, is to seriously modify, and in my opinion, practically abrogate this right of a minority shareholder, or any shareholder for that matter. Let us not overlook the fact that the shareholder of a building and loan association is a member of that association in a dual capacity. I grant and I admit that he probably thinks of his association with that corporation more in the capacity of a depositor than he does in the capacity of a shareholder. The fact remains that by becoming a depositor he also becomes a co-owner, a co-stockholder in that corporation. Therefore, if you want to perpetuate management without an effective right, and I repeat, an effective right, in shareholders, if you want to perpetuate management in a building and loan association, just support these amendments. The so-called "protection" afforded to these stockholders is protection in name only, without any protection in fact.

Section 513 gives you the right, if you do not like something management is doing, or if you want to oppose a merger or the transition of a building and loan to a Federal savings and loan, it gives you the right, mind you, to ask the corporation how many stockholders there are. If they say 25, you are privileged to prepare 25 letters, send them to the Department of Banking, have the omnipotent Department of Banking tell you whether it is a good or bad letter, and then it can go out to the shareholders. It in no way restricts, on the other hand, what management can send out the same day, or what management can send out on subsequent days in refutation of what you have sent through the Department of Banking and has eventually reached the shareholders.

Let me say to you that this so-called "protection" to the minority shareholder is protection in name only. If you ever get in a good down-to-earth proxy fight, no amount of letters that have to be approved by the Department of Banking is going to give the minority stockholders an effective weapon against management. The only effective weapon in any proxy fight is the ability and right to go to other minority stockholders, talk to them in person, convince them of your position, and get them to sign a proxy. Then you have something to talk about when you get to a fight at the stockholder's meeting. This so-called "protection" or "right to solicit" the other stockholders through this rather devious means, as far as I am concerned, is practically worthless.

I asked the sponsors of this bill to accept an amendment whereby the names of the stockholders and their addressess could be obtained without obtaining the amount of their holdings. They did not want to accept that type of amendment, and therefore, I could do nothing in my opinion, except have this section stricken out.

I therefore ask you not to vote for these amendments, and to vote for the way the bill is at the present time.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would have been very proud had I been able to make the presentation that the gentleman from Dauphin has just made.

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, just a few brief remarks to try to bring this problem down to its nub. Section 513 is designed to prevent a situation arising which will endanger these building and loan and savings and loan associations. That situation is this. If some promoter or some man who does not have the best interest of the association at heart, but rather seeks to gain control for his own personal benefit or his own personal means, if he gains access to this list of the shareholders, he is able to cause quite a furor in this association. That danger is present. It is the danger not only to the members of the association but also to all the depositors of the association.

We recognize the fact that we are taking away from the members of the association the ordinary right that they would have as a shareholder in a business corporation to get a list of all the members. But in this situation we are trying to balance the danger on the one side and the right on the other, and the best thinking of the people who are interested in this legislation has been that this is the most workable and satisfactory solution. It does not take away those rights of the shareholders. On the other hand it protects all those shareholders against these operators who seek to move in and for their own purposes gain control of these associations.

Because of that I ask that the Members of the House support these amendments to restore Section 513 to the bill.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, in investigating this matter requested information as to how many instances there were in which the so-called operators did move into a building and loan association to perpetuate this fraud. You might say, upon these corporations.

In answer I got one example, one case in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. I do not think the rights of stockholders generally throughout Pennsylvania in building and loan associations should be taken away because of one instance in Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1696 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1696, Printer's No. 658 on page 17 of today's calendar, appropriations bills on third reading be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Bill 1696.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1696, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by striking out "twenty-four million dollars ($24,000,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof twenty-eight million six hundred thousand dollars ($28,600,000)

Amend Sec. 1, page 8, by inserting between lines 19 and 20 Philadelphia General Hospital 4,600,000

Amend Sec. 1, page 12, line 3, by striking out "$24,000,000" and inserting in lieu thereof $28,600,000

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. EILBERG. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1696 appropriates a certain sum of money to be paid to the Department of Welfare. The Department of Welfare in turn is obliged to spend this money by giving it to 190 non-sectarian hospitals throughout the state that give aid to indigent people, people who are not able to take care of themselves.

It is amazing to me that the bill as written excludes the Philadelphia General Hospital. The Philadelphia General Hospital is the only non-sectarian hospital not aided by the state under the terms of this bill, and yet the Philadelphia General Hospital treats more indigent persons than any other non-sectarian hospital in the whole state of Pennsylvania and more than all of the other hospitals in the city of Philadelphia that do treat indigents.

We have 30 hospitals in Philadelphia treating indigents. Twenty-nine of them received state aid and under this bill as drafted the Philadelphia General Hospital would be excluded. It just does not seem fair.

Some other statistics are in order. Under the situation as it exists now these hospitals are receiving $8 a day per patient. Actually, the cost per patient runs throughout the state about $15 a day. Under the terms of House Bill 1696 the rate goes from $8 to $9 a day. In other words, all the other hospitals are going to get some increase, but the Philadelphia General Hospital is not going to receive the benefit of any of this expenditure of money. Therefore, we ask that this bill be amended so that the Philadelphia General Hospital be given $4,600,000.

I might say further that in keeping with the mental health program that the Philadelphia General Hospital has created 400 new beds for the mentally ill. The city has invested about a quarter of a million dollars in this program, but this entire program will have to be abandoned if the Philadelphia General Hospital cannot get any state funds. I might say that the Philadelphia General Hospital costs the city taxpayers about $17 million a year. It does not seem fair that the city taxpayers should have to bear this burden. I might say also, that if the hospital were not supporting these patients that the taxpayers would have to. The taxpayers of Pennsylvania would have to bear the load because these patients would be going to other state-aided hospitals.

Now the Philadelphia General Hospital provides for 24,000 in-patients per year and over 19,000 out-patients per year. The Philadelphia General Hospital has various special units. It has an alcoholic unit where people who are suffering from that disease are treated. It has a cardiac-work classification unit where industry sends people to determine the degree of work they can do where those persons are suffering from heart disease. It has a reception center which operates in connection with the Department of Welfare. Very important also is the fact that the Philadelphia General Hospital is a very great training center.

There are over 200 students, medical students, from the five medical schools in Philadelphia employed there. Also, 108 interns and 90 resident physicians that are in training at the Philadelphia General Hospital. Also, there are about 250 nurses training at this very same hospital.

I might say further that the Philadelphia General Hospital has two divisions; one the Blockley Division at 34th Street or near Convention Hall in Philadelphia, which has over 2,000 beds, and the Northern division at Front and Luzerne with over 500 beds, treating mainly communicable diseases and principally tuberculosis.

Philadelphia is the most critical area in the state as far as tuberculosis is concerned. Now certainly the Philadelphia General Hospital, the greatest hospital in the state as far as treatment of indigents is concerned, should receive the benefit of some state money and I respectfully ask that you vote for these amendments.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the bill that is before us is the bill which every session gives state aid to the local hospitals in Pennsylvania.

The Governor's budget calls for $24 million. The bill on the calendar and before us for a vote allocates the $24 million right to the penny to the various hospitals. So there is not an increase nor is there a decrease in the appropriation. It compares to the appropriation of $22,213,400 during this last biennium, and it bases the care on $9 a day rather than $8 a day.

We must say that in the allocations the joint committee tried to be as fair as possible in allocating the money between the several hospitals based upon the report given.

Now let us take up the question of the amendments which have been offered. The gentleman from Philadelphia seeks to include the Philadelphia General Hospital in the bill to the tune of $4.6 million. I might say that there are other municipally owned hospitals in Pennsylvania. At no time has the Commonwealth contributed to any municipally owned hospitals and, of course, the Philadelphia General is a municipally owned hospital supported by the taxpayers and patients and so forth in Philadelphia, and we do not have a precedent for including them in the bill.

It is felt that now is no time to do it in this bill. If they want to put in a separate bill to debate the issue as to whether a municipality owned hospital should receive state aid, that is another question.

I might say this, few people realize it, but if you will analyze this bill you will find that of the $24 million there is being given now approximately $6 million to other state-aided hospitals in Philadelphia. So Philadelphia is getting one-fourth of this money even the way it is written now. The plan then would be to add $4.6 million to it and give the city of Philadelphia $10.6 million approximately. We feel that the bill is pretty fair to the city of Philadelphia, doling out as it does $6 million. We Therefore, ask that the membership vote down this amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I find it is impossible to understand why the Governor's allocations in the case of hospitals and other institutions of a similar nature should be considered so omniscient, so all wise, that they should be safe from any possible revision upon the part of this House, while the recommendations of His Excellency, the Governor, with relation to other departments of our State government are considered by the majority so fallible. If the Governor is so all wise in his recommendations concerning hospitals on what ground do we contend that he is so in error concerning his recommendations concerning the Welfare Department?

It seems that when it suits its convenience, the majority nestles under the wing of His Excellency, the Governor. Perhaps there is no political capital to be made out of putting the Governor's estimates regarding hospitals.

The Majority Leader says there is no precedent. Well, now is a very fine time for creating one. The Commonwealth has set traditional obligations regarding the treatment of the indigent, and the gentleman from Philadelphia is quite right that were the cities derelict in these matters, had they not come to the rescue of the faltering state, all of these indigent ones would now be awaiting action by this House, because the State would be required and compelled in common humanity to make appropriations for their needs.

We have been requiring certain cities to bear loads on some communities that are borne by the State in other communities, and I refer again to the fact that when it suits the conveniences of the majority they consider the Governor a very, very wise man, and when it does not, he is very, very fallible.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate very briefly the majority leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, could the Majority Leader inform us what other municipalities in Pennsylvania have hospitals similar to the Philadelphia General Hospital?

Mr. JOHNSON. I am sorry, Mr. Toll, I realized when I made that statement that I did not have that list in front of me. I must say that the statement that I made is one that has been related to me and I do not have the list, I am sorry to say. But my statement is right that there are no municipally owned hospitals receiving state aid.

Mr. TOLL. Would the gentleman agree that Philadelphia General Hospital was the only municipally owned hospital in all of Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. I did not understand your question, Mr. Toll.

Mr. TOLL. Would the gentleman agree with the statement that the Philadelphia General Hospital is the only municipal owned hospital in all of Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not believe so. It is not in accord with the information that has been imparted to me.

Mr. TOLL. Would the gentleman explain why he added dollar per day instead of dividing the amount and including the Philadelphia General Hospital?

Mr. JOHNSON. You say, why did we add one dollar a day to the rest of the hospitals and not include the Philadelphia General Hospital?

Mr. TOLL. That is right.

Mr. JOHNSON. We are following what we have done in prior years. We have given money to the hospitals which we call the State-aided hospitals, which do not happen to be municipally owned. We have followed the pattern down through the years of giving them a raise. One year it was seven, we raised it to eight. Now we have raised it to nine. That was a determination made, I believe, between the hospital association and the Governor's office before the bill was put in, before the budget was drafted, and because it is really a modest raise that is given. We have just accepted the figure of $24 million as being an agreed upon figure.

Now with respect to what you say about mental health the figures show that $272 million was spent during the last biennium, and the budget for the Welfare Department is $194 million. I mean that is up $22 million. This particular item is up about ten percent.

Mr. TOLL. Thank you.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Majority Leader whether the city of Pittsburgh has a municipally owned hospital?

Mr. JOHNSON. I do not believe they do. I think the hospital that they did have was turned over to the State. I understand the City of Harrisburg has a city owned hospital. The communicable disease hospital.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Is it not true that the former municipally owned hospital in Pittsburgh is today solely supported by the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe it is owned by the state of Pennsylvania, the TB hospital.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. And therefore, solely supported by the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe that is correct.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Can the gentleman tell us whether the City of Scranton has a municipally owned hospital?

Mr. JOHNSON. I would have to refer that question to Mr. Reidenbach, and some of those men in that area.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I believe Mr. Speaker, the answer is No. They do not.

I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. I rise to oppose the passage at this time of House Bill 1696. I might say here we go again, because most of you will remember that during the 1955 session we got to a point where we, then in the majority, decided we would like to pass over to the Senate the non-preferred appropriation bills such as this.

We were met with a stone wall of resistance and were told by the then Minority Leader, Mr. Smith, that we would get "not one vote" for the passage of the bills of this type at that time. We got not one vote. The bills were voted on and they went down because we did not have 140 votes.

I had asked and I am asking the minority Members of this House today to withhold their votes from the passage of this bill today. The reason we are asking the minority Members to do that, knowing full well that eventually we will pass these bills in some form, is because we want time to see what the State Senate does with the general appropriation bill which they got on Monday of this week.

We do not know what they will do with that bill. We hope they will do certain things but at this time we cannot tell. It could become conceivably necessary for us to offer amendments to reduce some of these non-preferred appropriation bills in order to make more money available for the general fund purposes under the general appropriations bill. I do not say that will happen. I do not think it will. But at least we are here to preserve our position in relation to these appropriations so that we still have control of them and are in a position to be able to offer amendments of that kind if necessary.

I think probably by next week the Senate will have taken whatever action it is going to take on the general appropriation bill.

I say to the Members on this side of the House that we have a lot more reason at this time for withholding our votes than the majority Members today had two years ago for withholding their votes. It is not in any spirit of relation or anything else that we are saying to you that you will get no votes from us today. It is based on a very sensible reason that we are not in a position at this moment to say "yes" or "no" on these bills.

Therefore, by saying "no," we hold the bills in the House and we know that you will not let them fail eventually and you know that we won't, but we are not going to give you any votes today.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the House should have an explanation and a little history of what has taken place this week with respect to these bills which we shall call the non-preferred appropriations which require 140 votes.

Monday morning when we were getting ready to do business, I felt that we had an understanding with the minority and I believed that the minority was ready to go along on a proposition of this nature and that we would either on Monday or Tuesday roll the appropriations requiring 140 votes that had not been cut and were in accordance with the Governor's budget, and that following the passage of those bills, we would then receive amendments to the bills that have been cut some by the Appropriations Committee, which bills are very few, however, and that we would then roll those bills.

I do not believe I would be giving away any confidences to say that the Minority Leader before we were through with our calendar marking operation, informed me that the signals had been switched and that there would not be a single vote this week for any of those bills.

I know of my own knowledge that he was called into the Governor's office and there the decision was made. It was not made on the floor of the House nor was it made in the Democratic caucus on Monday. It might have been made in the Democratic Caucus on Tuesday.

I have discussed with Mr. Readinger whether I would be violating any confidences if I related this to the House today and he said "No," it would be all right if I told my version of the story. So that, I say, the decision to withhold the votes today or this week was made entirely by Governor Leader. It was not made by Mr. Readinger. Conceivably, the House Democratic Caucus gave their stamp of approval to it in their Tuesday caucus. I do not know. I was not in their caucus, so I cannot say. But be that as it may, the fist turning off of the spigot was done on Monday by the Governor himself.

Now you remind us of the fact that we did the same thing in the 1955 session. That is true. We did it. We did it at a time when there was not a tax program. I believe the argument given by the then Minority Leader, Mr. Smith, was that you pass a tax program and get the money raised and we will give you the votes. I am not saying that that was a good decision on the part of the Republicans at that time.

I know that during the campaign many of us had to answer to our constituents who asked, why did you do that? You, on the other side right today, will have to answer to your constituents. Here is a bill in front of you today appropriating $24 million to the hospitals of Pennsylvania, exactly in accord with the Governor's budget, in accordance with an agreement between the Governor and the hospital association for every dollar that he could conceivably give them in this particular session so there is absolutely no reason for any of you voting against this bill. The money has been raised. The money is in the till. You are withholding your votes because the long arm of the Executive has reached into this Chamber and has told you what to do. The Governor again is pressing his will upon this Legislature, and he is trying to use a provision of our Constitution to accomplish an end never contemplated by the framers of this Constitution.

The Constitution says that appropriations to charitable educational institutions not absolutely in control of the State must have a two-thirds vote. That provision is in there. Why? Because that type of an organization is quite naturally the object of our sympathy and our benevolence and a Legislature could very easily be run away by the pulling of your heart strings from home and grant big appropriations.

Therefore, it was felt I am sure, by the framers of the Constitution that we should have a two-thirds vote for that type of an appropriation. As I say the Constitution was never intended to be used by the Executive to bludgeon this Legislature into upping appropriation for the Governor to spend in his several departments.

I say the Governor is guilty of a malicious abuse of legislative process in trying to hammer over us his own ends. I say that it is not right.

This bill is good. It is good for the state. The money is raised and you all should vote for it. There is no question about it.

I repeat that you will have to answer to your constituents back home for this vote. It will come back to haunt you, just as what we did two years ago has come back to haunt us.

Personally, I think it was a bad decision we made in 1955. I publicly acknowledge that. We should have moved those bills over to the Senate where a two-thirds vote would have been required. But we did it then and I think you are foolish in doing it now because you have no legitimate reason for withholding your votes at this time.

I say the Governor in effect is asking you people over there to put on a sit-down strike as far as these appropriations to State-aided institutions are concerned. The people of Pennsylvania know that you are just pulling a squeeze play without any rhyme or reason and absolutely without any justification at this time.

Now you say we want 1700 upped. The Governor, of course wants the appropriation bills raised $94 million to agree with his budget. That was the extent of your amendment offered here on Monday. What is the inference of that if we are to up the appropriations $94 million? There must be a tax program.

You have not come across with any tax program and I am sure the people of this state do not want $94 million or $100 million more taxes put around their necks.

I know that a great story has been given all over the State of how we are destroying the mental health program. The story has been told that you only spent $172 million in your Welfare Department this last biennium, and that you are getting $194 million this time to run that department. I would say that with proper prudence and caution and good husbandry a good job could be done on the $194 million, considering the fact that more and more people are being discharged from our mental institutions. These new drugs are taking hold. I understand that they are trying to effect a plan to discharge 1,000 patients a year for the next ten years from our mental institutions.

So I say, we are appropriating $250 million more this biennium than was appropriated last biennium. Therefore, there is plenty of money to run this State, as I said the other day. You people should certainly give the votes today to pass this $24 million hospital bill because you do not have one single sound, sensible argument why you should withhold your votes.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would hate to interrupt that hard earned praise just extended to the Majority Leader.

The first part of his scholarly dissertation had only one purpose, as far as I could see, and that was to make a bugaboo out of the Governor.

It is true I conferred with the Governor on Monday of this week, as I usually do every Monday, but it is not true that the Governor made any decision as to whether we would vote for these bills this week or whether we would not.

And it is not true that the Governor's long arm, the long arm of the Executive, reached into our caucus and made any decision. That decision was made by us and us alone. We will make the next decision as to when these bills will be given our votes, not the Governor.

To speak about one other thing in relation to the timing of the passage of these bills. If your target date for adjournment is June 15th, our decision of today will in no way interfere with an orderly adjournment of this House on June 15th, because as you know, if we passed these bills on Monday, the Senate could have passed them by Wednesday, if it sees fit to do so, and I believe that would only be the 13th of June.

Despite the fact that the Majority Leader says we do not have any sound, sensible reasons for action today, we do. He can say we don't, but that doesn't make it so. We have a very good reason and we are enforcing that reason. We have stated the reason and I think it is good sense to do what we are doing.

He said we will have to answer to our constituents. We will be happy to do so. We will be happy to tell them that we simply withheld action on a bill on this kind until we knew what the other part of the fiscal program was going to look like after the Senate had acted upon it. It is possible we won't even know by next Monday what the picture is, but we are hoping we will.

The Majority Leader can get on the floor of this House any time he wants and call the Governor a bugaboo and tell you and tell us how he is controlling our actions and so forth, but that just "ain't" so.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have made many mistakes, I have no doubt. In fact, I know that during my legislative service I have made many mistakes, but I do not believe there is an old Member of this House who would say that he ever suspected that I stood on this floor and knowingly told an untruth.

So I want to say to the Majority Leader that the decision not to vote on these bills was arrived at last week, and his Excellency the Governor was informed as to the stand we had taken. Every member of the Democratic caucus knew last week where I stood. They knew last week where the Majority Leader stood. We believed that we knew last week where all of the members of the Democratic caucus stood.

I do not blame the Majority Leader in the least for disagreeing with our Governor because there are many, many points upon which I am in disagreement with him myself.

I want to say further, if the Majority Leader thinks that there has been some kickback on some of the things his party did at the last session, heaven help him when the roof begins to fall on him and the public begins to question and wonder why the majority took the course it did at this session. There will be disagreement concerning the total of appropriations that should be made. As I said last week, we are very glad to carry the issue to the people and we will carry the issue gladly. We say to you now that you are digging a grave for whomever happens to be the next Governor of this Commonwealth. You are absolutely making his position untenable, and you are evading the questions that should be solved now and which will, by the very fact we ignore them, multiply themselves by the next session.

Since the gentleman made a bit of a political speech, I will make one, Mr. Speaker.

You are caught in a cleft stick. You think you can remove taxes at the top without imposing taxes at the bottom. You are making a very, very feeble approach so far to our school problem. You face some millions, many millions, that are going to now be required from certain types of corporations come the next session of the General Assembly and you have got to find that money and you have got to find it back home.

So you are beginning to say that in order to save the situation we must increase the local efforts so far as schools are concerned, start a program of increased local effort. You ought to tell the people what the situation is, that you are going to reverse the situation and that you are going back home to the consumer, to the local taxpayer for more of the money that he is expecting to come from Harrisburg.

I say you cannot take it off the top unless you put it on the bottom. But that has nothing to do with the question at issue just now, and I only interposed it because the gentleman from McKean made his own particular political speech. I simply want to assure him, as one man to another, irrespective of what he has heard, that the decision the minority arrived at was arrived at last week. We were not questioned in the Governor's office concerning what was to be done. We told him what our position would be.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he realizes that there are some 35 other bills on the calendar requiring 140 votes?

Mr. READINGER. I do.

Mr. JOHNSON. Do I understand that if we were to call up the rest of these bills which provide money for our colleges, universities, Elwyn Training School, and so forth, that the gentleman would instruct his Members to vote "no" on the bills as he did on the hospital bill?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I never instruct my membership; I request my membership to do things. But, I would certainly request them to do so.

Mr. JOHNSON. In other words, the gentleman will reiterate the statement that he made with respect to the bills of the State-aided hospitals, is that correct?

Mr. READINGER. With embellishments.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I believe we have made our point on one bill and have set the pattern. The minority have made up their minds they are not going to give us the votes, I think it would be futile to call the rest of them up and have them go down. It would just mean resolutions to recall them. So, I believe we will go on with our business. I believe we have made our point. I know the Members on our side would like to make a point of all of them, but I believe we have made our point and we will rest on it and we will take that to the people.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think the Majority Leader has made a very wise decision. None of us want to encourage more printing of bills than necessary and I think the point has been made, but while I am speaking on the subject that the gentleman has mentioned, I would like you to know that we control our Members over here by the power of persuasion and not by the hard cruel fist that he uses on his Members.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1270 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 1270, Printer's No. 400, on page 21 of today's calendar, bills on third reading be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Bill 1270.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1270, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four sections four and eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for the election of the Attorney General.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate one of the sponsors. Mrs. Henzel would do very nicely.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. HENZEL. Mr. Speaker, may I yield to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman.

The SPEAKER. The lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Henzel, yields to the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I did not consent to that yielding, but I will.

Mr. BOWMAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman explain to this House the reasons for the introduction of this bill and the reasons for wanting to elect an Attorney General?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, there are events in the history of man that points up the necessity of adopting a system different than tradition, and perhaps age in itself has permitted to continue in the government of Pennsylvania since the adoption of the Constitution in 1874.

The purpose of this bill is, of course, obvious. It is to elect by popular vote the chief legal officer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The underlying reason for this, I think, is equally obvious. A person who has the responsibility for interpreting and enforcing the great multitude of laws in this Commonwealth should be a person solely responsible to the people of the Commonwealth, the people who elect that individual. That individual who has this great power in fact, in my opinion, one of the greatest powers of any officer of this Commonwealth, should be directly responsible to the people and not responsible to the chief executive of the government, namely, the Governor, who under present law, of course, appoints him.

We do not think that this is a particularly novel thing. In fact it is my information that 41 states of this Union presently have a popularly elected Attorney General or his equivalent, that is, the chief legal officer of that particular state. Only two states besides Pennsylvania have the same system of naming his appointment and confirmation. We feel that the time has long since passed when the legal officer should present himself to the people of the Commonwealth, justify himself to the people of the Commonwealth, and be directly responsible to the people of the Commonwealth. We do not think, in spite of the tradition of perhaps 100 years, that the present system is the best system. Therefore, we sponsor and ask your support of this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman.

Will the gentleman agree then that the law of Pennsylvania should be changed to elect the solicitors of all of the cities and boroughs rather than having them appointed?

Mr. BOWMAN. I think there is some merit in the consideration of that; whether I will agree to the flat statement I am not prepared to say at this time, not having fully studied the matter.

Mr. READINGER. Would the gentleman give it a little study in the future?

Also I would like to ask him this: the Attorney General, under the law of Pennsylvania is the chief legal advisor to the Governor, is he not?

Mr. BOWMAN. That is correct.

Mr. READINGER. In the event that an Attorney General of a different political party than that of the Governor were elected, would it not then be necessary for the Governor to obtain his own chief counsel, instead of relying on the advice and guidance of somebody who was opposing his very election?

Mr. BOWMAN. It is not a question of relying on the advice. He is bound by the advice. It is not a question of whether he should or should not follow the advice of the Attorney General. The Attorney General gives the advice and under present law he must follow it. Our position is that under the present law, since he is appointed by the Governor, it is possible that he can be influenced in reaching his legal decisions by the Governor, and we precisely want to avoid that situation.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman is practical enough to admit, is he not, that in a state where they do elect Attorney Generals and they do elect Attorney Generals of one political party and the Governor of another, that the practical result is a separate legal force in the Governors' office? Is that correct?

Mr. BOWMAN. I am not prepared to answer that nationwide. I do know that in a few states in which I am acquainted the Governor has what is called a "solicitor," who does advise him, but the solicitor's opinion cannot in any circumstance override the opinion of the chief legal officer of the Commonwealth, or the state, and the Governor and the solicitor of the Governor are bound by the decisions of the chief legal officer whether they like it or do not like it.

Mr. READINGER. Will the gentleman inform me whether or not under the Federal laws we elect the United States Attorney General?

Mr. BOWMAN. We do not.

Mr. READINGER. Does the gentleman think that is bad practice?

Mr. BOWMAN. The complexities of the Federal government and the problems of the legal department of the Federal government are so far flung and so diversified that I do not think there is any similarity, or any parallel whatsoever between that particular legal department and the legal department of a state. I do not think that they are comparable and therefore, I do not think that the question is a worthy basis for such a comparison.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman was somewhat discomfited by some of these questions, because it is very difficult to maintain the position which this bill does and still not criticize the manner in which the legal officers of the Federal government are selected, and those of the many municipalities.

It is true most of the states do elect Attorney Generals, and that probably goes back to the days when their constitutions were written and they thought that was a greater form of democracy and efficiency.

I know and you know that every Attorney General we have had in Pennsylvania has taken an oath of office to uphold and obey the Constitution and the laws of the Commonwealth, and I think that our Attorney Generals have been very fair and very efficient. I think they have called the shots as they have seen them and advised the Governors under whom they have served to the best of their ability. I know that our Attorney Generals in the future will continue to do that.

I think that in the years to come you are going to see a lot of other states adopting the Pennsylvania system of having the Attorney General appointed by the Governor. When a person must rely on legal advice he likes to select that officer because of his ability, his integrity, his honesty, and everything else combined. It would be a great hardship on any Governor to have to accept an elected Attorney General, whether competent or incompetent, if he happened to be a member of the opposite party. Perhaps the very man upon whose advice he would have to rely would have been one of the most vigorous opponents of that very Governor.

I do not believe the people of Pennsylvania would begin to vote for an amendment like this, and whether this bill passes or not of course, the final decision lies with the people of Pennsylvania. I believe that most lawyers would believe that this is not a step in the right direction, and I believe that the people of Pennsylvania would believe it also.

I know, very definitely, that our present Attorney General thinks that this is the worst possible step, to ask the people to change the Constitution in this way, and I know that most of you on that side and I know that we on this side have a high respect for our present Attorney General. It is too bad that he cannot come here today and state his case as he sees it. I think that if this bill does get over to the Senate probably statements will be prepared by our Attorney General for submission in the record so that his viewpoint on this is fully understood.

I think we will be doing a wrong thing if we vote for this bill, and I am asking the Members to vote it down.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, I, too, want to speak in opposition to this bill.

In connection with the remark of the Minority Leader to the effect that our present Attorney General is opposed to this thought, I want to remind the Members of the House that this is not a self-serving declaration on his part, because before this law could possibly come into effect his term of office will undoubtedly have concluded, so that he is not serving his own purpose by suggesting that the law should not be changed.

However, we do want to realize this, that when you select a chief legal officer for a Commonwealth, you make an attempt to secure the best legally trained mind that you can have. I think every Governor in the past has done that. They have selected somebody in whom they have confidence, somebody whom they believe the people would respect, and they keep the Attorney General out of politics. If the Attorney General were to be an elected official, his decisions would oftentimes enter into the field of politics. He would have to keep an eye on what the voters at home might think about a particular decision and he might be reluctant to make a true legal decision, based on true logic and law, if he felt that would reflect in the voting power back in the home districts.

I believe that our present system gives us the best chance to get the best man in the office of Attorney General. Now I have confidence in the intelligence of the people. I believe that they can vote correctly. However, I also have knowledge of the weakness of our politics and it is entirely possible by resorting to election rather than appointment we will lower the caliber of men that we have in the Attorney General's office.

I do not believe there is anybody in this House who has any particular Attorney General that he would point out now who would say that man was guided by politics in his decisions. I think that the Attorneys General that we have had in the past all have been respected, respected by the Members of this House, respected by members of his own party, and also respected by members of the opposition party. Our present system gives us the opportunity of getting the best man to fulfill what is technically the most important position in our Commonwealth insofar as law is concerned.

I believe that it would be a mistake to change our present system.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that the principal issue here is a question of party responsibility.

As I understand it, the Attorney General is actually a member of the Governors' Cabinet. This would be a very far-reaching change that I do not believe has been maturely considered by the proponents of this particular bill. Certainly there should have been much greater scrutiny of the place that the Attorney General holds in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its various departments. This certainly has not been done.

I would say that the Attorney General certainly ought to be of the same political persuasion as the Governor because he is so close to the Governor's office. I think it would be a very grave mistake to pass this particular bill.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in connection with this bill, what I have to say is not pointed at any individual nor does it deal in personalities. I hope nobody will gain that impression. What I have to say is said entirely regarding the office itself.

The Administrative Code puts a dual duty upon the back of the Attorney General and the Constitution places an additional burden upon him so that in the operation of his office he finds himself in a very conflicting position. First of all, he is the chief legal adviser to the Governor. Then the Administrative Code says that he shall be the chief law officer of the Commonwealth which at times in advising various departments puts him in a position of having to advise contrary, maybe, to the Governor's views. The Constitution places upon him also the additional burden of being a member of the Pardons Board wherein at times he also finds himself in a position of having to act upon matters contrary to the manner in which he acted on them while acting as chief law officer of the Commonwealth.

I do not believe that such conflicts of interest is healthy for the administration of any office or any department in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or in our government, whether it be the Attorney General or any other officer.

I do not have my figures before me, but I think 42 of the 48 states at the present time have their Attorneys General elected. You only need to go across the border to New York State to see where you have a Democratic Governor and a Republican Attorney General, but he does have a Solicitor General, and in those states where they do have an elected Attorney General, they find a much healthier condition in connection with the operation of the law department of their commonwealth than has developed in this Commonwealth and which has existed for some time.

Now, this is no fault of any particular Attorney General who served in office, but the duties which we have imposed upon the office itself are such that in my opinion the Attorney General in this state should be an elective office.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there is a very simple test as to how the system in Pennsylvania has worked and as a layman I submit that test to the consideration of the lawyers in this House.

Pennsylvania has operated under the existing system so far as Attorneys General are concerned for a great many years and the test is this, if they have been remiss, if the system has not worked, it will show in the number of instances in which they have been reversed by the Supreme Court. If the system has worked, there will not be very many instances in which the Attorneys General have been reversed by the Supreme Court. If Attorneys General have been partisan, if they have not been uniformly capable, the record of reversals insofar as the Supreme Court is concerned would reveal the deficiencies.

I submit to the lawyers in this House that there are very, very few instances in which our Attorneys General have been reversed in major cases, and that testifies to the efficiency of the system under which Pennsylvania has operated these many years.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT IN THE CHAIR

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman from Cameron one question?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he knows any of our present living ex-Attorneys General who have at any time recommended that our Attorney General should be elected rather than appointed? I believe there are five or six living Attorneys General.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I do not know that I ever posed the question to them, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Well, would the gentleman say that he has never heard of any recommendations being made by them that the Attorney General should be elected?

Mr. TOMPKINS. None with whom I have had an acquaintance has ever suggested it to me, no.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman from Cameron has raised one issue in connection with this bill, and that is the question of whether the Attorney General should serve on the Pardons Board because of the conflict and so forth.

I do think probably a constitutional amendment might be offered by way of resolution in this House to take the Attorney General off the Pardons Board. It would be necessary to amend the Constitution to do it. Perhaps he should not sit on the Pardons Board. We are not considering that today.

But in deciding this question whether we should elect an Attorney General or not, I do not think it should be based on a feeling that the Attorney General should not sit on the Pardons Board. I think the sole question is, which way do we get more efficiency, by the present system or by a new system? I think it is clear that we are doing better in Pennsylvania under our system than we could possibly do if we elected an Attorney General.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I would like to ask Mr. Tompkins a question, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOMPKINS. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I believe that Mr. Tompkins mentioned that in those States where they elect an Attorney General the Governor has a Solicitor General. Is that correct?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I do not know about all the 42 states, but in some of them I do know that there is such an officer as Solicitor General.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, does this bill before us make any provision for the appointment of a Solicitor General to the Governor?

Mr. TOMPKINS. No, that would have to be done by way of an amendment to the Administrative Code. I do not believe that would be a matter of a constitutional amendment.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. But this bill itself makes no such provision?

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is right. The present Constitution merely provides that the Governor appoints the Attorney General. The Administrative Code then defines his duties. So the Administrative Code will take care of the Solicitor General and the Administrative Code would further define the duties of the Attorney General in case he is elected.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, would that not create additional jobs?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, it would, sure. There is no question about it, a solicitor general.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. And would that not require additional funds to be appropriated by the Legislature?

Mr. TOMPKINS. Yes, but that issue is not before us now. If this Constitutional amendment passes this session it will have to be passed the next session, and if it is approved by the people, the question of additional jobs and expenses would then arise.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. But we would eventually be faced with that question, would we not?

Mr. TOMPKINS. If this amendment were approved, yes.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, another thing that I would like to point out to the Members of the House. It is my understanding that there is in the Senate, or possibly has already passed the Senate, as a result of bi-partisan conference, the possibility of a commission consisting of five people who would be named by the President pro tem of the Senate, five by the Speaker of the House and, I believe, five citizens from the Commonwealth at large by the Governor. The purpose of this Commission will be, of course, to review our Constitution from beginning to end and then to report whether or not there should be a general revision of the Constitution or specific sections of the Constitution which should be amended.

I believe this question would be one of those that will be discussed by that particular commission. I think that we would do well to wait until such time as that particular commission has had an opportunity to study thoroughly the various sections of our Constitution and make recommendations to the Legislature and perhaps to the public as to what changes shall be made in our Constitution.

Therefore, I think that is another reason why we should not be delving into Constitutional amendments at this time.

THE SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) IN THE CHAIR.

On the question, recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, as I understand these amendments, they would make this student loan program strictly an on-the-job training program. It is our thinking that we should not so restrict the program which is embodied in this bill. We feel that the State Council of Education should be free to make these scholarship loans, not only to people who are taking on-the-job training but also to other people, and I have particular reference to some of the courses in the more technical fields where the studies and the technical nature of the school program is so great that they have to spend so much time at school that it is impossible for them also to work on a job with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. So that, in substance, what I am saying is that we should rather leave it to the discretion of the State Council of Education to make these loans either to persons taking on-the-job training or other persons, and if these amendments were adopted, it would restrict this program specifically to people taking on-the-job training, as a result of which I ask the membership to vote down these amendments.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments that I have offered to House Bill 1509 do precisely what the gentleman from Philadelphia has stated. The reason we have presented these amendments is an effort to make the bill conform to our Constitution. It is our opinion that the bill, as it is written in its present form, is unconstitutional since it provides loans to persons for educational purposes.

Article 3, Section 18, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that: "No appropriation shall be made for charitable, educational, or benevolent purposes to any person or community nor to any denominational sectarian institution, corporation, or association."

The fact that this bill does appropriate funds to the State Council of Education for student loans is the reason that we have presented the amendments to the bill. On the other hand, nothing in the Constitution prevents the Commonwealth from providing its present employees with on-the-job training, and any decision that has been handed down regarding that particular subject has conformed to that part.

In a Formal Opinion 683, which was dated March 14, 1957, such an opinion is on file with regard to on-the-job training program established by the Department of Welfare, and the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania therein stated as follows:

The fact that particular individuals receive educational training as a part of this program is incidental to the primary purposes of the Department, to recruit and train qualified personnel and technical personnel. These individuals are not being paid to go to school. They are employed for specific types of jobs. They are sent to educational institutions in order to train them to perform their present duties more efficiently and also to perform additional duties. They remain Commonwealth employes while in attendance of these educational institutions.

In this very field we feel that the bill would be unconstitutional as it is written here today. We are in wholehearted support of such a program. We may differ on the form that we are trying to arrive at in helping the students in this loan situation, but the ultimate goal is the same as presented in the bill.

The gentleman from Philadelphia has stated that he does oppose it because it changes the theory behind the handling of the loans for the students. There is really only the difference between the actual loan and placing it in a personnel capacity where they are employes of the Commonwealth. Such an opinion has been handed down in a formal opinion and it concurs within the latitude of the amendments that we presented today, we of course, ask that the House members do support these amendments.

We have discussed this bill many times and covered these points of the discussion with both the Majority Floor Leader, the Minority Floor Leader, and the gentleman who has sponsored the bill. If the amendments for any reason should fall, even though we question its constitutionality, we, of course, in turn intend to support the bill.

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman, I have not read Formal Opinion 683, but on the basis of the gentleman's resume of what it contained, as I understand it, it says that the on-the-job training program is a constitutional program. It would not seem to me that since the program which is embodied in House Bill 1509 was not the subject of that opinion that there is any reason as to why this particular program is unconstitutional.

If you will read the bill you will find that these loans are to be made for the purpose of enabling students to attend schools and graduate schools in preparation for positions with the Commonwealth, and in my opinion, I do not believe that House Bill 1509 in its present form is unconstitutional and I, therefore, repeat my request that these amendments be voted down.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, rather than read the entire Formal Opinion it would be just as well to read the last paragraph:

The Commonwealth could even go so far as to establish its own schools or school its employes for the training of such employes if deemed necessary."

And this, of course, would cover this very same objection that we are seeking here today.

It is not our intention at any time to try to stop this particular piece of legislation. We do hope that you will accept these amendments as offered. It does change the thinking within the bill and the thinking is solely presented on the grounds that we would like to have such a bill enacted into law. If the question of constitutionality shall arise when it arrives at the Governor's office, it would be unwise to lose such a good piece of legislation at the closing days of this session.

Even though the gentleman from Philadelphia and the majority party are committed in opposition to these amendments, I think they should question wisely such a decision if they really intend to establish these loans for these students.

This has been clearly defined. They cannot under any present law grant the loans direct to the students. This is in direct violation of the Constitution and if you will check your bill carefully a section in there provides for the loans. I just question under Section 2 if you will not lose the bill even though we intend to pass it because we are sincere enough that we believe that such a law should be enacted, that it should be placed on the books and given an opportunity to help those students who need such loans to complete their education.

We feel that there is a mistake in this section and if you do not accept our amendments, we will stand behind the bill and vote for it, a great many of us because we want such bills enacted in this session.

As you realize we are in the closing days. At least, we have been led to believe that this is almost the closing week. So, therefore, we would like to make a sincere effort to establish this as one of the bills we passed in aiding students in higher education.

On the question recurring,

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. BRAND.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 667, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3 1937 (P L 1225) permitting the use of semi-automatic .22 caliber pistols for the hunting and killing of small game predators and unprotected birds

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 667 is a bill to legalize the use of semi-automatic pistols.

It has been the opinion of a great many safety-minded sportsmen that semi-automatic rifles are dangerous things to have in the woods, and, therefore, a semi-automatic pistol would automatically become even more dangerous. Even though the Legislature some sessions ago did authorize the use of semi-automatic shotguns for small game and for vermin, so to speak, it does not necessarily follow that because that bill happens to be on the books that the law should be further liberalized to permit semi-automatic pistols. Strictly from a safety standpoint and for that reason I am certainly going to oppose this bill.

Mr. BRAND. Mr. Speaker, there are thousands of sportsmen in Pennsylvania who own semi-automatic pistols of .22 caliber.

I am simply asking that they be allowed to use these pistols in the hunting of small game.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 19, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 19 1913 (P L 534) entitled "An act relating to appointment of deputy constables" defining the jurisdiction of deputy constables

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LUTTY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. The reason for this bill is because of the deputy constables kicking up back in Pittsburgh about five years ago. Since that time however, the squires and constables have organized into an organization. They have been policing their organization.

If they find out that one of their deputy constables stepped out of line they bring him before the board. If they find out that the deputy constable did something wrong they recommend to the District Attorney and the alderman that this deputy constable stepped out of line.

Of course, the deputy constable, especially in Allegheny County, does a special kind of work. Some are specialized in civil work, some in real estate work and some in criminal action.

Another reason why this bill in my opinion is no good is because if you have an alderman in the ward of one party and a constable of another party there is no cooperation whatsoever.

However, I understand by this bill that you may go to another ward and be elected constable, but how much work would you be able to get out of an elected constable from another ward I do not know.

I think it is a bad bill. It is going to hamper the operations of the alderman's office, and the people that go to the alderman's office to file informations will suffer.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Luty, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LUTTY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that in Allegheny County today we have approximately 200 constables?

Mr. LUTTY. I do not know. Probably, it is 200 constables.

Mr. GOLSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, is it not a fact that in Allegheny County we probably have about 800 to a 1,000 deputy constables?

Mr. LUTTY. Well, I would not know. If you checked the record there probably are 800 to 1,000.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, in the ward in which you reside, Mr. Luty, how many deputy constables have been appointed?

Mr. LUTTY. Three I believe.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, out of what offices do they work exclusively?

Mr. LUTTY. They work out of the office in the ward, and they work in other offices also.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is it not a fact that one of your deputies works out of the fourteenth ward of the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. LUTTY. That is possible.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, had it not been a consistent evil in Allegheny County for the men to be appointed from the first ward of the city of Pittsburghs, by way of example, and then to work out of other wards exclusively and never work out of the first ward?

Mr. LUTTY. That is possible.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Isn't it a fact also, Mr. Speaker, that men who have been defeated for the office of constable have gone into other wards and been made deputy constables?

Isn't it a fact that under the Rules of Court of Quarter Sessions of the Peace that these gentlemen who have been appointed are brought before the justice of the peace and the alderman, who swore under oath that he needed their assistance and then immediately after being sworn in as deputies, they never worked out of the office for which they were commissioned?

Mr. LUTTY. That I do not know. But why don't the Judges take their commissions, if that is so? Why have a bill here.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Apparently, Mr. Speaker, this is the reason for the bill. That is all, Mr. Luty.

Mr. LUTTY. May I ask the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Goldstein, a question?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, has the floor.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I will yield for the purpose of interrogation, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, yields to the gentleman, Mr. Luty.

Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LUTTY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman knows my ward pretty well, is that right?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LUTTY. Did you ever hear of a constable that was elected for about twelve years that never served?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I heard in your ward and in my own ward that the constable and the alderman did not get along too well. I know also for a fact that there is an Act, I think the Act of 1844, where the electorate can go before the Court of Quarter Sessions and petition to remove from office any constable who fails to perform his duties in office.

Mr. LUTTY. A further question, Mr. Speaker. You also know that we took this constable to court and he produced a summons from his pocket that he had for twelve years?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I was not concerned with the civil war among the Democrats in the Seventeenth Ward and I do not recall the incident.

Mr. LUTTY. That is what happened. He held his summons and that is all they could do about it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I told you I do not know what happened among the Democrats in the ward after I left. Any time you wish me to make peace, I will be glad to come over there.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is apparently of importance to law and order in the State of Pennsylvania and particularly in Allegheny County. In Allegheny County we have scores of aldermen and justices of the peace. We likewise have scores of constables.

In Allegheny County we have constables who are elected in districts with less than three or four hundred people. We have constables in some instances who are elected in communities with 40,000 people.

Over the years and in my experience in the District Attorney's office I have found that at times the office of deputy constable has been used for personal gain.

I have found instances where men who are defeated went into court and said they were bona fide residents of a district only for the purpose of being named a deputy constable.

Now, the purpose of this bill is not to restrict the office of constable or the deputy. It is merely to return to the nth degree home rule in law enforcement.

In Allegheny County today if this law does not pass, you have the possibility and likelihood of a man being appointed a deputy constable in a downtown ward in the city of Pittsburgh, never working in that office and working exclusively, by way of example, in Harmar Township, twenty or twenty-five miles away.

Every man who is appointed a deputy should be a deputy for the jurisdiction for which he was appointed. In order to make this bill clear I want you to understand that a man who is named a deputy, for example, in Squire Wilt's office, under this bill, can serve a writ anywhere in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania but he would not have the right to serve in any other aldermanic office.

This bill is sound government. For example, when the sheriff of Allegheny County is appointed and some defeated official in Westmoreland County wanted to be named a deputy sheriff, he could not be named a deputy sheriff and serve a writ out of Allegheny County for Westmoreland purposes.

The evil attendant to this particular deputizing of men in Allegheny County is best pointed out by the fact that we now have a rule of court in Allegheny Court which reads as follows:

No deputizing of a constable shall be approved unless shown to be necessary. The alderman or justices of the peace in the ward, borough or township, wherever the appointment is made, must, prior to their approval by the court, sign a statement to be filed with the record agreeing to give the applicant regular employment.

That rule of court sounds very good. But as a practical matter it is not carried out. Due to the fact we have instances where, because of political reasons, the alderman says he will appoint a man and consent to the appointment of a deputy and thereafter refuses to give him any work as a deputy or he will not work in the office of the deputy.

If the men who are in the minor judiciary would be really interested in doing a service for the public they would favor this bill. I cannot understand why the minor judiciary as pointed out by my good friend, Mr. Luty, is supposed to have its own board of pardons. If a constable or an alderman does something wrong, is the Penal Code of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that should control and not its own kangaroo court.

This is a bill that we need in Allegheny County. This is a bill that will give stature to those men who are appointed deputies. We plead with the members on both sides of the House to give this their full support.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I request the attached editorial which appeared in the Williamsport Sun Gazette on June 4, 1957, be printed in the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER. The editorial will be noted in the record.

WHEN IS A REDUCTION A CUT?

There's been so much fast talk concerning Pennsylvania's new budget that most of us find ourselves confused about what is actually planned at Harrisburg for the ensuing two years.

Governor Leader is demanding $1,522,000,000 for the 1957-59 biennium. This compares with $1,304,000,000 spent during the last two years.

On the basis of these figures, the Leader administration wants about $218-million more than was required to operate the state government for the 1955-57 period.

The Republican Legislature says it can't give the governor everything he is asking without imposing new and additional taxes. It draws the line at $1,418,000,000.

This amount is $104-million less than the governor wants. But it is also $114-million more than state departments spent during the two preceding years.

That's where the confusion arises.

Everytime the Legislature refuses to give a state department the full amount provided in the governor's budget, the cry goes up that a "cut" is being ordered.

Great protests arise—mostly from government officials who are going to spend the money. They just can't seem to be happy with a penny less than they ask for, even though the taxpayer sweats and strains.

They talk about a "cut" as though their department was to have less money than it used in the biennium drawing to a close.

But that is not true.

An examination of the general fund appropriations shows that state departments are getting more money in every case than they had for the 1955-57 biennium.

When they scream about a "cut," therefore, they are confusing the issue. They're referring to the governor's estimates.

Let us illustrate with the principal departments:

	1955-57 Expenditures	Governor's Request	House Appropriation
Welfare	$178,166,000	$221,101,000	$194,054,000
Public Instruc.	637,955,000	740,511,000	730,413,000
Public Assist.	138,918,000	150,000,000	146,719,000
Health	41,356,000	54,054,000	46,835,000
Labor, Industry	16,926,000	26,000,000	19,942,000
Forests, Waters	10,081,000	16,500,000	10,387,000
Commerce	4,292,000	12,800,000	4,312,000
Property, Supplies ...	12,343,000	23,000,000	15,202,000

The Legislature is not trimming the budget below 1955-57 figures.

The situation appears to be summed up by Assemblyman Norman Wood, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. He says the work of the Legislature represents "reduced allocations." And he adds: "They will maintain Pennsylvania's education, health and welfare programs at present levels but will eliminate all new programs of untried experimentation."

So we ask: When is a reduction a cut? Certainly not until it goes deep enough to be less than the amount of money the department has required for the preceding biennium.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KELLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was very pleased to read in the Philadelphia Inquirer this morning this statement made by Secretary of Forest and Waters, Mr. Goddard, before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

GODDARD DENIES THREAT TO DRAIN HISTORICAL CANAL

Secretary of Forests and Waters Maurice K. Goddard yesterday denied he was responsible for a statement in which he reputedly threatened to drain the Delaware Canal if the legislators failed to grant his department the full appropriation recommended by Governor George M. Leader.

Appearing before the Senate Appropriations Committee in Harrisburg, Goddard not only denied authorship of the statement, but said it was issued by the publicity bureau of the Governor's office.

The 60-mile historic canal in Bucks county had been ordered closed as of last Saturday.

But after receiving a flood of protests, Goddard announced his department would continue maintenance of the waterway until the State Senate could act on a money measure.

Previously, Goddard was quoted as saying his original order to close the canal was issued because the House of Representatives had not included funds for the waterway in its general appropriation bill for the next biennium.

This again points up the fact that the Governor's office is willing to embarrass not only the Members of the General Assembly but his own Cabinet members as well.

I believe that the money will be provided for the maintenance of the canal and for the maintenance and care of the Washington Crossing Park, and I believe also that, as I have said before, this just points up the false propaganda which is being put out by the Governor's office to embarrass us all.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRENNAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to read something into the record that appeared in a home paper in Levittown from the eminent Senator Watson, Republican Senator, in regard to appropriation for the Delaware Canal.

State Senator Edward B. Watson, Bucks County, today agreed with State Secretary of Forests and Waters, Maurice K. Goddard, that the Delaware Canal would have to be abandoned under the tentative budget just adopted by the State House of Representatives. Dr. Goddard, who earlier this week had ordered the canal to be drained on Saturday, has postponed the order until the State Senate has a chance to discuss the appropriation, possibly on Monday.

After studying the House Bill at his Doylestown home last night, Senator Watson said he is investigating to know why and how the bill was introduced in the House without any mention of the Delaware Canal and without a single dollar appropriated for maintenance. The legislator said that he believed that another effort is afoot to destroy the canal and I am determined to exert every effort to stop it.

There is something about the appropriation bill that needs airing, Senator Watson said, adding that he is determined to see that the State Legislature provides adequate canal funds.

I offered that amendment here in the House. The majority party told me that time that there were sufficient funds to take care of the canal.

Now evidently some of the people on the Republican side have not even believed them, because their own Republican Senator comes out and says that when the bill passed the House there was not sufficient money there to take care of that canal.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, just how we are going to resolve the dispute between statesmen from the southeastern part of the State I would not know. Doubtlessly, the Majority Leader, with his winning ways, can reconcile the conflict.

I welcomed the statement that the gentleman made when he said they were going to keep the canal open. You know it will be nice for the handicapped children who find no place in the schools, to be wheeled down in their wheel chairs and let them look at the water in the canal.

SENATE

THURSDAY, June 6, 1957.

The Senate met at 12:00 o'clock, meridian, Eastern standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. WAGNER:

Our Father in Heaven, we are reminded today of the words of the poet who wrote:

"The sun comes up, the sun goes down, and life is weak or strong;

Yet somehow as the days go by, we seem to get along."

We are mindful of the fact that we seem to get along only because of Thy goodness to us and because of Thy blessed guidance.

We pray on this, one of our busier days, that stubbornness will not prevail; that tempers will not be roused; that we shall not desist from our purposeful plan of doing good for the Commonwealth which we represent. Now as we proceed with our deliberations and with the passage of our bills, we ask for guidance, we ask for enlightenment, we ask for strength and, above all, we ask for Thy grace.

This we ask in the Name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior. Amen.

EXECUTIVE SESSION RISES

Mr. WATSON. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to announce that Senator DiSilvestro wanted very much to be here today to vote upon these confirmations. He had been anxiously hoping that he would be able to be here when we finally reached the point where we were to confirm these doctors. As you all know, Senator DiSilvestro is not well. He had to be taken to the hospital again yesterday for some treatments and he is back home today.

Along with our good, mutual friend, Senator Watkins, I talked to Senator DiSilvestro a few minutes ago. He asked that it be recorded that if he were here today, he would have liked to have said a few words for the doctors.

On that point, Mr. President, I would like to say just a few words. I would like to comment on the fact that I voted as a Democrat. I have always been a Democrat and, I believe, many of the people still think I am. However, Mr. President, there has been some commentary about my voting for a Republican for a job not too long ago. I want to assure all of you that when a Republican is qualified and fit for the job, and I feel that he is, I have never left it stand in my way.

These two men are Republicans also and we all voted for them. I am sure that this does not in any way diminish the Democratic ardor of any of my colleagues on this side. Especially, is this true since these doctors were nominated by the Governor, himself. This is not the first time we have endorsed Republicans who were named by the Governor, and I know it will not be the last time. Therefore, let us do away with this foolishness of trying to make too much out of a vote once in awhile.

An the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL NO. 20

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 20 passed third reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

THIRD READING CALENDAR

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 67, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1915 (P. L. 534) entitled "Motion Picture Censorship Law" authorizing the disapproval of any reel film or view which is obscene or incites to crimes of violence prohibiting viewing by or exhibiting disapproved films reels or views to certain minors imposing penalties and repealing certain sections of the act

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand we are agreed that Senate Bill No. 439 will be the vehicle for placing our ideas of movie censorship into the law, and that is the bill which will be amended by Senator McMenamin. Therefore, under those circumstances, I feel Senate Bill No. 67 should be recommitted.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Accordingly, Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 67 on third reading be recommitted to the Committee on Law and Order.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before you take the vote, I would like to make a few comments.

It was my understanding that it was the thinking of the Caucus that all these bills on censorship should stay on the Calendar until bill has been amended and we could have our legal lights review it. Of course, they would pass an opinion as to whether or not Senate Bill No. 439 would be constitutional.

Senate Bill No. 67 has some merits, Senate Bill No. 488 has some merits, and we thought if we could hold them on the calendar, by passing them over in order, we could amend Senator McMenamin's bill. We are not concerned about any individual bill, but we do want some legislation which we feel will comply with the Supreme Court decision.

I have no objection to the bill going back to committee if we can have an understanding, in the event Senate Bill No. 439 does not meet with the approval of the legal lights, that we will then report out Senate Bill No. 67 and Senate Bill No. 488 and go over them. I do not want to close this Session without passing some legislation on censorship. That is my concern in regard to the gentleman's motion.

If you will agree to report this bill out again in the event Senator McMenamin's bill does not comply with the law, I will have no objection to the motion.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I understand several Members are interested in some type of censorship legislation. Time is running short in this Session. Senate Bill No. 439 has been examined by professors at law schools and others, and has been examined just recently by the Attorney General's office. Senator Seyler has in his possession, some amendments suggested by the Attorney General which are acceptable to me and others who are interested in this subject.

It was our thought, and I think it is very definite, that in view of some of the United States Court decisions, it is going to be difficult to write a bill which will be constitutional. All of those who have worked on these bills believe, and I am sure the Attorney General now thinks, that Senate Bill No. 439, with these amendments, is as nearly perfect from a constitutional standpoint as anyone can make it at this stage of the game. It was, therefore, our thought that these amendments should be put into Senate Bill No. 439. They will include an appropriation and, therefore, the bill will have to go into the Appropriations Committee.

I do not know that there was any agreement as to the other bills, but I do not see any harm in putting this bill back in committee.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in addition to what Senator McMenamin has stated, in answer to Senator Lane's request for assurance, I will be most happy to assure him that Senate Bill No. 67 and Senate Bill No. 488 will be released from the Committee on Law and Order if they are needed for any purpose.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, Senator Mahany has answered my question. I was only interested in having a bill passed in the Senate which is constitutional, whereby we can inaugurate censorship in Pennsylvania. I am not concerned about any particular bill. I just want this type of legislation passed.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 432, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25, 1931 (P. L. 1371) entitled "A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (P. L. 575) entitled 'An act providing for the regulation of dams or other structures or obstructions as defined herein * * * by discontinuing the necessity of securing permits for the erection of certain dams' authorizing the erection of certain dams without securing permits

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we are now considering Senate Bill No. 432, and I submit, Mr. President and my colleagues, that Senate Bill No. 432 is contrary to the best interests of the vast majority of the citizens of Pennsylvania, in general, and to the citizens of Cumberland County, in particular. It would occasion the lack or loss of recreational facilities and loss of natural resources. It is possible to assume that the aforementioned undesirable things could happen singularly or in toto to each and every citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

This bill is special legislation for one situation. It is special legislation not only for one situation, but special legislation for a company, the leading official of which is presently under arrest for a criminal violation of the law which this bill seeks to amend.

The question is now posed, who caused his arrest? Not any individuals, but the manager of this company has attempted to discredit, as crackpots or idealists, an agency of the State Government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the Water Power and Resources Board.

The following are reasons submitted to support the argument that Senate Bill No. 432 is a bad bill and should be defeated:

The trend of modern legislation is to tighten control of water and not loosen it. Eighteen States in the past year and one-half have tightened watershed legislation, in the realization that an adequate and clean water supply is imperative to future growth and existence. No State, to my knowledge, has at this time loosened controls over water as this bill will do.

The enactment of Senate Bill No. 432 would be a step backward in Pennsylvania's all-important battle of conservation of its waters, and contrary to the findings of the recent water resources study made in the Commonwealth.

This bill does not limit the volume of water or the stream's flow which may be impounded or diverted. It is possible for almost all of the stream's flow to be diverted. If the owner so diverting the water owns land on only one side of the stream, the owner and other users on the opposite side of the stream would be damaged and helpless.

Senate Bill No. 432 provides no protection against the increasing of the water temperature beyond the safe limits for trout life.

The situation which we are discussing, or to which this bill applies particularly, is a State-wide known trout stream. The creation of shallow, exposed and unshaded ponds will contribute to a high increase in stream temperature, downstream from any structures, diversions or impoundments.

Senate Bill No. 432 contains no regulations or safeguards against the threat of pollution and contamination which are ever present where there exists a high concentration of fish life contained in impounded, diverted or slow-moving waters.

The bill authorizes the legal destruction of Big Spring, nationally known might I say and existing in Cumberland County, and another stream, the Letort, and possibly every other trout stream in the State.

This bill is opposed, among others, by Doctor Maurice Goddard, presently Secretary of Forests and Waters; Mr. William Voigt, Jr., Executive Director of the Fish Commission; the Izaak Walton League of America, Pennsylvania Division; and the Big Spring Restoration Committee.

I submit, Mr. President and my colleagues, that Senate Bill No. 432 is special legislation for the following reasons:

1. It was instigated by one situation. Many of you have read the mimeographed explanation of Senate Bill No. 432 presented by the President of the Greenspring Hatchery Company. This explanation was the key. It stated specifically what he intended to do at Big Spring, why he wanted the bill passed, why he desired the amendments and why he was asking for them.

2. Thirty-four licensed trout hatcheries of a private, commercial nature in the State have operated without the amendments.

3. Necessary permits for the diversion and impounding of water, within sound conservation practices, are readily obtained upon application to the proper agency of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I ask if the Senators are aware of the fact that the management of the Greenspring Hatchery Company is charged with continuously flaunting the laws of the State of Pennsylvania. They have openly and defiantly refused to abide by the lawful order of the Water and Power Resources Board and are, on this very day, in violation of the Water and Power Resources Board. At this time, the president of the company is under arrest for violation of the law which this bill would amend.

If this bill were to pass the Senate, we would begin to see, Mr. President, the immediate destruction of our dwindling 4,400 miles of existing trout streams in Pennsylvania, and we shall be the only persons responsible for the rapid deterioration of one of the few remaining natural resources so bountiful in Pennsylvania.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, this bill emanated from the committee of which I am chairman. As most of the Members of this Senate know, I have always been a champion of the enjoyment of individual rights and the lessening of restrictions which jeopardize the liberty and the freedom of all our citizens.

Mr. President, I am speaking for this bill as a matter of principle. There is nothing in this bill which specifies any individual or any industry. This bill permits the erection of dams, not exceeding three feet in height, on streams not exceeding fifty feet in width, and contains an amendment therein which will do no injury to the rights of any riparian owner.

I resent, particularly, the objections to this bill from people who are privileged to enjoy fishing upon the premises of an owner and then deliberately attempt to prevent the owner from doing on his own land what, under the Constitution of the United States, he should be privileged to do.

For that reason, Mr. President, I am very much in favor of the provisions of Senate Bill No. 432. From an economic standpoint, I am also in favor of this bill because it permits the largest trout hatchery in the State of Pennsylvania to supply to the pay-lakes of the several counties of the State, the trout which is necessary in order to maintain the fishing.

I disagree with the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, when he said that the sportsmen are opposed to this bill. I have in my possession, petitions with hundreds of signatures, asking for the support of this legislation. I have received no serious objections to this legislation, except from the few people who reside in the District now represented by the distinguished Senator from Cumberland, with its rolling hills and valleys.

I do say that unless we pass this bill, we are slapping most of the people in the Commonwealth in the face who desire their right to enjoy a little bit of happiness upon the domains which they own.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, when my good friend, Senator Wade, was talking. I had to rush to my Calendar file in order to find out whether he was talking about the same bill we are voting upon. When he finished with the charges he was making, I thought, just as surely as the sun come up tomorrow, that we were performing an act which would destroy the eternal beauties of this State, as well as the utility of all of our streams. I then looked at the bill and I read it. It is simply a short, two and one-half page bill and, if you will read it, you will find that the only amendment put in contains the following words:

"That nothing contained in the act to which this is a supplement shall be construed to require the securing of a permit from the Water and Power Resources Board of the Department of Forests and Waters for the right to construct any dam not exceeding three feet in height in a stream not exceeding fifty feet in width where such dam is constructed for the purpose of creating a pool for fish and fishing."

The new amendment merely adds the following words: "or for diverting water for a licensed fish hatchery provided such diversion does not prevent the free migration of fish and that water used for hatchery purposes is returned to the stream before it leaves the land of the owner"

Let me tell you something which perhaps you are missing in this entire argument. Within the last five years, there has grown up in Pennsylvania an entirely new business and industry. Just a few years ago, we did not have a decent place in Westmoreland County to fish. Today, we have seventeen fish-and-pay lakes in that community of Westmoreland County. All over western Pennsylvania, where all of our stream had been polluted by mine acid drainage, we now have pools whereby families may go out and enjoy themselves by fishing in a family group. It has been a blessing to those of us who live in communities where we have never had water near at hand. We had to travel miles, in the days of my youth, in order to catch a fish. Now we have places next door to us. And I know of one within an eighth of a mile of my home. I want to say that this hatchery out here has made it possible for most of these places to come into existence. This is the largest hatchery in the entire State and one of the largest in the Country for raising trout for fish-and-pay lakes.

Mr. President, I do not think we should do anything which would destroy an industry. This is an industry and it is a good industry. It is a good, healthy industry. There is nothing contained in this bill which would do any damage to any stream whatsoever in the entire State. You now allow the ponds to be built and the only difference is that you can use the same pond, which you use for your own fishing pond at home, for fish hatchery purposes also. It certainly does not hurt water to have fish in it. I learned that the only place where fish will grow is in water.

I do not think Senator Wade is quite proper in his approach to this matter by bringing onto this floor an attack upon an individual just because it so happens that person is charged with being in violation of some State law. That case is not before this tribunal for trial. There is nothing in this bill which will help him or hurt him when his case comes before the proper courts of the land. The condition of that particular case should not have any bearing whatsoever on the judgment of this Senate. We are voting on the legislation on the merits of the legislation and not upon the character of the man who happens to be the owner of that hatchery over in Cumberland County. I cannot help how he voted. I know that he is a Republican and if he did not vote for you, Senator Wade, you have a right to be angry. However, I did not think you would take it out on him so badly. I am sorry if that is the case, but that is something I do not know. However, I do know this. The sportsmen of Pennsylvania, the Sportsmen's Federation of Pennsylvania, and its various clubs, have sent letters and telegrams in support of this legislation.

The late Johnny Mock, one of my closest friends over the years, who was a sports feature writer and an outdoor writer for the Pittsburgh Press for many, many, many years, was heartily behind this legislation. Although he was sick and in the last stages of life, he wrote me a three-page letter in support of this legislation. He called me on the telephone and asked me to do all I could, because he said that this would help the propagation of fish which, in turn, would help the growth of the fish-and-pay lakes which have become quite a boom to the citizens who do not have the facilities nor the money to travel to far, distant places to enjoy one of the greatest recreations that most of use have ever known.

I want to say to all of you that it is wrong to bring this case before this group in order to try to persuade this Legislature to vote against a good piece of legislation. The only thing I ask you to do is to read the bill yourselves. There will be no difference in this law, if this amendment is passed, from what it was before, except that you are allowing the further use of the same kind of dams that can be built today. In the days when this law was passed, if fish hatcheries had been popular and had been in business at that time, this legislation, I am sure, would have contained the words "fish hatchery." No one knows more about streams and the use of streams in Pennsylvania than the organized sportsmen of this State, of which group I am a very proud member. All sports organizations have sent me endorsements of this legislation.

Mr. WADE. Briefly, Mr. President, I will attempt to answer both Senator Blass and Senator Dent.

Mr. President, I appreciate that Senator Blass stands on the floor of the Senate and states publicly that they have no beauty spots in Erie County. I am sorry to hear that, and I am sorry to hear that he must make that admission. However, we, in Cumberland County, are more than blessed with beauty spots throughout the county, as Senator Blass admitted awhile ago. Then, too, Senator Dent said they had no natural places of beauty and places where they could go to fish, but that they had created them. We have them naturally and we are very jealous of them and very anxious to preserve them. That is the reason I am opposing this bill.

Senator Dent mentioned the fact that Mr. Colin Thomas is president of the company, and we are privileged to have him as a visitor to the Senate. We are delighted that he came here to hear the discussion on this bill. That is the privilege of every citizen of Pennsylvania. I heard from Senator Dent that he went into Mr. Thomas' voting record. I do not know about his voting record, but I do know that he is a citizen of Maryland and not of Pennsylvania. I got that from Mr. Thomas. How he votes, I do not know, and as to how he votes is not a matter which should come into this discussion at all.

The effect of this bill, Mr. President, is not limited to Cumberland County or to Big Spring. The effect of every law we pass is State-wide. This particular bill, if enacted into law, would affect every stream in Pennsylvania. Under our Constitution, it cannot be limited to affect this stream alone. Therefore, I made the statements that I did.

I know that the president of this hatchery, Mr. Thomas, has a big operation and I admire him for it. I am glad that he came to Pennsylvania to establish his business. However, he has a right, as does every other citizen, to abide by the rules of Pennsylvania as enacted into law.

This hatchery does make possible the sale of trout to many of these individually-owned ponds, and that is all right. That is perfectly proper and we are glad for that industry in Pennsylvania. However, the bill as prepared, and upon which we are about to vote, does do certain things and I will repeat them.

It would provide no protection against the increasing of water temperatures beyond the safe limits for trout. The creation of shallow, exposed and unshaded ponds will contribute to a high increase in stream temperature, downstream of any structures, diversions or impoundments. This bill contains no regulations or safeguards against the threat of pollution and contamination which is ever present where there exists a high concentration of fish life contained in impounded, diverted and slow-moving waters. It would authorize the legal destruction of Big Spring to the extent that I have mentioned before. This situation does not, perhaps, exist in any other stream, but the amendment to this present law, contained in the bill we are now considering, would make it possible to do this in any other stream, of course.

I repeat, too, as Senator Dent has said, perhaps some sportsmen's associations have endorsed this bill. However, I reassure every Member of this Senate that Doctor Maurice Goddard, Secretary of Forests and Waters, told me, personally, that he is opposed to this legislation. He told me that Mr. William Voigt, Executive Director of the Fish Commission, is opposed to it. The Pennsylvania Division of the Izaak Walton League, perhaps one of the greatest conservation organizations in America and one of long standing, which bears a good reputation and fights for the things we are trying to preserve in Pennsylvania, the conservation of our natural resources, has taken the lead all over the United States in retaining our natural resources.

Lastly, Senator Blass said that this imposes on our rights of freedom and liberty. Our freedoms and liberties in America, the things which our forefathers brought here and fought for, are freedoms to do the things we want to do except when they interfere with others. When we interfere with the natural flow of water, when we interfere with the natural resources we enjoy in Pennsylvania, then we are interfering with the rights of others.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, first of all, I want to make a confession that I am definitely not an expert on this question, but I would like to report that I have received a great many communications on it.

I am located, as you know, as a neighbor to Senator George Wade and my people, of course, enjoy many of the beauties which he described in Cumberland County. We have some in York County, too, but many of our people go up there.

I have received a great many letters and they are fifty-to-one, asking me to oppose this bill. My fishermen say in their letters and cards that this would deprive the fishermen of our area of some very fine fishing in Cumberland County, and they have urged me to oppose this bill.

In addition to that, I have received Communications from Secretary Goddard and also from the Attorney General's office, both of which disapprove this bill.

I realize a great many of you may think, George Wade is a fisherman, Senator Seyler is a fisherman, and it is not in my country; thus, I do not need to worry about it. I would remind you that you ask us periodically to vote for legislation to protect the sport your fisherman enjoy and to protect the interests of your fishermen in your counties. All I would ask the gentlemen of the Senate to do is to give consideration to the fishermen in Cumberland County and in York County, and help to protect them from what they seem to think would destroy fishing opportunities for them.

Therefore, I would ask my colleagues to vote in opposition to this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Wade, will you read to me that part of the bill which does what you say it will do? You have said this will destroy the temperature of the water; that it will kill trout. I do not think you would breed trout in a pond which would kill trout.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's question — —

Mr. DENT. Read me that part of the bill which does what you say it will do. I cannot find it in my copy.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, perhaps the Senator has not read the bill.

Mr. DENT. I have it before me, Mr. President, and I still read pretty well.

Mr. WADE. Do you wish me to answer your question Senator Dent?

Mr. DENT. Yes.

Mr. WADE. I maintain, Mr. President, that under the provisions of the bill,—and I will be glad to read the entire bill if you wish me to do so, which is an amendment to the present law—it would be possible, if a man is fortunate enough to own both sides of any stream in Pennsylvania, Big Spring or any other stream, for him to impound the water and retain it there until the temperature would rise higher than is good for trout life.

Mr. DENT. Do you know that the bill allows that situation now, without the amendment? We are not changing the basic law. We are not changing the size of the dam. We are not changing any of the rights of property holders. We are not giving an extension of any rights which are not now contained within this Act. The Act now allows you to impound water in any pond which you create, not exceeding three feet in height in a stream not over fifty feet in width. You have the right to do that for fish or fishing.

There is no difference in fish or fishing. There would be no higher concentration in most instances than what you have in a fish hatchery, because a fish hatchery on your own property is a series of pools. We do that. We divert waters right now. Your Fish Commission diverts streams right now in the mountain regions to do exactly what this gentleman is doing in Cumberland County. That is the only way you can handle fish hatcheries. You cannot have it any other way. The only way you can raise fish is to divert the water from pure streams.

All you are saying in this bill is that, beside impounding the water for fish and fishing, you can do it for fish hatcheries. That is all. How does that diversion affect the stream?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I ask the gentleman if I am still under interrogation?

Mr. DENT. Yes, if you will stick to the bill, but do not read me something somebody sent you.

Mr. WADE. May I do this — —

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would suggest to both gentleman that, after a question is asked, an opportunity be afforded for the answer, so that you both do not get into the act simultaneously. Is there a further question, Senator Dent?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, may I ask Mr. Wade to read to me from this bill that part of it which will destroy fish life in Pennsylvania and do all the dire things which he says it will do? That is not contained in the bill now.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I shall be glad to read it. The basis of my argument is this, and I read from page 3, line 6, of Senate Bill No. 432, Printer's No. 291:

"or for diverting water for a licensed fish hatchery provided such diversion does not prevent the free migration of fish and that water used for hatchery purposes is returned to the stream before it leaves the land of the owner"

I submit, if I may go further to say, in diverting this water and in holding it until it heats, it has a certain influence, certainly, on the waters below the point of diversion or when it is returned to the original stream.

Mr. DENT. Senator Wade, may I ask you a personal question?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am still under interrogation and I will be glad to try to answer the question.

Mr. DENT. Have you ever seen a fish pond?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I have seen a good many of them.

Mr. DENT. Do you know the water has to go out one end and in the other or your fish die?

Mr. WADE. I appreciate that fact, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Then how do you impound water until it changes temperature? What are you going to do with the water? Are you going to have the fish drink it until they have taken all the water they can?

Mr. WADE. My answer to that question, Mr. President, is this. The water is certainly retained there longer than it would be in its natural flow.

Mr. DENT. We are not changing that law, Senator. The law now states you can build these dams and use them for fish and fishing. It is the same law, the same dams, the same proportions and the same dimensions which the law now allows, Senator. There is no difference in the diversion. The only difference is that you are allowed to divert it for fish ponds and for fishing, but you cannot divert it for fish hatcheries. How in the world does that change the basic flow of the stream?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's interrogation, I maintain this; that if it is not necessary to hold the water longer than it would be held in its natural flow, it would not be necessary to have a pond. The only thing necessary would be a screen in the upper end of the stream and a screen at the lower end, if the water is not to be held in the pond.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, thank you very kindly.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I think all of us have normal intelligence. I believe that each one of us, before we vote on this bill, should read it. I think it is a serious matter when matters are brought before this Body and something is read into the Act which is not there.

We are not changing the dimensions of any dam. If you want to do what you say, Senator Wade, and if there is such a danger, you have to repeal this Act. You have to repeal the Act because, right now, ponds are built all over Pennsylvania in the same manner as this bill allows for fish hatcheries. There is no restriction in this State on your own property. If it is a stream less than fifty feet wide, you can build a dam three feet high and, when you impound that water, whether you use it for fishing, a fish hatchery or whatever you use it for, there has to be a continual flow or the fish will not live. They need air just as much as human beings need air and it is the moving water which creates the air and the oxygen which the fish live on. You cannot impound it to the degree about which Senator Wade speaks because, if you did, the fish would die. You are in business to have the fish grow, not die.

I say to the Members of this Senate that I am battling for this because it means a great deal to a great number of people in business and a great number of citizens in this State who enjoy the fish ponds and lakes.

I think it is important not to misrepresent things. I say to the Members of this Senate there is nothing harmful in this bill. I read Secretary Goddard's letter and he had one opposition to it; that there was no restriction in the bill as to when the water would be returned. In this bill is the amendment which provides that the water used for hatchery purposes must be returned to the stream before it leaves the land of the owner. If that is diversion, I do not know what diversion is.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, briefly, in answer to the gentleman's statement, I would like to submit to this Senate that if the statement he makes and the allegations he makes are correct, and are in the present law, then we have no need at all for this bill.

Secondly, let me say to the gentleman, in a most impassioned and sincere manner, that I have heard him say before in this Senate that we are misrepresenting facts. The privilege of every Member of this Senate is to debate these bills as they are before us and as they affect present laws or present conditions in Pennsylvania. I submit to him, this is no place to say there are misrepresentations when that is not the case. I say that in all friendliness to the gentleman.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, in the western part of the State, we have had a lot of discussion recently about dams, particularly the Kinzua Dam which is going to be built near Senator Chapman's District. There has been a lot of opposition to it. Those who opposed the large dam said we should have hundreds of little dams all over western Pennsylvania.

Some of you remember Hale Sipe, who was a Senator on this floor. I was up at his farm a few years ago and I had with me a man who was my secretary. Hale Sipe had a half-dozen little ponds on his farm. He took a loaf of bread out to his ponds and he called to the fish, "Do you fish want to see a couple of good Democrats?" Hundreds and hundreds of fish rushed toward us.

I am not surprised that the Departments of Forests and Waters objects to this bill. It seems to be a habit in every department, in every State of this Union, to desire to have the people get down on their knees for every little thing. In other words, it seems they love to annoy the people back home, annoy the little people, and compel them to come to Harrisburg to get a permit to turn around.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, it is about time for the Majority Leader to get into this act, too.

Mr. President, I had the experience of going down and seeing this particular body of water last Sunday. I want to tell the Members of the Senate what I saw there. It is a stream which runs down through Senator Wade's county of Cumberland and it is a very pleasant, beautiful little stream. I saw people fishing on the banks of this stream, above the dam which was put in there. This dam, which was repaired, has no relation to the dam which would be put in if this bill were passed. However, above that dam there were several people who were fishing. They were fishing there because the president of this company permitted them to fish there on his property. If he so desired, he could place no trespassing signs there and these people would not be able to enjoy the fishing pleasures which they now enjoy. Therefore, I think Mr. Thomas should be complimented for allowing this great number of people to fish on his stream as it runs through his property.

Secondly, Mr. President, everyone of these people who fish in the fish-and-pay lakes, which are supplied by this type of fish hatchery, must take out a fishing license. That is unlike the law in many other States. I cannot understand why someone who goes to private property and fishes from a pond, and the fish are not supplied in that pond by the Fish Commission, would have to take out a license. However, it seems that is the law in the State of Pennsylvania, and many thousands of dollars are put into the treasury of the Fish Commission by virtue of these people taking out licenses to fish for fish which the Fish Commission had nothing to do with. I would say to the Fish Commission that if it could provide fish as cheaply as this man provides them, or as cheaply as they are provided by these private hatcheries, I do not think the Fish Commission would have to come in here and ask for any increase in the fishing licenses.

There are literally thousands and thousands of trout raised down there. They are in various stages of growth in the fish ponds. This man is doing a wonderful job in supplying to our citizens the fish which they fish for in the various ponds. Not only do the fish in those ponds come at the beck and call of the Democrats, but they also bite when the Republicans drop a line in.

I also agree with Senator McGinnis that these various departments should keep out of our hair when we, as the elected representatives of the people, are considering legislation. You will recall what I said when John Fine was Governor and they came over here and tried to dictate legislation to us and tell us what we should pass and what we should not pass. I so descended upon them that the Governor issued a directive to the various departments that they should keep out of the Senate and not be lobbying for or against bills which were before us. I wish Governor Leader would issue the same type of directive as Governor Fine issued to them when he was Governor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentlemen yield for just a moment until the Chair makes a statement?

I wish to advise you that it has been quite a pleasant privilege to have presided briefly over the Session during this fishing expedition this afternoon.

I felt especially honored to have been the Chaplain of the Senate today. Now because of a very important conference, to which I have long since been committed, I am going to ask Senator Scott whether he will leave his very lovely family in the gallery and preside from this point on.

In reply to a side remark as to how I would like to vote after hearing all of this debate, I would settle now for just a vote in order to get it over with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (William Z. Scott) in the Chair.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have not intended to get into this verbal combat today, but after listening to Senator Blass and the other Senators, especially Senator McGinnis, the thought comes to my mind that probably there is too much dictation. I believe it is a problem for the people of Pennsylvania to try to comply with every rule and regulation that is concocted by us in the House and Senate, as far as legislation and rules and regulations made by these departments is concerned. I believe there is a vast departure from our basic law that a man's home is his castle and his land is his courtyard.

If this is an industry here in Pennsylvania which is going to help out, I think we should support that industry. I believe, too, that we should not infringe upon the rights of the people. Therefore, I feel that the Membership should take it upon themselves to vote intelligently on this piece of legislation. I, for one, am influenced by the arguments which have been set forth here today. I am going to vote for the bill because I do not believe we should be dictated to by anyone. If we do not have the good, common sense to know how to vote and to know how to make up our minds, we do not belong in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. Senator Wade, I believe you said that Secretary Goddard was opposed to this bill. Would you mind stating why he is opposed to it, giving his reasons for opposing it?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I wonder whether the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, would repeat his question. I do not believe it was heard by the Members of the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I understood Senator Wade to state that the Secretary of Forest and Waters opposes the passage of this bill. However, I did not hear any reasons. I do not believe Senator Wade stated what reasons he gave for opposing the bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman's interrogation, I did state that Secretary Goddard had expressed the opinion that he was definitely opposed to this legislation. His reason for it was that it is bad legislation.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I have read this bill a half dozen times and it may be that I cannot read. However, every time I have read it, it seems to me that the amendment is no different than the existing law, except that it provides for licensing a fish hatchery. I see no difference in it. Therefore, if this amendment would be disastrous to fish in a stream, then I would say the present law should be amended.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I want to express to Senator Dent, Senator Blass, Senator McGinnis, Senator Seyler, Senator Mahany and others, who expressed such great admiration for the fine county of Cumberland, that we citizens of Cumberland County very much appreciate that. We do boast of having many natural beauties.

May I very briefly go to the defense of the Members of the Cabinet, and other officials of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, upon whom we must rely for a great deal of information, as we pass these bills and try to convert the bills into the laws of the Commonwealth? I do not believe Secretary Goddard is in the Chamber, nor has he been in the Chamber at any time, to my knowledge, during this Session. I do, however, observe one member of the Governor's Cabinet. I, personally am always glad to visit these Cabinet Members and other officials of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in order to gather additional information. There is not one Member of this Senate who could be expected to know everything about all of the different affairs of the Commonwealth, especially in this day and age when our government has become so complicated and covers so many areas. We, naturally, go to them for firsthand information because they are directly in contact with the situations.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?
During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)
Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 134
TAKEN FROM TABLE
Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 134.
The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF “THE VEHICLE CODE”

In the Senate, June 4, 1957.
The laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to the use of our highways and the regulation and operation of motor vehicles are in many instances obsolete and badly in need of revision.
Due to the rapid advances which have been made throughout the years in the design and construction of both highways and means of transportation, the same cannot be adequately governed by an act adopted twenty-eight years ago. Therefore be it
Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905), known as “The Vehicle Code,” and the amendments thereto for the purpose of recommending an extensive revision and modernization thereof, and be it further
Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

On the question,
Will the Senate adopt the resolution?

STUDY THE PROBLEM OF HIGHER EDUCATION

In the House of Representatives, May 13, 1957.

Whereas, The problem of equal opportunity of all for higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has become a matter of widespread concern, particularly the question of state subsidization of qualified secondary school graduates without adequate financial means to continue their schooling at the college level; and

Whereas, A number of plans have been advanced seeking a solution to this problem and containing in many instances meritorious features; and

Whereas, The participation of the State in this field involves broad questions of financial feasibility, revenue sources, adequate administration and overall effectiveness and has led to widespread controversy; and

Whereas, The General Assembly requires additional specific and detailed information in order to determine intelligently the form and extent of any such program or programs; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), that the Joint State Government Comm. conduct a thorough study of the problems of higher education by considering the following factors:

1. Advisability of establishing free or loan scholarship funds for worthy students who have displayed a capacity for higher learning to be based upon a study of various existing scholarship programs.

2. Authorizing use of existing high school facilities as Junior colleges on a community level.

3. Extension of college centers similar to those throughout the Commonwealth to be operated by and through existing institutions of higher learning.

4. Whether the Commonwealth should expand its present system of State Teachers Colleges with a view to their eventually becoming State Universities.

5. Determine the capacities of existing institutions of higher learning in Pennsylvania and the point at which they will have reached their maximum capacity.

6. Make a detailed analysis of the cost of such programs for higher education including, in addition to outright grants, the cost of overall administration.

7. Compile any other data or information that will be needed by the General Assembly to appraise the problem of higher education in the Commonwealth, while considering the task of doing a good job with respect to primary and secondary education; therefore be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission submit a report to the General Assembly on its findings and recommendations as soon as completed but not later than January 1, 1959.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the resolution?

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT
RESOLUTION No. 107

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do concur in the resolution just read by the Clerk.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not oppose this motion, but I would like the record to show that this action does not carry out the purpose of the resolution which I introduced earlier this week calling for some action.

This resolution, and the purpose of it, are completely unnecessary, as studies have already been made and money has already been expended to do the very thing this resolution is going to do again. I think we are wasting our time, efforts and energy, unless, of course, we amend this resolution and have the group hold their meetings immediately and, based on the information they already have, report to the Legislature within the next ten or fifteen days. This information is already at hand.

If they report two years from now, giving us the information, it will be too late. The very problem we are trying to alleviate will then be with us and it will be impossible to take care of it at that time, because the public will then begin to feel the pinch of double the amount of applications for admissions into the institutions of higher learning.

Today, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, there is one youngster out of four attending institutions of higher learning, as compared to ten and fifteen years ago when one youngster out of seventy-five attended an institution of higher learning. The facilities of the universities have not expanded at that rate nor do they have the financial standing or backing which the Governor's committee has recommended in the way of scholarships, loans and junior colleges to take care of this very problem. Therefore, I think all of us here are going to have to bear the onus of this problem, which is the very problem that was presented to the committee which met dealing with this situation.

In the future, I think we will have no one but ourselves to blame when we do not have the technological skills and the education required by our life in this atomic age.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, anything I would say would just be another playing of Senator Weiner's record, except that I want to amplify it a little more and say that I intend to vote "no" on this resolution.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, we have assigned a lot of important problems to the Joint State Government Commission and we are going to be busy with these problems in the interim period.

Here is a problem which, evidently, does not need study. As Senator Weiner said, the study has been made. It was a good and thorough one. We have the benefit of that. Each Member has the report and certainly we do not need another study. If we did need another study, in my opinion, the Joint State Government Commission would not be the place to conduct the study because this type of study should involve people in higher education. You cannot lay out a program of higher education unless you have the representatives of higher education sitting in, in the capacity of conferees.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would ask that we have a roll call on this resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. A roll call having been requested by the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, the Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I would desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Barr,	Harney.	Murray,	Watkins,
Berger,	Kessler.	Propert,	Watson,
Blass,	Kromer,	Ruth,	Whalley,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Sarraf,	Wolfe,
Elliott,	Mahany,	Stevenson,	Yosko,
Flack,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Scott,
Fleming,	McGinnis,	Walker,	Presiding Officer

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll stands as verified.

The Clerk will call the name of those recorded as having voted in the negative.

The Clerk read the namse of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Hays,	Seyler,	Stiefel,	Weiner,
Schmidt,	Silvert,	Wade,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll stands as verified.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and Mr. SCHMIDT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS--27

Barr,	Harney,	Murray,	Watkins,
Berger,	Kessler,	Propert,	Watson,
Blass,	Kromer,	Ruth,	Whalley,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Sarraf,	Wolfe,

Flack,	Mallery,	Taylor,	Scott,
Fleming,	McGinnis,	Walker,	Presiding Officer

NAYS--7

Hays,	Seyler,	Stiefel,	Weiner,

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. KELLER asked and obtained permission for the Committee on State Government to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am speaking primarily to the Members of the minority, although what I have to say may be of interest to the majority.

In view of the parliamentary situation that has arisen Members of the minority who are interested in pending legislation who absent themselves from the Hall of the House do so at their own peril.

The majority leadership frankly has taken the position that I would take were I in their place. They are taking the position that from now on legislation will roll if and when they have 106 Members plus in the Hall of the House. Of course, the usual courtesies, I understand, will be observed.

We of the minority on matters of major importance will have notice, at least a few minutes, as to when a particular measure is to be made a special order, and so I repeat that from now on Members of the minority interested in legislation pending on the calendar absent themselves from the Hall of the House at their own peril because the measures in which they are interested may be called for action during their absence.

I understand, further, that it is the intention of the majority leadership to have tomorrow as a full working day. That, of course, will depend upon their ability to muster 106 votes plus in the Hall of the House. I presume that following the majority party caucus the leadership in the House will have definite information, and will be in a position to state definitely that tomorrow will be a full working day. That decision does not suit my wishes or my convenience.

But I will say that if I were in your position and I had 106 Members who would be present in the Hall of the House, I would proceed with the business of the House as usual and I would call for action such measures as I believed should be passed upon.

We of the minority ask for no concessions other than those courtesies which are ordinarily observed in the Hall of this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman. The Chair will assure the gentleman that every possible courtesy will be extended.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. AUKER filed the following reasons for vote on House Bill No. 1509.

I am against such subsidized organization of education on the part of our State of Pennsylvania, particularly so, when the scholarships under this bill may go to any legitimate college in Pennsylvania, and provides and prescribes the cause of study which shall be taken under these scholarships. This, in my opinion, is an opening wedge to state control of education in private colleges.

This bill is very bad in that there is no way to compel the students under these scholarships to work for the State.

It is basically a bad way and a wrong way to reach and solve the problem involved in getting and keeping adequate technical and professional employes on the state payroll. The basic way would be to make the state positions of technical and professional nature attractive enough from a tenure, salary, and pension basis to attract people to the state employment.

This bill is bad from many other standpoints: it takes away the initiative of the student, makes him a creature of the state, and from many other points that could be cited, all of which are directly opposed to our free system of republican representative form of government. It is a serious step toward a socialistic and welfare state, and a serious step backward in our fundamental form of state government.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1572, entitled:

An Act changing the name of the Department of Public Assistance and the title of its Secretary transferring the departmental administrative boards commissions and offices advisory boards and commission and powers and duties of the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice the Department of Health and the Department of Public Assistance and Welfare * * *

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I only desire to say concerning this measure, that the amendments favored by the administration have been included in the bill, which doesn't prove that it is a good bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. AGNEW.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 968, entitled:

An Act amending the "Second Class County Code" approved July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) authorizing the county court for the County of Allegheny to appoint minute clerks.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 968 is an attempt to permit the Judges of the county court of Allegheny County to appoint their own minute clerks as employees of the court.

Allegheny County's county court is the only court in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that does not appoint its own employees.

There are four men involved. They are called minute clerks. They handle the court dockets and the routine entries in the county court in Allegheny County. These four men are now employed through the Prothonotary's office in Allegheny County.

This bill has received rather strong opposition from the Prothonotary in Allegheny County, who is reluctant to give up these four employees, even though he has about 140 other employees left in his office.

This is a good bill. It has considerable merit. We in Allegheny County have been faced with a choice between the Prothonotary, on one hand, who wants to keep his employees, and the Board of Judges of the county courts who wish to have them under their own supervision and control, inasmuch as they do the work of the court.

We have, most of us from Allegheny County, decided that the merit in this matter lies with the Judges of county courts and in favor of this bill.

So, I say the bill has a lot of merit. The Democratic Prothonotary from Allegheny County has received considerable from this Republican Legislature this session. We have passed a bill which is now law providing him with a solicitor. I had the honor to co-sponsor that bill.

We gave the Prothonotary of Allegheny County a bill giving him the right to have a skeleton crew on Saturday mornings. I do not believe the Prothonotary of Allegheny County should get everything he wants from this Legislature. His motives are suspect on this bill; the merits are with this bill.

I ask the Members of the House to support it.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I would like to address a few remarks to the House on House Bill 968, which would empower the county court of Allegheny County to appoint minute clerks for the court.

First of all, I think the Majority Members of this House acted somewhat hastily in refusing a public hearing on House Bill 968.

A public hearing was requested verbally, and will be here in writing, on behalf of the Prothonotary of Allegheny County who, as ex-officio clerk of the county court, has a direct interest in the work of the court.

The Prothonotary of Allegheny County, by whom I am employed in Pittsburgh when not in Harrisburg, has no interest in any job grabs or who appoints whom to the county court.

He has authorized me to say that his only interest in House Bill 968 is to prevent the confusion and duplication of duties in the county court that this bill will eventually lead to.

In the first place there are not now any such titles, or jobs, such as minute clerks, in the Allegheny County court. The work of taking and transcribing the minutes of the court is now done by clerks who are employed by the Prothonotary and who are responsible directly to him.

House Bill 968 does not say how many so-called minute clerks the judges of county court intend to appoint, if the Legislature grants them the authority to do so, nor does the bill attempt to define the scope of the duties of the minute clerks which the court intends to appoint.

I want to emphasize these facts, further, before the House rushes blindly into passage of this bill and before due consideration is given its provisions.

The Prothonotary of Allegheny County is a constitutional officer, just as are all Prothonotaries in Pennsylvania. As constitutional officers, they have obligations to perform which they dare not arrogate nor delegate to others, and which the Legislature cannot delegate by statute alone.

Now here is the situation that will face the Prothonotary's office and the county court of Allegheny County if House Bill 968 should become law.

We would, in effect, have the court and the Prothonotary doing the same work. Appointment by the court of minute clerks whether they be few or many would not and could not prevent the Prothonotary from assigning the clerks already employed by him to keep and enter the minutes of the county court in the Prothonotary's dockets.

That is a responsibility which is the Prothonotary's, and which he feels compelled to continue to fulfill. There is grave doubt that this piece of legislation could in any way alter the right of the Prothonotary to keep his own records. Certainly, he has not agreed to allow clerks, other than those employed by and responsible solely to him, to make entries in the dockets which he is entrusted to keep.

Let me emphasize that this bill does not, in our eyes at least, take away any patronage power now invested in the office of the Prothonotary. The Clerks now employed by the Prothonotary will continue to work under his direction. Hence the Prothonotary is not waging any patronage controversy over the bill.

What he has requested, however, and what I believe every fair-minded Legislator will agree that he is entitled to, is a public hearing on the measure to erase any confusion and duplication of duties that will be a hindrance to the court's work, and an unnecessary burden to the budget of Allegheny County.

We again urge the majority Members of the House and the Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, to consent to a delay in final action on this bill until a hearing can be held and all the facts of the situation known.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, this bill reminds me of the Minute-Men of 1776.

My reason for it is this. The judges of the county court now all have a couple of jobs, and at those jobs—I guess if I were a judge, I would do the same thing—they have their brothers and sisters working.

However, I think the main point of this bill is that it may give the judges of the county court an out, in a sense that as of now—that is, of the past couple of years—there has been quite a backlog of cases in the Allegheny Court. As of today, the minute clerks who are not controlled by the judges, you or anybody else, can go in there and find out what time the judge came to work, if he worked that day, and if he didn't, why didn't he, and so forth and so on.

But if this bill is passed and signed by the Governor, they will then become stooges, I would say, of the judges, and you or no one else would get to see whether they worked today or whether they did not.

Up until about two or three months ago the judges of the county courts of Allegheny were very well satisfied, until they got a new judge on the bench. This new judge who was appointed two years ago, and then reelected was up here on the floor of our House, and got a few Members to present this particular bill.

I doubt very much if the county court as a whole, that is each and every member of the county court, is in favor of this bill. Because I think most of them are under the impression that once given one or two jobs, this thing might get cancerous and then they would be in politics, which we of the Legislature claim that they are not. Of course, I have my doubts about that.

I think that if this bill passes, I know that one of the sponsors of this bill has a bill in this House right now under which the judges should be non-partisan. So I ask each Member of this House, so that, in all fairness we might get rid of this backlog of cases in Allegheny County, to vote this bill down.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended to speak on this bill, but since the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vaughan, referred to a measure introduced providing for the non-partisan election of judges, I am compelled to do so.

This bill is not a bill which is partisan in nature. In fact, it has the bi-partisan support of the Democratic and Republican judges of county court. There is nothing in this thing which is designed to obtain any patronage for any judge.

I am amused to hear the gentleman from Allegheny talking about patronage from the most political office holder in Allegheny County, a man who is always seeking to get something for himself.

Now, the judges of Allegheny County have the duty of looking after the records, and Mr. Vaughan or Mr. Verona, who are so familiar with the details of court administration, know that in the Common Pleas Courts, the minute clerks are appointed by the judges of common pleas court. They are appointed by the judges of every county in the state, so far as I know. We merely wish to return to the courts the power of control over the entry of records in the county courts.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that the reason for the backlog of cases in the common pleas court of Allegheny County is because the judges of the Common Pleas Court appoint their minute clerks?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, of course, the question is irrelevant to the bill, and it has nothing to do with the administration of justice. Whether a minute clerk is appointed by a prothonotary or the judge would not either increase or decrease the speed of justice in Allegheny County. We know that.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Would the gentleman say that if this bill became law that the judges of the county court could, and would have a choice of cases?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not understand the question. This bill only has relation to the entry of the court proceedings in the docket that is all.

Mr. VAUGHAN. In other words, I mean, could they say: Well here, do not give me that case, give that to Judge Smith, give me this case, and so forth and so on?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. No. No, this would have no relationship to that. The minute clerks merely enter into the docket the proceedings of the day. For example, Judge Guffey, a Democrat, would make a notation that the motion for a new trial was refused, and he would turn the paper over to his tipstaff, and the minute clerk would make an entry into the docket of the county court. And likewise Judge Kauffman, who is a Republican, would do the same thing.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman tell me who Judge O'Connor appointed, what appointments he made in his office?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I would not know whom he appointed. I think you are inferring that my good Democratic friend, Francis O'Connor, appointed a relative. Now if you want to attack nepotism in public office, I would be very glad to co-sponsor a bill which . . .

Mr. VAUGHAN. The gentleman did not answer my question.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not know whom he appointed.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Does the gentleman know who his good friend the Republican Judge Lencher appointed?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I do not know.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Well, for your information, Mr. O'Connor appointed both of his sisters, and Mr. Lencher both of his brothers. However, for some reason, Judge McBride, our good Republican Judge appointed her in-laws.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, maybe he can trust the docket with his relatives better than a stranger.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 183, Printer's No. 622,

House Bill No. 360, Printer's No. 765 and

House Bill No. 560, Printer's No. 435,

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 680, entitled:

An Act providing for the recovery of judgments from the wages salaries or commissions of judgment debtors and imposing duties upon employers.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate Mr. Dennison.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. Dennison, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENNISON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. I desire to ask the gentleman from Jefferson whether we have ever had in the State of Pennsylvania a law allowing attachment of wages for the items included in this bill?

Mr. DENNISON. To my knowledge, we have no such law. We are one of two states among the 48 which do not have such a law.

Mr. READINGER. This would allow attachment of wages up to what amount?

Mr. DENNISON. Three hundred dollars, I believe is the amount provided in the bill. Two hundred, pardon me. Two hundred dollars is the correct figure.

Mr. READINGER. For what specific subjects should the wages be attached?

Mr. DENNISON. Food, clothing, shelter, and medicine.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if we pass this bill today we are opening the hole in the dyke on attachment of wages. Until the present time I believe the only basis for attaching wages was for the support of a family.

Other states have passed these attachment bills and I believe they have been expanded and expanded. I know that jewelers, furniture men, all the merchants of Pennsylvania who would like to collect their bad debts, would like to see this law on the books. But I say to you that it is a bad precedent to set. If we pass this one today, next session there will be another extension of it. The furniture men, the automobile people and the rest of them will come in and want the right to attach a person's wages for non-payment of these debts.

Basically, I suppose it is all right to allow the attachment of wages, but actually the practice is not good. It is no good for the reason that most people who sell things like to sell them, they want to sell them, they make money by selling things, and they do not particularly care whether a person is able to pay or not.

It costs money to make investigations into a person's credit record to find out whether he can afford the refrigerator he is buying, or the stove or the other object that he might be buying. That costs money. It is a lot easier to sell him the object, take a small down payment, and then if he does not pay to attach his wages. Do not forget that a lot of employers who are faced with these attachment proceedings and are compelled to pay to some creditor whatever this bill calls for—10 percent of the wages—are not going to like it either. They could use that as a basis for discharging their employes, because of the nuisance the employes cause them.

I think we are opening the door to something vicious, to something that is not especially worthwhile if we pass this bill today.

Many, many years have passed since this type of bill has been proposed in other states and I say that the merchants of Pennsylvania should look into the credit rating of the people to whom they are going to extend credit and deal with them on that basis. We should not start attaching wages for bad debts, debts that should not have been incurred perhaps and would not have been if the merchants would have paid a little attention to whom they were dealing with.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to speak against this bill.

My remarks will be very, very brief. Under common practice when a man is in debt, he usually is in debt so far that he has nothing. The only thing he has is the right to go out and earn wages. If we permit the attachment of a man's wages we then make it so that he will not work, or cannot work, and he will go on the DPA rolls. I say that if we get to the point where his furniture has been sold, everything else has been sold and we then go in and permit his wages to be attached, I do not think it is good for the Commonwealth.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, I must compliment the previous speaker on the position that he has taken.

I would like to go a step further. As you probably know Pennsylvania is considered to be a "landlord state." At the present time a landlord can levy on the personal effects of a tenant. This bill will give the landlord the additional remedy of attaching wages so that you will have a situation where a person who pays rent but get behind in that rent has his personal effects attached and they can be sold for the debt, and in addition his salary can be attached. I think this is extremely bad legislation and we certainly should not start with this type of bill in the state of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 747, Printer's No. 767,

House Bill No. 765, Printer's No. 800,

House Bill No. 770, Printer's No. 529 and

House Bill No. 780, Printer's No. 768,

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 787, entitled:

An Act amending "The Fish Law of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five" approved May 2, 1925 (P. L. 448) increasing fishing license fees and allocating the increase for public fishing purposes and increasing issuing agents' fees.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, desire to offer amendments?

Mr. BRETH. Not at this time.

The SPEAKER. This is the proper time. We are now considering the bill on third reading.

Mr. BRETH. I would ask the Speaker if I might interrogate certain Members of the House before I contemplate offering amendments?

The SPEAKER. Whom does the gentleman desire to interrogate?

Mr. BRETH. One of the sponsors of the bill, probably Mr. Stimmel.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel, permit himself to be interrogated?

Does the gentleman desire to debate the bill?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, has the bill passed third reading?

The SPEAKER. The bill has not passed third reading. Will the gentleman wait until the bill has been agreed to on third reading?

Mr. BRETH. Thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, who desires to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of interrogation, I yield to the distinguished gentleman from Centre, Mr. Breon.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Stimmel, yields to the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Breon.

Will the gentleman from Centre, Mr. Breon, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BREON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I understand that House Bill 787, which was originally a bill to increase the fishing license to $4.00, which meant an increase of $1.50, had earmarked $1.75 of the $4.00 license for certain fees. Is that correct?

Mr. BREON. That is correct.

Mr. BRETH. I further understand, Mr. Speaker, that after being referred back to committee, the bill was again reported out with an increase of seventy-five cents to the $2.50 fishing license, with the same earmarking provisions. Is that correct?

Mr. BREON. Not exactly. The provisions of earmarking are the same. The amount is different.

Mr. BRETH. The increased seventy-five cents, I understand, would be entirely earmarked then?

Mr. BREON. Yes, as it was under the original bill.

Mr. BRETH. And under the present bill?

Mr. BREON. Yes, sir.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I further understand that under the present bill it specifically states that none of the seventyfive-cent increase can be used for propagating, raising, hatching or rearing fish. Is that correct?

Mr. BREON. The bill states that, "In no event shall any of the funds be used for hatchery purposes or hatchery type research or hatchery management or artificial propagation of fish." That is correct.

Mr. BRETH. In other words, under the bill, not one penny of the increase can be used to raise or distribute fish.

Mr. BREON. Can be used to what?

Mr. BRETH. To rear, hatch or distribute fish.

Mr. BREON. Through the hatchery program, that is correct.

Mr. BRETH. In other words, the seventy-five cents shall be used for the restricted items in the bill itself?

Mr. BREON. That is correct. Do you want me to read the items?

Mr. BRETH. No. That is not necessary. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Fisheries Committee, Mr. Stoner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman, in the event that this particular bill increasing the fishing license seventy-five cents earmarking it for various things, and restricting it to the point it cannot be used for rearing fish, if this bill would fall does it mean that no other fishing license increase bill will be considered by the committee?

Mr. STONER. I would not say so, Mr. Speaker. We have another bill in committee.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, the point that I would like the gentleman to explain is, if this bill falls does it preclude any increase in the fishing license in the bill coming from his committee?

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that would be entirely the prerogative of the members of the Committee on Fisheries.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, could I have the Chairman express himself as to whether he would be willing to bring up such a measure in Committee?

Mr. BREON. I certainly would.

Mr. BRETH. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, since 1873, in Pennsylvania, when the first Fish Commission was formed, a body of three men, we have had an increasing production of all kinds of fish, both sport fish, pan fish and commercial fish in our Pennsylvania state hatchery system. In fact up until now, or up until the past year and a half the Pennsylvania fishery system has been a model for the entire United States. We have made great progress in the science of raising fish inexpensively and raising great numbers of them. Two years ago was the greatest output from the state fish hatcheries. The state Fish Commission stocked 2,800,000 legal sized trout in our streams. They reared more than 600,000 fine healthy bass and thousands upon thousands of pan fish, such as catfish, perch, blue gills and so forth.

Within the past year and a half, the production of our state fish hatcheries has dropped. This year the production of trout, legal size trout for stocking, has dropped almost 500,000, down to less than 2,400,000. The production of bass and pan fish has also dropped.

The Fish Commission, as we all know, has been faced with considerable financial difficulties in the past couple of years due to deterioration of plant, the need for expansion and repairs and the general rise in all costs.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission at the present time is a new commission. It is composed of one old member, six new members and one vacancy.

Now, for us to attempt to pay out an increase in the fishing license of seventy-five cents, of which none can be used for fish production can mean only one thing. There will be, as the Fish Commission has said publicly, at least a 10 percent further decrease in the fish hatchery production this coming year. It further stated that if it did not receive a substantially large increase in the fishing license the entire fish hatching system would be seriously affected.

I am opposed to this bill. I am opposed to it because it does earmark it definitely for certain things, and furthermore it specifically robs the sportsmen, the sport fishing fraternity of Pennsylvania from a further fish supply from the state fish hatcheries.

I think it is a mistake in these days when the Fish Commission is faced with very serious financial difficulties to earmark so rigidly an increase no matter what it is.

As most of you know I have certain definite ideas on how to solve the Fish Commission's financial problems, and they do not include earmarking one single cent of any increase which we grant them.

Their budget this year is approximately $400 to $500,000 short for general purposes. This new license increase would be earmarked for something that is almost new in the past few years as far as their budget is concerned.

Therefore, I think it is very unwise to pass this bill, hamstringing and hog-tying the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Taking advice from the statement of the Chairman of the Fisheries Committee, I am personally going to vote against this bill in the hope that we will get another bill which will be more usable, more workable and more to the benefit of the Pennsylvania state fishermen in toto.

Mr. BREON. Mr. Speaker, hamstringing and hogtying are pretty radical words. The earmarking provision of this bill will free in the coming biennium approximately $350,000 that the Fish Commission is now using to meet Federal Dingel-Johnson money. This money can be transferred for general use.

The bill is primarily a conservation bill and it came into being out of a meeting with some of the finest fish management people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Doctor A. R. Grove, Doctor Harvey and the Executive Secretary of the Fish Commission attended many of these meetings. He is in complete accord with the provisions of this bill, that is, the earmarking features of the bill. It is a program that he himself has stressed many, many times as being essential in Pennsylvania.

The problem is basically pretty simple. It resolves itself to the fact that we need more water and more fishing areas in Pennsylvania. We have plenty of fish to put in them, but on the put-and-take basis, we are getting nowhere. This would increase a tremendous water resource program for the fishermen of Pennsylvania.

I submit that it is good legislation and the money should be earmarked.

The Fish Commission, itself, indicated they would like to do this job with a little over $1 million. That was the reason for the original bill. It is clearly a compromise at seventy-five cents which will raise $525,000.

I plead for the support of the House for this conservation measure.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I am in no way opposing this bill. I propose to support it, but there are a few things that I would like to know and I believe the House should know in connection with this bill, or in connection with the entire subject under discussion. Does the gentleman have the figures that would tell us how much it costs to operate these hatcheries in Pennsylvania?

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I could give the figures taken from the Auditor General which show that as of May 31, 1955 the Commission had a balance of $1,440,560. They had income for the biennium of $3,787,053, making a total of $5,227,613. They have as of May 31 an estimated balance of $368,000. However, I understand that these figures are lower than this, which would give them an expenditure for the biennium of $4,858,000, in the biennium of 1955-1956.

Mr. GOODLING. Does the gentleman have a breakdown of what is being spent in these hatcheries for trout versus the so-called warm water fish?

Mr. STONER. I do, sir. The ten hatcheries in the fiscal year of 1956 spent for trout $738,862, they spent for warm water species $276,952. That is in the ten hatcheries.

Mr. GOODLING. We have a show place in Centre County, known as Fishermen's Paradise. I am not at all certain why that was established originally. I have been told it is a rather costly thing and bringing in no returns to the Fish Commission. Can you tell the House what that particular project is costing the Fish Commission?

Mr. STONER. In the year 1956 the Fishermen's Paradise cost $62,237. There are 22,980 fishermen who visited the place, or an average of one and one-half times per registrant. We understand that this costs per fisherman $2.71.

Mr. GOODLING. Thank you, Mr. Stoner.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman stresses the fact very firmly concerning the number of legal trout that the Fish Commission is stocking. Will he tell us how many legal sized bass are in the so-called pan fish stock?

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, it is not the same problem. You can take a trout egg from the time it hatches in late January and by stocking time the following year it can be seven to ten inches long.

To raise a bass you have very great problems in raising them to the old nine inch legal size. They only grow about two to three and a half inches the first year. They must be wintered over which is a terrific problem. Then the second year they only attain five or six inches and by the third year a bass is between the seven and ten inch size.

Recently the Pennsylvania Fish Commission has removed all size limits on bass. There are no size limits on pan fish, on which the size limits were removed a few years ago. So I do not understand the import of the question.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman say that bass have more chance to survive and propagate once they are put in the water, when they are not taken that particular year, than do trout?

Mr. BRETH. I have no information basically reliable on which I could base an answer to that question.

Mr. GOODLING. I believe it is the gentleman's own personal opinion, and the opinion of most everybody else who is not an authority on fish that in the waters of southern Pennsylvania, bass have far more chance of survival than trout. Is that not correct?

Mr. BRETH. No, Mr. Speaker, I would not say that that is correct.

Mr. GOODLING. It has always been my impression that that was a correct statement.

One other thing, applying to what you said just a little while ago, several years ago we had a proposal here to raise the price of game licenses. You recall that I assume?

Mr. BRETH. Several times.

Mr. GOODLING. Did the gentleman, or did he not, go with me to the Game Commission office at that time and fight for a fund to be earmarked.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I would call the question irrelevant. I can answer that in about three minutes' time, if the Speaker wishes to allow it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not hear the question. Would the gentleman repeat his question?

Mr. GOODLING. I said, several years ago we proposed an increase in hunting licenses and at that time, I am asking the gentleman now, did he not accompany me and several other people to the Commission requesting that some of that increase be earmarked? Is that a proper question, Mr. Speaker, as of the present time?

The SPEAKER. The question is not relevant to the bill before the House.

Mr. BRETH. May I answer it anyway?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the question is not relevant to the bill before the House, and the gentleman should have answered the question before he asked if it were a proper question.

Mr. BRETH. I would be perfectly willing to answer it, Mr. Speaker, but I did not want to take the time of the House if it required—

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the question is not relevant to the bill.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Clearfield whether he believes in earmarking funds in some cases and not in other cases?

Mr. BRETH. I do, Mr. Speaker, because circumstances alter situations.

Mr. GOODLING. Mr. Speaker, I think we have brought out one thing here in particular, and this may not be relevant to the bill either, but we are spending $62,000 in Centre County, which I for one believe should not be spent for that particular purpose.

For a long time I have felt, and it was brought out by my interrogation of Mr. Stoner, that the Fish Commission may be spending too much money on trout. We are spending approximately seventy-five percent of all our money on trout, whereas warm water fishermen by the same token are receiving about 25 percent of the money.

I have proposed for a long time, I have proposed it again this time, and I saw I was not getting anywhere with it, although there are a lot of people in favor of this proposal that I have, and that is that we should have a trout stamp to establish once and for all how many trout fishermen we have. If seventy-five percent of our people are trout fishermen then let us continue to spend seventy-five percent on them.

I agree with the gentleman from Centre County a hundred percent that this bill definitely should be earmarked. Those of us who live in strictly warm water country have not had the same opportunity so far as receiving fish as some of the people who are in the so-called cold water streams, and I think this thing will definitely help the state as a whole if we are going to earmark this, rather than spending all of our money on hatcheries which the gentleman from Clearfield would like to have us do. If we spend some of this money for stream improvement, and then when these fish are put in here, those streams may be in proper condition to retain the fish rather than have them put in there one day and, if they are not taken within the next two days, they disappear completely. So I ask all the Members of the House to support this particular bill.

Mr. BREON. Mr. Speaker, very briefly since Centre County was mentioned as supporting the Fishermen's Paradise project, I would like to agree with the gentleman from York that this is not a necessary project although it is in my county.

I believe that over the years the Fish Commission has spent too much for their trout program. That is the reason this bill was born. This is not a trout bill, and I am a trout fisherman exclusively, this is a conservation bill. I believe we could well do away with the Fisherman's Paradise in Centre County, as far as I am concerned, and that may not be a popular stand to take back home, but I do agree.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides no extra money for hatcheries, either for warm water fish, so-called, or cold water fish, that is, trout on the one hand and bass and the other warm water fish on the other hand.

So this bill is not going to increase the number of so-called warm water fish, by any manner of means, that will be available for fishermen, as I see it. The fee for hunting licenses is $3.00 and has been for some time.

I would like at this time to interrogate the Chairman of the Fish Committee, Mr. Stoner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STONER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that approximately, in round figures, there are about 750,000 fishing licenses sold in the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. STONER. About 500,000, plus about 27,000 to 33,000 non-resident licenses.

Mr. AUKER. Now then, the seventy-five cents that you are going to increase these licenses by, would increase the revenue by how much money?

Mr. STONER. About seventy-five times 700,000.

Mr. AUKER. About how much, in round figures, would that be? I would like to know it in dollars and cents. Would the gentleman agree with me that it would probably be around $500,000 or more, in excess of $500,000?

Mr. STONER. Just about that.

Mr. AUKER. And if you would increase the fishing license by fifty cents, it would increase then the total amount by close to $400,000, is that correct?

Mr. STONER. That is right, sir.

Mr. AUKER. Was the gentleman a Member here in 1953 when we increased the fishing license by 50 cents?

Mr. STONER. That is right, sir.

Mr. AUKER. And for what was that marked and for what purpose was that passed?

Mr. STONER. This money was not earmarked. It was supposed to be for employe increases in wages.

Mr. AUKER. Does the gentleman know up until 1955, how much, if any of that money went for those purposes?

Mr. STONER. I do not have those figures, sir.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman agree with me then that in view of the meetings that were held with the Fish Commission, and the open hearings held with the Fish Commission over the last biennium, that it was found that very little if any of that was used to increase salaries and remuneration for Fish Commission employes?

Mr. STONER. That is correct.

Mr. AUKER. Now in view of that experience would the gentleman agree with me that possibly a fifty cent increase would not be more wise than a seventy-five cent increase, to see how the Fish Commission is going to make out with the smaller increase before we add another twenty-five cents to it?

Mr. STONER. I would say that is a matter of opinion with the Members.

Mr. AUKER. Well, I am asking for the gentleman's opinion. I am asking the gentleman for his opinion.

Mr. STONER. Well, the Fish Commission has very little money, and apparently if their balance remains at less than $200,000, they need money pretty quickly.

Mr. AUKER. This would give the Fish Commission, is it not true, approximately over $1 million increase in the next two years, if we agree to the seventy-five cents?

Mr. STONER. Yes, for the two-year period, for the biennium.

Mr. AUKER. If we increase it by fifty cents, it would be giving them around $800,000 in available money.

Mr. STONER. That is right.

Mr. AUKER. Will the gentleman tell me how long the present Fish Commission has been in effect?

Mr. STONER. Well, I think there were some changes there within the biennium.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman agree with me that most of them are practically new members within the last year, the last 365 days?

Mr. STONER. Yes, that is right.

Mr. AUKER. Would the gentleman agree with me then that they could not possibly have too much experience in expending the money of the Fish Commission?

Mr. STONER. That is possibly correct.

Mr. AUKER. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

I just want to make a few brief remarks. I am opposed to this increase, and I want to point out that it is taking twenty-five cents out of the old budget and adding it to this seventy-five cents.

In view of our past experience with the Fish Commission, and certainly experience is ever the best teacher, if we cannot be guided by experience in these things, we just cannot have anything to guide us, and this is one big reason why I feel that we should level it off.

Let us make this Fish Commission increase of fifty cents, the same as the Game Commission, and let us see what happens over the next two years with this increase. Certainly the last increase we gave the Fish Commission was not very profitable insofar as the fishermen were concerned. I am all for holding the line a little bit, and not making the increase so big. I think if we make it a fifty cent increase, the same as the Game Commission that levels it off. Let us see what they do with that, and then if that is not enough we can consider the problem at the next biennium.

I would also like to say that, to my mind, a lot of this money, or some of it, is earmarked for access of fishing waters. I question how much money the need for access to fishing waters. All of the people to whom I have talked over the state do not have any trouble getting into the streams to fish, so I think there is very little money needed on that score. In an overall picture of it I think we would do well to vote this bill down, and see if we cannot get another bill out here on the floor, and limit it to fifty cents, which I think under all the circumstances and conditions, in view of the past experience we have had with increases, would be much more fair at this time. I ask the Members to vote this bill down.

Mr. VAUGHAN. Mr. Speaker, just for the record I would like to put in this letter from the Allegheny County Sportsmen's League, Inc., stating that in Allegheny County, in which we have very, very little fishing—we do have a lot of fee lakes around there, and you have to have a license to fish in those fee lakes—they want to go on record here as stating that they are for a fifty cent increase in license and also for a one dollar trout stamp. We in Allegheny County issued 82,379 fishing licenses last year. That is more than twenty-five other counties combined. Yet we have no fish. I would like to place this on the record, if I may.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY SPORTSMEN'S LEAGUE, INC.

May 20, 1957

Hon. John J. Vaughan
House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Representative Vaughan

At the regular monthly meeting of the Allegheny County Sportsmen's League the seventy-six member clubs discussed pro and con the proposed increase in the cost of the regular fishing license. It was agreed that we favor a fifty cent increase, and that a dollar trout stamp be issued.

Allegheny County issues 82,379 fishing licenses annually, which is, mind you, more than 25 other counties combined. Therefore, we feel that consideration should be given to the voice of the fisherman of Allegheny County.

We are in favor of the fifty cent increase in the cost of the regular fishing license because there is very little public fishing water in Allegheny County. However, there are dozens of FEE fishing lakes which a great number of our fishermen are patronizing. These lakes are privately owned and privately constructed and do not cost the Fish Commission one cent. Every time a person fishes in one of these lakes he is required to pay an additional fee as well as being required to own a Pennsylvania Resident fishing license. Therefore, we feel that it is unfair to increase the cost of the regular fishing license more than fifty cents.

We are in favor of the issuance of a dollar trout stamp because it will put money aside for the raising of trout, and will give the trout fisherman an opportunity to contribute to his own cause. In the past, the raising of trout has been getting the lion's share of the money from the fishing license since the Fish Commission does not have a warm water fish program. The issuance of a trout stamp will provide a census which will enable the Commission to prove how great is the demand for trout.

We earnestly urge you to do all you can to effect the increase of fifty cents in the cost of the regular fishing license and the issuance of a trout stamp.

Sincerely yours

W. E. GUCKERT
Executive Secretary

I don't see a trout stamp in this bill and therefore intend to vote no on this bill.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to point out to you that the Berks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs endorses this bill, and that the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs endorses it, especially the earmarking provisions of it.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I have been sitting here for many weeks. It has been a long time since I made a speech.

I take it, from the remarks of the eminent fish and game expert from Clearfield, Mr. Breth, that he believes the present Fish Commission is not doing quite as good a job as the past Fish Commission did.

I would like to further say that in our district, either through the fault of the fish experts, or the Sanitary Water Board, instead of having more streams to fish in our streams are going backward and we are losing. For the past two years we have been losing trout streams and fish water rather than gaining, and I for one wish that someone could tell me, anyone in the House, why that is. I certainly would appreciate it.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Chairman of the Fish Commission what happens if this money is not used for what it is earmarked for.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Stoner?

Mr. SMITH. I would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STONER. As I understand the question, if it was earmarked money it would have to go for the specific purposes set forth in the bill. If it was not used for those purposes it would just remain in balance.

Mr. SMITH. Well, the fifty cents that was earmarked for the increase of wages, I happened to be a member of that Committee that sat and went into this thing regarding the wages of the Fish Commission, with members of the Fish Commission, and they could not tell us how much of that money had been spent for wages, yet they did not have any. Something must have happened to that money other than wages, and I just wondered if we gave them seventy-five cents, just what we can do about it if they do not use it for the purpose that it was set out for.

Mr. STONER. As I recall, the bill in 1953 was not specifically earmarked. It was just a general increase of fifty cents.

Mr. SMITH. In other words, it was just an "intent."

Mr. STONER. That is right.

Mr. SMITH. But the gentleman cannot tell me what we could do if this seventy-five cents is not used for the purpose for which we intended it.

Mr. STONER. They would have to have an accounting of it, I would suppose.

Mr. BREON. Mr. Speaker, to clear up the point, fifty cents was the increase the last time. Twenty-five cents specifically was earmarked for this particular project, but there was a clause in the bill that said "problems relating to better fishing."

I submit that almost any conceivable thing related to fishing could be considered a problem. That clause has been stricken from the bill, and I would like to read the last four lines for the information of the House.

"All moneys received under the provisions of this clause and all expenditures made from such moneys shall be shown in detail by the commission in every annual report or annual statement rendered by it."

That is the answer, pure and simple.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker.

Little fishes in the brook,
How they fade from the hook,
But when a fish bill here is pending.
We are hooked by palaver unending.

The SPEAKER. The Chair did not realize that poetry was one of the gentleman's attributes.

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend to get into this discourse. However, I cannot let this opportunity go by to read a letter from the Northwest Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. Incidentally, this letter is dated May the 27th. I presume a good many members of the Committee on Game Conservation, and the Fish Commission have received a similar letter. It is as follows:

"Dear Sir: The 23,133 members of the Northwest Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs requests your support in moving the Fish License Bill out of Committee, and carrying it on to a successful passage.

"The enclosed News Release will explain the sportsmen's stand.

"Also enclosed is a copy of the Northwest Division Mailing List for your file."

Signed by C. Paul Blair, Division Secretary.

Now if you will bear with me for a second, I do not take the floor too many times, here is the release:

The fishery program in Pennsylvania is in a critical situation, and an increase in the fishing license is imperative at this time, the Directors of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs unanimously concluded, as they met Sunday at Bellefonte with the Pennsylvania Fish Commission."

Federation Directors, in reviewing the current financial crisis of the fish funds, determined that unless funds are made available in the immediate future, the sport of millions will be greatly impaired.

In studying an approach to solve the serious problem of Pennsylvania's great outdoor recreation, the Federation is asking its legislative committee to sit down with the lawmakers at Harrisburg to aid in the passage of a bill which would provide the greatest amount of money to improve the program.

Increased funds, as noted by the Federation Directors, are necessary in meeting both immediate needs and setting up a long range program.

Long delayed improvements at hatcheries, replacement of worn out rolling stock, merit salary adjustments, and meeting new social security and retirement obligations of Fish Commission personnel will eat up present funds." That we agree. That is my comment. "Unless additional funds are provided at this point, the long range fishery conservation programs in Pennsylvania cannot be started.

Additional money, from a projected license increase, will meet both these needs, and provide a medium to embark on the program to acquire, develop, and manage public fishing waters, this latter phase to include: (a) acquisition of streams; (b) purchase access points on the large river systems; and (c) secure marginal lands for the construction of much needed warm water lakes for our rapidly expanding population.

J. William Shilling of Huntingdon, Chairman of the Federation's Legislative committee, has been authorized to contact legislators on these suggestions.

Mr. Speaker, the printed bill, 787 I think is the number, does exactly that. We are not going overboard in asking seventy-five cents. The Fish Commission has requested five dollars instead of three and a quarter.

I ask every Legislator in this House to vote for this bill as it is now written and amended.

Mr. KORNICK. Mr. Speaker, just a few remarks. I think it would be wise for this House to follow the suggestion of Mr. Aucker, from Blair County, on this bill.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, by way of rebuttal briefly, I just want to say I do not think we pay too awfully much attention to these letters that appear here from the Sportsmen's Associations.

I am taking my information from the rank and file of the fishermen. Most of them have not had a chance to vote, either through their federation or any place else. I know that from experience. So I say, let's not pay too much attention to these communications being read by the Sportsmen's Associations in different regions of the state.

Mr. STIMMEL. Mr. Speaker, I shall be brief, but I very wholeheartedly disagree with Mr. Auker.

It so happens that I represent the largest fish and game association in the United States. They are made up of real fishermen, and people who want to solve this problem. They are right down the line for it. If that is not the average fisherman, I would like to know what kind of fishermen Mr. Aucker deals with.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I have the floor in order to reply to my friend, the gentleman from Clarion County, who made the statement that the old Fish Commission was much better than the new Fish Commission.

I would say in reply to that, that I do not consider the old Fish Commission any better than the new Fish Commission. Perhaps, maybe, the two of them are rated about the same in the opinion of many sportsmen. I would say that.

I would say in closing that what we are doing here when passing this bill, is tampering with the fish hatchery system which has served us well, increasingly well, from 1873 to 1955.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. BRETH, AUKER and WORLEY.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

The time of the session tomorrow, has that been fixed, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. It is the thought of the Chair that the time of convening will be 9:00 o'clock EST.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the minority, I desire to complain about the way we are being murdered with overwork.

The SPEAKER. The complaint will be filed with the Clerk.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, rise?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, to make a suggestion to the Minority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. GIBSON. I have heard that it is good for you to get up the same day you go to bed.

RESOLUTION

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Mr. WOOD asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1957.

Resolved, That Thursday, the 6th day of June, 1957, at 3:10 o'clock, E.S.T., be set apart by this House of Representatives for addresses on the lives, character and public services of our deceased Members and Officer, as provided in a resolution previously adopted by this House.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

The SPEAKER. This being the day and hour agreed upon to pay tribute to the memory of our deceased Members, all business of the House will be suspended.

Four of our Members passed away since the last session of this Legislature, and as you well know, the fifth Member was taken from our midst this very week. The Chair of course refers to the gentleman from Blair, the Honorable Daniel H. Erb.

Also, the gentleman chosen to serve as Chief Clerk during this session passed away very shortly after assuming this office. He, too, served as a Member of the Legislature in former years.

Each of us in our own way remember these Members. Some of us enjoyed their comradeship to a greater degree than others; but this phase of personal relationship with one another is not the most important on an occasion such as this. However, at this particular moment, the Chair feels moved to express my deep, personal sorrow at the loss of his close friend, Danny Erb.

Our Memorial Service is the one sacred high point of the session and the Chair sincerely hopes we will never cease to honor our departed Members in this manner. It is a service filled with dignity and reverence.

Now, together, let us listen with pride as tribute is paid to our associates who passed on since last we met together in the Halls of this Legislature and also to the one whose death we mourn at the moment.

In closing the Chair would like to quote a verse from the pen of Edgar A. Guest which the Chair thinks is appropriate to the occasion.

I'd like to think when life is done
That I had filled a needed post,
That here and there I'd paid my fare
With more than idle talk and boast;
That I had taken gifts divine,
The Breath of life and manhood fine,
And tried to use them now and then
In service for my fellow men.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood, Chairman of the Select Memorial Committee to preside.

Mr. NORMAN WOOD Presiding

The CHAIRMAN. We are assembled on this solemn occasion to pay tribute to the memory of our colleagues who have departed this world during the last two years. We have not come in a spirit of mourning and sorrow but rather to scatter a few flowers on the pathway of memory and to renew our faith in a blessed immortality.

We pause in our deliberations to recall with fond memories those who have left us for a little while. Scarcely one of us but sits and muses and grows fanciful as the floodgate of memory is opened and we live again the joys and sorrows of a lifetime. What a flood of happy recollections come tumbling down the stream of memory as we look back on the friendship developed by years of association with these departed friends. The passing of these distinguished Members was a loss not only to their immediate families but a loss to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the deliberations and decisions of this General Assembly.

They have served for varying periods and their achievement is a source of inspiration to us and the future generations. What better record can a man have than that of the full performance of duty! To men of this calibre, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is indebted for their tireless energy and devoted service.

The CHAIRMAN. Prayer will be offered by the Reverend David A. Gray, Pastor of the Church of Christ, Ridgeway, Elk County, Pennsylvania.

PRAYER

The Reverend David A. Gray offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, our Father, in the silence of this hour, we pause to show our due respects to the departed colleagues of this House and the departed Chief Clerk. May we remember them for their deeds, their sincere and devoted service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for their interest in the development and the betterment of the same. May their memories long be cherished by those who remember them as co-laborers in public service. Guide, we pray, our thoughts, minds and desires to the same end for which they faithfully served the Commonwealth. In His name. Amen.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chief Clerk will call the roll of our deceased Members and officers. The Secretary of the House will respond.

The Roll was called as follows:

The CHIEF CLERK (Lloyd H. Wood). Honorable Daniel H. Erb, County of Blair.

The SECRETARY (Wilmer W. Waterhouse). Absent.

The CHIEF CLERK. Honorable M. Joseph Connelly, County of Delaware.

The SECRETARY. Absent.

The CHIEF CLERK. Honorable Karl Guss, County of Juniata.

The SECRETARY. Absent.

The CHIEF CLERK. Honorable Clarence M. Lawyer, Jr., County of York.

The SECRETARY. Absent.

The CHIEF CLERK. Honorable John R. Quigg, County of Montour.

The SECRETARY. Absent.

The CHIEF CLERK. Honorable William E. Habbyschaw, Chief Clerk, County of Dauphin.

The SECRETARY. Absent.

The CHAIRMAN. Members of this House who are well acquainted with these departed Members will now pay tribute to their memories.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the Majority Leader.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Chairman, as the present session of the General Assembly draws to a close, it is fitting that we pause to remember those friends and colleagues of ours who have passed away since the close of the previous session.

The death this week of one of our outstanding Members, Daniel H. Erb of Blair County, makes this brief Memorial Service today especially meaningful and appropriate. I do not intend to dwell upon those sad aspects of the occasion associated with death itself, which will come one day to all of us, but to recall the important work in behalf of the state of Pennsylvania done by those Assemblymen to whom this Memorial Service is dedicated.

Every one of them, and every one of us now living, and all the Members of the House of Representatives who have served in the past have helped to make Pennsylvania the great Commonwealth that she is.

In remembering our colleagues who are with us no more, we pay tribute to the great traditions of the General Assembly which is the bulwark of our democratic way of life and an instrument of government which they and we have helped to perfect, striving to bring it ever closer to the ideals which guided the founding fathers of our state and our nation.

Death is a hard condition of life, but it is life that is important, their lives and ours, what they did, and what we are doing. Thus, through our traditions and our ideals, we sense the continuity and growth of democracy in which the men we remember today had a part. And to be part of such a tradition is worthy of honor and remembrance.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, the Minority Leader.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Chairman, it is always with a feeling of sadness that we have these Memorial Services, and of sorrow because of the friendships that we have had with these men who are no longer with us. Some of them we have known a long time; some we have not known so long. But, it is always a sad thing to know that they are not going to be with us anymore. They contributed a great deal to the work of the House while they were here, and I know we all miss them very much and that they have our silent prayers going with them.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, to present a memorial to the late Daniel H. Erb, Member of the House of Representatives from the County of Blair.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Chairman, to us of Blair County this is a very sad occasion.

I have known Danny Erb for many, many years. To us who knew him so well and associated with him from day to day, not only here in the House but especially in our community life, he was a lovable, sterling character. Measured in duty and devotion to his family, of which it was the best; measured in duty to his fellow people and in his activities in the community in which he resided all his life; measured by the regard and the esteem in which he was held by his fellow employees as a trainmen and engineer, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, for whom he worked and from which he retired just last year; measured too, and possibly most of all, by his extreme and high sense of duty that he felt toward the people back home who first elected him in 1943 to this House, and kept on electing him for eight more terms. Based, too, on the fact that at no time, day or night, did anyone ever call upon Danny Erb for help that he would not gratefully give it, even to getting out of bed at all hours of the night. Based, too, on the fact that he would go any place or do anything at any time for any of his constituents, whether the House was in session or whether the House was out of session.

We have lost a very, very fine Member of this House. I could cite many amusing incidents that would make his memory a gladful memory in many respects to us.

He was loyal to his party, he was loyal to his state, and he was especially loyal to the people who elected him. We will miss him very, very much. His family, of course, will miss him more and all of his constituents are going to miss him very much.

I am glad in this way to pay my deep sympathy to his family and to his constituents and to all those who loved him and to know that he will ever be held in our minds and memories in the very highest regard.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Harold G. Miller.

Mr. HAROLD G. MILLER. Mr. Chairman, since 1945 I have sat in this House and listened to many memorials, but little did I think today I would be called upon to pay tribute to my beloved colleague, Mr. Daniel Erb.

I know of no one in this House who has been any closer in those years than I have been with Mr. Erb. We have travelled back and forth in the train and in the automobile together; we sat together through several sessions here, side by side; we campaigned together and many times went to social functions with our families together.

Today we pay tribute to a fine gentleman. Everything in life was not easy for Mr. Erb. He was a railroad engineer, and those who have railroaded know that railroading is a rough occupation. Along with that he had two children that were of great concern to him, and through it all he reared those two children and they loved each other. He educated two of them, a boy and a girl, who are now school teachers. One of the boys is following the course of railroading; another boy is working in the Court House in Hollidaysburg.

In the last several months I have noticed Mr. Erb failing and I was concerned about him. We watched him very closely and I kept this contact with him at all times while he was here and comforted his family by saying that I would watch him—they could see that he was failing. But little did I think, when I left his home the day before Decoration Day, visited and talked to him, that those were the last words I would have with my beloved friend.

I know of many times that Mr. Erb would go to other counties and help elect some Members or talk for them to be elected to this House. He went out of his way to do those things. When I first came here in 1945 he took me into his confidence and showed me around this Hill, as he did with many other young Legislators who came here.

I am deeply sorry today, but I do know that Mr. Erb was ready to meet his Master and is at home today with his Master. Thank God we have a pattern to follow in Mr. Erb and hope we can always hold his name in high esteem in this House.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, to present a memorial to the late M. Joseph Connelly, a Member of the House of Representatives, from the County of Delaware.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Chairman, on behalf of our delegation from Delaware County, I have the honor of saying a few words in memory of M. Joseph Connelly.

Joe Connelly spent practically his entire adult life in public service. He was a politician in the highest sense of that word. He was elected a township commissioner in Upper Darby Township in 1931, and he served continuously in that capacity until his death; more than one-quarter of a century of service. He became president of that board, was also very active in the State Association of Township Commissioners, and was elected president of the State Association.

Joe's interest in good government was genuine. His knowledge was both practical and intellectual. His ability and knowledge were recognized by his home community when he was awarded the American Legion Citation for his service.

Joe Connelly was elected to the House of Representatives in 1952, and re-elected in 1954. I might say, also, that Joe died on the day of the 1956 primary election which, in a way, was appropriate, especially since he was overwhelmingly renominated.

Besides these more or less statistical facts, I believe the Members of this House remember Joe Connelly for reasons other than his political achievements. While Joe was a politician, politics never interfered in any way with his friendships, which is certainly the way it should be. He had many close friends on both sides of this aisle.

Joe was deeply religious, and this was reflected in his entire life. His generosity, his quiet sense of humor, his sincerity and, especially, his kindness and thoughtfulness to other people, are what we most remember about Joe.

We from Delaware County, and I believe everyone who knew Joe, miss him deeply.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Juniata, Mr. Zimmerman, to present a memorial to the late Honorable Karl Guss, a Member of the House of Representatives from the County of Juniata.

Mr. ZIMMERMAN. Mr. Chairman, at this time it is only proper that I speak of the enviable position that the Honorable Karl B. Guss enjoyed, not only with members of this House, but with the people of his home county, the County of Juniata. The Members of this body who were present at the funeral services, were most certainly impressed by the large gathering of friends, who came from far and near, to pay their tribute of respect to one they honored and respected.

Mr. Guss was a man whose great love was people and their problems. To this challenge he addressed most of his life. As a boy he delivered papers, ran errands for a bakery, and during World War I, because of his youth, worked for the Westinghouse Corporation in Pittsburgh, preparing ammunition for the boys on the front. After the war, he entered the Eckles School of Mortuary Science, and upon graduation joined the O. H. Bair Company of Philadelphia, and was there employed until he opened his own funeral home in Mifflintown, which he operated with the help of his son, Karl E., until his death in August of 1956.

The Honorable Mr. Guss joined this body in 1953, and again in 1955. As you know, men and women in public positions are often looked upon with disfavor, and their positions and motives misunderstood. Consequently, it is desired that we should establish a public record of his fine qualities, and the good he has accomplished. During his terms of office, it was his ambition to create a recreational area in Juniata County, which was established, and due to a great extent, by the vigorous application of his talents. This park, designed for good and wholesome family recreational facilities, has not at yet been named, but with the help of those who knew him best, I am sure it will one day bear a name to his liking.

His public life may well be held high as a guide for fine living, clean thinking and honest dealings. He was a member of the Messiah Lutheran Church of Mifflintown, a Rotarian, and a member of the Masonic organization, as well as other civic and fraternal groups.

Aside from his ever active public life, Mr. Guss was a true family man, and is survived by his widow, the personable Mrs. Grace H. Guss, two sons, Karl E. and Earl Milton, and one lovely daughter, Mrs. Suzanne Heckert. This memorial could never be completed without recognizing his only sister, the gracious Mrs. Juniata Guss Sheesly, who once told this speaker, "It's a shame two such fine fellows are candidates at one time." For that remark, I shall always be grateful.

Finally, Mr. Guss was true to himself, to his many friends and his duties, which brings to my mind that bit of verse from Shakespeare which has been said many times:

"This above all, to thine own self be true
And it must follow, as the night the day
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentlemen from York, Mr. Rudisill, to present a memorial to the late Clarence M. Lawyer, Jr., Member of the House of Representatives from the County York.

Mr. RUDISILL. Mr. Chairman, as I raise in acknowledgment of your presenting me, there is still deeply welled within me the emotion caused by the calling of the roll, from whence came the solemn response "Absent".

There comes a time, I believe, in the minds of each one of us when we appreciate our own inability to adequately perform the task which has been assigned us and, for me, Sir, this is just such a time. For, I knew Clarence Lawyer; I knew him well, perhaps better than other person in this House. I knew his many splendid achievements, his aims, his hopes, his ambitions and I knew them well.

Would then that I had at my command the matchless oral artistry of a Bryan, or a Robert Ingersoll, or the beautifully descriptive phraseology of a Hiram Andrews, that I might be enabled to paint a word picture that would do full justice to him of whom I speak today in memory. Lacking, then, the artists' touch, I speak in simple words, using homely phrases to recount just two or three isolated incidents in the full life of Clarence Lawyer which I am privileged to remember.

Passing by the many important events of a dedicated and useful career, omitting the many, many honors that were accorded to him throughout his life, knowing that they have been indelibly recorded in our own Commonwealth Manual, and elsewhere for all posterity to read, and believing, too, that each one of you who have known Clarence Lawyer will add, to the sum total of anything that I may say, or anything you may read, your own personal remembrance, and create in your own mind's eye your personal mental image of our friend and colleague.

Quite a number of years ago, many, many more than I like to remember, I found myself experiencing the same sense of futility that I am experiencing at this moment, when I attempted to offer solace to a very dear friend of mine who had just lost his young wife of but a couple of years. I said to him, thinking that they were words of comfort, "You know, my friend, this is part of God's plan." I remember his response as though it were just yesterday, "Harold,," he said, "If this be part of God's plan, I just cannot understand; I cannot comprehend." And so, if the taking of Clarence Lawyer was part of God's divine plan, I too, just cannot understand, for he had so much to live for, a charming and gracious wife, a devoted family, a delightful personality, friends almost as countless as the stars we see in the heavens, marked ability, coupled with a tireless energy that enabled him to put his many talents to the greatest use.

Yes, as has been said, this is our day of memory, a day of tender yet dignified remembrance. I am one of those who believes that when Memorial Day comes 'round, we are in the presence of the dead, and that for just the one hour, at least the dead have come back to live with us again. So, it is not strange to me that, looking across yonder aisle, I see him sitting in the second row, in the seat in which he was accustomed to sit, proud that he was a Member of this distinguished body. As I see him, methinks I again hear his voice, when, acknowledging the introduction of the Chair a group of one young people arose in yonder gallery; yes, I repeat, methinks I hear his voice saying to me, "Harold, you see the one on the far left? That is my boy." I have heard those words, "That is my boy," a number of times before. I have heard them since, and I will probably hear them many, many times in the future. But, at no time before, no time since, and probably never again, will I hear those words expressed with the same warmth that were the words of Clarence Lawyer. I like to think, as I stand here speaking in his memory, that that was just one of the many, many manifestations that he made known to me of his love for, and his devotion to his family.

I bow my head, and lifting it once again, see him, sitting in the selfsame seat, with his leg resting on a chair next to him, silently and courageously suffering an almost unendurable physical discomfort. Under a doctor's care, advised that it would be far better for him to remain at home and rest, and forced to leave the Hall of the House and lie down to rest between roll calls, yet he was always insistent on appearing, day after day, to assume his responsibility to the party of his choice, and the constituents of his district.

Yes, I know that in Clarence Lawyer there abided loyalty, courage and love of family; these three. Yes, I turn back the pages of the calendar of time, and I see him over in yonder courthouse in the County of York, still in the uniform of an officer of the United States Army, taking the oath of office of Assistant District Attorney of that county, proud that he had served his Country well, and proud that he was about to undertake a new challenge of service to the people of his county.

That he accepted that challenge is evidenced by the fact that, four years later, he was elected by the people of that county as District Attorney, which he served with honor and distinction to himself and to his people.

Having served his country and his county, he was then selected by the people of his district to serve his state in this Legislative Hall. Those of you who were here last session know his splendid contribution, both in committees and on the floor of the House.

Just a very short while after news of his passing came to my home town of Hanover, I was walking from my home down Balitmore Street to the Square, and all of the people whom I passed stopped me and said, "Harold, Clarence is gone"—in words that were hushed, words that evidenced the esteem and respect which they had for him. The people on the other side of the street crossed over, and their words were the same, "Clarence is dead."

As I was passing the Elks Club, I entered and in a room I saw small groups of men congregated together, as people are wont to do when news of impact reaches them. As I walked into the room one of them disassociated himself from one of the groups, came over to me and said, "Do you remember the last time Clarence, you and I sat in the lodge; how alive, how mentally alert; he was; how he evidenced a love for the things of beauty." My friend, apparently trying to relieve the occasion, said to me, "Can you remember how his face lighted up when the beautiful lines of Thanatopsis were recited?" It seemed to me that almost in accompaniment to my nodding my head in assent, he started the first lines: "To him who in the love of nature holds communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language for her gayer hours." Then, he stopped abruptly. The pause was more eloquent than even the continuance of that beautiful poem. I broke the pause, and I said, "Yes, and it is my considered belief that when the final summons came to Clarence Lawyer, to join that innumerable caravan, his passing was as one who wrapped the draperies of his couch about him, and lay down to pleasant dreams." Nothing more was said. Nothing more could have been said.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Brand, who will present a memorial to the late John R. Quigg, Member of the House of Representatives from the County of Montour.

Mr. BRAND. Mr. Speaker, on December 1, 1956, John R. Quigg, Republican Member-Elect of the House of Representatives died at his place of business in Montour County.

It was a sad thing for his family and for his friends who were legion. It was a sad thing for the people of Pennsylvania and for the House of Representatives.

He held no public office before his election to this body, but, considering his private and business life, we are assured that he would have been a public servant of the highest order discharging his trust with fidelity, courage and honor.

He was educated in the public schools of Montour County, and his entire life was identified with that community. As a boy he worked on his father's farm, and later for the Pennsylvania Highway Department, starting as a laborer and advancing until he was Superintendent of Highways in Sullivan County. He resigned from that position after seven years to enter the confectionery business with his father-in-law, John Jacobs Sons, in Danville, Pennsylvania.

He was an active member of the Pine Street Lutheran Church, having served several terms as a member of the Church Council. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Consistory, Knight of the Golden Eagle, Knights of Pythais, and the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks. He also served in numerous civic activities.

Through the death of John R. Quigg the House of Representatives has lost the valuable services of a truly great and good man. I speak now to announce to the people of Pennsylvania that the Members of this House join his widow, the former Esther Jacobs, and his son, John, as mourners, because we are bereaved.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, who will present a memorial to the late William E. Habbyslaw, Chief Clerk of the House.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, in the early morning of February 3, 1957 our good friend, "Uncle Bill" Habbyslaw, breathed his last and took leave from our earthly life.

William E. Habbyslaw dedicated his entire life to the service of his fellowmen, and it is our great and good fortune that more than two decades of his life was spent among us. He was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1932 and remained a Member of the House during five sessions of the Legislature.

While a Member of the House, he was Chairman of the State Government Committee, and a Member of the Joint State Government Commission.

In 1943 he became our Chief Clerk, and his tenure in that office is marked with competence, devotion to duty, and genuine affection for every Member.

We learned to respect his ability, admire his integrity, and enjoy his friendship.

But his life of service encompassed more than his work here. He was a Member of the Hummelstown School Board, the Dauphin County Board of School Directors, and Clerk to the Dauphin County Commissioners. He was active in all civic and community affairs, the Masonic organizations and in other worthwhile lodges.

He was a Member of the Advisory Board of the Harrisburg Hospital, the Cemetery Board of Hummelstown, a Member of Brownstone Lodge No. 666, F. & A. M. of Hummelstown, Elks Lodge No. 1092 of Middletown, the Harrisburg Consistory, Tall Cedars of Lebanon of Harrisburg, Zembo Temple, The Jester Club and the Republican Club.

He was Secretary of the Dauphin County Republican Committee and was for many years, active in the affairs of the Republican party.

He was born in Hummelstown, Dauphin County, educated in the Derry Township Public Schools and lived in that area during the remainder of his life.

He was a devoted father, a loving grandfather, and God granted him the rare privilege of enjoying a great-grandchild.

His family and friends will be ever conscious of the loss they have suffered, for he is a man who cannot be forgotten. Truly good men are too few, and the loss of one is a tragedy for all of us.

The CHAIRMAN. The Legislative Chorus of House Members, under the direction of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Dengler, will sing "Abide with Me."

The Legislative Chorus, sang "Abide With Me."

The CHAIRMAN. As a further mark of respect to our beloved colleagues, the Members will please rise and remain standing until the gavel falls.

The Members stood in silent reverence.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) IN THE CHAIR.

RESOLUTION

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution and for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1957.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DEVLIN. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, yesterday the Members of the House voted on House Bill 656. I voted loudly and clearly in the negative.

This morning's edition of the Pittsburgh Post—Gazette carried a story of the vote on that bill wherein I was reported as having voted "Aye." When I consulted the reporters concerning this matter as reported in the newspaper, it was called to my attention that the official record of the vote in our office reflected a vote of "Aye."

I want the record to be clear that I voted "No" yesterday and voted it clearly and I want the record to so set forth.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. LUTTY. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LUTTY. Mr. Speaker, I, too, was one of the victims in error on the roll of yesterday. My name appeared in the Post-Gazette along with Mr. Devlin's and when I went along with Mr. Devlin and consulted the reporters, they told us it was on the official record.

I wish to state and express that I would like to have it read in the record that I voted "No."

BILLS ON THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 858, Printer's No. 741,

House Bill No. 886, Printer's No. 770,

House Bill No. 963, Printer's No. 771,

House Bill No. 984, Printer's No. 579,

House Bill No. 1002, Printer's No. 772, and

House Bill No. 1004, Printer's No. 773

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1039, entitled:

An Act regulating the sale and purchase of eggs conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Secretary of Agriculture prescribing fees and penalties and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the passage of House Bill 1039. I will try to keep my remarks brief and to state in as succinct a fashion as I can my particular objections to this bill.

One of the most important objections in my mind is the fact that this bill will undoubtedly result in an increase in the price of eggs to the consumer in Pennsylvania.

This bill sets up a compulsory grading and classification system for all eggs which are bought and sold throughout the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Now, I say that it will result in an increase in the price for two reasons. The first reason is, there will be a considerable increase in the price by virtue of the fact that every single egg, before it can be bought or sold, will have to be graded, classified and labeled. All of that will increase the expense to the various people who handle these eggs.

In addition to that, there will be an additional handling charge and also the additional cost of keeping the records which are required under the provisions of this act.

Under this act, all eggs which are bought by anybody in the Commonwealth, any dealer must keep records and those records must be able to identify the producers of the eggs which have been purchased by that particular person. There is no question in my mind that this bill will result in an increase in the price of eggs and I do not believe, as far as the farmer, the producer, is concerned that he is going to benefit from the increase in price that is caused by all this additional handling and work which will be required under the terms of this bill.

Also, in my opinion and may I say, as far as I am concerned, I am no expert on eggs. However, I have discussed this bill with a number of people who are experts in this particular field, and in my opinion the farmer is not going to really be any better off than he is today because if we have this compulsory grading law it means that all eggs must be graded "A," "B," "C," or whatever the classifications are.

At the present time there are a large number of eggs from high and medium grade "A" eggs, which are sold especially to institutions and other large purchasers where the eggs are a mixture of what would be under present law, grade "A."

If this bill becomes the law and these institutions want to purchase eggs and they want to purchase what they consider the best eggs, it will mean that all those high grade "B," and middle grade "B" eggs will not be able to be included in the eggs which are sold as grade "A" eggs. That will increase the price of the grade "A" eggs.

I think, also, it will tend to depress the price of the grade "B" eggs, so since chickens can't read and no matter how you feed them, as I understand it, they still lay a certain proportion of grade "A" and a certain proportion of grade "B" eggs, we are going to have an increase in the price of grade "A" eggs, but a decrease in the price of the other grade eggs. Actually the farmer is going to end up more or less where he is at the present time.

With this price rise you are also going to have consumer resistance to the purchase of eggs. I think you will find that there will be fewer eggs purchased in the Commonwealth than at the present time.

There is one other very important thing about this bill and that is this. Because of the requirement that records be kept identifying the procedures in every instance, the importation of eggs to Pennsylvania from other states will be a practical impossibility. Because there will be no way in the world for the dealers of Pennsylvania to find out who the producer was out in Iowa or Wisconsin or any other state where eggs are produced. That is very important because in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania today the people of Pennsylvania consume about two million cases more of eggs than are actually produced within the borders of the state of Pennsylvania.

In addition, as far as the grocers are concerned throughout the Commonwealth, all the small grocers who now either buy or trade directly with the farmer are going to be in a position where they will not be able to do that because they have no grading facilities.

In conclusion, I would like to say, first, that this bill will result in an increase in the price of eggs to the consumer. In my opinion and in the informed opinion of others with whom I have talked the farmer is not going to be any better off. I feel that it is going to work a terrible inconvenience on a lot of the small businessmen throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a motion that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industry.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit. I have listened with a great deal of interest to the gentleman who made the motion.

He started out by saying that he did not know very much about eggs, and then for fear that there might be some question he proceeded to prove that he did not know anything about eggs. I would think that even a city slicker would know the difference between a good egg and a rotten egg after he has bought it.

This bill is in line with established practice. A farmer knows he must grade potatoes or sell them as unclassified; he must grade his apples or he must sell them as unclassified. We grade milk. We grade all agricultural products, and now it is proposed that in order to evade grading eggs, we seek refuge by recommitting the bill.

And so, it is a matter that we at least ought to face. It is better to face the ordeal of voting than face the probabilities of continuing bad eggs that we buy on an ungraded market.

Mr. LIGHT. I would oppose this motion to recommit for this reason: This bill was in the hands of the Committee on Agriculture since April 1.

We heard proponents of the measure and we heard from egg vendors and we had correspondence with all the egg producing agencies, and there is nothing that we, the Committee on Agriculture, might consider, in addition to what we have considered. We had all phases of the problem and I would cooperate with Mr. Andrews in opposing the motion to recommit. Let us decide it on the floor.

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, on further reflection, I will bow to the statement made by Mr. Andrews and also the distinguished gentleman, Mr. Light, and withdraw the motion to recommit. In other words, we can vote on the bill on its merits.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT WITHDRAWN

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman. The gentleman withdraws his motion to recommit.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ASHTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to briefly state my reasons for being in favor of House Bill 1039 and give a few reasons why it should be passed.

As you all probably know by this time, this bill provides for the labeling of all eggs sold in Pennsylvania. The demand for this legislation comes from the egg industry itself in an effort to help itself out of a very unfavorable market position in which it finds itself.

It is alleged that this unsatisfactory market position can be attributed to two causes, mainly:

1. Competition from out-of-state eggs shipped in from states having rigid classification and labeling requirements.

2. Lack of consumer confidence in the quality of Pennsylvania eggs.

The salient features of this bill are that all eggs sold, except those peddled by farmers directly from their own farms, must be classified and labeled as to size and quality.

The dealer must classify and keep a record of the classification of the eggs purchased from each producer and must inform the producer of that classification and pay him accordingly.

To finance the additional inspection required it proposes that the Department of Agriculture will provide the labels to those classifying at a cost of two cents for 30 dozens of eggs sold at wholesale, and an additional two cents for 30 dozens for those eggs which find their way into the retail channels. It is estimated that will produce enough revenue to maintain adequately the state inspection which will be required.

The benefits expected from this legislation are:

1. A higher level of quality production on the farm and consequently a higher monetary return for that higher quality to the farmer.

2. Increased demand for and consumption of Pennsylvania eggs due to the improved quality.

3. A better satisfied housewife when she purchases eggs. If she chooses to purchase Grade "A" mediums, she will be assured of getting what she pays for. Unfortunately, at the present time she often pays a fancy price for not too fancy eggs, which she does not discover until it is boiled for the old man's breakfast the next morning.

As stated before, this is a bill that means much to the egg industry. I have letters urging its passage from many organizations representing producers. For instance, the Pennsylvania Egg Marketing Association is in favor of it. The Cumberland County Farmers Association, the Producers cooperative Exchange of Coatesville, the Bradco Egg Producers Association of Towanda, Lancaster County Poultry Products, Bucks County Producers Cooperative of Doylestown, Tri-County Producers Cooperative of Worcester, Pennsylvania, Butler Cooperative Egg Auction, Butler, Pennsylvania; Lehigh Valley Egg Producers Cooperative of Bethlehem, and the Indiana Egg Marketing Cooperative Association. In all these associations represent conservatively over 17,000 egg producers.

It is for the reason that this bill has such widespread support throughout the poultry industry in general that I urge all the Members of this House to vote in favor of its passage.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Ashton.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Ashton, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ASHTON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, on page 5 in the bill, Section 6, it states "Every licensed dealer shall keep and maintain records of all eggs purchased by him and separated as to producers."

Now does this mean that if I happen to be a farmer and have eight or ten dozen eggs a week, or five or six dozen, and I have a grocer or several grocers in the community to whom I sell those eggs and perhaps from whom I buy groceries, does that mean, under this bill, that the small grocer has to grade and classify these eggs and keep such records.

Mr. ASHTON. That is correct, unless he buys classified eggs to sell in his store which would be to his benefit.

Mr. BRETH. Well, what I mean is, we are not speaking of average, we are speaking of the individual farmer trying to sell his eggs to small town grocers.

Mr. ASHTON. The purchaser of the eggs would have to classify them before reselling them.

Mr. BRETH. Every handler of eggs, no matter how large or small the grocery business is, if he handles eggs from farmers, no matter where they are or how many eggs they receive, shall come under the direct provisions of this act and the penalties thereto?

Mr. ASHTON. That is correct.

Mr. BRETH. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill is an imposition on the small farmer as well as the small groceries and other stores that handle eggs from small producers.

I am opposed to it for that reason.

Mr. GARLOCK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a few brief comments about this bill.

In answer to Mr. Lee's statement that most chickens laid a certain grade of one type egg and a certain grade of another type egg, so many of each, that is not correct. I think that most chickens lay a good grade of eggs to begin with and that they become grade "B" or "C" eggs due to the method of handling them.

Therefore, this bill is going to encourage the farmer to produce a better egg and ultimately give the consumer a better egg. The feeding method probably also has something to do with the egg.

As to the other thing that was said about the eggs not being produced in the state, not enough eggs to supply the demand, there is nothing in this bill to prohibit eggs from coming into the state and being sold in the state. The bill requires that those eggs shall be graded and labeled before they are sold.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, you know I am reminded of an incident years ago. A rural merchant had a boy working for him. The merchant was a very devout man. He called to the boy one morning, "Anthony, have you sanded the sugar?"

The answer was "yes."

"Have you watered the molasses?"

The answer was, "yes."

"Have you mixed the good and the bag eggs?"

The answer was, "yes."

"Well, then, Anthony, come into prayers."

Now we have had a magnificent rally in defense of the divine right of people to sell rotten eggs, and if you think that rotten eggs do not get around, you have missed something because they can even travel into our Capitol building here, our magnificent Capitol Building, and you can get an egg, not often, but upon occasion that is a bit, well, what do you call it—"gamey"—if it is vension, you call it "gamey" and this is a bill designed to eradicate the "gamey" eggs.

As the gentleman has just said, when Pop is in a hurry in the morning, he does not want to wrestle with a bad egg.

As I pointed out on the motion to recommit, we are in line with the procedure of the times. In all agricultural products there are grades and you sell them unclassified at your peril. Well, this may put eggs at a little higher price, I do not know, but I would rather pay a little more for a good egg than to have my stomach turned in the morning with a bad one.

Mr. AUSTIN M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, just a brief remark, and that is that as I understand this bill, the farmer, the producer, is not covered by the bill. If there are going to be any rotten eggs floating around, the producer is permitted, under the terms of this bill, to sell them at retail himself. In addition to which, under the terms of this bill, he can sell them to restaurants.

It seems to me that this bill, if it is as good as has been made out, does not go quite far enough. None the less I still get back to my original point which is, that with all this grading and classifying and record keeping, and so forth, the price of eggs is going to go up and that is going to be to the detriment of the consumer and, in my opinion, that rise in the price of eggs will not inure to the benefit of the farmers.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to try the patience of the House, but it seems to be a very curious situation if one of the substantial industries of our Commonwealth is coming into this Chamber supporting the bill, which in the language and thought of the gentleman from Philadelphia, is going to curtail the sale of its product.

We have the major interests identified with the distribution and sale of eggs and those organizations coming in for the bill. Then we are told that if they get what they want it is going to ruin them. I think we should have a method of locating a rotten egg wherever we find it, and then maybe you would have the ammunition to throw at a certain type of politician bare handed.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, as to this bill 1039 I am really surprised, even though I know the egg industry in this state is quite large, to find the interest in this bill from some people who admit they do not know anything about it.

I would like to answer a couple of the statements that have been made here.

It would appear there are certain people who would attempt to have the folks in this House believe that this is a move to increase the price of eggs. It is the intent to get the producer of good eggs a fair price for quality, with which I think most you will agree. We have a lot of eggs coming into this state, and under our present law they are permitted to sell those eggs or any other eggs without marking the grades.

Now, if this is an imposition on the consumer in this state, I am too dense to see it. When you set them up to ask the handler of those eggs to mark on the package what grade they are getting, I am reminded of this argument that takes me back some years.

We have had similar problems with other agricultural products. I know of a gentleman who lived in town and ran a grocery store for a good many years and then he went out on a farm. He was digging potatoes and he got too many dug out in the evening and they froze that night. The next morning he told his men to just mix them up with some good ones and "We'll sell them that way."

That is one way of doing things, and that is similar to what some people are doing with eggs today. This will certainly not increase the price of eggs except where there is a better quality that the public demands and they are willing to pay a little more for them.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, as a freshman member of the Agriculture and Dairy Industries Committee, I rise to oppose House Bill 1039.

It seems that the proponents of this measure contend that upon the passage of bill 1039 and its becoming law, we will have the producers producing a better quality egg. I see nothing in the bill which would do that.

Personally I believe it is a measure which would tend to tempt the producer today, that producer which is against this bill, to sell his eggs to the marketing co-operatives. In as much as many of our producers of today, many of whom I have in my county and with whom I have met upon this measure, have an established route in which they dispose of the product which they produce, to the neighborhood stores and other areas in which they sell their product, it stands to reason that those stores will not continue to buy those eggs in the event that this bill is passed, because the neighborhood store would then have to become licensed and keep a record of the transactions segregated as to what producer brought in how many and what eggs. Now we find that in the event that the store does not take those eggs that producer must then move them through a dealer or a marketing co-operative.

I find in my experience, and I operated a neighborhood store for some years, that you eliminate the bad eggs by discontinuing doing business with the producer that brings that type of eggs into your store, but you continue to experience doing business with that person that delivered a proper product and commodity to you that you would be able to resell to the consumer.

I do not believe this bill will tend to do more than just what I have said. I have sat through the deliberations on this, and it is my contention that it will tend to do no more than to make the small producer sell his eggs through a dealer or a marketing cooperative, rather than being able to do his business in the old familiar way in which he has been doing it for years, by selling to his customers with whom he has established himself in the eggs business in this Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1091, entitled:

An Act amending the "Local Health Administration Law" approved August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304) limiting the powers of the county departments of health.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I assume that after we take up House Bill 1091 we will go on to 1092, and in order to facilitate matters I would like to speak on both bills at the same time.

The SPEAKER. Without objection the gentleman may speak on both bills at the same time. The Chair hears no objection. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, my home county, Allegheny County, has the largest local public health unit in the entire nation. It was formed under the Local Health Administration Law of 1951 and commenced operation this January 1st. It now offers public health service of the highest caliber to well over a million people.

The Allegheny County Health Department operates under Rules and Regulations adopted by the Board of Health which is composed of three outstanding physicians and two highly respected businessmen. These regulations are then approved by the County Commissioners and duly advertised in accordance with law.

The Local Health Administration Law presents a carefully drawn scheme for dealing with public health problems that menace the well-being of people in this 20th Century. The formation of county health units has been hailed as a giant step forward in preventative medicine.

In matters of public health I believe most sincerely that we must accept the judgment of public health physicians. I am opposed to House Bill 1091 and House Bill 1092 because it seems obvious to me that the State Department of Agriculture is certainly not qualified to pass judgment in matters of public health.

If the State Legislature believes that it is necessary to have a State agency certify a Rule and Regulation promulgated by a local health department, then certainly that State agency should be the State Department of Health, rather than the State Department of Agriculture.

House Bill 1092, if passed, would weaken the provisions of the local health department Rules and Regulations requiring the pasteurization of milk sold for human consumption. There are approximately ten thousand farms producing milk for sale in Allegheny County. Only forty of these farms located in Allegheny County sell raw, unpasteurized milk; fifteen of these farms are not even licensed by the State Department of Agriculture. Within the last month, a cow from a dairy herd on one of these farms was found to be infected by Brucellosis, once again pointing up the fact that raw milk is unsafe milk.

I, therefore, ask the Members on both sides of this House to cast their vote for Public Health and vote against these bills.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, this House has demonstrated that it is very, very keen when passing upon problems particularly affecting the rural districts of our Commonwealth. Not many hours ago we had a choice between promulgating an act making it possible for the person who wanted eatin' eggs to buy eatin' eggs, and the person who wanted to buy throwin' eggs to buy throwin' eggs.

Now we have another problem affecting not only the rural districts but also our urban areas. We have 67 counties, 67 counties—count them. If there are to be 67 different tribunals which can legislate regarding the sale and distribution of agricultural products, you create confusion worse than you found it.

The object of this bill is to stabilize health regulations insofar as agricultural products are concerned. If you read Section 18 of Act 1092, you will find it states, and since the gentleman from Allegheny discussed 1092, we will also refer to that:

"The provisions of this act and the regulations made thereunder shall not be taken or deemed to repeal existing municipal ordinances nor to prevent municipalities or counties which have established or joined in establishing county departments of health from enacting and enforcing new ordinances or regulations for the further protection of the public health."

If you are a farmer and you have one rule regarding milk in one county and another rule regarding milk in another county, if you have 67 different rules regarding the distribution of eggs, of milk, of the various products that a farm produces, you create a gradually intolerable situation. There must be, regarding these regulations, some central authority somewhere which will bring the rules into some semblance of unity, and that is the object of these bills, to see to it that my county cannot pass one set of regulations, Indiana County another set, Somerset County another set.

The Health Department in some of our minds is gradually buliding what would be an empire. It is extending its powers throughout the Commonwealth. Perhaps there would be some justification in a point of view that the Department of Agriculture or the Department of Health should be the agencies through which to unify the regulations regarding the distribution of agricultural products, and that is the object of the bill. There is nothing in these two bills in degradation of the practices which the gentleman from Allegheny so properly praises, and in the interest of common sense I urge the adoption of these two measures.

Mr. LIGHT. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, I would like to debate House Bill 1091.

I want to thank the gentleman from Cambria for the contribution to House Bill 1091 in asking for its adoption. I want to say, before I debate the bill, that there is nothing in 1091 that refers to the enforcement of any part of the Milk Order; there is nothing in 1091 that has anything to do with milk whatsoever.

House Bill No. 1091, Printer's No. 692, would amend the Act of August 24, 1951, by "limiting the powers of the county departments of health and conferring powers on the Department of Agriculture." This bill was drafted to correct a situation which has arisen in one of our Pennsylvania counties and if it is not corrected it will no doubt become an established plan for other county boards of health.

The County Health Act, to which the gentleman from Cambria has already referred, was passed in the session of 1951. It established the County Board of Health and defines under Section 10, their duties as follows:

"It shall make and enforce such rules and regulations subject to the approval of the county commissioners or in case of a joint-county department of health the joint-county health commission and institute such programs not inconsistent with law as may be necessary for the promotion and preservation of the public health."

This section is amended in House Bill 1091, by adding the following:

"No such rule or regulation shall operate to affect the producers of agricultural products in the production, distribution or sale of their products until the rule or regulation has been approved by the Department of Agriculture.

Under the provisions of the 1951 Act, the powers of these appointive bodies are practically unlimited, and as a result of these unlimited grants of powers, we now realize that such a group, unfamiliar with the agricultural industry, may issue orders and regulations that will greatly hinder and interfere with the orderly production and practice now carried on in agriculture. In one county, the County Board of Health has undertaken the inspection of fruits and vegetables, and in support of this there is a copy of a letter addressed to an official in the Department of Agriculture by an officer of the County Board of Health which reads as follows:

The Health Department has provided a service in the inspection of fresh fruits and vegetables in the wholesale produce areas. Here may be another area where the Department of Agriculture is likewise providing an inspection service which may in effect amount to complete duplication of our service as most of this activity involves quality and condition of produce rather than disease potential.

And the letter continues:

"I would like to hear from you as to what your Department's position would be regarding the preempting of this field in this activity."

That is the end of the letter.

This letter clearly indicates that this particular county board presumes to regulate the sale of fruits and vegetables in its domain, and you will note that the language of the letter indicates that they contemplate entering into this field, not because of any disease potential, but to control the quality and condition of such products.

If a County Board of Health is permitted to enter into this field, there are many areas where their activities will disrupt the orderly production and marketing of agricultural products. They could very easily prepare regulations that would prevent a farmer from dressing poultry and selling the same at a farmers' market or at his own home. They can, no doubt, also control the sale of livestock, if one county board can do all these things. Sixty-seven counties can set up regulations to control the sale of peaches, apples, grapes and any other fruit on a fruit orchard, and any other farm product sold on the markets of Pennsylvania. The County Board of Philadelphia could interfere with the sale of all fruits, vegetables and other farm produce moving into that great city, and the varied farm industries of Pennsylvania would all be in trouble if there were 67 County Boards of Health passing upon the quality and the condition of farm products. We, in agriculture, take great pride in high quality produce which our farmers and fruit growers have supplied to the citizens of Pennsylvania over the years, and the absence of disease outbreaks caused by the consumption of these products clearly indicates that food producers have done a good job.

House Bill No. 1091 will not prevent the County Boards of Health from carrying on their intended functions, but it will require that whenever regulations or ordinances are prepared that will affect agricultural production, such ordinances shall be approved by the State Department of Agriculture which administers the Pure Food Laws governing the marketing of farm products here in Pennsylvania.

It may be said, too, that there is ample precedent to be found for legislation of this type in other fields. We have it in our school system, school boards are required to secure State approval for many of the programs which they wish to initiate on the local level. Township supervisors are subordinate to the State Highway Department, in some respects, in their work on the local level, and the same is true of other segments of our local government.

I should like to call attention to the Bureau of Markets, in the Department of Agriculture which covers market promotion, including marketing of fruits, vegetables, poultry, eggs and potatoes; enforcement of laws affecting agricultural marketing cooperative, and carrying out cooperative marketing projects with the Government of the United States. The County Board of Health would begin to interfere in all of these activities which are a part of the Department of Agriculture. It is thus seen that the Department of Agriculture under the Administrative Code is now covering the entire field of quality and condition of produce, a field which the County Board of Health plans to control.

I should like to call attention to a little matter that happened last week.

The Bureau of Markets is now performing efficient jobs at a moderate cost to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as gleaned from the budget figures which were passed a few days ago. It is noticeable that the total appropriations to the Department of Agriculture, as passed by this House several days ago, amounted to something better than $6 million, whereas the appropriation for the County Boards of Health, providing aid in the establishment and maintenance of the county health departments made available for them the amount of $3 million for the coming biennium, an amount just a little less than one-half of the amount provided for the Department of Agriculture, with its numerous activities and multitudinous duties. For the reason that the Department of Agriculture, the duly organized department by law in the field of marketing is the authorized law enforcing agency, any efforts to preempt this field by the County Board of Health is a duplication of effort and unnecessary.

For these reasons I wish to ask the membership of this House to vote for the passage of House Bill 1091.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman who just spoke, Mr. Light.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Light, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIGHT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman tell us if the appropriation for the Department of Agriculture was contained in House Bill 1700 in the same amount as recommended by the Executive department?

Mr. LIGHT. I cannot tell you, Mr. Toll.

Mr. TOLL. Can the gentleman tell us, Mr. Speaker, whether the appropriation for the Department of Agriculture has been cut in House Bill 1700?

Mr. LIGHT. The appropriation is not as much as it was the last time.

Mr. TOLL. Can the gentleman tell us by what amount it was reduced?

Mr. LIGHT. No. I do not have the figures.

Mr. TOLL. I see.

Mr. LIGHT. I took these amounts from the budget as it was passed.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell us whether the amount exceeded $1 million?

Mr. LIGHT. I do not have the figures. I took these figures from the budget passed for Agriculture.

Mr. TOLL. Can the gentleman tell us, Mr. Speaker, in view of the reduced budget, whether the Department of Agriculture can be expected to do the kind of a job which he indicated to avoid duplication by some counties?

Mr. LIGHT. I think it can be expected.

Mr. TOLL. Even with the reduced budget?

Mr. LIGHT. I think so.

Mr. TOLL. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1110, Printer's No. 775

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably of order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1126, entitled:

An Act amending the Second Class City Law of March 7, 1901 (P. L. 20) changing the number and further regulating the election of members of council and providing for the election of members of council by districts.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 1126 is a step backward in Pittsburgh's city government. To understand that one need only turn back the pages of history.

During the early part of this century the council of the City of Pittsburgh consisted of representatives of various districts of the city. The councilman representing his district was the absolute boss of his district and the real power in local politics.

His position in council at that time depended to a great degree on favors he could shower on his constituents. This type of local rule resulted as one would expect, in wholesale graft and corruption and eventually about 1911 several of the councilmen were indicted and sent to jail.

As a result of a study of corruption made at that time, reforms were introduced leading to the formation of a nine man council from the citizens at large.

Pittsburgh is a comparatively small city in area and the nine councilmen at large are familiar with the problems of the various neighborhoods and are a legislative body functioning smoothly for the benefit of the entire city.

This is true now and dates back to the times when all of the members of the city council were Republicans. In fact the present councilmanic management set up in Pittsburgh has worked so effectively to the benefit of the citizens that the setup has been commended time after time by the newspaper and national and international periodicals as well.

Committees from some of the most progressive municipalities in this country and from abroad have visited Pittsburgh to study our municipal system of government and have returned to their own communities singing the praises of Pittsburgh.

The emergence of Pittsburgh from a sooty, smokey, village of dirty buildings to a beautifully planned business, cultural and social center has been considered by eminent authors as the most progressive city in the country, famed throughout the world for its new buildings and beautiful roadways.

All of this is an attestation to the effectiveness of its present form of government. Now we are to vote on a bill that is to change this form of government. The people of Pittsburgh are asked to pay more for representation that would be limited in brilliance and ability to perform for all Pittsburgh.

Each councilman elected by an individual district would feel greater responsibility to his own district than to the city as a whole. I believe that a nine man city council in Pittsburgh is sufficient to legislate the laws for the city of Pittsburgh. That nine of the most able men of the city, willing to serve, should comprise that legislative body.

I do not believe that a person meeting all the qualifications of the perfect councilman should be barred because someone living in the same district also meets the test and is more popular politically.

The principal of home rule itself plus the fact that the people of Pittsburgh are entitled to the exercise of a free franchise, notwithstanding the other arguments I have advanced should dictate the defeat of this bill.

Ladies and gentlemen, please do not return Pittsburgh's city government back to 1911. Vote against House Bill No. 1126.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk, had a very fine speech but he neglected to discuss the details of this bill. The Pittsburgh city council is now composed of nine members. They are all elected at large.

This bill would increase the councilmanic body to thirteen members, each one of whom would be elected from a councilmanic district.

As every Member of this House knows, most of our boroughs elect their councilmen on a ward basis. All of our first class townships elect their commissioners, one commissioner to each ward. Only our second class townships and some boroughs and smaller municipalities elect their supervising body at large.

It seems to me inconceivable that councilmen in the city of Pittsburgh would all be elected at large. As a practical matter the way it turns out, most of the councilmen in the city of Pittsburgh come from a selected few residential areas. And in the best part of the city, most of the neighborhoods, most of the communities in Pittsburgh, have no representation on city council.

I think this is a good bill. I think it would provide what the city council, what the city government of Pittsburgh does not now have. City government in Pittsburgh is far from being the model for the world as the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk, pointed out. Actually it is a closed corporation. It does all its business behind closed doors. With one councilman for each of the thirteen councilmanic districts in Pittsburgh it would be more wide open, the business would be transacted in public, there is a possibility that one, two or three of those thirteen councilmen might even be Republican, and there would be minority representation on the council.

I think this is a good bill. I think every Member of this House can very safely vote for it.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RIGBY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, in the morning paper, The Pittsburgh Post Gazette, I understand that Mr. Rigby said he was reluctant to be on this bill. I just want to know what his attitude is towards this bill now having been reluctant.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, I am going to vote for this bill. I am wholeheartedly in favor of it.

I had proposed what I thought was a better bill several weeks ago in this House. It was defeated. I think this bill is an excellent substitute for it. I think it will accomplish what my bill, House Bill 10, would have done and that is, give minority representation in city council, because certainly 100,000 Republicans certainly ought to have someone on city council so that we would have a voice in it.

City council as it exists today is strictly a closed-door outfit dominated by one man, and we are pulled around just like puppets. Certainly, this is a good bill. Mr. Verona, I can go on for hours if you want.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, let's not mention any names like we did today.

Mr. RIGBY. Not even Verona?

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I realize there are lot of people that go to the race tracks and I known quite a few bet on the second and third horses, just like Mr. Rigby is doing today. He is going for the second and third, he lost the first. Is that right, Mr. Rigby.

Mr. RIGBY. No, Mr. Verona. There is an election coming in November and I assure you I got the first horse.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I will book any daily double they run here today on that election in November. Thank you very much.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Agnew, permit himself to be interrogated?

The Chair would remind the Members that we are discussing House Bill 1126 and they should confine their interrogations to the bill before the House.

Mr. AGNEW. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Agnew, I would like to ask the gentleman the question, whether he is a resident of the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. AGNEW. I am a resident of Allegheny County.

Mr. KAMYK. You are not a resident of Pittsburgh?

Mr. AGNEW. No, I am not a resident of Pittsburgh.

Mr. KAMYK. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I am a resident of the city of Pittsburgh and I am very proud of the progress that Pittsburgh has made in recent years. I think that progress was due to harmony, not only the harmony among the mayor and the city council but, also with many distinguished Republican citizens, who cooperated to make Pittsburgh the great city that it is today.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk, consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kamyk, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KAMYK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is the gentleman familiar with the manner in which councilmen are elected in the great cities of the United States?

Mr. KAMYK. The city that I really know is Pittsburgh, Mr. Speaker. I am not an authority on all of the other cities.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Is it not a fact that councilmen are elected by districts in Philadelphia?

Mr. KAMYK. In Philadelphia, as far as I understand, councilmen are elected by districts and also there are councilmen at large, but that privilege was given to Philadelphia through their Charter and their people selected that form of government in their referendum.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Are councilmen elected in the city of New York by districts?

Mr. KAMYK. I do not know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Are the councilmen not elected in the city of Cincinnati by districts?

Mr. KAMYK. I do not know, Mr. Speaker, but I understand there was a group from Cincinnati trying to find out how Pittsburgh is running their good government.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Well, if Pittsburgh is running their good government, House Bill 1014 which the Mayor and the Democratic party are fighting for over in the Senate is taken from the city of Cincinnati, the place of good government, why don't you follow Cincinnati on that, Mr. Kamyk?

Mr. KAMYK. I am interested in Pittsburgh.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Kamyk, you gave us a historical discussion about the old councilmen back in 1911. How many councilmen were elected at that time?

Mr. KAMYK. I do not recall. I only heard that they didn't do so well in those days.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Do you not know then in Pittsburgh in 1911 councilmen were elected by districts, both the select and common council, and there were probably 60 councilmen in the city of Pittsburgh at that time?

Mr. KAMYK. If you say so, it is probably the truth.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Thank you, Mr. Kamyk, do you not know that councilmen were elected by districts in Philadelphia before the Home Rule Charter was passed?

Mr. KAMYK. I do not know because I only came into the Legislature in 1949 and that is when I began to hear about the Philadelphia Charter.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Then the source of your speech about the councilmen was a handout. Was it not?

Mr. KAMYK. What is that?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I presume you made a study of this historical background of the Pittsburgh city council, and I am asking you what your source was and where you got it.

Mr. KAMYK. I heard about those things, Mr. Goldstein, quite a few years ago, about that old councilmen setup in Pittsburgh. It is a fact that they were in trouble and some of the councilmen did go to jail.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Oh, a lot of people went to jail in Pittsburgh from time to time, recently too. That is all, Mr. Kamyk.

Mr. Speaker, all I want to say is this, in the city of Pittsburgh the election of councilmen by districts is sound progressive government. It will give an opportunity not for a Republican to be elected but for a Democrat also to be elected and vice versa.

I am in favor of this bill because it enables an independent citizen who is not hamstrung by a political organization, regardless of party, to have a better chance of being elected.

If you would follow Mr. Kamyk's political reasoning to its logical conclusion, then legislators would be elected at large throughout the state of Pennsylvania. That is unsound. We feel that this particular legislation has the interest of people who are forward looking and who want good, responsible government where the men will be able to say what they have to say and not be behind closed doors as my colleague, Mr. Rigby, has indicated.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, for some time today we have had the fortunate situation of considering various matters on a nonpartisan basis.

I observe that as soon as anything relating to Pittsburgh, or perhaps even Philadelphia, comes before this body, unreason and prejudice takes its stand in the center aisle, and over here we follow a party line and over on the other side you follow a party line, and when there is a Pittsburgh or Philadelphia problem pending, instead of considering it on its merits, instead of considering the various proposals from an academic point of view, we line up according to party. I cannot see that procedure over the years has been in any sense conducive to sound legislation.

If we are going to go over the years and depend upon the results of a particular state election to determine the kind of legislation we are going to have for Pittsburgh or Philadelphia or other cities, we are going to place a barrier in the path of municipal progress.

You and I know that many a man can survive in public service in a district who could not survive in the city, and the ability to serve, the ability to serve in conspicuous manner, is in no way determined by the place of birth. What Pittsburgh wants and what Philadelphia should want, what my city should want, is not someone who represents a local parochial point of view, but someone who has vision to encompass with his mind the problems of a city.

You will note, ladies and gentlemen of the House, this Assembly serves this, our Commonwealth, to the best purpose when we divest ourselves of a sole local interest and try to envision the needs of our Commonwealth as a whole. There is wisdom in the proposal that the citizens of a great city should be permitted to choose as their leaders those who have not simply local status but have gained a place, won by their own talents, in the community of which they are a part.

I believe that it would be, as far as Pittsburgh is concerned, a backward step to create a situation where one must needs, if one would serve, devote one's first attention to what the people in one's district want instead of serving on a statewide municipal basis.

We have found that in the third class cities, quite a good many years ago, they abolished the local representation idea in forming their council and now elect councilmen at large from the entire community. That sort of a council serves to better purpose than those of us who need to be continually log rolling to get something for a particular section of a great city.

The disposition of the House being what it is, I would judge from the temper of the interrogations that the result would be tintured by local personal ambition and by the tint of local politics. I would be greatly surprised that the political partisanship having been drawn, that anyone on this side of the House—I know how they line up, and I would be greatly surprised if there should be a break in the so-called party line on the other side of the House.

I say to you, if we are going to legislate in good faith with our municipalities, we cannot keep going that way. Because what you do today, if you act in a partisan manner, the day will come when those who succeed you, being in poyer in behalf of another party will change it. What a city needs is continuity in planning, enlargement of revision and leadership that represents an entire community rather than a local constituency.

So I would hope that you would lower the line of party prejudice, the line of party advantage, just low enough to permit a few on that side of the House to vote on the side of reason.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker during this debate on the former bill when Mr. Rigby was calling for minority representation, or compulsory minority representation, on the city council in Pittsburgh, the other side brought out a point that if the 100,000 registered Republicans that we have in the city of Pittsburgh wanted representation all they had to do was vote out the Democrats.

Now Mr. Andrews made a statement something to the idea of . . .

Mr. KAMYK. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Allegheny, rise?

Mr. KAMYK. A point of order. I think the gentleman is talking on another bill.

Mr. STUART. It strictly pertains to this bill, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

For the information of the gentleman, we are now considering House Bill 1126.

Mr. STUART. I am discussing House Bill 1126.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the bill before the House.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Andrews made a statement a moment ago to the effect that a man could possibly survive a city-wide election that could not possibly survive a district election.

Now what we are trying to do is lay this out in smaller districts where—

Mr. ANDREWS. Would the gentleman yield?

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, rise?

Mr. ANDREWS. For a correction. I very distinctly said that in my opinion a man could survive in a district who could not survive on a city-wide basis.

Mr. STUART. Well, anyway, Mr. Speaker, we want the people who live in a district to know the man that is representing them to be able to vote for him. That is why we want this broken down into thirteen districts. We feel that we will get better government by it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Rigby for one or two questions.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RIGBY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, before Mr. Filo interrogates me I would like to have the privilege of asking one question.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, has asked for permission to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield for just a moment?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, yield?

Mr. FILO. I will yield, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RIGBY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Rigby, I will answer the question he wanted to ask me, Mr. Speaker. I do not live in the city of Pittsburgh, but certainly the legislators in the state of Pennsylvania are voting on this legislation.

Now I do want to ask Rigby, since he brought it up in his former statement, if they wish representation in the city of Pittsburgh, I can tell him numerous towns throughout the County of Allegheny that do not have Democratic representation. Is that not true, Mr. Rigby?

Mr. RIGBY. Oh, I suppose there are some places

Mr. FILO. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RIGBY. I would like to ask the gentleman a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FILO. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. RIGBY. I would like to ask the gentleman if it is true that first class townships elect by district?

Mr. FILO. That is true.

Mr. RIGBY. That is all.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, on the other hand, if I can interrogate the gentleman, it seems that many boroughs . . .

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Rigby, permit himself to be interrogated? The Chair is not sure who is interrogating whom.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman, do all the boroughs elect members according to districts?

Mr. RIGBY. Well, that I would not know, being strictly a city folk.

Mr. FILO. For the gentleman's information, they do not.

Mr. PEROSKY. Mr. Speaker, again following up with the plea of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, for the reason that the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle recognize, as I know the other Members of the House recognize, that we have 47 third class cities in this Commonwealth and the councils of those cities are elected at large. Many of the men on the other side of the aisle represent some of those cities.

We also have a Second Class "A" city and their councilmen are elected on an at-large basis. So that you find that with a piece of legislation of this nature, if the reasoning behind it were good, would you not, for your own particular district amend it to include your own, or would you not sponsor and support legislation to include those other cities?

I believe this is a step in the wrong direction. It is possibly a piece of legislation that you may accept today in partisanship, but you will possibly regret it tomorrow because it may be placed right on your own doorstep in those other municipalities which have good reason behind the way they elect their councilmen.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

A verification of the roll was requested by Messrs. VERONA, KAMYK and LUTTY.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1195, entitled:

An Act amending the "Second Class County Code" approved July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) authorizing expenditures and appropriations for benefit of hospitals receiving money from State appropriations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DEVLIN, Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill for the reason that it amends the Second Class County

Code in such manner as to authorize expenditures and appropriations by our county to state-aided hospitals.

Our opposition to this bill is two fold. First, the bill is misleading by implying that the county government and the county taxpayers have a duty to subsidize private corporations within the county, that we have a legal responsibility to insure the solvency of a special group of institutions.

Under the 1937 statutes the county taxpayers through our institutional districts had the burden of caring for indigent patients requiring treatment for either mental or physical infirmities. It is a well established principle, well known to the Members of the House, of the Commonwealth's responsibility through the Department of Public Assistance, state aid and various grants to afford medical, surgical and hospital care where required.

We feel that the county of Allegheny's burden is already heavy. That the performance of its institution district is already good, and we are proud of the fact that we are in the process of constructing a 2,000 bed hospital at the present time which will cost in excess of $20 million, and which will be for the purpose of caring for our local people who are in need.

We are particularly sensitive to bills such as this which could place a greater burden on our county, particularly when, as we have done here this year, we have already imposed burdens on them and taken revenue from them.

Further we raise the question which we proposed to the sponsors of the bill and have conferred about this matter. We questioned the constitutionality of this bill. Our reason for questioning its constitutionality is Article IX, Section 7, of our Constitution, which says in part as follows:

The General Assembly shall not authorize any county to appropriate money for any corporation, association, institution or individual."

We certainly feel that this bill which is justified by its proponents on the basis that it is a "may" bill attempts to authorize our commissioners to do an unconstitutional act which under all the circumstances I related, in addition to being unconstitutional, is also unconscionable.

I ask the Members of the House to bear in mind what they are attempting to do to the county of Allegheny and vote this bill down.

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, I will try and be very brief so that we do not spend all evening on Allegheny County.

This is a "may" bill. We do not propose to put any burden on the taxpayers of Allegheny County or on the commissioners of Allegheny County unless they believe that from their financial standpoint in any given year they are financially able to give some aid to these institutions.

Statutes such as these have been on the statute books of Pennsylvania since I believe the year 1816, and none of them has ever been declared unconstitutional. Most counties in this Commonwealth now do appropriate money for their local hospitals, for those reasons and the constitutional question that the gentleman raised, I could go over with him at length by means of this long printed brief from eminent council in Pittsburgh, I ask the Members to vote for the bill. It is a "may" bill. It simply does for Allegheny County what most every county in the Commonwealth now does.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1212, Printer's No. 378 and

House Bill No. 1224, Printer's No. 776

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1277, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code" of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) creating and defining the offense of shoplifting providing penalties for such offense creating presumptions arising out of the concealment of goods held for sale by merchants and providing for the detention of persons guilty of shoplifting.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Miss DUFFY. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to this bill. First of all there is a presumption in it that the intention to conceal is "presumed" if the goods are found among your belongings in any portion of the store.

If this bill is passed I think the majority of the women in Pennsylvania will be constantly under threat of indictment when they shop.

I submit the following situations which are not at all unusual, they are quite frequent.

A woman may go to a store, to a department store where they are having a sale. There are a number of people in line, so when she sees an article she wants she takes hold of it, because she does not want someone else to get it and she does not want to waste time because there are about five or six people ahead of her, and all the girls are busy shopping. So she goes over to the next department and buys something else that she wants. She has not paid for this. Under this bill, she can be brought in and convicted, not by a jury trial, but on a summary conviction. If she had a jury trial the jury could see that she was a sweet and lovely woman, that she would not do anything like this, but they are not even going to give this woman a jury trial, she is not even going to be tried by a jury of her peers.

Here is another situation. You go to the store and again there is a long line and you see a small article. It is very small, so you drop it in your handbag and you pay the girl and rush off without getting a receipt. You do not want to wait to get it wrapped because she has five or six people ahead of you and you are in a hurry. Women do most of the shopping and they are trying to save time and that is the way they do it. In addition, you may leave the money on the counter. Sometimes you stand there for five or ten minutes, fifteen minutes or a half hour, and you cannot find anyone to pay, so you just lay the money on the counter and go away. If they find that piece on you unwrapped, there is a presumption that you wilfully concealed it and you would be convicted under a summary proceeding, without jury trial. Now, you may say, well, she has the right to appeal this. Nevertheless, she still has a conviction on her record.

Secondly, the most objectionable feature is the no right of action for false arrest or false imprisonment to the person who has been wrongfully accused of taking goods from the store. If someone were to call another a "thief" even though he had reasonable grounds for so doing, that person is subject to a criminal proceeding for libel or slander or a civil proceeding for libel or slander, regardless of the reasonable grounds which he had for calling the other a "thief." Now, if some detective drags you in and keeps you there for a couple of hours, or is questioning you and attributes to you dishonest motives and practically calls you a thief, you have no right of action against him.

I think this is very unfair, and that it will allow the stores to pull in just anybody and there is a great danger to people by this.

For example in Philadelphia, not too long ago, we had a sweet little old lady who was selling newspapers. She had never been arrested in her life. She had never been inside a police station. She was accused of writing numbers. She was brought in and questioned for a number of hours. She fainted during the questioning; she had a heart attack and she died, directly as a result of this.

There is another situation about which Mr. Toll can tell you where a woman almost lost her baby on account of this.

I think this is a bad bill and I ask every Member of the House, particularly the Members on my own side, to vote against it.

Mr. GELAND. Mr. Speaker, I also rise to oppose this bill and I would like to say a few words to help buttress the argument of the speaker before me.

This bill in my eyes also is bad legislation because not only does it create a new type of legislation, but it also goes much further than only attacking the person who is the actual shoplifter. If you will read page 3 of the bill, lines 11 to 15, you will see what it says there.

If such person conceals or causes to be concealed such unpurchased goods or merchandise upon the person or among the belongings of another the finding of the same shall also be prima facie evidence of wilful concealment on the part of the person so concealing such goods.

This could lead to a situation where the shoplifter is about to be apprehended, and observing the fact of possible apprehension he may take the article which he has lifted and drop it into the belongings or a shopping bag belonging to an innocent bystander and thereby cause the apprehension of that innocent bystander, and also subject that person to some type of imprisonment, also assist and create a prima facie case against an innocent individual. This, I believe, is a very dangerous concept.

A study was made of the problem of shoplifting by Dickinson Law School. The students of that law school and the people who helped make the study, stated that the problems with regard to shoplifting, especially in Pennsylvania, is the question of probable cause. The people making the study said that the principal problems about apprehension of shoplifters were that the stores involved, and the storekeepers involved, were unwilling to apprehend the possible criminal because of their fear of the loss of good will. Now, how they could lose good will by apprehending a criminal, I do not know. But in any event they greatly fear that they might lose good will if they apprehend those whom they think might be shoplifting.

The second question which arises and which attorneys are quite fearful about is that in Pennsylvania if you do have probable cause for making the apprehension, you may subject yourself to a case against yourself for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution. In this very study which was made by Dickinson Law School, they said, the probable cause is unquestionably a defense in an action for malicious prosecution. But in some cases where apprehension was followed by prosecution some Pennsylvania decisions have stated that probable cause is a defense to false imprisonment. So that the problem of the law is completely unclear with regard to this particular situation and in some cases there is a possibility that probable cause may be a defense, and if probable cause for apprehension and imprisonment, or for holding the possible shoplifter is a defense, there is nothing in the present status of the law which prevents the shop owner, or any store keeper from apprehending and holding the shoplifter who actually has done shoplifting in his store.

As I say, if there is a law presently for this situation, there is no need for any additional legislation, and if the law is not such at the present time, this particular piece of legislation does not answer the question, but it poses new problems and it creates a situation where a prima facie case may be made out against an innocent person, and at the same time does not dissolve the problem of probable cause, which is the most serious question involved.

For that reason, I suggest that we vote down this legislation.

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak upon this bill.

Prior to the introduction of this bill a thorough study of the problem of shoplifting was made by Dickinson School of Law.

This bill will be a big help to retailers who have suffered from the problem of shoplifting in their stores for a long time. This is endorsed by the Pennsylvania Retailers Association. They need this sort of relief.

It is estimated in this review by Dickinson Law School that the shoplifting losses range from a minimum of $100 to $250 million annual losses. Since Pennsylvania retail sales make up approximately seven percent, and this is taken from the 1954 census of business, of the national total, according to the national estimates, Pennsylvania shoplifting losses would range from $7 to $17 million per year.

According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, there were more than 28,266 known offences committed at the retail counters in the 433 cities that were checked during 1955, which is an increase of 4.4 percent over 1954. These figures were taken from the Wall Street Journal of October 31, 1956.

Law enforcement authorities also consider shoplifting a major problem. Since many shoplifting losses are irrecoverable, because the thief, undetected, get away with the merchandise, almost all of the stores must reflect this loss in the form of higher prices. In other words, you and I are paying for these offenses.

No store can obtain effective insurance coverage on shoplifting losses because of the impossibility of specifically attributing a loss to shoplifting itself.

It has been suggested that one of the most tragic effects of shoplifting is that it provides an introduction to crime to the young criminal. It is here that he first learns to be dishonest and develops a criminal frame of mind.

Last night in the paper I also read an article from "Your Legal Problems", as is published on Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Inquirer. Someone asked the question, and this is the answer that they posted:

"Does a person have to leave the store in order to be arrested for shoplifting, or can he be arrested in the store? If he is arrested in the store, can he be convicted?"

Now, this is the answer given by a lawyer of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, who answers:

One of the essential elements of the crime of 'shoplifting' or larceny, to use the legal term for the crime, is that there must be a taking and carrying away of personal property from the possession of the owner. In the usual case of 'shoplifting,' the arrest is not made inside the store, because the property is still considered to be in possession of the store owner while in the physical confines of the store.

"Once the property is carried from the store, it is considered to have been taken from the possession of the owner of the store. For this reason, it is possible that a conviction of 'shoplifting' could not be sustained if the arrest were made inside the store."

The storekeepers have been having quite a problem, especially with these petty thefts where people come in the store, especially teenagers and simply go off with the articles that are displayed on the counters. It has come to such a point that I know many merchants have had to put the counters that they had in the center of their stores back into the cases along the wall and under glass coverings because of this tendency.

I feel it is high time that the retailers of Pennsylvania are given some relief from these offenses.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, would the lady submit to interrogation to two short questions?

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. KOOKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, does the lady have the Dickinson Law Review article?

Mrs. KOOKER. I do.

Mr. GELFAND. Will the lady look at page 260?

Mrs. KOOKER. I have page 260. At what shall I look?

Mr. GELFAND. Will the lady look at footnote 16.

Mrs. KOOKER. Does the gentleman want me to read it?

Mr. GELFAND. Yes, I would like the lady to read it.

Mrs. KOOKER. I shall do that.

"Both the good will and tort liability fears are very important, but they cannot be distinguished from the standpoint of which of the two is proportionately stronger. Some stores referred to good will alone and said that no change in the law would cause any difference in their activities."

Mr. GELFAND. Thank you, Mrs. Kooker.

That is exactly my point. The thing that worries storekeepers is not their ability at the present to apprehend and prosecute shoplifters, but they are afraid they might lose their good will.

If we make this part of the law of our Commonwealth it will not solve the problem. The storekeepers will still have the good will situation to worry about, which is their primary consideration. For that reason, I still think that we should vote this bill down.

Mr. O'DELL. Mr. Speaker, that last question of Mr. Gelfand was strictly a sneaker. At other places in the book, it says other things.

As one of the sponsors of this bill, first of all, I should like to assure Miss Duffy that we have no intentions of having a woman lose her baby. However, not too long ago in Erie, a woman who apparently appeared to be in the family way did drop a fur coat. Under the present law I presume the merchant could have been taken into court for grabbing her by the arm and forcing her to drop the fur coat.

The purpose of this bill is to give the merchant some protection in apprehending criminals.

I have twenty or thirty pages here, but I have learned one thing since being in the House, the longer you talk on the bill the more votes you lose.

So, I am going to say this: I think it is a good bill. It is a bill that is backed by all of the merchants throughout the entire state of Pennsylvania, not only jewelers, but merchants of all types, even my good friend, Mr. Lopresti. He not only is an alert attorney-at-law, but has an interest in a furniture store. He said the other night that they could not steal pianos, but he still thought it was a good bill.

I am going to ask you to give it your consideration, and vote for it. I will not subject the House to the reading of this sheaf of papers that I have in favor of the bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say one word in favor of the bill. The great concern shown here tonight for the shoplifters can only be attributed to the lateness of the hour.

So, in the words of the Minority Whip, about "what are you doing for business?" I say, let's vote for this bill and do something for business.

Mr. GELFAND. Mr. Speaker, I will not go into a long speech, but I object to the statement of the Minority Leader concerning the great concern for the shoplifter. I am not concerned about the shoplifter, I am concerned about the innocent citizen. That is why I am against this bill.

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, since my name has been brought up in the discussion, I think it is only proper that I come to the microphone and say just a few words.

I am for this bill. I believe it is a protection that the storekeepers are entitled to have. The very question that was asked of Mrs. Kooker, is one of the strongest protections of the innocent we will have under this bill; that is the desire of the storekeeper not to lose good will. They are not going to attack their customers without due cause. You can be sure before a person will be apprehended the store is going to be mighty careful of what they do.

Secondly, I want to say on the question that Mr. Gelfand raised about the innocent person who is standing by. Any person who is familiar with the activities of shoplifters knows that they now operate in teams. They do not go in, as a rule, by themselves, they operate in teams. One fellow will pick up the article, or one woman, and, fearing that she might have been discovered, will pass it on the second one. Since they work in teams you have to have this law to protect you against the second person.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask one of the sponsors to explain this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny,

Mr. Donaldson, explain the bill for the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo?

Mr. DONALDSON. Mr. Speaker, under the general county code, if a borough, or a city, or a township, has a planning commission, and you are developing a plan of lots, or something of that nature, you need only submit your plans to the local planning commission and not to the county planning commission.

Under the second class county code it is likewise true that if there is a borough or a city planning commission, you need only submit your plans to the local commission.

However, if there is a township planning commission you still must submit your plans both to the township commission and to the county planning commission.

This bill would change that and put Allegheny County in agreement with the rest of the counties of the Commonwealth, and you would only need the approval of the local planning commission.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

BY Messrs. WORLEY and BOWER. (Concurrent)
RESOLUTION No. 127.

In the House of Representatives, June 6, 1957.

There have been introduced in the 1957 General Assembly no fewer than ten bills proposing widely-divergent approaches to air pollution control on a statewide, regional or local basis. These bills not only reflect a great dissimilarity in approach but they were drafted without benefit of the views and technical knowledge of the many interested and affected parties throughout the Commonwealth.

The subject of air pollution control involves numerous complexities bearing on economic, meteorological, topographic and industrial considerations. Any hasty or ill-considered legislation could do great damage to the economy and the people of Pennsylvania by imposing standards that would be ineffective and unattainable technologically and at the same time needlessly burdensome and harassing to industries on which many thousands of Pennsylvanians depend for their livelihood.

The complexity of the subject is attested by the fact that the few states that have seen fit to adopt air pollution control legislation have first devoted prolonged study to the matter and have given all interested parties an opportunity to be heard; therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the entire question of air pollution in this Commonwealth and possible practical steps to abate it where necessary, and to give full opportunity to interested and affected parties to present their views, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations together with drafts of any legislation deemed necessary to carry its recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE

FRIDAY, June 7, 1957

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this day and all the possibilities which are ours on this day.

We thank Thee for the spirit of friendship and may we realize that Thou hast said, "Greater love has no man than he lay down his life for his friends." May we always value the friendship we have made, not only in this Chamber but in our communities and throughout the world so that we can always say:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by;
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I.

"I would not sit in the scorner's seat,
Nor hurl the cynic's ban;
Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
And be a friend to man."

We ask it in Thy Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. PECHAN and Mr. FLACK, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, several weeks ago at the time of the fine remarks by the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Ehrgood, I promised to give you a little capsule of Pennsylvania history. Since we acted on House Bill No. 1492 this morning, I thought this might be the time to bring to our minds some important Pennsylvania history.

Yesterday I listened to the glories of Cumberland County, York County, Erie County and Westmoreland County and that reminded me, of course, that the most beautiful spots in Pennsylvania are in central Pennsylvania, particularly in the county of Centre.

In the county of Centre, we have a beautiful village by the name of Boalsburg, the home of the Shrine of the 28th Division. In this village also, there is an old cemetery, in which lie the remains of the veterans of six wars. In 1864, seven years before General Logan issued his order for Decoration Day, some good women began the custom of decorating the graves in this cemetery. The women, whose names are recorded for history and many of whose descendants still live in that neighborhood, were Emma Hunter Stuart, Sophie Keller Hall and Mrs. Elizabeth Meyer. In 1864, these women brought flowers to the graves of their Civil War dead and to the graves of the other soldiers in the cemetery.

I am sure all of the other forty-nine Senators are proud of the history of Pennsylvania. Therefore, I wanted to have written into the record the fact that we believe the first observance of Decoration Day took place in this little community of Boalsburg.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I noticed a reprint, in today's issue of the Patriot, of an editorial which appeared in the Meadville Tribune. For the information of the Members of the Senate, the Meadville Tribune is published in Meadville, Pennsylvania, which is in good old Crawford County, one of the counties in my District and my own home county.

I would like to read this editorial into the record. It reads as follows:

The Leader Administration, speaking through dozens of State agencies, is asking the people to "put the heat" on members of the Legislature for restoration of proposed cuts in the State budget . . . The Republican leadership, speaking through its representatives in the Legislature and the State chairman, is asking the people to support economy in government. . . . We see no reason to accede to the urgent requests of all departments that we take pen in hand and persuade or threaten our legislators into making larger grants. . . . On the other hand, we cannot support the methods employed by the Republican leadership. Instead of determining what services the State should provide and then raising the money to finance them, it started from the illogical premise that, regardless of the effect upon any program, they would not raise taxes or provide any additional funds. . . . And so we urge the Senate to view with calm reasonableness and without partisan motivation the legitimate claims for increased appropriations. Let the facts in each case speak for themselves.

Mr. President, this editorial was written by a friend of mine by the name of Robert Bates who, over the years that I have been in the Senate, has seen fit to advise, editorially, on just about every subject which has come before us. He seems to be an expert on just about every subject, including State budgets, the laws of Pennsylvania, the needs of the Commonwealth and the needs of the mental hospitals. He is an expert on just about every subject that we can possibly have at issue down here in Harrisburg.

Inasmuch, as the other day I announced this would probably be my last Session of the Legislature, I started thinking how nice it would be for Mr. Bates to succeed me in the Senate. Here would be an editor of a newspaper who could come down here to the State Capitol and be able to straighten out all the affairs troubling the people of the Commonwealth. I am sure, through his leadership, he would get cooperation from the other editors of newspapers, including the local editor and the subeditor of the Harrisburg Patriot, who used to be with him up in Meadville. I refer to a friend of mine by the name of George Draut, who also writes editorials, advising us on all subjects, in the local newspaper. I am sure that together they would be able to solve all our problems.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am suggesting to Mr. Bates, who is the Editor of the Meadville Tribune, that he can do much more in helping all the people if he would lay his pen down for a short period of time and campaign throughout my District; first, to receive the nomination for State Senator and then, after that, to campaign for election. He would then be able to see what a Senator must go through, first, in order to get nominated and, second, in order to get elected. He would find out how much money it costs you and how much grief you must go through in order to get to that point. He would also understand how much sacrifice we make by coming down here and leaving our families and friends. He would understand, too, how much business we sacrifice by coming down here to serve the people. He then would also understand what goes through a Senator's mind when he picks up a newspaper and reads editorials written by people who do not know very much about the situation. However, they sit up in their ivory towers and write about every subject, without knowing very much about what we have confronting us.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am suggesting to Mr. Bates that he announce his candidacy for the State Senate from the Fiftieth Senatorial District to succeed me. I am sure he will learn much more if he gets elected.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is laid on the table.

INTERROGATION

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. Mahany, I understand there were a few bills which were vetoed by the Governor and there has been some talk of overriding the vetoes. If that is true, are there any such bills on the table or now before the Senate which would place them in line for action to override a veto?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, sometimes we threaten that we would like to override a veto, but I have not heard any Senator seriously consider that particular action on any bill. I felt I would like to override the Governor's veto on my bill, in which I opened the north end of Pymatuning Lake to allow small motors to be used on boats on that particular lake, a portion of the lake, because I thought when reading his veto message, he certainly could not have read the bill or known anything about the situation in my District. After I cooled down a little bit, I decided I would not try it because I thought you fellows would not go along.

Are you intimating that you are now ready to override the Governor's veto on legislation?

Mr. YOSKO. I am ready to act on anything, anytime it is brought up. I want to know whether there is anything before us which would give us that opportunity if it were called up.

Mr. MAHANY. Are you looking for an opportunity to override the Governor's veto?

Mr. YOSKO. I am not saying right now. I want to know what shape it is in. Perhaps I would like to.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, I have no particular bills right now; at least, no Senate bills that are on the desk which have been vetoed by the Governor on which I seriously contemplate instituting some action to override the Governor's veto. However, if you have any bills, I will be glad to cooperate with you in trying to do that. I do not have any bills.

Mr. YOSKO. Are there any bills on the table, or before us, which would give us that opportunity, if such a motion is made? That is my question.

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, I will call up my Pymatuning motor boat bill right now. I think it is on the desk. Do you want to help me override the Governor's veto on it?

Mr. YOSKO. I would prefer to do that when all the Senators are present.

Mr. MAHANY. All right, let us do that next Monday.

Mr. YOSKO. Is there any other bill beside the one to which you referred?

Mr. MAHANY. Just give me time to look over the History and see what we have.

Mr. YOSKO. I understood there was a liquor bill.

Mr. MAHANY. That is a House Bill, Senator. That is the one which provides where there is an additional license to be issued under increased population, they may file their plans with the Liquor Control Board instead of erecting the building, and which ever is designated to receive the license may proceed with the erection of the building according to the plans. The one which does not receive the license, of course, does not build. Is that the bill to which you refer?

Mr. YOSKO. That is right.

Mr. MAHANY. That bill, I believe, was sponsored by Mr. Vaughan, of the House of Representatives. As I understand it, any motion to override the Governor's veto on that bill would have to originate in the House of Representatives, where the bill originated.

Mr. YOSKO. I understand, then, it is the rule that if a Senate Bill is involved, a motion to override a veto must originate in the Senate, and if it is a House Bill, the motion must originate in the House.

Mr. MAHANY. That is my understanding.

Mr. YOSKO. Thank you very much.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. DENT and MAHANY (By request) read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 929, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 20, 1949 (P. L. 1633) entitled as amended "Housing and Redevelopment Assistance Law," authorizing provisional grants and agreements and regulating the use of certain appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Rules.

STUDENTS OF DARBY TOWNSHIP ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, DELAWARE COUNTY, WELCOMED TO SENATE

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I am sorry, but I had wanted to introduce, on behalf of Senator Watkins of Delaware County, students from the eighth grade of Darby Township Elementary School and to ask you to extend them a welcome. I notice they have left the gallery. Apparently, they had other commitments.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to apologize. I thought you had a committee report.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, your apology is certainly accepted. However, I would just ask that their presence be noted in today's record.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the gentleman will be noted in the Legislative Journal.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, June 10, 1957, at 1:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 12:15 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, until Monday, June 10, 1957, at 1:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

FRIDAY, June 7, 1957

The House met at 9:00 a. m. EST.

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Reverend David A. Gray, Pastor of the Church of Christ, Ridgway, Elk County, guest Chaplain and guest of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Renwick, offered the following prayer:

Eternal God, Our Father, Whose glory is in all the world, make us keenly alive to the call of this day. Grant that the enactments of this Assembly may have been wrought with calmness and directive wisdom, and that the bonds of understanding may grow stronger between all the sections of our great Commonwealth.

As we separate for the week-end, keep us beneath the shadow of a great protection, for we know that naught Thou hast made can part us from Thy tender care. Let Thy wonderful love encircle our homes and bless each with good health and comfort.

The Lord bless you and keep you; The Lord make His face to shine upon you and be gracious unto you. The Lord lift the light of His countenance upon you and give you peace.

Through Christ our Saviour. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Thursday, June 6, 1957 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 188

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, June 6, 1957.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 188, Printer's No. 431, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled 'An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds' further providing for signs on highways where certain restrictions are imposed by local authorities."

This bill amends Section 1101 of The Vehicle Code, the Act of May 1, 1929, P. L. 905, by prohibiting local authorities from placing weight restrictions on any portion of a highway under its jurisdiction which does not intersect at each end another highway over which the municipality has complete control, without first obtaining the consent of the Secretary of Highways, and requires the Secretary of Highways, if he should give his consent, to post signs in the adjoining municipality at the first intersection in order to give adequate notice of the approaching weight limitations and giving a warning that there is no other intersection before reaching the limited portion of the highway.

The present law prohibits municipalities from placing any weight limitation on a State highway which runs through the municipality without the consent of the Secretary of Highways. This bill, therefore, by adding all connecting roads, would place a tremendous burden on the Secretary of Highways and would necessitate a great deal of additional engineering help, which is not presently available. It is further felt that the municipality concerned should have complete jurisdiction over the highways that it must maintain.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION AND BILL LAID ON TABLE

Mr. WESCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the communication from the Governor together with the bill be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. GUTHRIE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Motor Vehicles to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. PRICE asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Liquor Control to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KAMYK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on occasions this session, I took the floor to argue bills that tended to violate home rule and also place certain financial obligations on municipalities, especially Pittsburgh. Today there appeared a very interesting editorial in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette which I would like to read for the record.

Holding the Line. Leaders of the legislative majority in Harrisburg are great ones to holler about holding the line on taxes at the state level. They do not want to take the responsibility for any tax increases which might hurt the party at the next election.

When it comes to setting tax conditions for other levels of government, however, they show an irresponsible profligacy. Thus we find the House passing a bill to put most of the state's municipal police forces (all those employing five or more officers) on a 40-hour week and an 8-hour day.

It is estimated that this would cost the city of Pittsburgh alone between $315,000 and $360,000 a year. How can the municipalities hold the line on their taxes in the face of this sort of action?

One may argue justly, of course, that policemen are entitled to more consideration than is shown them by most municipalities. (Pittsburgh police are on a 44-hour week.) Perhaps their working conditions should be improved.

But the point is that this is a municipal problem. It ought to be solved at the municipal level, where the money to pay the bills has to be raised. If the people who put up the money want to provide better conditions for their officers, that is their business.

It is not rightly the Legislature's business. The Legislature can and often does arbitrarily impose upon the local communities—and all too often for political reasons—conditions which it would not approve if it had to raise the money to meet them.

Once again, the House has pointed up the need for a greater measure of local autonomy in Pennsylvania.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

THE SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, line 3, by striking out after the word "providing" the words "for the assignment and"; line 5, by striking out after the part-word "men" the words "shall not be diminished."

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 13, by removing bracket before the word "if" and line 16, by removing bracket after the word "county"; line 18, by removing bracket before the word "and"; page 3, line 6, by striking out after the word "aforesaid" the words "without any diminution in pay" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "such position or assignment."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I request that the House non-concur in the amendments made by the Senate.

Mr. DEVLIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose non-concurrence in these amendments. The bill as it stands, in which we feel we should concur, is as was expressed on the floor during the debate on the bill.

Therefore, I ask that the Members of the House overrule this request and vote for concurrence.

Mr. STUART. Mr. Speaker, the amendments that were put in this bill in the Senate practically nullify the purpose of the bill, which is to protect an injured policeman who was injured in line of duty.

We ask you to not concur in these Senate amendments.

On the question recurring.

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 183 Printer's No. 622

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 323, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) fixing compulsory resignation ages for members of the Pennsylvania State Police.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MOODY. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 323 would compel a member of the Pennsylvania State Police force, except the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner, to retire at age 60.

The bill exempts the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner so that the Governor should have the prerogative of appointing as Commissioner whomsoever he desires. Consequently the bill makes an exemption for these two officers.

The Pennsylvania State Police force is composed of 1,955 men, including students, the Turnpike Division, and the regular force. There are 60 commissioned officers in the force. At the present time there is no compulsory retirement age in Pennsylvania. Surrounding states have compulsory retirement ages as low as 50 years of age. It is felt that police work is essentially a young man's job and hence, this bill has been introduced. It was introduced and passed the House last session.

The present Commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police has come out publicly in favor of a compulsory retirement bill as embodied in House Bill 323. There has been much said about the poor morale existing in the Pennsylvania State Police force. A resolution was introduced in the Senate, passed and sent over to this House. It is felt by the members of the force that a compulsory retirement age of 60 would do much to encourage and build up the morale in the Pennsylvania State Police force.

When we consider that the Pennsylvania State Police force is a military, or at least semi-military organization and that you have only 60 commissioned officers in the entire force, you come to the realization that the chance of promotion in the force is very slow.

I was informed just this morning over at headquarters, that just last year a member of the force resigned at 67 years of age and at the time of retirement he was only a corporal. Many members of the Pennsylvania State Police retire as corporals. Promotion is slow. It is felt that by having a compulsory retirement bill that there will be an opportunity for advancement of the men and an up-grading which they do not have under the present system.

There is, at the present time, only one way to get rid of a man who does not want to resign from the force and that is by the refusal of his commanding officer to accept re-enlistment.

Several weeks ago this House passed House Bill 324 which would somewhat allay the arbitrary refusal of re-listment by commanding officers; however, it has not to my knowledge passed the Senate.

I believe in fairness to the men of the Pennsylvania State Police force and in compliance with the will of the commanding officer of that force, the present Commissioner, this House should pass House Bill 323.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER (W. Stuart Helm) IN THE CHAIR

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1212, entitled:

An Act amending the "Second Class County Code" approved July 28, 1953 (P. L. 723) increasing the amount of pensions in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend Title, page 1, last line of title, by inserting after "cases" upon approval of a majority of the members of the retirement fund or system.

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1712), page 3, line 17, by inserting after "increase" All increases in retirement allowances granted by this paragraph shall become effective only if approved by the affirmative vote of a majority of those who are members of the retirement fund or system on the effective date of this act. The referendum of members of the retirement fund or system shall be conducted under the supervision and control of the board, and shall take place within six (6) months of the effective date of this act.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, under this Bill 1212, we are giving away moneys that belong to people contributing to a fund, a retirement fund in the County of Allegheny. The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Kamyk is not debating the amendments. He is debating the merits of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, yield for a moment?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, yield for a moment?

Mr. FILO. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, and asks that he confine his remarks to the amendments before the House.

Mr. FILO. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, actually, what these amendments do is give back to those people the right to give any moneys, any increase in pensions, to retired employees. Under these amendments there would be a referendum set up by the people who pay into this fund. This fund at the present time I will acknowledge is a very solvent fund but at one time, I think back in 1931, these same people that are benefiting by this measure were paying such a small sum that this fund went broke. That is the purpose of these amendments, to allow those people who are paying into the fund to vote as to whether retired persons should get an additional increase in their pensions.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose these amendments.

This is the first time to my knowledge that any bill relating to a pension fund should require a referendum. If you would follow this particular type of legislation to its logical conclusion, then the majority could deprive the minority of rights on a referendum. There are certain vested rights which the Constitution and the laws have given to people in pension funds and this particular type of legislation is unsound and is done for the purpose of dilatory tactics, and is not in the public interest. We therefore ask you to oppose these amendments.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me of any instance, any one instance, in the state or the nation, where some insurance company decided that the people who paid into an annuity plan were not getting enough at the present time under present conditions?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. First of all, I would not want to go into the merits of the annuity plan. All I can say is this, the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania held a referendum and passed a constitutional amendment for the purpose of enacting legislation of this character. If you want a real referendum, we had the referendum with the constitutional amendment; that is what we had at that time, and that is why we need this bill today.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman a further question: Is he a member of the Allegheny County Pension Fund?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. No, because when the administration changed I left.

Mr. FILO. I would like to ask one further question and then we can vote on the amendments. How, in good conscience, can this gentleman, can you, Mr. Goldstein, on the floor of this house, vote for giving away funds that do not actually belong to you and that you have nothing to do with.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I will debate that on the merits of the bill. You and I were elected to the Legislature to perform our legislative duties. We have been giving away funds in the billions since the time we came here and we will continue to do so, based upon the merits of the individual bill.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendments?
They were not agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1500, entitled:

An Act for the protection of producers of eggs and poultry providing for the licensing bonding or holding of collateral and the regulation of certain dealers in eggs or poultry * * * and prescribing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Light.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Light, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIGHT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Could the gentleman explain in about five minutes the reason why this bill is necessary and desirable?

Mr. LIGHT. Mr. Speaker, during the year 1956 a great many poultrymen lost considerable money because of non-payment of bills by egg buyers.

In the counties of Perry, Dauphin, Schuylkill and Northumberland approximately 107 farmers held bad checks for eggs and egg slips totaling $31,034. The lowest amount was $14.64 and the highest was $2,311.05.

Now, fortunately some of the farmers had more than one dealer who purchased their eggs, thereby minimizing their losses. Unfortunately, however, many farmers had used the bad checks to purchase feeds and, of course, finally they had to make them good.

This is not the only instance. In the beginning of this year there were a number of cases up in northern Schuylkill County and farther north.

The House in the last session had a general bonding bill that was to cover a number of farm products, but inasmuch as these poultrymen are the chief losers in these deals because of bad checks and so on, this bill was introduced.

This bill does not cover cash sales, nor does it cover the sales that a farmer would make directly from the farm to a customer who pays cash.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I think this is a good bill. It seems like I have been hearing about this problem of bad checks in relationship to the sale of eggs and poultry and other farm products for a long time.

I would like to see this bill pass.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1528 Printer's No. 746

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1556, entitled:

An Act amending the "Public School Code of 1949" approved March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) providing for reimbursement on account of joint school building in special cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor to clear a couple of points on the bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Gibson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GIBSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker would the gentleman take a moment's time I do not know whether he recalls the bill until he glances at it, and tells us very briefly the number of cases or need for such a bill. Have we had such requests over the state? We just want some clear information regarding the school districts, divided, approved, and so forth. Have you had many requests of this type, or is this somewhat of a local situation?

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman, I am not familiar with this situation. This is a departmental bill and as I recall—If we could pass this over, I have a summary by the department, but I do not happen to have it here with me.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it is not a matter of not concurring in the thoughts expressed in the proposed law, and even if Mr. Gibson does not have the complete information on it, we just wanted a little clarification. We do agree with the wording in the bill and I think the bill and I think the bill is all right. We wanted a little clarification for some of our Members, but they, I think, will be satisfied to go along because I can assure the gentleman that it is just a matter of possibly a change in the situation with which we quite agree.

Mr. GIBSON. Is it satisfactory to roll the bill then?

Mr. McCANN. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MOSCRIP and GOODLING (Concurrent)
RESOLUTION No. 128.

In the House of Representatives, June 7, 1957.

Whereas, Recommended General Fund appropriations to the Department of Public Instruction for the biennium 1957-59 are in the approximate amount of $741,000,000, exceeding appropriations to the department for the 1955-57 biennium by about $98,000,000; and

Whereas, The appropriations recommended for the Department of Public Instruction are equal to approximately one-half of the total General Fund Budget proposed by the Governor for the biennium 1957-59; and

Whereas, It is conservatively estimated that, under existing statutory commitments, the Department of Public Instruction will request for the public schools of the Commonwealth, on account of equalization aid exclusive of capital account reimbursements, a net additional amount of $113,000,000 for the biennia 1959-61 and 1961-63; and

Whereas, There are before the General Assembly proposals which would increase the net additional forward commitments on current equalization aid accounts alone from $113,000,000 to an estimated $450,000,000, therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to make a thorough study of both the financing and the organization of the public schools of the Commonwealth, such study to include, but not confined to: (1) actual per-pupil and unit costs in kindergartens, elementary and secondary schools, and special curricula; (2) the relationship between these costs and administrative organization; and (3) the expectable increases in cost under existing statutory commitments; and be it further

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Commission shall explore alternative administrative and fiscal plans with a view to recommending to the next regular session of the General Assembly such changes in existing structures as will assure to all the children of this Commonwealth a sound basic education and provide for the equitable sharing of the cost of such education by local school districts and the Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 687, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. DALRYMPLE for himself for Monday and Tuesday, June 10 and 11, for the purpose of attending a Convention in Reading.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform the remaining Members of this House what the plans are for next week?

Mr. JOHNSON. The plans of the leadership on this side of the House are, of course, to come in at 10:00 EST which will be 11:00 DST on Monday. We are still shooting for adjournment sine die by Saturday.

Of course, we all know it is self-evident that there are appropriation bills on the calendar which require a two-thirds vote. If we move those bills on Monday, we will be able to get out of here, we believe on Saturday.

That brings you directly into the picture. We didn't knock them down the other day, we established the principle that the Governor is doing what he is doing. I know you said he did not do it, but I still say he did—

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I just asked one question not a whole book.

Mr. JOHNSON. I am answering your question.

Mr. READINGER. What are the plans for next week, please?

Mr. JOHNSON. I am asking you what your plans are for next week?

The SPEAKER. Who is interrogating whom?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, then I understand from the gentleman's answer that we are expecting to have a full working day next Friday and possibly next Saturday?

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct. That is the present plan. There has been no change in plans. We hope to come in here Monday and have the word from everybody that House Bill 183 has been straightened out; that you are straightened out on appropriations, and that everything is in good order. We have had a very fine week here. Everybody has stayed on the job. We have sent a lot of bills to the Senate, and we are in excellent shape.

We only have Senate bills left, you might say, on the calendar. We certainly can get out of here next week if we all put our shoulders to the wheel, but it will take cooperation from the Democratic side as well as the Republican side.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the remarks of the gentleman would indicate that we on this side are delaying final adjournment of this session.

I say again we have no intention to do that, although we have every reason to doubt the fact that we can adjourn finally by the 15th.

Looking over the agenda and the list of things that should be attended to before we adjourn finally, I do not see how it is possible to get out by the 15th. But I did want the Members who are here, and those who are absent, to know that they should be prepared to stay here at least until Saturday of next week while there is still a possibility of final adjournment.

We will reiterate what we said the other day on these non-preferred appropriation bills. We will hold them only so long as it is necessary for us to do so to find out what the Senate of Pennsylvania has done or will do with the general appropriation bill.

Reading the newspapers I noticed that they have made various restorations of cuts, and perhaps that will continue into some day next week. So long as that activity continues we will probably continue to hold these non-preferred bills until we know what they have done.

But I say there is no intention to delay the final adjournment of this session beyond the point where we must delay it so that we can act in good judgment on these bills.

PERMISSION TO INTERROGATE

Mr. DALRYMPLE asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader.

Mr. Speaker, in asking for a leave of absence, I heard the gentleman remark to the Minority Leader "if things got straightened out." What is going to happen if they are not straightened out? Should I come back to Harrisburg or go to Erie?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the gentleman stay in Harrisburg and forget the convention.

Mr. DALRYMPLE. I am interrogating Mr. Johnson. Who is answering the questions?

Mr. JOHNSON. In answer to the gentleman I would say he should let his conscience be his guide. I doubt if his reasons for—

The SPEAKER. The Chair suggests that that is probably a dangerous procedure.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe I will talk to the gentleman down in my office.

Mr. DALRYMPLE. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. Now I would like to ask the gentleman from Reading a question.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DALRYMPLE. Can the gentleman inform me or this House when we are going to adjourn?

Mr. READINGER. See me in my office.

Mr. DALRYMPLE. Mr. Speaker, I may wind up in Erie.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Dalrymple, is going to have a very busy afternoon.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, a few minutes ago when the gentleman from Erie asked for a leave of absence I facetiously objected. I will now withdraw that objection because if he desires to spend Monday and Tuesday in the nicest city in the whole state of Pennsylvania I do not want to deprive him of that pleasure.

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Naugle, who will make the motion to adjourn, but before he does the chair wishes him a very happy birthday.

The Chair tried to wish the gentleman a happy birthday last night and understands he started his birthday celebration early.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Naugle.

Mr. NAUGLE. Mr. Speaker, thank you. At the moment I do not have descriptive adjectives with which to adequately express my appreciation to you and the Members of the House for this recognition.

I will assure you that since the beginning of this new year, as of midnight last night, should it continue for the rest of the year as it has so far, I will have a wonderful year.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. NAUGLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, June 10, 1957, at 10:00 a. m. EST.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 12:35 p. m. EST) the House adjourned.

SENATE

MONDAY, June 10, 1957.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. RICHARD E. OWENS, Th.D., Pastor of Saint John's' Primitive Methodist Church, Hazleton, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, in Whom we live and move and have our being, bless this Commonwealth, its Governor and his family, his Cabinet, this Senate in Session and its Officers, the other Branches of our State Government, the various counties, cities, towns and hamlets of this out great and glorious State. Bless the people who are privileged to live in this State.

Give these Senators the long and lasting view of their endeavors. May they know that if they give their best and do their best, the best will come back to them. May they come to know that what they do shall not be in vain, but that it shall be like bread cast upon the waters which shall not return unto them void.

What they do then, may it be for the good of all, for the safety of those whom they represent and, finally, for the peace, happiness and prosperity of the world. In His Name Who went about doing good, we pray. Amen.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor, which were read as follows:

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL No. 164

June 6, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 164, Printer's No. 142, entitled "An Act amending the Act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled 'An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto' further providing for sabbatical leaves of absence and increasing maximum salary payable."

GEORGE M. LEADER.

SENATE BILL No. 421, PRINTER'S No. 185, RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

June 7, 1957.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 421, Printer's No. 185, entitled "An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 905) entitled 'An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds' changing the period for titling new two-axle commercial motor vehicles and truck tractors in certain classes."

This bill would extend Act No. 1 of this Legislature for a period of two years commencing June 1, 1957. Both Act No. 1 and this bill amend Act No. 671 of the 1955 session of the General Assembly which became effective January 1, 1957. At that time it was discovered that the truck dealers of the Commonwealth, without notice to them by the manufacturers, had trucks in stock which would not qualify for the class in which they had previously been registered under the chassis weight formula used for many years and would not qualify for registration in the classes provided under the new Act. Act No. 1 created additional classes to exist from January 1, to June 1, 1957 and was enacted to enable the dealers to sell the trucks within the classes therein created. The manufacturers of all commercial motor vehicles were forthwith notified that they would have until June 1 to comply with the formula set up by Act No. 671.

We feel that the formula provided by Act No. 671 gives the greatest margin of safety within the classes created; and it is not, therefore, to the advantage of the motoring public to permit the registration in the intermediate classes created by Act No. 1 for the additional extended period of two years.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.
